Infrastructure and development part of alderman's community meeting

BY ELAINE COORENS
Our Urban Times

Infrastructure and development were the primary topics of the Greater Goethe Neighborhood Association's (GGNA) February meeting with Ald. Scott Waguespack [32nd] in Haas Park, 2402 N. Washtenaw Ave.

As Waguespack reviewed some projects, he explained that the $1.3 million given to each alderman this year is coming from sales tax revenue rather than bond monies. That, in fact, saves interest money that the city would have to pay on the bonds.

However despite promising to stop bad borrowing practices that push payments down the road for taxpayers, Mayor Rahm Emanuel continues scoop-and-toss borrowing, as pointed out in several stories in the Chicago Tribune.

In an $8 billion budget, the total for menu money is less than $70 million, which is supposed to be spent on roads and lights. Instead it needs to be spent on far more, said Ald. Waguespack. Schools, parks and now cultural affairs reach out for these dollars.

While $1.3 may sound like a lot of money per ward, the needs far exceed that amount of money. This year each ward must pay $10,000 to Cultural Affairs for artwork, according to the alderman. It is unknown whether aldermen will have any say in the expenditure of the $10,000.

To put costs into perspective, redoing an alley could cost upwards of $300,000 while regular street repairs could cost around $50,000 per street.

Those numbers explain why Ald. Waguespack and his staff attempt to schedule such things as water main replacement before repaving a street. Without scheduling, money could be wasted if repaving precedes digging, which would require a second repaving.

Western Avenue Corridor

Stretching from Logan Blvd. north, beyond the former flyover bridge, to Roscoe, the repairs to Western Ave. should be completed by late summer, or early fall. During the tear-down, it was discovered that the structure was more deteriorated than originally believed.

"It looked as though it was made of brittle cardboard. A tap of the crane had the material crumbled to dust," said Ald. Waguespack. Dedicated in 1961, it was used by customers or the former amusement park called Riverview.

To put costs into perspective, redoing an alley could cost upwards of $300,000 while regular street repairs could cost around $50,000 per street.

Removing the overpass is resulting in more development around Belmont and Western and is making passage for Lane Tech students safer.

At the Logan and Western intersection, the area is shared with the 1st Ward. "When we're in an area that we share with another aldermen, we generally both give the Chicago Dept. of Transportation our thoughts about the project and ask them to come up with solutions. I literally have about a 60 by six foot strip at that intersection."

"What are they doing about lighting there," asked Vicky Schmidt. He explained that rather than use menu monies, he wants to wait for the city's LED smart light project or to use TIF (Tax Increment Financing) money. Though for quicker solutions, he has been suggesting the use of things like new types of paint used to lighten up areas.

Chicago Cubs to hire patrolmen to support under-staffed Town Hall District

The Chicago Cubs have initiated a new neighborhood security plan called "Safe at Home" to help support the severely understaffed 19th District Townhall Chicago Police Station by providing additional safety resources in the Lakeview area.

The plan will contribute to the safety of the neighborhood by providing additional off-duty law enforcement on neighborhood streets during specified overnight hours and days to deter crime and serve as an additional resource to see, hear and report suspicious activity.

The "Safe at Home" team consists of two officers who will create routes as needed based on reported activity within the area bounded on the south by Roscoe St., east by Wilton Ave., west by Racine Ave. and north by Grace St. It is an area that has seen a dramatic uptick in quality of life crimes.

In the last year Lakeview saw robberies rise 38%; burglary 36%; and all crime increase by eight percent.

The schedule of hours will be developed to maximize impact on neighborhood security.

"The plan is part of an ongoing commitment to being a good neighbor," Cubs management said in a released statement, and will assist in the effort to decrease crime and increase safety in the neighborhood.

The "Safe at Home" plan will be operated by Chicago Special Events Management, which has experience working in the Lakeview community. The patrol will interface with the 19th District Townhall Police station, other security operations already present in the neighborhood, private security provided by other local businesses and Chicago Cubs on-site operations. Ultimately, the goal is to create a cooperative network that maintains vigilance of the Wrigleyville/Lakeview area.

The secret life of Fabulous Fred

In this Publicity Club of Chicago shot, Fred Strauss is circled above, located in the middle to the top row.

The World War Two hero nobody knew about, and the family he never got back

BY RONALD ROENIGK

First of a two-part series

Chicago had a World War II hero in its midst for nearly 40 years and never knew about it.

This hero had a family back in Germany he never met.

He may also have had a family fortune he did not live long enough to reclaim.

Fred Strauss was born in 1925 in Germany and died Feb. 5, 2016, in Skokie Hospital. He is now resting at Abraham Lincoln National Cemetery in Elwood, near Joliet.

From 1978 to 1988 Strauss was the Executive Director of the Lincoln Park Chamber of Commerce [LPCC]. He had moved to Chicago from Cleveland and took the position when the neighborhood was a lot less tony and the chamber was more like an old boys club, not the diverse, dynamic 400-plus member organization it is today.

Strauss also had stints with the Near North Business Assoc., the Streeterville Chamber of Commerce, the American Cancer Society, the Chicago Paint & Coatings Assoc., and while in Cleveland he promoted bands, a TV game show, night clubs and restaurants as a public relations professional.

His PR career was notable enough that he served as a past president of the Publicity Club of Chicago and received their Lifetime Achievement Award, their most prestigious award. It honors distinguished individual achievement in public relations and communications.

Last year some of his family in Germany came to Chicago to find Fred, or at least seek out more information on Strauss... they knew they had an ancestor in America but had only recently discovered that this man was actually Fred Strauss of Chicago.

Fred had moved to America -- for the second time -- in 1948, and for good reasons, the woman he met and had a wartime romance with kept his identity to herself for nearly 70 years.

Fred, in fact, first came to America in Jan., 1938, as a 12-year-old boy, when the Nazis were on the rise and just before all hell broke loose on the continent. He was fostered by two Chicago families in Rogers Park.

The information that has now come to light, and is in these two stories, was offered by his family in Germany. More of it came from the National Archives in Washington D.C., and also from post-war investigations in Germany.

This newspaper is a member of the LPCC, and was when Strauss was their executive director. This reporter worked on many events, promotions and projects with him during those days, enough so that even after Fred left the Chamber we remained friends. Those who

Police seek help with Green Line thief

Chicago Police Detectives are seeking the public's assistance in identifying the above two suspects responsible for taking cell phones from citizens. The incident occurred 7 p.m. Saturday on the CTA Green line train located in 100 block of N. Wabash St. As the train stopped at this location, the offender's entered onto the train, approached the victims, took their phones from their hands and fled the train.

Offenders are described as male black, 17-25 years of age, 5'-7" to 6' tall, 140-175 lbs., with a medium complexion. Anyone with information on these two suspects are asked to call 312-747-8381.

Warren Park youth baseball open for teams

Registration is now open for Warren Park's 2017 baseball season. Spots are available in all age divisions, from Tee-Ball through Juniors, ages 4 - 15. Warren Park is located at 6601 N. Western Ave.

New this year is "Bring Your Own Team" to Tee-Ball and Rookie Leagues. If you want to coach your child's Tee-Ball or Rookie League team and want to make sure your child can play with his/her friends you can now sign up to create your own team (ages 4 - 6), and invite neighborhood children, schoolmates or other friends to join your team. Warren Park Youth Baseball League will fill any empty roster spots with "free agent" registrants.

Girls have the option to play on a co-ed team or an all-girl team, called the Pioneers. They can sign up to "bring your own Pioneer team" and invite friends to join in on the baseball diamond.

Cortland Bridge closed for construction

The Cortland St. bridge westbound lane and north sidewalk snow closed until Friday, Feb. 24 for utility tunnel repair work. The Dept. of Transportation will also be detouring traffic as follows:

- Westbound car traffic is being detoured to Webster Ave. via Clybourn, Ashland and Elston avenues
- Westbound trucks are being detoured to North Ave. via Clybourn, Ashland and Elston avenues
- Westbound bicycle riders may walk their bikes on the southern sidewalk, taking care to give pedestrians the right-of-way.

These changes will also impact the westbound #73 Armitage bus through March 3 because Cortland will be closed between Southport and Racine (westbound only) to all vehicular traffic. Therefore buses will reroute as follows:

- Operate regular route to Clybourn/Cortland, (continue)
- Southeast on Clybourn to Sheffield, (turn right)
- South on Sheffield to North Ave, (turn right)
- West on North Ave to Elston, (turn right)
- Northwest on Elston to Cortland, (turn left)
- West on Cortland over regular route

Eastbound buses will not be affected.

The Home Front By Don DeBat

Tenant advocacy groups may always be on the war-path about rising rents and gentrification, but the truth is Chicago apartment renters have infinitely more rights and consumer protection now than decades ago.

Now, State Rep. Will Guzzardi (39th) is urging repeal of the state's Rent Control Preemption Act, a law passed by the Illinois Legislature in 1997 that prohibits local governments from enacting rent-control ordinances.

Since there are no limitations on landlords demanding excessive or unfair residential and commercial rent increases, Rep. Guzzardi says this has led to "skyrocketing rents and encroaching gentrification of once stable neighborhoods" in Chicago and throughout Illinois.

However, apartment owners and managers argue that Mayor Rahm Emanuel's aggressive 2015 property tax hike combined with sharply higher water and sewer charges, plus new garbage fees are forcing landlords to raise rents to maintain thin profit margins.

Faced with a 28% real estate tax

Rent control? Uncel Sam allowed 15% apartment rent hikes in 1947

Because of the post-World War II housing shortage, many larger three-flats in Chicago were split into six-flats. If an apartment building had six units, it was split into 12 units.

increase and substantially higher city "utility fees last year, one Lincoln Park 4-flat owner was forced to raise rents four percent to 5.5%, or about $100 a month.

Did you know that when federal rent control was still in effect after World War II, it was perfectly legal for a landlord to slap a tenant with a 15% rent hike?

In a 1947 lease filed in this writer's archives, the federal Housing Expediter Office of Rent Control allowed the landlord of a vintage Old Town apartment building to hike rents a whopping 15%—the maximum allowed under the law.

The rent on the two-bedroom unit rose to $23 a month from $20. Sounds like a pittance today, but in the late 1940s a good weekly wage was $40, or about $2,080 a year.

The federal agency attached a two-page notice to the skimpy two-page "Registration of Lease." The notice said that the lease may not contain an escalator clause, an option for the landlord to terminate the lease at will, and it can't include "conditions or covenants which exact penalties, or decrease services."

Today, the tenant friendly 2017 Chicago Assoc. of Realtors' lease is 19 pages long. Only four pages are dedicated to the actual rental agreement. The remaining 15 pages of administrative boiler plate cover an outline of the Chicago Landlord Tenant Ordinance, allowable interest charges on security deposits, lead-based paint and radon disclosures, and information on bed bugs.

In 1947, 70 years ago, if the apartment was furnished prior to rent control, the agency ordered the landlord to maintain the required furnishings and equipment to the same level regulated by the prior lease.

In those post-Depression days, Old Town was a blue-collar neighborhood where bath houses were in vogue. Bathrooms in worker's cottages and frame three-flats built immediately after the Great Chicago Fire of 1871 often had a toilet and washbowl, but no bath tub.

Turn-of-the-century apartment amenities might only include a bare electric light bulb hanging from the ceiling and a coal burning pot-belly stove for heat. Kitchens were equipped with a wall-hung cold water sink on legs. If the apartment had hot water, a ringer-type washing machine—a luxury—sometimes sat in the corner of the kitchen.

Because of the post-World War II housing shortage, many larger three-flats in Chicago were split into six-flats. If an apartment building had six units, it was split into 12 units.

After the war, the U.S. Congress was heavily lobbied by real estate interests, so the 15% "catch-up" rent increase was allowed after legislators enacted the Rent Act of 1947. The act moved administration of the federal rent control program to the Office of the Housing Expediter, an agency established in 1946 to oversee veterans' mortgage assistance programs.

The Rent Act created new local advisory boards that had power to recommend across-the-board rent increases in entire neighborhoods or types of buildings, noted historian Wendy Plotkin, who wrote about post World War II rent control. That's how Chicago's 15% rent hike was allowed in 1947.

The advisory board, headed by Henry Spaulding, an African American Realtor from the South Side, was the main advocate for landlords. The new board dealt with a wide assortment of rent control violations, from bonus payments ("side payments" above the maximum rents set by the board), illegal evictions and unauthorized subleasing, according to Plotkin.

The need for federally imposed rent control as GIs returned home from World War II was rooted in pressures on the housing supply shortage. Nationwide, it was estimated that the nation had a shortage of four million to five million units at the beginning of the war.

The U.S. government attempted to use voluntary rent-control boards at the beginning of the war, but many landlords ignored "appeals to patriotism, reason, civic pride, and a sense of fair play," Plotkin wrote in 1998, in "Rent Control in Chicago After World War II: Politics, People, & Controversy."

Although rent control officially ended in Chicago in 1953 after the end of the Korean War, the city was subject to federally mandated rent controls between Aug. of 1971 and Jan. of 1973 under the Nixon administration's wage and price guidelines.

Throughout the 1980s, Chicago's strong real-estate lobby fought rent control. However, in 1987, the city council adopted a Tenants Bill of Rights, the forerunner to the current Landlord Tenants Ordinance.

Full moon over Trump Tower

Chanting “Hands too small, can’t build a wall,” about 50 to 100 protesters dropped trou along the Chicago River on Sunday afternoon and aimed their angst at Trump International Hotel & Tower.

Closer to 200 people watched the “mooning” of Trump Tower, organized by Columbia College student Bailey Austin Davis, including police officers from both the Loop and Near North police districts.

The goal of the event, according to Davis, who studies theatre directing, was to get President Donald Trump to publicly release his income tax returns.

“We want to see his taxes and we will bare our asses,” Davis told the crowd, encouraging them to tweet photos of their butts directly to Trump. “Today we shall stand together as one nation and say, ‘Hey, Mr. President, this is what our butt looks like.’”

Following a brief countdown, the protesters, standing on the south bank, bared bottoms for about a minute in the direction of Trump Tower on the other side of the river.

Letter to the Editor

Why not be a Mariano Park dreamer?

Mariano Park, 1021 N. State St., our North Side’s miniscule treasure of an international mecca, for locals and visitors alike, is up for grabs again. The issues and people involved in this continuing, pathetic land grab are well known.

Maya Angelou taught us that when someone shows you who they are, believe them the first time. How apt in this scenario.

Myriad solutions and propositions for that tiny space have been proffered, and new entrepreneurs are now being sought. Who is going to operate the concession there is anyone’s guess. Regardless, what represents an optimal, honest outcome for this beloved, beleaguered speck of land, you decide.

I maintain the hope that Mariano Park may yet reclaim much of the stature that it has lost and become again an island of sanity in a sea of insanity. But then again, I’ve always been a bit of a dreamer.

have now discovered his heretofore unknown past are stunned to find out all that we did not know about Strauss.

Indeed the details provided by his family about Strauss's early years is far more interesting, and impressive, than anything his friends in America had to offer the family in return.

Those who knew Strauss back then knew he was a bit particular, preferring to work behind the scenes, never wanting to be out front as the face of the LPCC or the Lincoln Park community. He was always the guy behind the camera, telling those in front of it where to stand or suggesting what to say to an audience.

While working for the LPCC, "Fred drove a big, old Ford Fairlane which we affectionately called his 'office,'" said Lino Darchun, who is today a local realtor, and like this reporter, an old friend of Strauss and long time

"Fred was called 'Fabulous Fred' by many who knew him simply because he had a way of making miracles happen for the Chamber, primarily because of his perseverance," said Lino Darchun.

LPCC member. The car was the chamber's 'office' in that most of their records, documents, notes and paperwork were stored by Fred in that Ford.

"Fred was called 'Fabulous Fred' by many who knew him simply because he had a way of making miracles happen for the Chamber, primarily because of his perseverance," said Darchun.

His professional life was so 'behind the scenes' that we could only locate one photo of him today to run with this story, a photo taken by the Publicity Club of Chicago for a special club program book in 2001. An online search for Strauss provided only a few of his quotes in print on the mere one-page of results offered up by Google.

Intentional or not, for a man with such a large history, Strauss left behind a very small digital footprint.

Strauss was born in Bielefeld in Westfalen, Germany. As a child he and his family were discriminated against in many ways because they were Jewish.

His father owned an electrical fixers store and after the Reichskristallnacht [Night of the Broken Glass] the people in town boycotted the store and the family fell into poverty. They were forced to leave their home and moved into a small apartment where they had to rent out rooms to strangers to make ends meet.

Although he was an excellent student, Strauss was thrown out of school because he was Jewish. His family, like many of their fellow Jews at that time, faced repression, overt threats and broad, institutionalized discrimination.

Fred's mother Fanny was from the Westfalen branch of the wealthy and well-known Wertheim family. This family created the first chain of modern department stores in Germany, the Wertheim Department Store chain, but they were stripped of their assets by the Nazis when they were subjected to the Nazi Aryanization policies in the late 1930s. Those stores were to Berlin then what Macy's or Bloomingdale's is to New York City today. And they were located on prime real estate that today remains extremely valuable.

The Jewish families who ran and owned the store were forced out by government mandate in 1939, forced to sell all their assets for well below their true value. According to an investigation by the Shoah Resource Center at The International School for Holocaust Studies, the parties involved in the takeovers were motivated less by ideology than by profits. The redistribution of the closely held company stock and assets benefited only a limited number of private persons, not to mention the creditor banks.

Today the Karstadt Group, which owns many German department stores, is the successor of the Wertheim Department Stores. In March, 2005, the German Courts awarded $17 million in reparations to two heirs in New Jersey for some of their families losses.

Strauss may have also been considered a surviving heir through his mother, but he never received any reparations while he was alive. The department store shares of stock were tightly held by a small group of family members and it is not known if Fred's mother had rights to any of this stolen fortune. The process of proving a legitimate claim for reparations is complex, bureaucratic and, ironically, in some ways made more difficult for those who escaped and survived.

Fred Strauss's descendants are seeking any information from his friends and associates, especially any photos that might be available. fred.strauss.legacy@gmail.com

As the fate of Jews in Germany spiraled out of control, Fred's mother fought to get him on the Kindertransport (Children's Transport) in 1938. It was not easy but it saved his life. At the same time it no doubt also left deep emotional scars and traumatic stress on a young boy fleeing terror, leaving his family behind and heading off into an unknown future in a strange land.

The Kindertransport operation brought more than 10,000 children out of Nazi Germany 78 years ago in a passage from hell to freedom. Kristallnacht and the pogroms impoverished and killed many Jews, burned hundreds of synagogues, and resulted in the imprisonment of tens of thousands of people in concentration camps. Many historians see these actions as the start of Hitler's Final Solution.

Amid the horror, England agreed to take in most of those children threatened by the Nazi's. Those children, most but not all Jewish, would escape Germany in the months to come – until the outbreak of war in Sept., 1939, when the borders were closed. By then the USA had taken in only 1,100 children, so Fred's arrival in Chicago was a rarity.

Strauss arrived in America all alone as a 12-year old boy and came first to the Edison Family home on N. Bosworth Ave. in Rogers Park as a foster son, then moved in with the Lederman Family at 1713 W. Wallen Ave. as a second foster home on the North Side.

Strauss never saw his German family again... Fred's parents were killed in Auschwitz in March, 1943. The one small suitcase he was allowed to take with him is today in the collection of the Skokie Holocaust Museum.

"The rest of his family didn't survive the Holocaust, they were killed in concentration camps," said Tanja Appel, one of Strauss' descendants, in an email she sent to Darchun asking him for any details he may have had on Fred. Appel and her husband visited Chicago in Sept., 2016, to seek out information on Strauss.

The family had only discovered the actual identification and location of their Fred Strauss in April of 2016, nine weeks after his death. The September trip was made to try and find out more information on their newly discovered - and now deceased - ancestor. "We knew Fred existed but did not know it was this Fred Strauss," she said.

While they were here they called the Publicity Club of Chicago and talked to its executive director David Brinn, and also stopped in at the Chamber office to see what information they might have to offer about Strauss.

And thus is how Fred's secret past at once became known to his old friends.

They are still seeking out information on Strauss and are hoping this publicity will bring more to reach out to them. The family has established the following e-mail address to take information and receive queries: fred.strauss.legacy@gmail.com.

"When she called I was so hoping something would come of the search, that other people would find out what I had just heard about Fred's war years," said Brinn, who also considered Fred a personal friend. In the first conversation this reporter had with Brinn, he referred to "Fabulous Fred" so his notable nickname was not strictly a LPCC thing.

What Appel discovered about Fred's war years, and has now shared, is what surprised most of his old friends in America. That will be covered in part two of this story.

Fabulous Fred part 2 will run next week, in the Feb. 22 edition.

Hawaiian slack key masters return to Old Town School Friday

BY PETER VON BUOL

George Kahumoku Jr. and Nathan Aweau, masters of Hawaiian slack key guitar, will be returning Friday to perform at the Old Town School of Folk Music, 4544 N. Lincoln Ave. Joining them this year on-stage will be slack-key guitarist Kawika Kahiapo.

On Maui, the three musicians frequently perform together at the Napili Kai Beach Resort's weekly Slack Key Show hosted by Kahumoku. In Chicago, the three will be performing at the Gary and Laura Maurer Concert Hall at 8 p.m. Tickets for the show are $26 for the general public and $24 for Old Town School members.

Slack-key guitar, known as kiho'alu in the Hawaiian language, uses guitar-tunings modified from standard guitar tunings. By either raising or lowering the tunings of the individual strings, slack-key guitarists achieve a sound recognizable as distinctly Hawaiian. The style originated during the 1830s among native Hawaiian cowboys (paniolo in Hawaiian). Until recently, many of these tunings were considered family secrets and were not shared with others.

The Hawaiians had been trained in cattle-ranching techniques by Spanish-speaking cowboys from Mexico (Vaqueros). The visitors, many of whom were skilled musicians, enjoyed performing for their Hawaiian hosts. Upon their departure, many gave their guitars to the Hawaiians.

According to Kahumoku, the Mexican vaqueros had played three types of guitars and had usually performed as a trio. These trios consisted of a four-string bass guitar; a six-string rhythm guitar; and a 4-string tenor lead guitar.

"Hawaiians combined the sound of these three into one. They slackened or loosened the strings, picking bass, rhythm and lead all at once, and the art of slack key guitar was born. Families developed their own tunings and incorporated old Hawaiian-language chants into modern songs with melodies," Kahumoku says.

Last year, Kahumoku completed his latest recording, the eponymous Kahumoku: Priest of the Land. The songs on the album were written by Kahumoku over a span of 40 years. The title is an homage to his family. For decades, his ancestors were farmers and ranchers. As such, they were connected to the land and considered themselves to be stewards of the land.

"The songs were written for loved ones, hoaloha (dear friends) wahi pana (special places) and family events, such as weddings and baby parties. These songs are a reflection of 'aina aloha (love for the land) that has been a theme for my entire life," Kahumoku said.

In addition to his illustrious career in Hawaiian music, Kahumoku has also spent decades in education, both as an administrator and as a classroom instructor. While he is proud of his work in the classroom, he also appreciates the education he received from his parents, grandparents and ancestors.

"My father, George Kahumoku, Sr. quit school after eighth-grade and broke horses for McCandless Ranch in South Kona (on the Big Island of Hawaii). My great-grandfather, Willy Kahumoku, was instrumental in building the stone walls that contained the cattle [on the Big Island] from Kona, all the way to Waimea. My parents, grandparents, great grandparents all played Kih'olu guitar. I've been playing and performing slack key guitar farming, and ranching all of my life," Kahumoku said.

For most of the 20th century, slack-key guitar had been overshadowed by Hawaiian steel-guitar music. By the late 1960s, interest in traditional Hawaiian folk music was revived during a movement that became known as the Hawaiian Renaissance. Among those in the forefront in this revival was The Sons of Hawaii, a now legendary band which featured the late Gabby Pahinui on slack key guitar.

Growing up on the windward side of Oahu, Kawika Kahiapo considers himself lucky to have heard Pahinui perform on a regular basis with his father in garage jam sessions. Those performances served as an inspiration to Kahiapo. Quietly, he spent countless hours alone with his guitar to duplicate what he had heard and at age 17, he embarked on a career as a professional musician.

Joining Kahiapo and Kahumoku will be Nathan Aweau, one of Hawaii's most recognized vocal performers. Prior to his career as a solo artist, Aweau has been a member of two of Hawaii's most well-known bands The Ali'i (the house band of the legendary Don Ho) and HAPA. He spent 16 years as the bass player of The Ali'i. Afterwards, he joined HAPA, with whom Aweau received critical acclaim as their primary vocalist. It was as a member of HAPA that Aweau first performed on the Old Town stage. Last year, Aweau returned as a solo performer.

producing great imaginative mechanical toys. Dramatically engaging the imagination of the public, his work is all shape and color and movement. His art is structurally, dynamically expressive of his creative ability as an engineer. His life as a gifted sculptor hinges on his ability to project works of creativity and revolutionary construction. Pure modern design.

I have a copy of a Calder mobile that was bought at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. I sandwiched it among all the paintings on my walls. It's a good fit. It hangs high and catches the breezes in the summer and the warm air flow from vents in winter when the heat is on. It's all motion. It's simple, uncomplicated, ingenious and so American. It is a superb natural mechanical toy. So Calder is always on my mind.

Is the Blackstone Group willing to be respectful of the Calder work currently in their lobby here? In light of their announcement there are things I propose:

The first thing you should do is to go visit it. You will be glad you did. I hope you are overwhelmed.

You can also write the Blackstone Group and express your concern that this important work could be taken out of Chicago. They're at 345 Park Ave., New York, New York 10154. Stephen Schwarzman is the CEO.

I think Mayor Emanuel might also investigate a strategy to keep the Calder here. Perhaps the wonderful staff at the Art Institute will make some major play for it.

Maybe the Blackstone Group are in a generous mood and might consider giving it to the Art Institute of Chicago or the Museum of Contemporary Art. On loan to Chicago in perpetuity, like the Chagall windows.

Chicago holds some of America's choicest artistic treasures. The Calder would be a handsome and noble gift infusing Chicago's self-understanding with refreshed whimsy and soul. It's not just a massive mechanical toy. It is the very story of modern American art.

LOCAL TV CELEBRITY NEWS: Chicagoan Nate Beuscher (eight years old) is a student at Disney II Magnet School. He has had a remarkable run as Tiny Tim in the Goodman Theater's productions of "A Christmas Carol," the past three years, and just debuted on Fox Television's "APB" this past Monday. Nate's also been making the morning talk shows light up with his sweet personality. Nice going, Nate, you are a star.

KENNEDY NEWS: Chicago's Special Olympics will honor Christopher Kennedy on Feb. 27 at Carnivale, 702 W. Fulton St., 5:30 to 8:00 p.m. Plan on seeing a lot more of this guy around town now that he wants to be governor. Dems who once whined about the 'billionaire who bought the governor's mansion' will soon be running two of their own.

SAY IT AIN'T SO: Double Door at Milwaukee and Division has finally closed their doors.

Nate Beuscher

Evicted. Not willingly. The 5,000 sq. ft. gritty landmark music performance center was shuttered by Sheriff's deputies this past Monday. The Dickensian legal battle in this court case just hit a brick wall. Soaring Wicker Park rents and expanding yuppie greed was stronger than the legacy of 23 years of urban Rock n' Roll music performance. Even the Rolling Stones played jams there. It's all freshly padlocked. Double Door hopes for a Logan Square site soon. Fans are despondent.

ESCALATING CRIME: Mayor Emanuel had to have the "606" high line project pushed ahead through Bucktown's unused rail line, but now that crime there soars residents are told there is no longer sufficient Chicago Police to adequately patrol the dangerous geography. Are the crime stats even true? And what do we make of Cook County who continues to let dangerous criminals back out on the streets to rob and pillage? Calling them "non-violent," when most citizens know that faux compassion is just a cover story for a lack of funds to pay to keep dangerous people off the streets.

Chicago artist Susie Kealy and her Polo Posse.

VATICAN ART: March 8, the Associate Patrons of the Arts in Vatican Museums will hold their spring social at Gibson's 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Join President Anne Shea, Cardinal Cupich, sculptor John David Mooney and the board for this erudite and engaging event. Learn more about the unique restoration project currently underway. Call 312-534-5351.

WHO'S WHERE: Yes, that was Hector Gustavo Cardenas moving along those ancient streets in Marrakesh, Morocco... Jim Kinney and Brian White sun-bathed at the International Polo Club in Palm Beach in straw hats... Bob and Nina Mariano taking in a fabulous Super Bowl Party at Tamarisk Country Club in Rancho Mirage, CA with Shelly and Steve Zucker... Real Estate Tsarina Mabel Guzman in Washington D.C. for NAR Public Policy Conference. Tom Farley, "Mister Manners," visiting San Francisco and running the full length of the Golden Gate Bridge... Chicago artist Susie Forstmann Kealy soaking up the sun and the Polo in Palm Beach. Nancy O'Shea out West in Scottsdale stopping at Taliesin West, the Frank Lloyd Wright architectural center and his burial site... Jonathan Wells has arrived in the historic beauty of old Havana, Cuba like Hemingway... Patty Bidwill, toasty and warm in Cartagena, Columbia. Dan Gibbons poolside with a pint in Palm Springs... Winton Lee in New Orleans surviving the freak tornado that struck, get me another julip... Christie's Steven Zick up to Minneapolis, MN to the Walker Art Center for the Merce Cunningham opening. Crime writer Sara Paretsky in Montreal, Canada's French capitol.

THEY'RE STARS: Here's a bit of star data on our 44 U.S. presidents and their astrological signs. What can we deduce from these? Surprisingly, they are more widespread than I expected. Most are Aquarians. Aries, Gemini and Virgo the fewest. I would have guessed they all fell into two or three groups, like Taurus or Aquarius. Deepening the commonality and similar character of chief executives. But it's not that simple. It's a wonderful curiosity. For instance JFK, Bush I and Trump are each Gemini. What does that reveal?

Pisces: Cleveland, Madison, Jackson, Washington
Aquarius: Lincoln, Reagan, WH Harrison, FD Roosevelt, McKinley
Capricorn: Nixon, Fillmore, A. Johnson, Wilson
Sagittarius: Van Buren, Taylor,

Pierce
Scorpio: Garfield, Harding, Polk, Adams, T. Roosevelt
Libra: Eisenhower, Arthur, Hayes, Carter
Virgo: Taft, LB Johnson
Leo: B. Harrison, Clinton, Hoover, Obama
Cancer: Ford, JQ Adams, GW Bush, Coolidge
Gemini: GHW Bush, Kennedy, Trump
Taurus: Truman, Monroe, Grant, Buchanan
Aries: Jefferson, Tyler

CABARET: Chicago's signature songstress Denise Tomasello is live March 11 at the Skokie Theatre in an evening of musical beauty. Call 847-677-7761 for ticket information.

NEITHER RAIN NOR SNOW: Diane O'Connell, the Baroness of Bonds, says she went out and mailed a letter in front of Bloomingdale's on Michigan Ave. After the envelope went into the mailbox two postal workers in a nearby truck started yelling to her. They had already picked up the mail. So they got out of their truck and opened the mailbox and collected her letter which would have been delayed otherwise. She and the two postal women took selfies and became BFFs, renewing Diane's faith in humanity.

KETTLE OF FISH: Is it true that a fancy school with large tuition has a teacher who is romancing a parent at the moment? It's strictly hush-hush. Enough to give a nun a heart attack. Some are suggesting that the two husbands who are being cheated on should start dating.

ALL THE KING'S HORSES: Did a well-known local attorney, twice-divorced, take a carriage ride with two ladies he had just met at a local steakhouse and manage to snort some controlled substances with them while rounding the streets of the Gold Coast? Word is the attorney, who has already graduated from rehab once, has been worrying friends of late, who suspect his poor judgment has returned and is placing him in a dangerous place. The pair of bimbos were out-of-towners, it is said, and had no clue who the guy was. Is he a Humpty Dumpty waiting to happen?

ALL THE KING'S MEN: Who is the busboy who has had offers from three different gentlemen customers to resolve any illegal immigration glitches for him with proposals for marriage, should the Feds start making life difficult? They are sincere, successful and very generous we hear. People are asking - "Where do we sign up?"

LETTERS, WE GET LETTERS: "Luscious descriptions of both the food and its preparation, very Tom Jonesian... the pie crust looks like one of your paintings, both works of art..." - Cynthia Olson; "Ready to go shopping and cook." - Lynda Silverman; "Ah, Tom, you write like you cook - with "vigah." I am left so hungry and yet so delighted for your taste in foods and preparations. You've made your work in the kitchen into a dance." - Mary Laney; "The food is killing me. I want to make it all." - Myra Reilly.

"The follies which a man regrets most, in his life, are those which he didn't commit when he had the opportunity."

Hold-ups continue on North Side

BY CWBCHICAGO.COM

A woman told police that she was robbed on a CTA Red Line train at the Sheridan station on Saturday.

The victim stated that a black male wearing a patterned face mask and a puffy red NorthFace jacket robbed her at gunpoint around 11:15 p.m. Police searched the area for the offender but came up empty-handed.

The hold-up was the latest in a string of robberies across Lakeview and Lincoln Park:

- An elderly woman was knocked to the ground and robbed of her purse in the 2900 block of N.Commonwealth around 6:50 p.m. on Monday. A passer-by found the woman lying on the ground and bleeding, police said. The victim was not able to offer descriptions of her attackers because they jumped her from behind.

- Two Center on Halsted clients were beaten and robbed at the Addison CTA Red Line station around 3:15 p.m. on Monday. The victims told police that three women and four men attacked and robbed them as they stood on the platform. The victims told police that they believed the offenders may have fled back to the Center on Halsted, but cops did not find anyone matching the offenders descriptions there.

The victims lost a large tan purse and eyeglasses to the offenders, who were only described as black. One of the men was wearing a shower cap, the victims said.

- Another woman also reported being robbed by a group of men and women in Boystown this week. The victim said that she was near Halsted and Melrose when a group of six men and women beat her up and stole her phone around 9:15 p.m. on Sunday. The primary offender is described as a 25-year-old black man who stands about 5'-10" tall and has short dreadlocks. Another man with a similar description wore a bright red bomber jacket. According to the victim, the entire group fled eastbound on Melrose.

- A Lakeview man told police that three men punched him in the face and body, then stole his wallet as he walked near Roscoe and Marshfield around 6:10 a.m. on Sunday. The offenders cruised up in a car with its lights off, then jumped out and attacked the victim. They are described as black men between 16- and 25-years-old who all wore dark clothing.

- Three women were robbed at gunpoint Sunday afternoon in the 2500 block of N. Burling in Lincoln Park. Two men each brandished a firearm and took the women's belongings around 12:30 p.m., police said. The offenders were last seen running toward Lincoln Ave. Both offenders were described as black male teenagers. One of them has short braids.

According to a source, one of the women's credit cards was used at a BP station in the 1200 block of S. Wabash about 90 minutes after the hold-up.

- Two men wearing ski masks robbed a victim at gunpoint in the 1200 block of W. Draper near DePaul Univ. around 2:20 a.m. Wednesday. The victim told police that the offenders may have fled in a black sedan with tinted windows. Both men were black, with one dressed in all red clothing who stands about 6' tall. The other man is shorter and wore all black, the victim said.

- Two men robbed a dry cleaning store in the 2300 block of N. Clark St. at 11:50 a.m. on Feb. 8. The offenders are described as three black men including one who has dreads and another who wore an olive coat. They were last seen heading southbound on Clark St. near the former Walgreens store.

Man assaults children at Ogden School

Tasewell Dugger, 46, of the 9200 block of Ellision Dr., St. Louis, has been charged with four felony counts including aggravated battery to children under 13, great bodily harm and criminal trespass to state land when he was arrested after being positively identified as the offender who illegally entered a restricted CPS playground 11 a.m. on Feb. 7 and struck four children between the ages of six and seven, as well as a 45-year-old female school administrator.

The incident occurred at the Ogden School on W. Walton St. Officers from the 18th District responded to the scene and placed Dugger in custody.

The victims suffered minor injuries and were treated on scene.

Man shot by girlfriend's ex-boyfriend in Old Town

A man was shot by his girlfriend's ex-boyfriend early Sunday in the Old Town neighborhood. The 24-year-old man was with his girlfriend about 2:50 a.m. inside a home in the 400 block of W. Evergreen, when the female's ex-boyfriend came in and got into a fight with the man, according to Police.

During the fight, the ex-boyfriend pulled out a gun and fired. The man suffered a graze wound to the head and was taken to Northwestern Memorial Hospital, where his condition was stabilized.

The ex-boyfriend ran away after the shooting, but police recovered the weapon. No one is in custody as of deadline.

Juveniles charged in North Side robbery spree

Two teenagers have been charged in connection with a series of armed robberies across the North Side last weekend.

The boys, ages 16 and 14, were taken into custody after being identified as the offenders who robbed victims from Streeterville to Rogers Park early on Saturday.

The two teenagers committed seven armed robberies early Saturday morning and stole an SUV before being chased and arrested by police.

Police say that the two teens approached two women and five men between 2:15 a.m. and 4 a.m. with a gun and robbed them. In one case they stole a woman’s SUV.

Later that night officers saw two people who matched the robbers’ description get out of a dark-colored SUV like the one reported stolen from the woman, police said.

When officers approached the two, the teens ran. Officers captured and arrested them.

Each was charged with seven felony counts of armed robbery and one count of attempted robbery with a firearm.

The robberies occurred in the 5200 block of N. Wolcott Ave.; the 5900 block of N. Campbell Ave.; the 5500 block of N. Lincoln Ave.; 1900 block of W. Foster Ave.; 1900 block of W. Norwood Ave.; the 6200 block of N. Western Ave., and the 5300 block of North Virginia Ave.

One of the robbery victims wrote a letter to 20th District Commander Sean Loughran to thank officers for their efforts.

“I appreciate the job CPD does on both the street and in the station. In this case, the officers... exuded the highest level of professionalism and duty,” the woman wrote.

Armed woman fatally shot by police after taser fails to drop her

Two veteran 19th District police officers shot and killed a woman who was armed with a large knife in North Center on Friday evening, according to a department spokesman.

The woman lunged at officers with the knife repeatedly and she was shot after an officer’s Taser failed to bring her down, the spokesman said.

Seconds before the woman was shot, an officer’s Taser could be heard crackling on police radio traffic secured by this newspaper: [Sound of Taser] Male Officer: [Expletive]! [More Taser sound] Male Officer: We got [unintelligible] with a knife. Taser deployed. Nothing happened. Dispatcher: 1922, is that you on Western? 1922? [Unintelligible] Male Officer: Shots fired.

At 5:47 p.m., the male officer and a female officer—both with more than a decade on the force—responded to calls of a woman with a knife inside CVS Pharmacy at 3944 N. Western.

The woman, identified by authorities as Michele Robey, 55, left the store before cops arrived, but the officers soon encountered her nearby. Robey had been damaging story property and threatening CVS customers before exiting the store.

Robey failed to drop the knife and repeatedly threatened cops with it, according to police. At least one officer deployed a Taser and a witness reported seeing Taser wires dangling from Robey’s back moments before police fired.

Tasers can be ineffective if the target is wearing thick clothing such as a winter coat.

Robey was pronounced dead at Advocate Illinois Masonic Medical Center about an hour after the shooting.

The officers involved have been placed on routine administrative duties for a period of 30 days, per department regulations. The matter remains under investigation by the Independent Police Review Authority.

Demons

Robey’s family and friends recently expressed concerns about her well-being after they saw unsettling social media posts.

On Jan. 17, Robey posted a photo of the Interstate Blood Bank in Albany Park and circled two areas of the facade that she titled “Angels and Demons,” prompting two concerned reactions.

Five days earlier, Robey posted a note to a young woman’s page. “Hi. I’m sorry I hurt you,” Robey said. The woman’s response: “I suggest you leave me alone.”

And in early January, a friend wrote, “If you are friends with [Michele]... please, please do what you can to check on her... she is in trouble... if I was in Chicago I would be at her door but I’m in Oregon... please help.”

Thirteen years for man who posed as Near North shrink

A federal judge sentenced an Indiana man to more than 13 years in prison for posing as a psychiatrist and prescribing medications to more than 50 people from Sept. 2015 to Feb. 2016 out of his Near North Side office.

The purported patients included a nine-year-old child, for whom Scott Redman prescribed a 30-day supply of Vyvanse, a medication that treats attention deficit hyperactivity disorder.

A jury in November convicted Redman on three counts of wire fraud, one count of aggravated identity theft, one count of furnishing false information to the Drug Enforcement Administration, and five counts of distributing a controlled substance.

In addition to the Vyvanse, Redman prescribed other controlled substances to his supposed patients, including Adderall, Clonazepam and Xanax, prosecutors said.

Gunman threatens women on North Center street; “Oh my god! I’m gonna die!”

A Lakeview woman and her friend ran for their lives after a man emerged from a North Center alley, pointed a handgun at their faces, and racked the gun’s slide early Sunday.

Several 911 callers reported hearing one of the women scream, “Oh my God! I’m gonna die!” and “He has a gun!”

Other callers saw a man running from the scene as the women ran in the opposite direction.

The victims, who sought help inside a nearby bar, said they were walking in the 1800 block of W. Grace near Lincoln Ave. when the man emerged from the alley around 12:20 a.m.

The women ran away despite the offender’s threat to shoot them if they did not stop, police said.

Police are unsure of the man’s motive because the women did not stick around long enough to hear what the man wanted.

They describe the gunman as a white male wearing a black or gray hoodie who stands about 5’-8” tall.

Robbed on Ravenswood

Two offenders mugged a man in the 4400 block of N. Ravenswood on Saturday evening.

The victim told police that the robbers pulled out a handgun, took his wallet and phone, and then fled northbound on Ravenswood.

He described the offenders as two black men in their late teens or early 20’s. Both wore black hoodies, and one may have worn a backpack.

Lakeview: armed robbery crew mugs woman, carjacks man Friday evening

Chicago police are investigating after a robbery crew mugged a Lakeview woman at gunpoint Friday evening and then carjacked a man who lives nearby. No one is in custody.

Shortly after 8 p.m., two teenagers demanded valuables while pointing a gun at a woman on the street near Kenmore and School. The woman went home and her husband called for police.

About 10 minutes later, four teenagers armed with a gun carjacked a man behind his home in the 3200 block of N. Southport.

The victim was getting ready to pick up carry-out dinner when the four offenders approached, placed a gun to his head, and commandeered his 2006 Volvo.

Police believe both robberies were committed by the same offenders, according to a source.

Contents of the man’s vehicle were found in an alley about a block from his home.

About an hour after the carjacking, one of the man’s credit cards was used at a Mobil gas station in the 6700 block of S. Jeffrey in the South Shore neighborhood, according to a source.

The offenders are described as black male teenagers armed with one small black handgun. One stands about 6’ tall and is very skinny. Another is about 5’-10” tall and wore a gray and black jacket with jeans.

Man pistol-whipped, girlfriend robbed

A Lakeview man was pistol-whipped by a robber who also mugged his girlfriend Sunday night near Roscoe and Seminary, according to police.

The couple was walking around 11 p.m. when the man was struck in the back of the head by an offender who took his wallet and cellphone as well as the woman’s purse. An ambulance was summoned to treat the man’s head injury.

Police later recovered the phone outside of a liquor store in the 3200 block of W. Montrose.

According to the couple, the offender was a tall black man with short facial hair. He stood about 6’-3” tall, weighs about 240 lbs., and he wore a black knit cap and a black jacket.

This attack played out about a block from where a Lakeview woman was robbed at gunpoint on Friday evening. Friday’s victim lives about 10 doors down from the couple who was mugged Sunday night, according to a source.

Robbers surprise Psychic Salon

A Lincoln Park psychic salon reported losing over $1,500 to a pair of robbers on Sunday afternoon, police said.

Officers went to the shop in the 2800 block of N. Lincoln Ave. after a caller reported seeing the robbers trying to force their way into an attached apartment.

When cops arrived, they learned that the salon itself had been robbed of cash.

The offenders are described as a heavy-set white man in his 30’s who stands about 5’-8” tall and a white female who stands about 5’-2” tall.

An ambulance was called to assist the apartment’s occupant, who reportedly suffers from a serious medical condition.

Craigslist deal turns sour

A Craigslist meet-up turned sour in Uptown Sunday when a woman who hoped to buy a PlayStation 3 wound up being robbed instead.

The woman told police that she went to the 900 block of W. Montrose to purchase the entertainment system after agreeing to a deal online.

Once she arrived in Uptown, she was met by about five men in their late teens, the woman said. When she pulled out her phone to check on the details of the transaction, one of the men whipped out a gun and another man took her cellphone.

The entire group then ran into a nearby residential building and fled out its back door.

According to the woman, the gunman had short dreadlocks and carried a black semi-automatic. All of the offenders were male, black, and stood between 5’-10” and 6’ tall, she said.

Only misdemeanors for Near North gun violations

Chicago police say they found two stolen handguns and several loaded magazine when they stopped a south suburban Lansing man near Clark and Elm streets.

But, according to a police source, the Cook County State’s Attorney’s Office refused to pursue felony charges against the man, citing “insufficient evidence” that he knew the firearms in his car were stolen.

Police stopped Tarik D. Coleman, 23, outside of Table 52 restaurant around 3:40 a.m. on Jan. 26 because the Mercedes he was riding in had expired plates, according to court records.

Cops say Coleman removed a Glock 27 .40-caliber handgun from under his seat during the stop.

Coleman was detained and police reportedly found a 9-millimeter handgun in the vehicle’s glove compartment.

“Those guns are mine. The Glock and the nine. I bought them at Cabela’s in Indiana,” Coleman allegedly told police. “Don’t put them on anyone.”

An investigation found that the the 9-millimeter had been reported stolen from Moreseville, IN. Coleman changed his story to say that he bought the stolen gun “on the street from some guy in Chicago Heights,” police said.

The vehicle search also turned up six magazines for the guns; five 9-mm rounds; 63 .40-caliber rounds; 26 .45-caliber rounds; two 20-gauge shotguns shells, according to police inventory records.

After felony charges were declined, Coleman was charged with two counts of unlawful possession of a firearm and released on a $1,500 recognizance bond.

According to court records, Coleman has a valid Firearms Owner Identification Card, but he does not have a concealed carry license.

Man harassed by art gallery owner

Police are investigating a Feb. 6 police report made by a 23-year-old man that claims the owner of an art gallery harassed him after inviting him to the gallery under the suggestion it would lead to a job.

The victim said the gallery owner had hailed him in the 1300 block of W. Devon Ave. while he waited for a west-bound CTA bus and began making conversation. The alleged offender spoke about his art gallery, which was down the street, and persuaded him to take a look around, saying he needed someone for administrative work.

Inside the gallery, the owner began smoking marijuana and continued drinking, something the victim believes had been going on before their conversation began.

He then grew “agitated” and “belligerent” and began aggressively asking the victim what he seemed to be so scared of.

“Are you afraid? Are you afraid of me?” he repeatedly asked, according to the victim.

The victim said he had successfully changed the subject when the gallery owner said he wanted the victim to see his Jaguar automobile. As the gallery owner began leading the way to the car the victim turned and ran out of the gallery. The owner shouted at him as he ran from the shop but the victim did not turn around and was able to escape, according to his statement to police.

According to police, the owner of the gallery had a separate report taken out on him by the victim’s brother, who claims he was grabbed by the man at the same bus stop at an unspecified earlier date. Police are investigating the reports.

Man robbed by house guest who blames it on towed car

Police are investigating the armed robbery of a 41-year-old man who said an acquaintance he had allowed to stay at his house returned with a second man armed with handguns and took more than $20,000 worth of electronics after blaming him for his vehicle being towed.

Officers responded about 11:45 a.m. on Feb. 7 to a battery call in the 7400 block of N. Ridge Blvd. They met the uninjured victim who stated that two men, one an admitted Latin King and the second a man he had allowed to crash at his apartment, had stormed his apartment with .45 and .40 caliber semi-automatic guns and robbed him.

The victim said that electronics including two computers, two digital cameras, headphones, and multiple other high-end equipment totaling more than $20,000 had been taken during the robbery. He had not been hurt by the men but had been warned that if he called the police they would return and “kill him,” according to the report of the incident.

The victim said that the instigator of the robbery blamed him for getting his car towed from in front of the UNO Charter School in West Ridge, where he had parked over night. The victim said that he had warned the acquaintance not to park there because of the high likelihood of that happening to his vehicle, but that the man had not taken his advice.

Police have the names of the men alleged to have committed the robbery and are investigating, according to a police official.

Beware of women offering rides at night

A Seattle man has claimed that an unknown woman whom he accepted a ride from drove him right into an armed-robbery ambush Feb. 7 in Rogers Park.

The 33-year-old victim said he took a 1:30 a.m. ride from a woman he did not know in the 7400 block of N. Clark St. near Ridge Blvd. According to his statement, the woman was supposed to drive him to a gas station, but stopped the car on Clark St. and claimed she had to use the restroom. When she got out of the car, three men armed with guns surrounded the vehicle and told the man he was being robbed.

The victim said he was hit once in the face with the butt of the handgun before he gave up $150 cash and a cell-phone before the men threw him out of the vehicle. The reporting officer noted that there were no marks on the man’s face where he said he had been hit, per the report of the incident.

The woman returned and left with the men in the car. The victim could not describe the vehicle or give any detailed descriptions of the woman or the men who allegedly had robbed him.

THE

The Germania Club of Chicago: A history and some curiosities

For almost a century, the Germania Club of Chicago served as the leading social club for Chicago's German-American community. Designed by German architects in 1888, the historic Germania Club building on the corner of Clark St. and Germania Place in Old Town was designated a Chicago landmark in 2011.

Based on research in the DANK archives, the Newberry Library and the Chicago Historical Society, Reinhard Andress (Director of German Studies, Loyola Univ. Chicago) will trace the history of the Germania Club, from its beginnings through its many twists and turns, at 2 p.m. Saturday at DANK Haus, 4740 N. Western Ave. Andress also hopes to entertain guests with some curiosities about the Germania Club.

It was Lincoln's tragic assassination on April 15, 1865 that oddly led to the founding of what was to become the Germania Club of Chicago. The club had a considerable run as one of the main German-American cultural institutions in Chicago until 1985.

Following his presentation, Prof. Andress will allow ample time for questions and further discussion.
