Maybelline's former HQ for sale

The Mabel Exchange could fetch $18M

BY CONNIE KIM

Was she born with it, or was it Maybelline?

That famous advertising line helped build a cosmetics empire, and now the companies' former home is up for sale.

Cosmetics company Maybelline's Edgewater headquarters is for sale now with its owners hoping it gets up to $18 million, after the full renovation that took place last year.

The Mabel Exchange is a three-story mixed-use building at 5920 N. Ridge Ave. in Edgewater. The building housed the company's HQ for more than 50 years, and is still emblazoned with a cursive "M" above the southeast, street-facing entry door.

"With the commercial space fully leased and residential rents trending upward in the building, we anticipate the market will possibly reach $18 million," said Andy Friedman, Kiser's Group's director.

The building comprises 52 renovated apartment units on the second and third floors and 20,452-square-foot of fully occupied commercial space on the City seeking feedback as it eyes changes to Clark St.

City bureaucrats and three North Side aldermen have their minds set on making changes to a stretch of Clark St., and are now seeking feedback from those who use the stretch in Uptown and Andersonville.

City officials still generally refuse to meet local citizens in person for open debate on critical community issues in a town hall setting, so they have chosen a limited and controlled virtual workshop where most attendees will spend the entire meeting being muted by the moderator. They are encouraging area residents, businesses and other interested parties to join online, rather than meet with city planners in person. The Zoom meeting is scheduled from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 15.

The Dept. of Planning and Development [DPD] is launching engagement efforts for "Clark Street Crossroads," a corridor study that will produce a series of land use recommendations to enact changes to the street's mixed-uses and walkability.

Part of the plan may include establishing a "Pedestrian Oriented Development" zoning designation on the street that will prohibit certain commercial uses, especially those uses dealing with vehicles.

DPD initiated the one-mile-long study last month to examine residential and commercial market conditions between Montrose and Foster avenues, also to identify opportunities for new development, zoning enhancements, public realm changes and bureaucratic meddling.

The study can be viewed on the website, www.ClarkStreetCrossroads.com.

The workshop, along with a public survey, will include interactive exercises to identify opportunities for economic development and urban design improvements.

Public input will be used by DPD and study partners to create a unified vision for corridor changes. Draft recommendations will be published in 2022 prior to potential review and adoption by the Chicago Plan Commission.

The study can be viewed on the website, www.ClarkStreetCrossroads.com.

Financed by $250,000 in property taxes collected from the Clark/Montrose TIF District, the Clark Street Crossroads study is led by DPD, functionaries from three area chambers of commerce, among others. Steering committee members include Ald. Andre Vasquez [40th], Ald. James Cappleman [46th] and Ald. Matt Martin [47th]. City officials have not said if they have invited, or intend to invite, any local businesses, property owners or commercial tenants to serve on their steering committee.

New Rogers Park food co-op signs Clark St. lease

On Saturday the promoters behind a new Rogers Park food co-op announced they had signed a lease for a property on Clark St. to operate their new store.

After eight years of organizing, cajoling, selling and planning, the group behind the new Wild Onion Market has finally found its new location, at 7007 N. Clark St. The co-op signed a 10-year lease in the Rogers Park neighborhood.

The next step is to raise nearly $2 million in capital to build out and stock the new store. The group plans to mount a Capital Campaign, and says that they may only have 3 to 4 months to do it.

The groups' goal is to build "a place to shop that keeps dollars local, employs folks who live here, sells honest food, and supports a transparent supply chain."

The food co-operative membership doubled in the last two years, and late last year they welcomed their 1,000th owner. It was a number they wanted before seeking out a retail location and signing a lease. They are now at about 1050 members.

"I'm thrilled to see all of our hard work coming to fruition," Mary Meyer, Wild Onion Market founder and board member told Evanston Now. "As long as our community continues to show up with their support, I know we can get our doors open."

Wild Onion Market says they will focus on local and sustainable food, serving Andersonville, Edgewater, Rogers Park, West Ridge and the greater North Side.

The promoters are still seeking additional members, who are invited to become part owners of Wild Onion Market for a lifetime household share of $250.

Developer proposes 20-unit building with only 5 parking spaces

A community meeting will be held 6 p.m. Feb. 8 on proposed 20-unit building that will only provide 5 off-street parking spots for residents.

DLG Management is requesting a zoning change for a building they own at 1710 W. Lunt. They are also requesting a rear setback variation, which would reduce the rear yard setback from 51' 9.5" to 21'.

The parcel has an existing four-story building with seven residential units. The zoning change would allow the owner to construct on the rear of the building an addition that would add 13 units, bringing the total to

20. DLG Management also plans on renovating the existing seven units and installing an elevator.

The zoning change would trigger an affordable requirement, which means four units would be set aside as affordable for people making 60% of the Area Median Income.

The owner seeks a parking reduction from 10 parking spaces required to a total of 5 parking spaces.

Tenants who may own cars with no off-street parking space, would likely seek spaces on nearby streets.

What we need is a show tunes playlist for our snowplows

By Thomas J. O'Gorman

What's your favorite TV theme song?

Do you have some TV tune that echoes in your head in a recurring way displaying the drama, romance or adventure of some treasured series? The Beverly Hillbillies, for instance? Or the Jeffersons, Flintstones, Dragnet or Howdy Doody? Masterpiece Theater or Downton Abbey?

Such thoughts seized my creative juices late one night. I'd had a great but whacky day starting with my doctor's appointment. A great medical visit.

He checked me out, and drew some blood as I explained my present training program.

My blood pressure was great.

My blood thinness was perfect. We discussed my current feeling of wellness and how great my sleeping has been, my isolation for fear of COVID, so I was boosted.

When we were done I went to Greek Islands for lunch. Solo. First restaurant in a month. I had to show my COVID passport.

The crowd was unusually light, so I did not feel COVID compromised. A terrific lunch of Greek classics, including some Maliatia white wine.

Then a friend's text came in... my buddy Liz Bagley, in Washington, just got a new job. Ambassador to Brazil. I really was filled with happiness for her.

Years ago I knew her when she was U.S. Ambassador to Portugal. Now she could use her elegant Portuguese again.

After a post-lunch nap, while thinking about column ideas, I found the theme music for thirtysomething on Youtube. I listened to it over and over. And I gotta say, it really lifted me up.

Thirtysomething aired from 1987 to 1991 on ABC. The theme song was written by W. G. Snuffy Walden. And it really connected to the joy I was feeling over my doctor's visit, my Greek lunch and my friend getting approved by the U.S. Senate.

The theme touched me deeply. Its melody echoed a wave of instant happiness, in a celebratory way. It gave me an elated feeling, like I was tasting fresh liberty. Wholeness. Strength. Satisfaction. Uplifted in its unfolding.

The very concept of "thirtysomething," strictly as a word in the English vernacular, evolved from America viewing the seemingly well-off, mostly married, couples on the show at the start of their adulthood. Millions of viewers eye-balled these polished young folk, making their way through life. The nitty-gritty part. Not the usual soap-opera style of TV's enormous life issues. But rather the smaller ones. Like couples being able to speak to each other honestly. About jealousy. Shaving their legs. Staying together. Failing at a business. Struggling with a jerk boss. Falling in love with another man. Disliking their best friend, or facing the death of a long-time pal.

Thirtysomething was more than an age approximation. It was a global condition. A moment in time when you're not really in charge yet, but still reaching out to grow. Surviving struggles. Betrayals. Hurts. False ideals, and inadequate measures of success.

Thirtysomething became a term for a moment in which to look at the wonder of longtime friendships. Quirky. Exasperating. Treasured. Nourishing and enlivening. You know, the things that seemed to captivate the intimate relationships of life. And what that really is all about.

Remember the cast: Timothy Busfield, Mel Harris, Patricia Wettig, Ken Olin, Polly Draper, Peter Horton, Melanie Mayron and David Clennon? They're not thirtysomethings any more. They're all in their late 60s or early 70s now. The show was the brainchild of brilliant creators, writers Ed Zwick and Marshall Herskovitz.

America watched thirtysomething bug-eyed in their TV rooms, living rooms, dens, bedrooms and basements. Cheering on these handsome, beautiful folk.

But also seeing the trail of pain, damage and isolation that drops without warning at everyone's door.

But the writing in thirtysomething was good. So honest in an era of still phony TV shows. I think that's why America couldn't stay away. For a long time it was the number four ranked TV program for people 18-40. And ranked in the top 25 of all shows

Of course to see the cast of the show today tells you instantly how, like the rest of us, they have aged. There is an hour-long reunion show online with writers and cast that is amazing. We wouldn't have the quality programing on expansive cable networks today if it wasn't for many of the breakthroughs that came in putting thirtysomething together.

But it's the theme music that so captivates me still. A dance-like acoustic guitar sonata of sound that still manages to move me. For my money thirtysomething is the best TV theme of all time. But there are lots of others too, like Hills Street Blues, that also touch me deeply.

Thirtysomething lifted me far beyond the catastrophe of current Chicago goings-on. Our problems seemed so distant as my mood was expanded by the theme music.

I'm sure my reawakened fascination with the theme says as much about me as it does the show. But there is something euphoric that unfolds in such music. With the capacity to unleash something deeply interior in each of us as individuals. Maybe it's just the dire straits of the present pandemic era that does it. Perhaps it's the crazed rise in crime on Chicago streets and the seeming inability of our elected leadership to actually do something about it.

Maybe we are at a low ebb of Chicago understanding about how much it is possible for good people to endure, while thieves loot our most fashionable shops.

All I know is that when I heard the thirtysomething theme the burdens of the present seemed to disappear. The malpractice of our County prosecutor, Kim Foxx, and the malfeasance of Mayor Lightfingers, seemed to disappear for a moment. The music lifted me to a happy place, above and beyond the urban outrage and cruelty of these days.

Maybe the city's snowplows could be equipped with speakers this winter playing favorite uplifting theme songs as they dig out Chicagoans from the ice and snow. Maybe piping the theme from West Wing would lift us to a more suitable sense of politics. Or the theme from the Munsters could prepare us for further Mayoral plans of crime reduction. Or the beloved theme from the Addams Family could detail the creepiness of present Chicago politics.

But on second thought, as the snows bury us and the thermometers plunge, maybe what we really need is a hero who can lift us from the pain of the moment. Does anyone remember the words to "Mr. Ed?"

BIKE BLITZKRIEG: I'm a citizen of the 2nd ward. A strange corridor of City Council representation that looks like a lobster with extended claws, going from the lakefront all the way to Damen Ave. I live in the right claw, at the western edge of the mostly Gold Coast land mass.

Brian Hopkins is our alderman. Word has reached us, still sketchy, that under the new wave of ward financial spending, people here want to turn Wood St. into a bike thoroughfare. Does that means no cars on the only two-way street across our neighborhood? Just bikes? That's it?

And the city's Dept. of Transportation and the Active Trans-

Need a good laugh? Hit a new comedy club!

Plus, life ring bill passes first step

Heart of the 'Hood by Felicia Dechter

I don't know about you, but I could really use a good laugh. Between winter's drabness and the seemingly never-ending pandemic, I'm badly in need of some fun.

Think about it. Soon it will be two years that we've pretty much been locked up in the house. That's why I'm hoping to get out and go see award-winning comedian Larry Greene, as well as a few other funny folks, this Friday night at the new, 50-seat, Red Room Comedy Club, 7442 N. Western Ave.

Greene is a total big shot in St. Louis, where he's the only comedian to ever win two different comedy awards twice in one year (2019). His pre-Valentine's Day show at Red Room, "But Baby I Love You," has "a Valentine's Day theme with a twist." It's intimate, hilarious and has a diverse line-up of comics -- something for everyone, Greene said.

"All of the comedians in the show are active in Chicago," said Greene, who lives in Ravenswood. "I try to mix the line-up. I got a female in there, I got a white guy in there... I try to diversify a little bit so it's easier on the eyes."

Greene will not only host but also open with a 15 to 20 minute set, followed by comedians Fab Monroe, Comedian Finch, and Austin Rich. The show is the first of four Funny First Fridays, which, if all goes well, will then continue at the club every first Friday of the month.

"This will be the launch," said Greene, whose main inspirations were Martin Lawrence, Shaq's comedy show, Red Foxx and Dick Gregory. "I think it will be good."

In St. Louis, "But Baby I Love You!" was an annual hit show that sold out the last eight years, Greene said. But, "I wanted to start producing shows in Chicago," he said. "It's a good way to get to know comics and make a base."

"I'm very excited and I feel like my training ground was St. Louis," continued Greene, who has performed around the country. "I want to sharpen my tools and take my comedy to another level. Iron sharpens iron... you get sharper working with a sharp person."

"I'm just excited to keep growing and hope they appreciate what I have to present and appreciate what I bring to the Rogers Park community," he added.

What he brings began in college, while Greene was attending Southern Illinois Univ. at Carbondale. "I met a lot of Chicago people when I first started doing stand-up," recalled Greene, who also has family living here. "People were poking me, saying I need to do it."

So he started performing during open mic nights at a popular, longtime business called the Long Branch Café. "I got a warm feeling after," said Greene. "I thought, 'This is what I'm supposed to be doing.'"

After finding great, award-winning success in St. Louis, Greene was looking for room for growth when two years ago, he decided to move to Chicago.

"I was hitting my head on the ceiling in St. Louis," said Greene. He then asked himself, "What's the next best move?"

"I like Chicago a lot," he said. "We're like cousins with St. Louis."

It'd be a smart career choice, Greene thought. So he packed his bags for the bright lights of Chi-town. And then COVID hit.

"When I first moved here I lost much of the first year, it was slow motion with COVID," said Greene. "It was hard to get a job."

But that has picked up, Greene said. He's excited for his latest gig at the Red Room.

"It's a really nice club," said Greene. "Before you leave, you're gonna be like, 'Somebody is only booking the funniest people.'"

Sounds good to me. Tix are $20. For more info, go to redroomcomedyclub.com.

Life savers...It's a beautiful thing when something near and dear to your heart becomes as important to others as it is to you.

Last week, Illinois House bill, IL HB4165, aka the Lake Michigan Rescue Equipment Act, passed through the House Human Services Committee, which takes it one step closer to becoming law.

The bill provides that "the owner of a pier or drop-off on Lake Michigan shall install public rescue equipment, including, at a minimum, ring life buoys, on each of the owner's piers and drop-offs along the Lake Michigan coast." It also provides that public rescue equipment shall also be installed in all high-incident drowning areas on an owner's property. All Lake Michigan beaches, piers and other accessible points would be required, by law, to install life rings.

"This bill is a promise fulfilled to the community who demanded a chance at survival, who refuse to accept preventable death as the price we pay to enjoy the lake, and who vowed to protect each other in the memory of those we never had a chance to save," said a statement released by Chicago Alliance for Waterfront Safety co-founder Halle Quezada, who drafted the bill along with state Rep. Kelly Cassidy [14th].

Sadly, it took the drowning death of 19-year-old Miguel Cisneros to bring awareness and public outcry to lakefront safety, something this newspaper has long been supporting. Had there been a life ring out at Pratt Pier last summer, Miguel just might still be alive today.

Next stop is the full state House floor for a vote. Let's hope our reps there feel the same way. If you support the bill, please contact your state rep and let them know.

Our sincerest condolences... we were

Apartment rents on the rise along with inflation

The Home Front

by Don DeBat

Despite all the bad news about inflation, rising interest rates and a roller-coaster stock market, not much has been said about the cloudy future of apartment rents in Chicago.

According to the national “February Rent Report” by ApartmentList.com, skyrocketing apartment rents is the next gloomy real estate story on the horizon for 2022.

Although Chicago apartment rents did not change in January, despite a nationwide increase of 0.2%, rent growth in the Windy City soared 15.6% in 2021 when the pandemic drove up prices rapidly, especially downtown.

The future is even more gloomy for landlords and renters when you calculate the property-tax increase time bomb that is ticking and set to explode with the second installment of the 2021 real estate tax bill this summer, analysts say.

And don’t forget too, that our mayor and aldermen recently tied the cost of living and inflation to our property taxes, so the inflation rate will now and forever be built into future property tax increases.

Reassessment increases of 38% to 55% in Lincoln Park and Old Town are expected to send real estate tax bills soaring.

Median rents in Chicago now stand at $1,265 for a typical 1-bedroom unit and $1,395 for a 2-bedroom layout, ApartmentList.com reports.

Despite the increase, Chicago rents still are more affordable when compared with many other large cities. In San Francisco, the median rent on a 2-bedroom apartment is $2,681, up 15.6% in 2021. In New York City, renters pay $2,101 for the average apartment, up 35.5% from $1,575 a year earlier.

ApartmentList.com reports that there currently are 6,894 apartments listed for rent—including 2,800 one-bedroom units and 1,713 two-bedroom layouts—in such hot Windy City neighborhoods as the Gold Coast, Streeterville, Near East Side, West Loop, Lincoln Park, Lakeview, Edgewater, and Rogers Park.

Here is a sampling of the available lakefront and North Side units currently listed on www.ApartmentList.com:

- Edgewater. at the Granville Apartments, 6230 N. Kenmore, 2-bedrooms with 850 square feet rent for $1,690, while 3-bedroom layouts with 1,100 square feet lease for $2,090. At Beachside Apartments, 5815 N. Sheridan, 1-bedroom units with 628 square feet rent for $1,491.

A nationwide increase of rent growth has arrived in Chicago, as downtown rents soared 15.6% in 2021 when the pandemic drove up prices.

- Lincoln Park. One-bedroom units with 671 square feet at The Kent, 2625 N. Clark, rent for $2,144.

- Logan Square. Noca Blu Apartments, 2340 N. California, offers a mix of 1-bedroom units with 471 square feet at $1,680, and 2-bedroom layouts with 862 square feet at $2,835.

Luxury apartment hunters with fat wallets have a wide choice of units in the trendy Gold Coast, Streeterville, and downtown, reports ApartmentList.com:

- Gold Coast. Chestnut Tower Apartments, 121 W. Chestnut, offers studios with 540 square feet for $1,763. One-bedroom units with 615 square feet go for $2,224, and 2-bedroom layouts with 1,100 square feet lease for $3,418. At 850 N. Lake Shore Dr., 1-bedroom units with 1,031 square feet rent for $2,706, while 2-bedroom layouts with 1,432 square feet go for $3,792.

- Streeterville. Lake Shore Plaza, 445 E. Ohio, offers 590-square-foot studios for $1,550. One-bedroom units with 650 square feet go for $1,525.

- Near East Side. At the Shoreham & Tides, 400 E. South Water, studios with 670 square feet rent for $1,800. One-bedroom units with 730 square feet go for $1,945, while 2-bedroom layouts with 1,185 square feet lease for $2,680.

At Cascade, 445 E. Waterside, studios with 509 square feet rent for $2,114. One-bedroom units with 588 square feet go for $2,361, and 2-bedroom deluxe layouts with 1,044 square feet lease for $3,949.

- West Loop. In the University Village development near the Little Italy enclave, studios with 581 square feet rent for $2,060. One-bedroom units with 599 square feet go for $2,410, and 2-bedroom layouts with 1,248 square feet lease of $4,480.

If these rental quotes sound high, better grab the best deal you can and sign a two-year lease. Reality says apartment rents are going up in Chicago, and there’s not much we can do about it.

One alternative is move to Milwaukee, WI, where rents only rose 8.2% in 2021. Median rent on 1-bedroom units is $807, and 2-bedroom layouts lease for $992.

Interest rate on 30-year loan at 3.55%

Benchmark 30-year fixed mortgage rates averaged 3.55% nationwide on Jan. 27, down slightly from 3.56% a week earlier, reported Freddie Mac’s Primary Mortgage Market Survey. A year ago, the 30-year loan rate was 2.73%.

Fifteen-year fixed home loans averaged 2.80% on Jan. 27, up slightly from 2.79% a week earlier. A year ago, 15-year mortgages averaged 2.20%.

“Recent rate increases have yet to significantly impact purchase demand, as history demonstrates that potential home buyers who are on the fence will often enter the market at the start of rate increase cycles,” noted Sam Khater, Freddie Mac’s chief economist.

However, Khater predicted that rates will continue to increase at a gradual pace in 2022. “Therefore, a fair number of current homeowners could continue to benefit from refinancing to lower their mortgage payment,” he said.

The Freddie Mac survey is focused on conventional, conforming, fully amortizing home-purchase loans for borrowers who put 20% down and have excellent credit.

State aide given two local properties to fund supportive housing

Last week the Illinois Housing Development Authority [IHDA] announced the conditional award of more than $55.7 million in state and federal resources that will finance the creation or preservation of permanent supportive housing across the state.

Two North Side institutions were included in that gift. Lakeview Landing of the Lakeview Lutheran Church, 835 W. Addison St., is getting money to construct a new six-story, 37-unit building; and The Covent, 2653 N. Clark St., will get money to help with the rehabilitation of the former Covent Hotel.

Statewide, the funds will support the construction and rehabilitation of 10 developments containing 259 units of affordable housing for persons at risk of homelessness, residents with physical challenges or mental health needs, and other vulnerable populations.

The program was created to support local efforts to increase the community-based housing options for vulnerable populations and those leaving institutional settings, like people and families who are homeless or at risk of homelessness, persons with disabilities, veterans, ex-convicts and other residents who may face barriers to stable housing.

Lakeview Landing would use the funds to build a six-story, 37-unit building in Lakeview, designed for people with mobility challenges. Located on a site donated by the Lakeview Lutheran Church, the development will feature space for on-site supportive services. All 37 units will be supported by rental assistance from the Chicago Housing Authority.

State funds are also being given for the rehabilitation of the former Covent Hotel, a former single-room occupancy hotel originally built in 1904 in the Lincoln Park neighborhood. Work includes merging and upgrading the 64 SRO units to create 30 studio apartments with private kitchens and bathrooms while enhancing the building’s common areas.

The program also encourages award recipients to partner with a health and hospital system, coordinate with the Dept. of Children and Family Services and DCFS grantees to house adults aging out of DCFS care, or meet the housing and service needs of ex-convicts as they return to their communities after leaving jail.

“[It is] impossible to ignore that stable housing is critical to our health and wellness, and that is especially true for those facing the challenges of homelessness, disability, and poverty,” said IHDA Executive Director Kristin Faust said. “Supportive housing is a cost-effective and equitable solution to the cycle of crisis, homelessness and institutionalization.”

“Lakeview Landing and The Covent are innovative public-private partnerships that illustrate what CHA is here to do: help people. These projects support our vision of creating and preserving affordable housing in neighborhoods across the City and expanding supportive housing options for residents with additional needs,” said CHA CEO Tracey Scott.

Deputy Mayor: Chicago is losing cops at a “significant, almost alarming” rate

BY CWBCHICAGO

The Chicago Police Dept. is losing cops at an “almost alarming” rate, and the city is having a hard time finding replacements. That’s the word from John O’Malley, the deputy mayor for public safety.

O’Malley, other CPD leaders, and local politicians spoke Jan. 26 on a Zoom meeting organized by East Lakeview Neighbors [ELVN].

In another highlight, State Sen. Sara Feigenholtz [6th] told participants that she is working on a “pack of bills” to address concerns with the state’s year-old, 600-plus page justice reform legislation.

“A very hard struggle”

O’Malley, a Chicago native who spent 25 years with the U.S. Marshals Service and once led its Chicago-based office, became Mayor Lori Lightfoot’s public safety deputy last May.

And, while CPD’s loss of officers is not news for this newspaper’s readers, O’Malley’s blunt talk about what the city is facing was a rare peek behind the city’s curtain.

“I can tell you there is a significant, almost alarming reduction in the number of police officers in the city of Chicago,” O’Malley told ELVN. He pointed to retirements and “a very hard struggle right now to recruit and retain officers.”

“We have officers with 15 years on the job, 20 years on the job, walking into human resources in the Chicago Police Dept., turning in their badges, and walking off the job. I’ve never seen that before. It’s happening.”

Public records show CPD’s force shrank from 12,720 officers in Dec. 2020 to 11,900 at the beginning of this month. The losses are expected to continue as about 900 cops have announced their intentions to retire this year, with more expected to transfer to other departments and agencies.

Lakeview Ald. Tom Tunney [44th] echoed O’Malley’s concerns and suggested the quality of incoming officers may be lacking.

“There’s more retirements than recruits, and we’re diluting, in my opinion, the quality of people taking the [CPD hiring] exam and ultimately getting into the police department,” Tunney said.

Other police departments are having a hard time keeping up with attrition, too, according to O’Malley.

“The profession of law enforcement is the only profession that I know of that has been scrutinized top to bottom for the last 5 to 6 years and the vast majority of the time scrutinized, dissected, and criticized by people who’ve never once done the job ... but [they think] they know all about it,” said O’Malley.

“Pack of bills”

Sen. Feigenholtz’s appearance at this meeting was her second of the month on crime-related calls sponsored by ELVN. In the earlier session, she told a capacity crowd that legislators “are looking very closely to some of the reforms that we enacted” with the state’s massive 2021 criminal justice reform bill.

“It’s a big bill, and we’re gonna have to go back and make a lot of changes and remediate,” Feigenholtz said during the Jan. 6 meeting.

On Jan. 26, she dabbled in a couple of specific goals, but not many. She said she was working on a “pack of bills” to address “many of the things that have been brought to our attention.”

While light on specifics, Feigenholtz suggested “redefining a couple of offenses.” She linked that idea to the recent arrests of five people in Rogers Park who were found in a parking garage with two newly-carjacked vehicles and a third stolen car. Prosecutors only charged one of the men with a felony — and it wasn’t vehicular hijacking.

Individuals arrested for being inside hijacked vehicles are often charged with less serious crimes like misdemeanor criminal trespass to a vehicle if victims cannot specifically identify them as one of the carjackers.

“We’re also going to be looking at pretrial, coming up with a list of non-bailable pretrial offenses,” Feigenholtz said.

The criminal justice reform bill that she and other elected officials passed into law last year eliminates cash bail at the beginning of 2023.

“When we talked about no bail, we did not create a list of offenses,” Feigenholtz continued, “and I think prior to the bail portion ... going into effect, that that’s something that we’re going to have to hopefully remediate and define.”

She did not identify any specific crimes that might go on her proposed list.

“We have to talk about justice and safety in the same conversation,” Feigenholtz said.

Later in the call, O’Malley urged viewers to find a copy of the criminal justice reform that legislators enacted — particu-

“The profession of law enforcement is the only profession that I know of that has been scrutinized top to bottom for the last 5 to 6 years and the vast majority of the time scrutinized, dissected, and criticized by people who’ve never once done the job ... but [they think] they know all about it,” said John O’Malley.

larly the elimination of cash bail.

Speaking of people who are accused of committing new crimes while on release for other crimes, O’Malley struck a somber note: “I think you’ll find the 16-year-old who just killed in cold blood that 8-year-old girl at 26th and Pulaski was not where he should be. So, I’ll leave that alone.”

“We know crime is happening in LA, San Francisco, Atlanta, you name the city,” said O’Malley. “But you know what I found? People in Chicago don’t really care what’s happening elsewhere in the country. They wanna know what’s happening here in Chicago and more specifically what’s happening on their block, their neighborhood, their ZIP code.”

Clarendon Park closer to getting their TIF money

Clarendon Park, 4501 N. Clarendon Ave. in Uptown, is one step closer to receiving $3.46 million in Tax Increment Financing toward a $13 million fieldhouse rehabilitation, after the proposal was brought forward in City Council Jan. 26.

The balance of project costs would be funded through previously approved public and private sources.

Funding comes through for Oscar Mayer School playground

A $1.1 million playground improvement project at Lincoln Park’s Oscar Mayer Magnet School, 2250 N. Clifton Ave., will be partly paid for through Open Space Impact taxes under a financing proposal approved by City Council on Jan. 26.

The $450,000 in funds will reimburse Chicago Public Schools for the cost of a new rubber-surfaced basketball court, a public plaza, drainage infrastructure, and a drinking fountain outside the school. CPS will pay the balance of project costs.

The Open Space Impact tax program leverages taxes paid by residential construction projects to help offset the impact of new residents on a community area’s public open spaces. Taxes raised by the program are paid for by the buyers of the new units, and then used for open space projects within the community area’s boundaries.

Letters to the Editor

Do a crime, then it's cleaning time

I am so glad for your newspaper where we learn what's really going on with crime.

We always had shootings on the South Side, and other crimes, but it seems that since Mayor Lightfoot got into office there are just so many smash and grabs at high-end stores. Then the mayor blames the stores and says they should do more.

I'm sorry I voted for her, she doesn't seem to know how to deal with crime.

I also blame some judges for letting some criminals go free. To me, if you have committed a crime, you should have to pay some community service, like clean up the streets, sidewalks, alleys, parks and beaches. Pick up garbage, litter and pet feces - they may also help with some of the rat problems.

They can help make Chicago one of the cleanest cities in America. Do that during the day, and at night it's jail time, that way there's no time to go out and do more crimes.

No matter where you live, work or have your business, you should always feel safe ... and we don't have that now.

Look in the mirror

We are all aware of how the political landscape has been changing. Politically speaking, we are facing some challenging times.

I perceive a certain naivety among the powers-that-be and some of the nicest people I know, when it comes to trusting the Russian government.

Hungary had an uprising against the Soviet Union in Oct. 1956. After a few days of bloody fighting the Russians announced "we are leaving." The brave Hungarians were elated.

But not so fast.

The Soviets lined up 5,000 tanks by the border and at 4 a.m. on Nov. 4, 1956, they marched into Budapest, and mowed down the tiny (about the size of Indiana), sleeping country like grass.

The members of the dreaded Communist Party moved up the ladder over the tortured dead bodies of those who opposed them.

The exceptionally brutal KGB will forever be remembered by those whose lives were affected by the heinous acts of those in power.

Vladimir Putin was a member of the KGB. He showed his true colors as recently as 2014 when he illegally annexed Crimea. A leopard's spots don't change.

Yes, Putin is very smart. He understands "make friends of your enemies, thereby disarming them" and he acts on it.

Our president's poor choice of words regarding an incursion of Ukraine, rightfully sent shockwaves through the free world.

Past history offers us a glimpse into the future.

To those, who will be responsible for a future that many of us didn't ask for, I say indeed, "it is easier to look out the window than into the mirror."

portation Alliance are encouraging this folly.

Yes, this madness is happening on other streets too. They also want to take out a lane of traffic from Ashland and Western avenues, and reserve it for our mostly empty CTA buses.

Given the congestion already on Division St., Ashland and Damen avenues, removing our only through street throughout our neighborhood seems a mistaken insanity. Just what I'd expect from the Millennial population of suburban-raised "wokesters" who have a feeble grasp of how a city works.

No one is raising the issue very cogently with the adult population. Many who strongly object do not see a system in place for putting the breaks on this ridiculous continuation of Rahm Emanuel's bike fiasco. He ruined Chicago with his tearing up streets to make them accessible for bikes, for his cherished "unfriendly" Millennials. Ald. Hopkins, how can we resolve this fiasco intelligently? Why are you so gung-ho to take Wood St. away from your constituents? We're not all bike enthusiasts. It's extreme. Isn't Chicago government failing us enough? This is looting of a different kind.

covers and a centerfold. I attended parties at the Chicago Mansion shortly after moving in and my first party at the LA Mansion was in 1976. I continued attending these parties right up until Hef was no longer able to host them. I stayed late. I had fun. I met dozens of fellow Playmates and Bunnies, many of whom I am still friends with. I attended numerous Glamourcons, which were essentially pin-up conventions for Playmates, throughout the years. And never once, throughout my half century of history with Hef, Playboy, Bunnies and Playmates, did I ever hear or see a whisper of the type of evil that's being discussed by these women on the show. I just wish he were here to defend himself. I'd say it's perfect timing for them and the director of this hit piece. So sad." Signed -- A proud friend and fan of Hef and Playboy.

Over a decade of Clare artists

The benefits of art therapy are countless. Creativity, in whatever form it takes, does not stop at a particular age but continues for a lifetime. Residents at The Clare, 55 E. Pearson St., prove this to be true, and they also demonstrate that it is never too late to begin or revive creativity, no matter how it is expressed.

“Artists do not retire from doing art-work, just as writers do not retire from writing, nor musicians from playing their instruments,” says Clare resident Catherine Keebler. “As they age, they find new ways to work and express themselves.”

For more than a decade, Clare residents have graced the community with their creative talents. They have reaped the benefits of art therapy for seniors. Here, residents who have moved to The Clare over the years share their favorite artworks and what their craft means to them, specifically in retirement.

Beverly Rodgers, Photography Moved to The Clare in 2015

“Like painting, photographic art depends on light and composition. To me, this favorite picture of a lotus blossom taken early one morning is artful. It is why I became interested in photography many years ago and why I still seek the light and composition.”

Jim Stack, Terra Cotta Moved to The Clare in 2008

“Retirement gave me the opportunity to explore a side of me that I never understood. I could learn to turn ‘napkin doodles’ into actual portraits. Later, I explored sculpting in terra cotta. A side benefit has been the opportunity to make new friends with fellow artists.”

Catherine Keebler, Pastel Moved to The Clare in 2008

“Art is not a hobby to me, but a profession. I was a nurse, a cytotechnologist, a registrar, and now an artist.”

Ed Wentz, Watercolor Moved to The Clare in 2016

“My style is the way I talk in paint. Starting a new watercolor is like starting a new adventure. From there on, the painting takes on a life of its own. Painting is my daily inspiration.”

Bea Lehman, Pottery Moved to The Clare in 2009

“I did pottery as a hobby. Throwing an object on the wheel is fun, not to mention relaxing. I never had time to do it before I retired.”

Beth Mitchell, Greeting Cards Moved to The Clare in 2018

“Working with color, pattern and texture gives me joy in expression. Beyond that, I like working out a mechanism that includes a particular fold. If the recipient gets pleasure from it, my satisfaction is doubled.”

Wendy Geyer-Nixon, Watercolor Moved to The Clare in 2014

“Retirement, among other things, is an important time of meditation and reflection, and for me, art is the perfect avenue for that purpose. Each piece that I create reminds me in some way of my life purpose and teaches me new facets of joy and acceptance.”

Linda Alexander, Art Historian Moved to The Clare in 2010

“Any engagement with art is an intimate one to exchange. Against life’s raw deal, art remains our handmade firewall. I’m but a receiver, not a creator.”

Day of Remembrance 2022 is Feb. 20

What it means for Illinois, educators, and the Japanese American community

Signed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt on Feb. 19, 1942, Executive Order 9066 led to the incarceration of 120,000 Japanese Americans during WWII. Many of them were taken from Chicago, told to leave all their property and belongings behind, and were shipped off to wilderness camps from their homes.

Every year, the Japanese American community in Chicago comes together to commemorate EO9066 as a reminder of the fragility of civil liberties in times of crisis and the importance of remaining vigilant in protecting the rights and freedoms of all.

The Day of Remembrance 2022 will be held Feb. 20, and feature a variety of speakers celebrating the passage of the Teaching Equitable Asian American Community History [TEAACH] Act, signed into law on July 9, 2021.

The TEAACH Act makes Illinois the first state to mandate that Asian American history be taught in public schools.

The Day of Remembrance is designed to show why the TEAACH Act matters, how the task of implementation is being addressed, and how the Japanese American community is contributing to the effort.

The program will run from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Chicago History Museum, 1601 N. Clark St., and feature a showcase of classroom-ready resources for teaching about EO9066 and incarceration through a Chicago lens.

Chicago-based Ho Etsu Taiko will take the stage to perform a new work composed especially for Day of Remembrance 2022. Ho Etsu Taiko blends the deep-rooted culture of Japanese American drumming with influences that inspire and celebrate the diversity of their performing members.

Police Beat...

Burglar scored $272,000 from Lincoln Park home

David Walthall's life has been a bit of a roller coaster ride lately.

An in-home nurse, Walthall gained a few minutes of viral video fame when a man allegedly blamed him and other healthcare workers for the coronavirus as they rode a Red Line CTA train in July 2020.

Then, one year ago, Walthall received attention for a much different reason:

David Walthall

Prosecutors charged him with burglary after police allegedly caught him red-handed as he crawled out of a broken window and walked down the fire escape of a high-rise on the 300 block of W. Fullerton with a bag of burglarized loot that included a rifle. They also charged him with a burglary on the 400 block of W. Roslyn because his ID was allegedly found inside the victim's home.

A few weeks ago, Walthall put all of that behind him by pleading guilty to two counts of residential burglary in exchange for two years of TASC probation — a program for defendants who have substance abuse issues.

But the roller coaster ride wasn't over.

On Jan. 28, Walthall, 41, was in felony bond court again as prosecutors charged him with another count of residential burglary.

Chicago police recently received DNA tests back on some blood they recovered last January inside another burglarized home in the same neighborhood where Walthall's two break-ins occurred. Prosecutors said the DNA matches Walthall.

The victims were on vacation on Jan. 12 last year when a neighbor noticed the rear fire escape was down, their lights were on, and their rear glass door was broken, prosecutors said. Police found blood throughout the apartment, and the couple's safe lying on a sidewalk near their home on the 2400 block of N. Lakeview.

Prosecutors said the couple lost watches, earrings, and other valuables worth $272,000 in the burglary.

Last year, prosecutors said Walthall sold earrings and necklaces taken in other burglaries to pawnshops.

Private defense attorney Jonathan Feldman said Walthall is overcoming addiction that resulted from his work as a healthcare worker during COVID.

If the crime lab tests had not been delayed for a year, the burglary case might have been rolled in with the other two that Walthall received probation for, Feldman noted.

But Judge Kelly McCarthy was not persuaded. Using the victims' alleged losses as a guide, McCarthy set Walthall's bail at $200,000 cash. That means Walthall must post the full bail amount to get out of jail, not the typical 10% deposit. McCarthy also ordered Walthall to go on electronic monitoring if he posts bail.

When Walthall appeared before two different judges for bail hearings on burglary charges last year, they both released him on his own recognizance.

Man dies two weeks after being attacked outside Wrigleyville bar

A 51-year-old man who was seriously injured when he was attacked and fell outside a Wrigleyville bar two weeks ago has died.

Sergio Ontiveros, 51, of Victorville, CA, was pronounced dead at Advocate Illinois Masonic Medical Center on Jan. 28, according to the Cook County medical examiner's office. An autopsy was performed on Jan. 29. CPD continues to classify the case as an aggravated battery.

Police responded to a call of a person down and found Ontiveros lying in the 3500 block of N. Clark around 1:20 a.m. Jan. 17, Officer Steve Rusanov said on the day of the incident. A witness told the officers that an offender approached the victim and punched him, according to Rusanov.

Officers in the Town Hall 19th Police District's surveillance camera operations center located footage that showed an apparent fight breaking out and Ontiveros being pushed to the ground, according to CPD radio traffic. The offenders then ran from the scene, the camera operators said.

After Ontiveros was down, other people came by, picked through his pockets, and left the area before cops arrived, the officers said.

Detectives closed Clark St. to vehicles for about two hours after the attack to conduct an investigation, according to an employee of a nearby business.

If the medical examiner determines Ontiveros' death a homicide, it will become the first murder in Wrigleyville since 2004, according to CPD records.

Man fired shots at Uber Eats driver in the Loop

A man is facing felony charges for allegedly shooting at an Uber Eats driver in the Loop Jan. 28. No injuries were reported.

Two food delivery runners working together were preparing to pick up an order near Financial Place and Ida B. Wells when Gregory Keller, 46, approached them around 12:35 a.m., according to police and prosecutors.

Gregory Keller

Keller began yelling obscenities and slurs at the alleged victims, who had never seen Keller before, Assistant State's Attorney Loukas Kalliantasis said. The workers returned to their Ford Escape and drove away.

They then made a U-turn, and an argument broke out between them and Keller when they returned to Financial Place and Ida B. Wells. That's when Keller, wearing a distinctive jacket, allegedly pulled out a gun and fired two shots toward the victims. Kalliantasis said the bullets did not strike the victims or their car.

Police searched the area for suspects and found Keller wearing a jacket like the one described by the victims on the LaSalle Blue Line CTA platform, according to the allegations. He had a loaded handgun in his jacket pocket.

A CPD surveillance camera captured footage of Keller firing at the Ford Escape, and the victims identified Keller as the gunman, according to Kalliantasis.

He said Keller's felony convictions include a 2008 false report, a 2002 possession of a controlled substance, unlawful use of a weapon by a felon in 2000, and two armed robberies and home invasion in 1991. Court records show he was found not guilty of being a felon in possession of a firearm by Judge William Hooks in Sept. 2016. Prosecutors charged him with reckless discharge of a firearm and unlawful use of a weapon by a felon in connection with the Loop incident.

Assistant Public Defender Suzin Farber pointed out that Keller's violent crime convicts are 31-years-old and reminded Judge Kelly McCarthy that the victims made a U-turn and returned to the scene after their first encounter with Keller. McCarthy granted the state's request to hold Keller without bail.

Two killed when gunman opens fire on their car in Uptown

Two men are dead after someone shot into their car from another vehicle as they traveled along Wilson Ave. in Uptown on Jan. 27, police said. According to witnesses, the victims' car crashed into a parked vehicle and burst into flames with the driver trapped inside.

The Cook County medical examiner's office identified the passenger as Filbert Elonge of Arlington Heights. The driver's name has not been released, but the car both men were riding in is registered to a 28-year-old man who lives on the 4600 block of N. Malden in Uptown, according to a CPD report. He has a history of arrests for manufacture-delivery of cannabis and cocaine as well as having street gang contact while on parole, according to police data.

Police responded to calls of shots fired on the 1500 block of W. Wilson at 5:06 p.m. and found the victims' gray Mazda on the side of the road with flames beginning to emerge from its engine, according to CPD and witnesses.

Officers administered CPR to the passenger while another officer tried unsuccessfully to remove the driver before the flames consumed the vehicle's cabin. Both men died.

Witnesses said a gunman fired on the men from a large white pickup truck with a weapon that appeared to generate automatic gunfire. Police reported finding different kinds of casings littered along a one-block stretch of Wilson Ave., including some that were ejected from a rifle.

Police said the passenger was a 28-year-old man, but he was not publicly identified. We have learned through a source that he was paroled in December on a forgery charge. He has previous felony convictions for two robberies, unlawful use of a weapon, and narcotics.

Authorities have not been able to identify the driver.

Investigators are exploring the possibility that the killings are linked to a "shots fired" incident reported near Montrose and Western about 30 minutes before the murders. Officers who responded to calls of a man firing shots at a white vehicle found several shell casings lying in an alley near a bank, but no injuries were reported. Some witnesses said the gunman fled in a small sedan, although they said the car was maroon, not gray like the shooting victims' vehicle.

Area Three detectives are handling the case.

Man sexually assaults, robs woman in Wicker Park while awaiting trial for failing to register as a sex offender

Hector Olivo has been to prison four times for failing to comply with the state's sex offender registration laws. In Sept. 2020, Chicago police arrested him again for the same thing.

Judge Charles Beach released him on his own recognizance the next day. Olivo never showed up for another court date. A judge issued a warrant for his arrest in the case on Jan. 13, 2021.

Two months later, prosecutors said that on Jan. 26, Olivo forced a woman into a Wicker Park stairwell where he sexually assaulted and robbed her.

One man has been charged with Attempt Murder of a Chicago Police Officer, and two other offenders also charged with multiple felonies during a shootout in the Loop last Wednesday.

River North man who killed boyfriend in fantasy "scene" gets 53-years

On Jan. 28 a Cook County judge sentenced former Northwestern Univ. microbiology professor Wyndham Latham to 53 years in prison for killing his 26-year-old boyfriend in a River North apartment in July 2017.

Wyndham Latham

Prosecutors said Latham and a British man he met online conspired to kill Trenton Cornell-Duranleau in a sexual fantasy scene that they carried out in Latham's 10th-floor apartment on the 500 block of N. State St.

Latham and the other man, Andrew Warren, were on the run when police found Cornell-Duranleau dead in Latham's bedroom with 78 stab wounds.

The duo traveled to Lakeview, Wisconsin, and St. Louis before Latham dropped Warren off at a San Francisco police station to surrender. Latham then turned himself in to federal authorities in Oakland, CA.

Trenton Cornell-Duranleau

Before surrendering, Latham told family members in a video that killing Cornell-Duranleau was, "the biggest mistake of my life."

Warren, now 62, had reportedly arrived in Chicago for his first visit to the United States just days before the murder. His family had recently reported him missing in the UK. He entered into a plea deal with prosecutors in which he agreed to testify against Latham in exchange for a recommended 45-year sentence.

Authorities caught up with Olivo recently after DNA testing linked him to the rape, according to the allegations.

Around 5 p.m. March 14, 2021, a 49-year-old woman was walking home from a sandwich shop when Olivo pressed something to her back and said he had a knife in Spanish, Assistant State's Attorney James Murphy said. He said the woman had never met Olivo before.

Hector Olivo

Olivo, 57, led the woman to a stairwell on the 1600 block of N. Maplewood and ordered her to pull down her pants, according to Murphy and CPD records. The woman refused. Olivo pulled her pants down and assaulted her.

During the assault, the woman hit her head on the concrete stairwell and lost consciousness, Murphy continued. She woke up to find her pants down and her wallet gone. She went to a nearby restaurant and called for help.

Murphy said the woman only reported the robbery at first because she was embarrassed about the sexual assault. He said she also did not tell medical workers at St. Mary's Hospital about the assault when they treated her for other injuries.

But she later outcried to workers at a shelter and they encouraged her to get help. Murphy said the woman returned to the hospital and DNA evidence was collected that tests would later link to Olivo.

Investigators interviewed the woman in November 2021 after the DNA results came back, but she could not identify Olivo, Murphy said. Police arrested Olivo on two outstanding warrants later that month, according to CPD records. He has been held in the Cook County jail without bail on the failure to register case since then, court records show.

LEGAL NOTICE
COOK COUNTY
REAL PROPERTY
ASSESSMENTS FOR 2021

This publication constitutes official notice of the changes in assessment to all owners of real property in Rogers Park Township. The 2021 assessment changes as published herein are those determined by the Assessor of Cook County.

It is the duty of the Assessor to appraise all taxable real property in Cook County at its fair cash value as of January 1, 2021. Fair cash value is described as what the property would bring at a voluntary sale in the normal course of business or trade. The Assessor is required by law to assess said property in a fair and just manner.

The Assessor does not determine property taxes. Property taxes are determined by the spending needs and requests of municipalities, school boards, park districts and other local government agencies which provide public services to property owners. The Assessor's sole responsibility is to estimate the value of real estate property.

In Cook County, real property is classified according to its use. The classification system is used to determine the percentage of the fair cash value at which the real property is assessed for purposes of taxation. Accordingly, real property is assessed at only a fraction of its fair cash value, depending on its use and classification.

Changes in assessment for land and improvements are listed separately. The dimensions of the land are also listed:

A - Acres

B - Back Lot

N - Irregular Lot

S - Square Feet

Cook County uses a Permanent Index Number (P.I.N) system as a means to identify individual real estate parcels. The PIN consists of a 14-digit number. The first two digits identify the area or survey township; the second two digits identify the sub-area or section; the next three digits identify blocks.

Note:

Blocks are defined as follows:

Blocks 100 to 199 are located in the N.W. Quarter

Blocks 200 to 299 are located in the N.E. Quarter

Blocks 300 to 399 are located in the S.W. Quarter

Blocks 400 to 499 are located in the S.E. Quarter

The next three digits in the series identify the specific parcel or lot. The last four, (where applicable), identify individual condominium units, non-operating railroad parcels or leasehold's of exempt parcels.

Whenever possible, the assessment list will be listed by the street name and the street or house number of the parcel. However, the Cook County Assessor's Office official records rely on permanent Property Index Numbers (P.I.N.) only. No assessment of real property shall be considered invalid due to an incorrect listing.

If you have any questions regarding the assessment of real property you should visit the Office of the Assessor of Cook County, 118 N. Clark Street, Room 301, Chicago, Illinois 60602, or call (312) 443-7550.

COMEDY from p. 3

so very sorry to hear the news that yet another community pillar, Vince Daley -- husband of former 43rd Ward Ald. Vi Daley -- had passed away after a cancer battle. I had always liked Vince and found him to be friendly and an all-around nice guy.

Vince passed away peacefully on Jan. 23, surrounded by family. He was “a great conversationalist, had strong convictions, a witty sense of humor, an infectious laugh, and was an incredible friend, father, and husband,” his

POLICE BEAT from p. 9

Murphy said Oliva denied having sexual contact with the victim.

Prosecutors charged him with aggravated criminal sexual assault with a weapon and aggravated robbery. His public defender said Olivo is homeless and has worked at a carwash for two years.

Judge Susana Ortiz set his bail at $250,000 and ordered him to go on electronic monitoring if he can post a 10% deposit bond. He will continue to be held without bail on the failure to register case.

Olivo must register as a child sex offender because he was convicted of unlawful restraint of a 16-year-old in 2002. The case was pleaded down from criminal sexual assault.

Wrigleyville man who went missing in River North drowned

Iñaki Bascaran, the Wrigleyville man who was found dead in the Chicago River nearly a week after he went missing on a night out with friends in River North last autumn, died from drowning, according to the Cook County medical examiner. But the office’s investigators could not determine the manner of his death, such as an accident or homicide, records show.

Friends last saw Bascaran, 23, leaving Celeste, 111 W. Hubbard, late on Oct. 30, 2021. He FaceTimed with a friend shortly after midnight on Halloween and said he was heading home, but he never arrived, family members said after he went missing.

obit said.

We send our deepest sympathy to Vi Daley, along with her and Vince’s family and friends. Vi served the 43rd Ward well for many years with Vince by her side. I know many community members will be feeling this sadness too.

The Mass and funeral were held last week, but if you’d like to honor Vince’s memory, please consider a donation to ZERO The Project to End Prostate Cancer/ Us TOO or Loyola Academy. Peace Vince.

Relatives and friends launched an impressive website to coordinate search efforts and made tireless efforts to spread the word of his disappearance.

CPD’s marine unit, working with a canine and handler from the DuPage County Sheriff’s Office, found Bascaran’s body in the Chicago River near the 1000 block of S. Wells on the evening of Nov. 5.

“Our hearts have shattered, and we’re still trying to comprehend that our Iñaki isn’t coming home in the way we all desperately hoped he would,” his father, Jose, said after Bascaran was found. “There are not enough words of gratitude to capture the appreciation we have for everyone who helped in the search for our son.”

Cops exchange gunfire with men in hijacked car on Wacker Dr.

Video has emerged of a police shooting in the Loop that left one man injured after, according to CPD, people riding in a hijacked car opened fire on Chicago police officers.

“As officers approached the vehicle, there was an exchange of gunfire with the occupants in the vehicle. During this exchange, a male offender was struck,” the CPD statement said. The injured man, age 24, was taken to Northwestern Memorial Hospital with gunshot wounds to his chest, leg, and a graze wound to the side of his head. An officer at the hospital said he was in fair condition, but the CPD statement said the man’s condition was “unknown.”

No officers were shot, but two were taken to hospitals for other injuries, according to the CPD statement. Two other occupants of the vehicle were arrested, and police recovered two guns at the scene, according to a CPD spokesperson.

In the video (CPD surveillance footage playing on a computer screen), a police tactical unit with its blue lights flashing pulls in front of the allegedly hijacked Honda Accord at the intersection of Wacker and Columbus around 8:45 p.m. Jan. 26.

An officer immediately approaches the car, which reverses for a short distance, but becomes blocked in by another vehicle.

Another officer steps up to the passenger side of the Accord and almost immediately drops to the pavement. He rolls onto his back and climbs to his feet with his weapon drawn and pointed at the vehicle. An officer at the bottom left side of the screen appears to fire shots into the Accord. Investigators were working to determine if shots were fired from within the car before the officer dropped to the pavement.

A second video provided to this reporter appears to show a muzzle flash and gunsmoke coming from the car’s passenger side as the officer approaches.

The occupants of the car behind the Accord are moved to safety as other officers move in on the stolen car with guns drawn.

Chicago’s police oversight agency, the Civilian Office of Police Accountability, is investigating the incident. CPD officers involved in shootings are placed on administrative duties for 30 days.

The Accord was reportedly hijacked on the 1400 block of W. Farewell in Rogers Park around 6:10 a.m. Jan. 24. The victim, a Hispanic man, told police that a white four-door sedan blocked his path and four Black men in hoodies stepped out to demand control of the vehicle at gunpoint.

Suspect in custody after man is tackled, anti-Semitic graffiti is sprayed on North Side institutions

Police are questioning a suspect after someone spray-painted anti-Semitic graffiti and tackled a man Jan. 30 on the North Side.

Around 4:40 p.m., a man spray-painted graffiti on a synagogue in the 2900 block of W. Devon and then spray-painted a cargo container on the 3000 block of W. Devon, according to a CPD media statement.

The offender then tackled a man and ran from the scene.

Yeshiva World News reported that swastikas were scrawled on Hanna Sacks Bais Yaakov high school at 3021 W. Devon and Congregation F.R.E.E. at 2935 W. Devon. The battery victim was treated by Hatzolah, a volunteer EMS within the Jewish community, according to the outlet.

Police took a suspect into custody around 6:08 p.m. after a 911 caller reported that a man was yelling about harming Jews on the 6300 block of N. Albany. Area Three detectives are questioning him.

Ald. Debra Silverstein [50th] told constituents in an email Sunday night that “several” Jewish institutions and businesses were vandalized in the area.

“The police are still investigating whether the incidents are connected and if they were carried out by the same person or group of people.”

“These incidents are particularly upsetting as they come mere days after Holocaust Remembrance Day and in light of a worrying increase in antisemitism across the nation,” Silverstein wrote.

Suspect in custody after “innocent bystander” is shot outside Old Town grocery store

Detectives are questioning a suspect after a man was shot in an alley behind an Old Town grocery store on Jan. 30.

Police said the victim, 32, was shot by another man during an argument in an alley behind the 100 block of W. Division at 4:24 p.m. The victim was taken to Northwestern Memorial Hospital in good condition with a gunshot wound to his lower back.

Officers identified a suspect and took him into custody around 5:30 p.m. inside a condo building on the 1200 block of N. LaSalle, where he is listed as a resident.

“An offender who was previously banned from the 2nd-floor bar at Jewel, 102 W. Division, returned and shot an innocent bystander in the back,” Ald. Brian Hopkins [2nd] said Sunday night. “The shooter fled but was taken into custody minutes later by 18th district officers. Great job by @ChicagoCAPS18 to neutralize an armed threat.”

Area Three detectives are handling the case.

More break-ins on Michigan Ave.

Two unknown offenders broke into and committed burglaries in stores on Michigan Ave. The first occurred 3:51 a.m. Jan. 26 on the 200 block of N. Michigan Ave., and the second at 3:18 a.m. Jan. 28, on the 100 block of Michigan Ave.

In both incidents, the offenders forcefully enter through a front glass window by breaking the glass with an unknown tool. Once inside, the offenders swiped designer eyeglasses and eye frames displayed for sale before quickly exiting.

Criminal activity is still getting worse in 2022

Virtual public safety forum Thursday, City Hall seeking safety volunteers

BY CWBCHICAGO

As quality of life crimes continue to spiral out of control here in the new year, Chicago and Cook County public officials will be hosting an online public safety forum 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 3.

These public officials hope to address general concerns over the recent surge in armed robberies and carjackings during December and January.

This event will feature both an opportunity to listen to speeches and ask questions regarding safety issues on the North Side.

Attendees must register to attend the webinar. Guests will receive an email about an hour before the start of the meeting with the link for the forum and instructions on how to access the Zoom meeting.

Ald. Michele Smith [43rd] is asking that anyone who wishes may email any questions ahead of time to yourvoice@ward43.org.

The meeting will also be broadcast on Smith's Facebook channel.

To register, call 773-348-9500.

While the new year is still quite young, things aren't looking good on CompStat, the Chicago Police Department's internal scoreboard report. Through the first 23 days of January, reports in seven major crime categories were up a combined 24% citywide compared to last year — and up 14% compared to 2020 and 2% compared to pre-COVID 2019.

The major crimes — so-called “index crimes” — are murder, criminal sexual assault, robbery, aggravated battery, burglary, theft, and motor vehicle theft.

Theft reports are up 56%. Motor vehicle thefts are up 37%. Burglaries up 13%. Aggravated batteries and criminal sexual assaults are both up 12%.

Up on the North Side, the Lincoln 20th and Rogers Park 24th Districts are seeing more modest index crime increases of 33% and 26% respectively, according to the Jan. 23 CompStat report. Thefts and motor vehicle thefts are on the rise in both areas.

In July 2021, the City Council announced the creation of the Community Commission for Public Safety and Accountability, which is part of a system of civilian oversight of the police, called the Empowering Communities for Public Safety ordinance.

Last week, the City Council announced it is seeking applications by locals to be appointed to the commission. Applicants will be asked to speak to their experience relating to community involvement, leadership, integrity, and other qualifications that showcase applicants have a strong voice on policing and safety.

A City Council committee will review applications and will nominate 14 individuals to the Mayor. Mayor Lightfoot will select seven people to serve on the interim commission. Applications will be accepted through Feb. 4. In 2023, there will be elections for local representatives from each police district.

“Chicago's North Side continues to attract the attention of investors, and will only continue to increase in desirability for both residents and property owners alike,” said Friedman.

Chicago's multifamily property is a popular investment choice amid high occupancy rates and rising rents.

“North Side from Old Town to Lincoln Square is the most liquid region in the market and regularly records transactions involving all apartment classes, with assets here yielding close to six percent on average,” according to Marcus and Millichap's latest report.

Maybelline history tells of the local woman for whom the famous makeup brand is named, Edgewater resident Mabel Williams, who one day accidentally overbleached her lashes and brows, forcing her to make due with what she had: Vaseline and coal powder.

Her brother, Tom Lyle Williams, discovered his sister applying the concoction to her face in a way he'd only known Hollywood's most dazzling starlets to do.

Two years later, a cosmetics empire was born.

After seeing his sister coloring in her brows and lashes after the accident, Tom asked if there were any beauty products on the market that could perform the same function.

Though skin creams, rouge and lipstick were all big sellers, eye makeup had to that point largely been ignored, he learned.

In 1915, with a friend and a chemistry set, Williams created his first product: Lash-Brow-Ine.

Williams was sued for the Lash-Brow-Ine name and its likeness to similar products. In 1917, he changed the name to Maybelline, after his sister.

For a time his budding business was headquartered at 4750 N. Sheridan Rd. in Uptown, but it moved to 5900 N. Ridge Ave., where Williams developed the distinct black makeup “cakes” that would put him on the map.

Despite a promise to keep the company in Chicago and to retain its workers, Plough moved Maybelline to Little Rock, AR, where for the remainder of Tom's life he watched his company swell into a beauty conglomerate.

Tom Williams died in 1976 at age 80.

come-an-owner/. Payment plans are available for as low as $10/month.

Co-op organizers say more than 40% of its more than 1,000 members are Evanstonians

Their next effort is the capital campaign. Wild Onion is now seeking 30 volunteers to make phone calls, do the paperwork, collect the funds, and keep track of the investments. According to their announcement, they will be “working with professional fundraisers to train all the callers for the Campaign. There will be practice sessions, and plenty of time to learn how to best approach the task. What we have learned is that Owners calling other Owners is a powerful way to raise money.”
