Heartbreak Hotel Soothes Losers

GERBER

AN EXPENSIVE BUT MORE PLEASANT WAY to get a divorce is offered at the Gideon Putnam Resort & Spa in upstate New York in Saratoga Springs.

FOR $5,000 A SPLITSVILLE PACKAGE includes separate accommodations for two, a lawyer for each party and a mediator to draw up divorce papers. According to the New York Post, guests heading for singlehood also receive a gift basket with wine, chocolate and other consolation comfort goodies.

THIS QUICKIE-DIVORCE WEEKEND is offered by the Dutch company DivorceHotel and Gideon Putnam is first in the U.S. to offer the plan. It is popular in Europe, as it should be. Why not a pleasant interlude instead of nasty drawn out legal machinations and hurtful communications that only make lawyers rich?

You go in married and come out single at a low price, compared to the $20,000 minimum retainer many lawyers charge.

MAINTAINING A FRIENDLY RELATIONSHIP is especially desirable with children in the picture and lawyers work to solve the major issues in a divorce like division of property, money, child support, prior to the couple's arrival.

MASSAGES, LEISURELY WALKS, cozy sofas, offer respite from the business at hand.

IT IS A CIVILIZED WAY TO SHED A MATE. Surely a Chicago hotel can offer the same ambiance and comfort level.

Personal hygiene, socioeconomic status have nothing to do with transmitting head lice

BY STEVE BUCK
Special to Inside

Those long, silken strands of protein on your child's head are not just beautiful, shiny hair to match her pretty eyes and winning smile. To hordes of microscopic, persistent pests known as head lice, the smooth strands are expressways for transporting human blood.

Blood-sucking lice, dating back to ancient times, are mostly harmless, but they can turn a human scalp into an itchy, red-dened war zone supporting eggs – or nits – which hatch in about a week.

On Monday the Neighborhood Boys and Girls Club, 2501 W. Irving Park Rd., sent out a notice warning about a couple lice outbreaks from families currently participating in their programs saying that they "wanted to make sure [to] notify all of our families so we can all take steps needed to prevent this from spreading."

Lice are wingless and don't jump or fly, but rows

Treatments for those found with head lice can run $75 an hour, with an average treatment about 90 to 120 minutes for girls, and 30 to 45 minutes for boys or girls with short hair.

Cook County to increase tobacco inspections this summer, asks citizens to spy on sellers

The state tax stamp is usually located on the bottom of every pack of cigarettes. By 2013, after local taxes climbed dramatically, 20.9% of all cigarettes consumed in Illinois were smuggled in from other states, compared to 1.1% in 2012.

One-in-five cigarettes in Chicago smuggled to avoid taxes

BY KENT CHESTERFIELD

Beneath floorboards, concealed by hidden compartments, behind false walls accessed by garage door openers, Cook County Dept. of Revenue (DOR) investigators have seen it all when it comes to hiding illegal cigarettes. Through determined enforcement efforts, DOR is now bringing in record-high revenue for the County while combatting the sophisticated and slippery tobacco black market.

The trend of state and local governments increasing taxes on tobacco products has created lucrative incentives for black market cigarette trafficking between states. Due to the extremely high tax rates in Illinois there is a dramatic price difference between tobacco bought in Illinois and other nearby states such as Indiana, Missouri and Kentucky. Buying outside of Chicagoland can save the average smoker $30 to $50 per carton of cigarettes. Web sites selling out of state cigarettes are easily accessible.

A $1 Cook County tobacco tax hike took effect in March 2013, and a $1 state tobacco tax hike took effect in June 2012. The city of Chicago also increased its taxes. Overall, Cook County collected $133.2 million in cigarette tax revenue in 2014.

However, revenue from taxing tobacco still fell far short of expectations because policymakers didn't account for the substantial uptick in smuggling that would result from increased cigarette taxes. In 2013, 20.9% of all cigarettes consumed in Illinois were smuggled in from other states, compared to 1.1% in 2012. Illinois now has the 14th highest smuggling rate in the U.S.

Across the county, the opportunity by criminals to profit from large-scale cigarette smuggling has led to violence against people and police, including small-scale retail cigarette theft, murder-for-hire schemes, the growth of a counterfeit cigarette market and even the financing of Middle East terrorist organizations.

In July 2009, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives confiscated 12 million counterfeit cigarettes in Virginia alone. That same year, agents arrested two men for attempting to swap cocaine for 600,000 untaxed cigarettes. Perhaps worse, profits from contraband trafficking have been funneled to anti-American terrorist groups like Hezbollah in Lebanon.

'I want to be your alderman, Lincoln Park'

Vickrey makes her case for unseating incumbent

BY FELICIA DECHTER

Caroline Vickrey, 46, a former attorney and Assistant Illinois Attorney General, spends her days as mom to three older kids (her youngest is a sophomore at St. Ignatius who runs track and cross country) and as a community volunteer. For the past six months, Vickrey has been a fulltime candidate vying for the coveted position of alderman of the tony 43rd Ward.

Caroline Vickrey

Vickrey gave current Ald. Michele Smith a run for her money in last month's primary election, forcing the incumbent into a runoff on April 7. According to the Chicago Board of Elections' Web site, Vickrey earned 35.7% of the votes compared to Smith's 41.7%. Out of 10,268 total votes cast in the ward, the pair was just a mere 614 votes apart.

Vickrey grew up in Rogers Park, attending Armstrong Elementary School and Lane Tech High School -- both Chicago Public Schools -- before going on to the Univ. of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana, and Loyola Univ. School of Law.

Here are some of her thoughts on the race, the ward, and Ald. Smith.

Q: Why do you want to become alderman of the 43rd Ward?

I know we can do better as a ward and for our City, with respect to development, schools and our retail corridors, but also with respect to our city's finances and ethics reforms on a broader city level.

Q: What made you decide to run?

Our current alderman has failed us by breaking promises she made as a candidate, by neglecting to listen to her own constituents on a number of different issues and by not responding to constituent

Although “Hanoi Jane” has apologized endlessly, Fonda, 77, was recently confronted by 50 Vietnam veterans at a Maryland speaking engagement. They hate her but we think they would want to listen to her so they could scream and rant some more if needed. Jane is a fascinating femme.

Her Irish eyes are smiling

Heart of the 'Hood

By Felicia Dechter

With St. Paddy's Day right around the corner, I thought it would be the perfect time to introduce you to one of the city's newest Irish lassies, my magically delicious little granddaughter, Miss Shannon Leah (pronounced Lee-a), of East Rogers Park.

I call her Shanni and she's my second grandchild. Hard to believe, really, I'm not that old... time sure does fly when you're having fun. And that's exactly what Shanni is getting ready to do as she gears up for some St. Paddy's Day partying.

Shanni made her debut into this world on Dec. 30, weighing 8.7 pounds and being 20.5 inches long. She is named after my dad, whose name was Sidney, or Sid, as he was better known.

Shanni is both Jewish and Irish Catholic, and her name reflects the Irish side of her lineage. Yet the custom in which she was named, reflects her Jewish heritage.

In the Jewish religion, to keep the memory of dead loved ones alive and in our hearts, it's a tradition to name new babies after those we've loved but are no longer with us. Thus, my oldest daughter, Tedi, named Shanni after my father. Shanni's middle name, Leah, is after her dad Liam's grandfather, who was Leonard.

"She's the best," Tedi told me when I asked her what she wanted to say about Shanni. "I think she's a good little baby." She will get no arguments from me about that.

No blarney, I'm already so in love with this tiny new bundle of joy in my life. May my little Irish rose always find her pot of gold at the end of the rainbow to be full and plentiful.

Uptown girl ... is sassy Marine Dr. resident Carla Gordon, who will surely leave the crowd cheering for more during her upcoming, one night only show, "Broad Strokes: A Songwriter's Story," March 14 at the Skokie Theatre, 7924 N. Lincoln Ave.

"The show is going to talk about my journey as a songwriter, being 'discovered' at Yale by Amanda McBroom who wrote 'The Rose' and then came to Chicago and fussed over me," said Gordon. "That led Beckie Menzie and Tom Michael to hire me to write comedy lyrics for them which I have been doing for eight years."

"I even wrote and performed bawdy burlesque in the Halsted St. Boystown Bars," said Gordon. "Now I write custom material for dozens of Chicago singers and my songs are being performed around the country and have been aired on WFMT's Midnight Special and other radio outlets."

Besides some good, old-fashioned shtick, Gordon will dedicate a section in her show to the late entertainer we all know and loved, Jimmy Damon.

"I wrote special material and comedy for 'Borscht Belt Buddies' that I did with Jimmy Damon whom I called 'Jimmele' throughout our show," said Gordon. "Once

I thanked him for opening so many doors for me by making me his show partner and he thanked me in return for turning him into a comedy performer as well as a crooner. I have so many sweet memories of conversations with Jimmele."

The show, which will also feature special appearances by funny girls Caryn Bark and Jan Slavin, happens to coincide with Gordon's 65th birthday, so here's wishing her a great night.

"Some of my featured guests are going to roast me," laughed Gordon. "I shudder!" Tix are $20 at 847-677-7761.

Pride should be proud ... Nestled into the tiny Apollo Theater Studio, 2540 N. Lincoln Ave., Pride Films and Plays' "The Book of Merman," proves there's no people like show people with the delightfully-entertaining performances by its three endearing cast members.

Obviously a spoof on the wildly-popular "Book of Mormon," the musical comedy by Jeff Award-winning author/North Park resident Leo Schwartz played to sellout crowds at Mary's Attic in Andersonville recently. Apparently it was such a hit -- which is no surprise as it is directed by talented, Jeff Award-winner David Zak -- that it reopened at the Apollo.

It all starts when a couple of very square Mormon missionaries looking to recruit and pass the Mormon word ring a small town doorbell marked E.M. One of them is especially thrilled when a certain Ethel opens the door, in fact, he actually just happens to have a book about Merman in his backpack. From there comes a story of self-awareness and acceptance that makes for an afternoon or evening of enjoyable community theater.

I went to the show with a friend of mine and we had lunch first at Lou Malnati's, the famed pizzeria right around the corner from the theater. The pizza, as always, was delicious, but I also now am addicted to the restaurant's Creamy Lemon Garlic salad dressing and its Stuffed Spinach Bread, which is a hot, house-made crusty loaf stuffed with a blend of cheeses, fresh spinach, garlic, onion and tomato.

Anyway, if you're looking for some unusual, local amusement, catch "The Book of Merman," which is a collaborative effort between: Ensemble member Libby Lane, an Andersonville resident, who's spot on as Ethel Merman; Uptown resident Sam Button-Harrison and Lakeviewer Dan Gold as the two hilarious Mormon missionaries that happen upon Merman, and Justin Harner (pianist), Robert Ollis (music director), also from Lakeview.

Move Lucas and Obama to Oakland

One of your columnists, Don DeBat, wrote an article in your paper [Feb. 4] about how he felt he knew a better location for Obama’s Library and the George Lucas Museum [in the 37-acre former site of Michael Reese Hospital in the Oakland Neighborhood].

I’ve been thinking about that report and I had wanted to give that article to my Alderman as I feel that Mr. DeBat made a perfect framework of how the land in that location would make the most sense. How the location could be made to become viable again providing all the right reasons for the neighborhood as a new transportation system would favor the area, plus it is now a vacant area. It would likely improve everyone’s property value and give Oakland a shot of adrenalin.

Wealthy North Side buyers scooped up mansions and penthouses in 2014 fancy townhouses and penthouse condominiums, a new study reveals.

RE/MAX Luxury Report on Metro Chicago Real Estate noted that the city of Chicago posted 1,012 luxury-home sales last year, a 12% increase over 2013, and those transactions represented 47% of the total 2014 metro luxury market.

The median luxury-home sales price rose four percent to $1,419,500, and average market time shrank to 108 days from 141 in 2013. RE/MAX reported.

Detached homes accounted 51% of city luxury housing transactions. A total of 517 luxury single-family homes were sold in 2014, a seven percent increase over 2013. The median sales price on mansions rose eight percent to $1,462,500. Average market time shortened to 88 days from 120 the previous year.

L u x u r y home sales boomed on the North Side of Chicago in 2014 as wealthy buyers rushed in to scoop up mansions, Center and West Town—accounted for 89% of all detached luxury sales, RE/MAX reported.

However, sales trends in those communities varied substantially. Detached home transactions for the year rose in three of the hottest communities, including gains of 57% in West Town, 27% in Logan Square and 15% in Lake View. However, the market in North

The Home Front

Center and Lincoln Park saw fewer sales than 2013, and the Near North total was unchanged.

The median resale price rose in four neighborhoods. Median prices for detached luxury homes in Lake View inched up three percent, while median values in Lincoln Park leaped 22%. Logan Square posted median-price gains of 20%, while the Near North Side’s median resale prices skyrocketed 36%. However, median prices slipped one percent in North Center and fell 9% in West Town.

There were 495 sales of luxury condominiums and townhouses in the city during 2014, a robust 19% increase over the 2013 total, RE/MAX reported. The median sales price for a condo or townhouse climbed one percent to $1.4 million, and the average market time was 128 days, down from 166 the prior year.

Meanwhile, the Illinois Assoc. of Realtors (IAR) reported that the price rebound for all types of residential real estate continued into 2015. The median price of a home in Chicago rose 11% in January to $222,000 compared with January of 2014.

However, frigid January weather caused the number of sales transactions to slip. There were 1,295 single-family homes and condos sold in Chicago in January, down 8.3% from January of 2014.

“The strong price surge in the first month of the year shows that even in a traditionally slow time for real estate there’s enormous interest in finding a home to buy,” said Jim Kinney, president of the IAR.

“Those with homes on the market are definitely seeing traffic and with a slight reduction in inventory levels, sellers are able to command higher prices in many cases,” Kinney said.

“Families and professionals have a strong desire to buy a home yet a full market recovery continues to be stalled by the limited homes for sale,” noted Hugh Rider, president of the Chicago Assoc. of Realtors. “Buyer demand on lower inventory is pushing up prices to offer sellers an incentive.”

City to rehab, build 77 playgrounds in 2015

CPS to build 27 playgrounds

The city has announced plans to build - or rebuild - 77 playgrounds in parks across the City this year. In addition, Chicago Public Schools (CPS) will build 26 playgrounds at schools that have space for a playground but don’t currently have one and will replace one existing school playground.

The Chicago Plays! playground renovation program was launched in the Spring of 2013 by the Chicago Park District [CPD] to use taxpayer money to rebuild, repair and/or refurbish 300 playgrounds in Chicago communities. In 2014, 103 playgrounds were refurbished, and in 2013, 61 playgrounds were rehabilitated through the program.

In order to prioritize equipment replacement, the CPD worked with Friends of the Park to seek community input to determine which playgrounds were in greatest need of repair.

“We are on track to hit our five year goal of 300 refurbished playgrounds one year ahead of schedule,” said Mayor Rahm Emanuel. “Playgrounds provide children a place to play, parents to bond and neighbors to come together; from building new playgrounds to adding hundreds of acres of new park space, we are investing [ways] to create a [better] quality of life” for Chicagoans.

“This represents a significant investment in our parks,” said Ald. Patrick O’Connor [40th]. “Play lots that were once hazardous and outdated have been replaced with brand new equipment so that the next generation of young people can enjoy some healthy recreation in a safe environment.”

The city invests approximately $125,000 in taxpayer money in new playground equipment at each park location. The total cost of the program is $37.5 million.

Additionally, CPS will build playgrounds at the 26 schools that have space for but do not have a playground. Currently, 397 CPS schools have at least one dedicated playground, but 47 elementary and middle schools in CPS owned or leased buildings don’t have at least one playground. Of these 47, nine don’t have enough space for a playground and 12 are 300 feet or less away from a park playground. The remaining 26 schools have space for a playground and are not close to a park playground. The total cost of the CPS playgrounds is $8 million in taxpayer funds.

In 2015, the CPD is plans to work at the following North Side parks:

- Andersonville Park, 5233 N Ashland Ave.
- Emmerson Park, 1820 W. Granville Ave.
- Hartigan (David) Beach, 1040 W. Albion Ave.
- Howard (Ure) Beach, 1300 W. Howard St.

Lichter Realty: Repurposing North Side commercial spaces for 30 years

STORY AND PHOTOS
BY BOB KITSOS

Reusing and repurposing old buildings of all sizes on the city's North Side is the passion of Lichter Realty Inc., one of Chicago's premiere boutique development firms. Founded by Thomas Lichter in 1985, Lichter Realty recently relocated to a spacious new office at 4024 W. Irving Park Rd.

The company has been dedicated to the commercial and industrial real estate market with a focus on building beautiful, flawless spaces that meets demands of growing businesses.

"We look for unloved properties to bring out the natural elements in a building," said Ray Lichter, project manager and one of the founder's sons. "When we find a neglected property, we're often able to add value to it -- it's a matter of correcting problems." While Lichter Realty has constructed new buildings, "it's not as much fun," he said.

When rehabbing, one of the company's aims is to fuse the natural, timeless beauty of industrial architecture with contemporary design, while maximizing utility and available space. Simply stated, it's restoring buildings in disrepair for today's use.

Ray Lichter cited the use of wood as one example of utilizing existing materials in buildings. He said that much of the wood in buildings they rehab still meets city codes and after staining and varnishing, it generally looks great.

Managing their tenants' needs is among the company's highest priorities, along with maintaining buildings with pride and efficiency. Raymond Lichter and his brother Roy, property manager, handle tenant relations and maintenance work.

A well-stocked warehouse keeps supplies and maintenance equipment at-the-ready for the 50 to 60 buildings the company currently leases.

One of the company's newest tenants is the Windy City Habitat for Humanity ReStore at 6040 N. Pulaski. The 29,000-square foot store, which helps raise money for Habitat, has discounted prices on donated and new building supplies, appliances and furniture.

"This was a building in complete disarray, but it was a story-book project for us and a love-fest from the get-go," said Raymond Lichter. The store was recently featured on the City of Chicago TV's YouTube channel.

Lichter Realty's philosophy, according to the company website, is simple. "When managing, our tenants are our highest priority, along with maintaining our buildings with pride and efficiency. When building, we focus our efforts on creatively renovating and reconceptualizing existing structures."

The company employs 12 full-time employees and is open from 8 a.m. – 5 p.m. Monday – Friday and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday.

Lichter wants you to bring them your project. "If you need a new home for your business, or you're launching a start-up, selling an old building, needing advice on what to do with your building - bring us your idea, we'll rebuild and reuse Chicago, one building at a time."

 concerns. I never aspired to be a politician, but seriously considered this candidacy after many residents throughout the ward encouraged me to run. I have always been actively involved in the community, engaged with residents in improving our ward, and have raised my hand to lead when there were gaps that needed to be filled. I have stepped up out of love of kids, our community and our city. I was deeply involved at Lincoln Elementary School, at Oz Park, and in the MidNorth Assoc., and I witnessed first hand how an alderman can dramatically impact the quality of life of the ward with the way that decisions are made. I want to make those decisions reflect the views residents of the 43rd Ward rather than being imposed on residents from on high.

Q: What are your qualifications, what qualities do you possess that will make you a good alderman?
 I have engaged in public service in the ward for over 20 years in which I addressed all facets of activity – education, parks, development, and retail. I am a good listener, and as a parent of three children, I understand and acknowledge differing points of view and the hard work involved in satisfying compromise. As an active community member, I understand the important role of community groups in improving the neighborhood, and the ownership and stewardship that community members feel for the parts of the community where they invest their time and resources. As a lawyer, I understand advocacy. As a former Assistant Illinois Attorney General, I understand what it means to represent the people of Illinois and the fine balance and diplomacy that such a position requires. I believe that work and commitment to the neighborhood inspires cooperation and investment in the neighborhood. An alderman who is involved in the community is trusted by the community.

Q: What do you feel are the main issues facing the ward today and how would you handle them?
 We are divided and broken as a ward. There is a lot of distrust in our alderman and the way decisions are made. People and businesses feel underserved, communities feel pitted against one another and we are anxious about our suffering retail corridors. We need to refocus on the ward and come together more to make decisions. A 43rd Ward zoning board is my idea that will fix our broken development process, that has resulted in no positive development in the ward in the past four years. We need to move past the ad hoc, behind-closed-doors process of development that has resulted in lawsuits and develop a more proactive, more inclusive and more transparent process that better incorporates the views of the community into the planning of major projects in the ward. It will also increase communication among the various neighborhood groups so they are not acting without the support of other groups.
 With respect to education, I want to deepen the relationship among all of our schools in the ward, from preschool all the way up to the university level. I plan to host a ward-wide Annual Education Summit and strengthen our relationship with DePaul, which is an incredible resource for the community, and vice versa.
 With respect to retail, I have already started to meet with local business leaders who want to see more attention paid to the retail corridors than has been in the past four years. We need to work with the Chamber of Commerce and local merchants associations to promote our different shopping areas and encourage people to come out to patronize them. We also need to better assist our local businesses in the permitting process, which is a huge burden for many businesses.

Q: Ald. Smith ran on the basis that she would be completely transparent. Do you feel she has been?
 No, I do not. Transparency is a term that is tossed around a lot. To me it applies primarily to decision making. It means explaining your options, listening to all sides, acknowledging all sides, making your decision and explaining your rationale. Ald. Smith has not exhibited transparency. She often has her mind made up before she pays lip service to public input and has avoided confronting difficult decisions and has failed miserably explaining her rationale. She also has repeatedly not been up front about being a full time alderman as she simultaneously collects hundreds of thousands of dollars of outside income from a tax-exempt, non-profit foundation while she served as alderman. Residents might give her a pass on this fishy scenario if she were attentive to constituents, but people want an alderman for four years, not just the last four months of her term.

Q: Would your administration, if elected, be transparent? What is your stance on that and also on rubber stamp siding with the mayor on City Council voting?
 Yes, I would be transparent. I will address difficult decisions in the ward honestly and openly. I will engage in the difficult conversations that need to take place in order to reach consensus on major community decisions, seeking out the opinions of all stakeholders rather than selecting those who have opinions I want to hear. I will not be a rubber stamp on City Council, and will not be beholden to the Mayor's Office since no mayoral candidates are sponsoring my candidacy. That being said, I have no axe to grind and very much look forward to working with the Mayor on initiatives that make sense for our ward and the City as a whole.

Q: Ald. Smith recently called you out in a press release regarding the Lincoln Elementary School annex, where a lawsuit contending the zoning relief improper was dismissed by the Cook County Circuit Court, which was a victory for Ald. Smith.
 In the release, Ald. Smith stated: "Overcrowding concerns have been abundantly clear for several years. My opponent, Caroline Vickery, has for three years fought the decision of her own Local School Council and the overwhelming majority of the Lincoln Park community to keep the Lincoln Elementary district intact because she wanted to keep the school small and exclusive. I ask Caroline now: will you please drop your opposition to the annex for the good of the community?"

Would you like to respond to that?
 I did oppose the $20 million Lincoln Annex on three grounds: it was fiscally irresponsible in light of CPS' $1billion budget deficit, it resulted in the loss of 19,000-square-feet of public open space over the objections of Friends of the Parks, and it was the result of yet another failure of process by our Alderman because there was never a single public meeting at which an annex over the playground was discussed in advance of it being announced. That being said, I robustly support Lincoln School, its students, parents, teachers and principal and always will. Once the construction of the annex began, there was little hope that this decision would be overturned, and I have been focusing my attention elsewhere. Moving forward, the residents of the 43rd Ward will be better served by an alderman who conducts a transparent and inclusive process when making community decisions.

Q: What do you do for fun?
 I love to go biking with my family on the lakefront trail, running along the lakefront, and walking my yellow lab in our local parks. My husband and I love to walk up Clark St. to the Century Theater to see independent movies. We are also fans of the local comedy scene and our many local theaters, and we are Family Members of the Art Institute. We take family camping trips in the summer. Finally, we are big college sports fans, cheering for Blue Demon basketball and Northwestern football.

Q: What would you like to say to the people of the 43rd Ward? Why should they vote for you?
 I will be a full time, accessible and friendly alderman and I will work tirelessly for the people and businesses of the 43rd Ward to make the 43rd Ward a better place. People should vote for me because I have been deeply involved in the neighborhood, I know the neighborhood and what works and doesn't here, and I will be honest and up front with you about the problems that we face as a City and as a ward. As part of my promise of accessibility, I will implement a weekly Ward Night during which I will personally address constituent concerns and questions.

The celestial beings spoke at night, the enduring enigma of 533 W. Diversey

World famous institution remains mostly invisible to Lincoln Park neighbors

STORY AND PHOTOS
BY JIM MATUSIK

On an often overlooked corner of Lincoln Park, in the middle of what might soon become an apocalyptic construction zone, sits an impressive architectural mystery with a story that reaches far beyond the boundaries of this bustling urban strip.

In 1907 the lot at 533 W. Diversey was sold to Myna Kunz who commissioned local architects Fromman & Jebsen to draw up plans for one of the first steel-framed three flat buildings in Chicago. The steel frame was a new building concept that would soon make the “skyscraper” a reality.

The Sylvan Kunz Flats was completed in 1908 and at that time you could see Lake Michigan from its roof. The American Institute of Architecture remarked, “Light years from the firms turgid, stone-front houses on Fullerton Ave. is this grand flat, the star of this graceless south side stretch of Diversey Pkwy. Lavish ornament grows out of the wall organically, recalling Art Nouveau masters. The integration of the metal railing with the stone balcony is the jewel in the crown of this sculptured façade.”

In 1922 it was sold to prominent Chicago Psychiatrist Dr. William Sadler and his wife Lena who opened the Chicago Institute of Research and Diagnosis in the building. Sadler was the author of 42 books that covered the entire field of psychological medicine, which he liked to call “personology.”

In 1929 Sadler published a book titled “The Mind at Mischief” in which he explained the fraudulent methods of mediums and their false psychic claims. He was considered a well-known skeptic of paranormal activity and the supernatural.

In the book he mentioned one case in particular (the sleeping subject) that had him baffled. A few years earlier, he had been approached by a worried neighbor who said that her husband would lapse into a deep sleep with troubled breathing and that she couldn’t wake him. Sadler began to observe the man and overtime the patient began to produce verbal communications that claimed to be from a “student visitor” or celestial being. He wrote “A thorough study of this case has convinced me that it is not one of ordinary trance. This man is utterly unconscious, and wholly oblivious to what takes place. And unless told about it subsequently, never knows that he has been used as a sort of clearing house for the comings and goings of alleged extra planetary personalities.”

Sadler had previously began meeting with friends and colleagues to discuss philosophy and religious topics on a weekly basis, and it was from this group that “The Forum” was formalized as the group devoted to the study of the transmissions from the sleeping subject. The messages would continue for the next two decades from multiple celestial sources.

The Urantia Foundation is housed in this elegant mansion at 533 Diversey Pkwy.

Only a small group and Sadler known as the Contact Commission, witnessed the sleeping subject and transcribed his information, and only they knew his identity, which it was decided, would remain anonymous.

In 1955, the 2097 page Urantia Book was published with the intent of presenting “enlarged concepts” and “advanced truths” by uniting religion, science, and philosophy. Unlike any human piece of literature, it has been described as a rich and complex moral narrative that also contains an enormous amount of unique scientific information.

“The book deals with many subjects such as history, science, cosmology, spirituality, religion, and philosophy”, says Tamara Strumfeld, Development Coordinator for Urantia, “and although it is not a religion, many of the worlds religions are examined, and a personal religion for each individual is emphasized.”

The Urantia Book has been read by many notable authors, artists, and adventurers, but perhaps most surprising are the rock icons who were attracted to the book in the sixties.

Dennis McNally, author of “The Inside History of the Grateful Dead,” said that The Urantia Book was one of Jerry Garcia’s favorite works. Writer Paul Krassner relates “Back in the 1960s there was a legend that if you read the entire book, which then was considered a mixture of spirituality and science fiction, three elderly women would come to visit you. Well they never came for Jerry, but he had a twinkle in his eye about it and knew that it was the journey of reading it rather than meeting the women that was important.”

And author Charles Cross, in his biography of Jimi Hendrix states that Jimi carried The Urantia Book with him everywhere, along with his Bob Dylan songbook, and told friends that he had learned much from its pages.

The Urantia Foundation has never gotten involved with the zealous proselytizing found in many other spiritually based groups, and quietly continues to publish its book which has sold over 750,000 copies to date with thousands more downloads from platforms like Kindle and IOS from Apple.

“I discovered The Urantia Book in the trash,” said Rick Lyon a steelworker from Crawfordsville, IN, where the book is printed. “Part of my job at the steel mill was to haul waste from our water treatment plant to the landfill each morning. The company that prints the book also brought their trash to the landfill, which included reject books from the printing presses. One morning, out of their trash, I picked up a big, thick book with no cover. I took the book home, duct taped it back together, and after several hours of reading it, I told my wife, ‘This is what I have been looking for!’”

“Readers of this book come from all walks of life,” says Strumfeld. “There are no churches, sects, or denominations, but some students do gather to read and study the book together. Many claim that its teachings have helped them to spiritually transform themselves, have deepened their faith, and enhanced their lives. Being available in 16 languages, this book is also being read by people in many countries.” And the whole worldwide operation radiates quietly out of the elegant stone structure at 533 W. Diversey.

Those interested in joining a book study group can contact Mike Wood at 773-525-3319 or by writing mikebwood@gmail.com.

The Urantia Foundation building remains today in plain sight, but practically invisible to the multitudes of people who pass by it daily never imagining the cosmic creation story that has taken place within its walls. It is truly a monumental mystery story for the ages.

Musical theater contest approaches for high school performers

Applications are due by 5 p.m. April 15 for the 2015 Illinois High School Musical Theater Awards [IHSMTA].

The competition will be held Monday, June 1, at the Broadway Playhouse at Water Tower Place, 175 E. Chestnut Pl.

To be considered, student performers must play the leading male or female role in a full-length school musical presented during the 2014-2015 academic year. A supporting role does not qualify.

Twenty-four finalists – 12 actors and 12 actresses – will be invited by May 8 to participate in the IHSMTA.

Finalists also will receive tickets to see a Broadway In Chicago [BIC] performance of “Pippin” and participate in a workshop with a cast member from the show.

Finalists will perform for a panel of casting agents and theater professionals. The top two Illinois performers – one actor and one actress – will be invited to attend the National High School Musical Theater Awards June 24-30, with an all-expense paid trip to New York City. The week’s schedule includes group rehearsals and individual vocal and acting coaching by Broadway industry professionals, visits from special guests, discussions with working actors, and a night out in Times Square for dinner and a Broadway show.

Aldermanic challenger readies for run-off election in 46th Ward

Crawford hopes to take Cappleman’s seat

STORY BY BOB KITSOS

One of the more interesting of the 19 aldermanic run-off elections taking place in Chicago on April 7 is the race in the 46th Ward. Two Democratic candidates will tee up for votes in a ward that includes parts of hardscrabble Uptown, Buena Park and Lake View.

Following her second-place finish in the Feb. 24 municipal election, candidate Amy Crawford said of her battle with incumbent Ald. James Cappleman, “The first victory is proof enough that the residents of the 46th Ward are ready for a new, stronger leader who will fight to bring much-needed change to our neighborhoods and be a more independent voice in City Council.”

An openly gay partner with the Chicago law firm of Kirkland & Ellis, the 38-year-old Columbus, OH, native garnered 38% of the vote against the first term City Hall-backed Ald. Cappleman. A third-party candidate, Denise Davis, picked up 16%. Crawford will need those 16% who voted for Davis to come to her to unseat the incumbent.

Indeed, the majority of the electorate in the ward did not vote for Ald. Cappleman in the last election and that should be serious cause for concern for any incumbent.

Under our municipal election rules, if no candidate receives 50% plus one of the votes, the top two finishers are forced into a run-off. All voters in the run-off are allowed to vote for either candidate, regardless of whom they picked in the first vote.

Election results showed only 902 votes separated Crawford from Ald. Cappleman. “Success was achieved by the hard work of all those who passed my petitions, volunteered at my campaign office, hosted and attended a meet-and-greet, endorsed my campaign and made a financial contribution,” Crawford said.

A business attorney, who was selected as a top LGBT attorney under 40 by the National LGBT Bar Assoc., Crawford is a graduate of the Univ. of Notre Dame (B.A., magna cum laude, economics and government) and the Univ. of Chicago Law School.

At Kirkland & Ellis, she has represented Chicago businesses, LGBT plaintiffs in civil rights cases, low-income families and people with disabilities and mental illnesses.

She serves on the board of a community credit union in Uptown that helps low-income residents access financial tools to improve their future. Crawford is cognizant of the importance of good schools and access to early childhood education. She previously worked as assistant director of resource development at Christopher House, an agency in the ward that provides low-income children and their parents with high-quality education programs that prepare them for success in school and the workplace.

The former 2008 Obama campaign worker and Ohio campaign intern recently became the president of North Side Center for Financial Empowerment, a non-profit spin-off of the credit union that will house the credit union’s housing counseling and financial education services.

She also was in the 2014 class of Illinois Women’s Institute for Leadership, which trains Democratic women to run for office, and has co-chaired multiple fundraising galas for Howard Brown Health Center, a community health organization focusing on the LGBT community.

Issues and endorsements

If elected, she says that the key issues she would focus on include ensuring a safer community, reforming city government and providing a quality education for every child in the ward.

She is concerned about the violent crime in the ward and advocates more police patrolling the streets. (The ward is patrolled by both the 20th and 23rd police districts.) She also is concerned about the lack of development, citing numerous empty storefronts in the community. In addition, she would advocate for 46th Ward families to have better access to city services, faster street and sidewalk repairs and cleaner public spaces.

Following the Feb. 24 municipal election, Crawford said, “Together, we were able to spread my message of building a stronger, safer 46th Ward by prioritizing fighting violent crime, creating new economic development and improving our neighborhood schools, but we cannot stop now.”

She continued, “We have just six weeks to build upon the strong campaign we already have in place and to continue getting my message out, but we need all hands on deck to win this election.” She said, if elected, she would be a full-time alderman.

She is endorsed by the Chicago Sun-Times, Fraternal Order of Police, the Independent Voters of Illinois Independent Precinct Organization and National Organization for Women Chicago Chapter.

The candidate is a 10-year Uptown resident and lives there with her partner and 14-month-old son.

COULD POLIO MAKE A COMEBACK IN THE U.S.? INA PINKNEY, Breakfast Queen, was interviewed by Roseanne Tellez on Channel 2 CBS about this possibility. Ina was diagnosed at 18 months. “Nobody went to the movies... or swimming pools... they didn’t know how it was transmitted.” In 1952 polio struck more than 50,000, said Ina, and 21,000 suffered mild or severe paralysis. Polio still exists and we have a perfect storm for re-appearance, asserted Dr. Robert Daum of the U. of C. More than 300 cases were reported overseas last year. “Someone could come from Pakistan, Nigeria, Mexico... and be a carrier of the virus and pass it on to the unvaccinated,” added John Hewko of Rotary International. Ninety-three percent of kids under three are vaccinated. Dr. Daum said “Polio could happen this afternoon or 10 years from now.”... Renown chef Ina says it would be tragic if the disease that is still causing her pain made a comeback. Another reason vaccinations are not to be dismissed.

“IF WE HAD NO WINTER, THE SPRING WOULD NOT BE SO PLEASANT. If we did not sometimes taste of adversity, prosperity would not be so welcome.”

What ever happened to the SS Eastland after the disaster?

Many know of the SS Eastland, which capsized on July 24, 1915 drowning 844 people in the Chicago River.

But few know that the vessel took on a new life after the disaster helping to train Illinois Naval Reserve [INR] Sailors for some 30 years and even serving with the U.S. Navy during World War I. [The INR was once part of what is now known as the Illinois National Guard.]

After the hulk of the Eastland was raised, the St. Joseph-Chicago Steamship Co. needed to raise money to pay for the costly salvage operation and comply with judicial rulings. The Eastland was moved to the North Branch of the Chicago River to await her destiny. That's when one visionary stepped forward. The vessel was bought at auction on Dec. 20, 1915, for $46,000 by Capt. Edward A. Evers of the INR. He oversaw the modification of the vessel into a training ship. The INR was in desperate need of a training vessel. Refitting the Eastland would be the ideal, cost effective solution.

Immediately after the disaster, the Illinois National Guard's Second Regiment Armory on Washington Blvd. served as the central morgue. The bodies were laid out into rows of 85, and it took several days to completely identify the victims. The armory is no longer in the Illinois National Guard inventory, and is incorporated into Oprah Winfrey's Harpo Studios. The building is said to still be haunted by the victims of the tragedy.

Film of the Eastland disaster recovery effort surfaced last week after Chicagoan Jeff Nichols, a doctoral student at the Univ. of Chicago, found the footage on a European Union-funded website with digitized WWI Dutch news reels. The footage reminded Chicagoans of what is considered the largest maritime disaster on the Great Lakes.

Renamed the USS Wilmette after the city of Wilmette, the ship was repurposed as a gunboat with the U.S. Navy during WWI where she would become part of America's naval arsenal to ply the North

The USS Wilmette remained a training vessel until she was decommissioned on Nov. 28, 1945. Her name was struck from the Navy's list on Dec. 19, 1945, and it was eventually sold for scrap.

Atlantic as a gunboat.

By Oct., 1918, she was outfitted and ready for war, but one problem remained: the Welland Canal. The Welland Canal connects Lake Erie with Lake Ontario, bypassing Niagara Falls. The USS Wilmette was too long and would not fit into the locks at Welland. The decision was made to cut off the bow of the Wilmette and place a false bow on the ship. The dismembered bow would be towed through Welland, while the Wilmette would operate under her own steam. The bow would be reattached once she reached Boston.

Work was well underway fitting her for the journey to Boston when on Nov. 11, 1918, armistice was declared and the war ended. Without a need for additional naval vessels, the US Navy remanded control of the ship to the commandant of the 9th Naval District. On Jan. 8, 1919, command was turned over to Captain Evers for the Naval Reserve. The ship retained her USS designation when she reported for active duty on August 3, 1920, where she served again as a training ship for naval reservists in the 9th, 10th, and 11th Naval Districts, making voyages along the shores of the Great Lakes carrying trainees to and from the Great Lakes Naval Station. Wilmette remained in commission, carrying out her reserve training mission until she was placed "out of commission, in service," on Feb. 15, 1940.

The USS Wilmette remained a training vessel until she was decommissioned on Nov. 28, 1945. Her name was struck from the Navy's list on Dec. 19, 1945, and eventually sold for scrap.

"Capt. Evers recycled a bad memory by repurposing the Eastland and filling a need for his Sailors, solving two issues at once," said Adriana Schroeder, Illinois National Guard Command Historian. "This film footage will remain permanent evidence of the historical disaster, an event that ended with Evers' military ingenuity."

If you haven't been in there yet, this would be a good time to visit Everybody's Coffee, 835 W. Wilson Ave. Local artists, Erica Elan Ciganek, Maggie Hubbard, and Rachel Lindsay have a show there now sure to draw the viewer into a reflective perspective. Running through March 21, the three have mined material from everyday like a kitchen sink, a china cabinet, a tight corner in a room all juxtaposing their artwork to explore physical space and the bonds of friendship. Each piece will transport you into a different interior space. The coffee and pastries are a treat for the tongue and art a treat for the mind.

Woman rescued after jumping from Wabash Bridge

Fire department personnel rescued a woman who jumped into the Chicago River on the evening of March 4.

The woman jumped from the middle of the Wabash Avenue Bridge on the east side. A witness saw a coat, boots, and purse piled on a steel divider between the sidewalk and roadway.

A police officer saw the woman in the water and called in the rescue at 5:51 p.m. Six minutes later, scuba divers swam out from the north bank near Trump International Hotel & Tower and pulled the woman, who was conscious, back to shore. She was taken by ambulance to Northwestern Memorial Hospital.

It was the start of a cold night in downtown Chicago. The high temperature on Wednesday was 19 degrees, according to the National Weather Service.

Four South Side gang members charged with Mag Mile burglaries

Kenneth Green

Hershel Phillips

Damarco Darring

Jawon Sellers

Four men with criminal backgrounds and ties to gangs have been arrested and charged with burglarizing stores on and near N. Michigan Ave. and the North Side over the past two years.

Chicago police say the men used crowbars to smash windows.

The offenders began by using crow bars and other tools to smash the windows of targeted stores. When the stores fortified their windows, the burglars switched to stolen vehicles to crash through doorways. They would then take as many items as possible and flee within two minutes.

Charged with felony burglary are Tommie Adams, age 22, Kenneth Green, age 23, Hershel Phillips, age 18, and Jawon Sellers, age 24. All live on the South Side of Chicago near Washington Park. Police say they are affiliated with the Gangster Disciples street gang.

On Monday, a routine traffic stop netted a fifth suspect when 22-year-old Damarco Darring, who lives in the 3500 block of S. Rhodes Ave., was pulled over for what police say were minor traffic violations. Officers, however, found he was wanted in connection with a burglary on September 22, 2014, in the 1600 block of N. Wells St. Darring was charged with felony burglary, theft, marijuana possession, driving on a suspended license, and four traffic citations.

Postal official robbed of phone at Uptown Post Office

BY MARK SCHIPPER

The old saw that says no good deed goes unpunished added another verse to its annals last week when a supervisor at the Uptown post office had his cell-phone stolen after lending it to a customer to help her track down a package.

That phone, a Samsung Galaxy worth $700, would be quickly sold for $20 worth of crack money, according to police officers who visited an acquaintance of the woman who had been with her during the theft.

Mohamad Azamuddin, 62, the supervisor, had called a mail carrier on behalf of a woman who started a ruckus inside the post office at 4850 N. Broadway over a package not arriving, he said. The woman began to yell after Azamuddin relayed the carrier's message that he'd put the package in the mailbox, and not outside the door, which is why she had missed it.

"She started getting louder so I handed her my phone and said, 'Talk to the carrier,'" said Azamuddin.

But as the angry customer spoke on his cell-phone the office's hardline rang and Azamuddin stepped back to speak with his boss, watching from behind the cage out the window as the woman finished with the carrier, set down his cell-phone and walked away. The next pair in line was a man who had been in the office three times that day and a woman that Azamuddin had a partial view of through the window, he said.

"So the man has his arm up on the window saying he's waiting for his check and the lady puts her hand underneath his arm and takes the phone and I saw her," said Azamuddin. "'Why are a residence, claiming he was a police officer and demanding to be let in. The homeowner and his upstairs neighbor each immediately called 911.

The intruder forced himself into the residence where he proceeded to grapple with the 41-year old male homeowner.

Within moments of the offender entering the residence, the local beat cars of the Chicago Police arrived at the front and back doors and arrested Benson in the act.

The homeowner was not hurt, and the offender appeared to be highly intoxicated when he was arrested. Bond was set at $150,000.

Workers near Riverwalk rescue man in river

Workers near the Chicago Riverwalk rescued a man who fell into the river 2:34 p.m. March 2 east of LaSalle St. near the south bank. A crew working on a construction barge heard someone fall into the river. One of the workers tossed a ring buoy to a 36-year-old man, who grabbed it and made it out of the water.

The Chicago Fire Department arrived and took the unidentified man to Northwestern Memorial Hospital in stable condition.

Two indicted for 'green tech' scams

Owners of a green tech startup company that installed and maintained charging stations for plug-in electric vehicles were indicted last Friday for allegedly engaging in a scheme to fraudulently obtain federal and state grant funds from the City of Chicago and other states and municipalities.

Defendants Mariana Gerzanych, 36, and Timothy Mason, 58, both of California, were co-owners of 350Green LLC of Los Angeles, which purported to install and maintain charging stations for plug in electric vehicles. Between 2010 and 2012, 350Green obtained over $2.9 million in grants from the City of Chicago to install and maintain public electric vehicle charging stations around the city. Gerzanych and Mason were each charged with five counts of wire fraud in an indictment returned by a federal grand jury. They will appear before U.S. District Court for arraignment at a later date.

In particular, the indictment alleges that, in order to obtain grant funds, Mason and Gerzanych falsely claimed that a company called Actium Power had supplied Level 3 DC fast chargers to 350Green and that 350Green had paid Actium Power for those chargers, when in fact Actium Power did not supply the chargers, and the actual manufacturer of the chargers was never paid. Further, in order to obtain the grant funds, 350Green submitted claims to the City of Chicago falsely representing that subcontractors and vendors had been paid when in fact, they had not.

In order to cover up the scheme, Mason and Gerzanych made false statements to 350Green's governmental partners regarding 350Green's you taking that?' I said, and she ran away."

Unfortunately for Azamuddin, despite seeing the woman run out with the phone he couldn't get out from behind the cage in time to intercept her. He asked the man she'd been with to chase her down, but before he agreed to get the phone for Azamuddin, he had demanded money, according to the supervisor.

"So I say 'Please get my phone' and he says 'Ok, I'll get it for you, give me $3.' I said 'No problem.' I said '$20, $50 man, I need that phone'—he says 'I'm gonna get it, I'm gonna get it.' So I wait until 7, 8 o'clock."

The police returned that evening with more bad news.

"After that I was helpless. The police got here and said 'The [woman] sold that phone for $20 to buy crack,'" according to Azamuddin.

financial status and reasons for 350Green's financial difficulties.

Each count of the indictment carries a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a $250,000 fine. If convicted, the Court must impose a reasonable sentence under federal statutes and the advisory United States Sentencing Guidelines. The indictment also seeks forfeiture of approximately $1.9 million.

Habitual thief caught again

One of Lakeview's regular crooks, Ryan Brandis, 28, was again arrested 3: 25 p.m. Feb. 28 and charged with attempting to steal bikes from a rack at Belmont and Clark.

We was arrested after a group of witnesses intervened and detained him until cops arrived. He's being held on $25,000 bond.

Police sources say her arrived in Lakeview in Nov. 2013 from downstate Streator, established residency at the Broadway Youth Center on Wellington, and has since been arrested multiple times for a variety of theft-related crimes.

Gang murder in Uptown

Homicides are piling up again in Uptown after a man was shot and died Monday night near Sheridan and Agatite. The victim, a 20-year-old man, is believed to have been killed by members of the Black P-Stones street gang, according to police.

It's the second homicide in 16 days for Uptown, which also mustered up a non-fatal shooting in the interim. Murders are being recorded at the quickest pace since 2001.

The man was shot in his chest and pronounced dead at the scene.

On Feb 21, Demarcus Adams was shot and killed in the 1300 block of Leland Ave. Adams was a known P-Stone gang member, a convicted felon and was seen near a building with a long history of criminal activity.

Complaints of prostitution in Boystown

Chicago police say numerous complaints from Lakeview area businesses and residents regarding prostitution on Halsted St. led them to work the problem by setting up a "date" with an online escort and arresting him when he showed up. Investigators say they contacted 18-year-old Brandon Aragon via an ad and he agreed to have sex in exchange for $220. They agreed to meet at 855 W. Addison—directly across the street from the 19th district police station.

According to prosecutors, Aragon showed up

The woman's boyfriend had been in the post office earlier that day to try and exchange pennies and nickels for bills when Azamuddin told him he needed to go to a bank. He had arrived a second time because he was waiting for a check to arrive. On that second visit Azamuddin had made a copy of the man's checkbook and said he would look out for a delivery. Police used that copy to visit the man at his house after the theft and learned about the phones' sale for crack money.

The supervisor said he was keen to get the phone back because he had saved an urgent message that needed to be sent to Minnesota. In addition to that, he had his personal phone numbers and the postal code numbers he needed to do his work at the post office. Two days later he bought another $800 Samsung phone but lost the message and the code numbers, he said.

"I thought the post office was the most secure thing and now this thing has happened and it's really a shock to me," said Azamuddin, who has worked for the Postal Service 28 years after arriving in the U.S. in 1970 from his home near Hyderabad, India.

"I'd like to say, my phone, ma'am is not going to help you, but anyway the police said it's already sold. This is a crackhead, these are mentally sick people and a drug addict so what do you expect from them, you know what I mean? Filing criminal charges is just more burden on the tax payers. I'm gonna leave them alone on this thing."

6:20 p.m. March 1 and again offered the $220 sex deal and was promptly arrested. Aragon, who lives near Midway Airport and has no previous arrests in Cook County. He was released on $120 bond.

Gunman tries and fails twice at robbery

A gunman attempted—but failed—to rob two people in separate Lakeview incidents 10:35 p.m. Wednesday, March 4. No one was hurt and no one is in custody.

In the first case, a man ran up to a woman's car parked on the 3500 block of N. Hermitage, opened the door, pulled a handgun, and demanded her purse. But the offender—described as "very young"—fled empty handed when the woman screamed.

About 10 minutes later, a man called 911 to report that a young man had just tried to rob him at gunpoint near Ashland and Waveland. Very little information is available because the victim refused to meet with police.

In the Hermitage case the assailant was described as a white or Hispanic male, 16- to 18-years-old with "a little fuzz under his nose." He was last seen getting into the passenger side of a car which headed south.

Woman arrives home and finds man burglarizing her apartment

An Uptown woman arrived home from work March 3 to find a man in the process of burglarizing her apartment.

The woman entered her unit on the 4900 N. Glenwood about 7 a.m. and came face to face with a man she didn't know standing in her living room, police said. The burglar fled out a backdoor immediately, according to the woman.

Officers said a rear window had been opened and they believe that is where the man was able to enter the unit. The woman said $60 cash was missing from a wallet she kept on a dresser. No arrests were made, police said.

Lincoln Square man charged in West Ridge Robbery of cabbie

Melvin Atto, 21, of the 2500 block of Winemac, was arrested in connection to an armed robbery 2:31 a.m. March 6 on the 6700 block of N. California Ave. He was charged after being identified as the male offender, who while armed with a knife, robbed and attacked a 32 year old male taxi driver.

During the robbery, the victim sustained lacerations to his right arm and left leg and was transported to St. Francis in stable condition. Atto was arrested March 7 and is appear in Central Bond Court last week.

The evolution of local breweries

The North Center and Lincoln Square neighborhoods have seen a rapid growth in the number of micro brewers in their communities.

North Side growing a crop of respected micro brewers

BY PAT BUTLER
First published by the Schuler Foundation

Forget the predictions about Ravenswood someday becoming the beer capital of Chicagoland.

It’s already happened, said Brendan Blume, one of the three owners of the Begyle Brewing Co., 1800 W. Cuyler. The onetime pedicab company owner estimates there are probably a dozen brewers already here.

Begyle, however, may be a little different. For openers, it was started in 2012 by three college buddies who had no practical experience running a brewery. Blume was an accountant and the only background he and partners Matt Ritchey and Kevin Cary had was in home brewing.

“We decided we’d learn together, by reading and making mistakes,” said Blume. Begyle now has four full-time and two part-time employees. “None of them are traditionally-trained. We went to some conferences and classes here and there. Sooner or later, we’ll have to hire somebody who knows what they’re doing,” he laughed.

Nonetheless, Blume noted, Begyle turned out 1,000 brewers barrels (each containing 31 gallons of product) last year. This year we’ll do between 2,500 to 3,000 barrels.”

Blume said he and his partners will probably be looking for a second location when they reach the 5,000 barrel mark. “I don’t want to sacrifice quality for quantity,” he added.

Right now, Begyle turns out 50 different styles of beer, ranging Ohay Porter, a dark traditional English brew, to Hop Hazardly Light and oatmeal-based Flannel Pajamas.

But the most popular craft beers these days, he said, are the Indian pale ales.

While Blume and his partners’ goal – “to be a real presence in the neighborhood” – is more ambitious than it sounds, considering the competition from nearby brew houses like Half Acre Beer Co., 4257 N. Lincoln Ave. “We look up to those guys. They’re almost idols to me.”

According to Half Acre’s website, “our story begins with boatloads of optimism, is rooted in the naïve, and full of piss and vinegar.”

Half Acre started nine years ago in a spare bedroom with one worker. Today the brewery turns out 62 beers and ales ranging from pales to porters.

“We continue to peel back the layers, enjoy ourselves as much as possible, and encourage the interesting experiences this ride has to offer,” Half Acre’s website promises.

Like Begyle, Spiteful Brewing a few blocks away at 1815 W. Ber-teau, was founded in 2010 by partners Brad Shafer and Jason Klein who knew each other as kids. And like so many other microbreweries, they started on a kitchen stove. As partners, they named their business after a “spiteful incident” during a long-ago hockey game that triggered a lifelong friendship.

Their output ranges from GFY Stout to Bitter Biker Double Indian Pale Ale, available at more than 20 outlets from Andersonville Wine and Spirits to West Lake View Liquors.

In the neighborhood’s micro-brewing tradition, Metropolitan Brewery, 5121 N. Ravenswood, was founded by Doug and Traci

Hurst in 2009. The focus here is on German-style beers (mostly lagers) in an atmosphere the proprietors describe as “Goofy, yet determined; scrappy yet reliable; passionate yet precise; solid beers brewed solely to make people happy.”

Future plans include a bigger brewery. “Illinoisland drinks all the beer we can brew, so we have no choice but to brew more,” the Hursts explain.

Among the other local brew-houses are Cahoots Brewing, 3908 N. Seeley; Atlas Brewing, 2747 N. Lincoln; and Empitical Beer, 1801 W. Foster.

head lice each year infect six million to 12 million American children aged 3 to 11, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Estimates vary, but in the U.S. about $150 million is spent on treatments. More money is lost by parents missing work. One theory is that today’s lice are mutants who’ve built up resistance to lice treatments.

Personal hygiene and socioeconomic status have nothing to do with having or transmitting head lice. The head louse is an equal opportunity pest.

At the Boys and Girls Club all after school staff will be doing lice checks during programs to try to keep lice from spreading. “All athletic equipment has been sprayed down and will be sprayed down again” later today, noted their email.

Nick Johnson, an assistant manager at Hair Fairies, 2336 N. Clark St., said denial is part of the human equation, delaying needed treatment of infested scalps. “There are a thousand reasons why peoples’ heads might itch and lice is the last place some of them want to go,” he said.

Johnson estimates that seven out of 10 Hair Fairies’ clients are school children and the rest adults, usually mothers. “The adult clients are mostly moms. They have longer hair and more personal interaction with their (infested) children,” he said.

Hair Fairies does an initial exam of between 10 and 30 minutes, depending on the individual client. “We might find lice right away or some people may not have much at all, just a bug or two hidden in a ton of hair and it takes a while to find.”

Edward and Kelly Tare, owners of three busy hair salons and decided to give back to the community by dedicating one facility, Hair Butterflies, 425 N. Marion St., Oak Park, solely for treating head lice. Kelly, who attended cosmetology school after the young couple emigrated from Albania 20 years ago, conceived the idea.

Lilies and Spikes, a spa for kids and teens, is at 1105 Chicago Ave., Oak Park. Popular for birthday parties, attendees, at times, are discreetly asked to visit the salon around the corner for a complimentary head check.

Butterflies opened in 2010, providing itchy, stressed children and frustrated parents is a welcoming, private and protective haven to visit and solve the problem. One family treatment at a time, with window shades drawn, is customary.

The Tares stress communication, education, confidentiality and ease of access. “We are ready to help any time of day or night,” said Edward.

“I look at emails from customers at midnight, telling me their problem. They can send in a photo of lice on a child’s head, and they can bring in a sample the next day (of infested follicles) on a paper towel inside a baggy. Everything we do is to take the stress out of the process.”

Some lice treatment centers use the fear factor to charge exorbitant rates, but the Tares say that’s never been their approach. Not only are institutional visits virtually a free public service ($1 a head for 100 plus exams), but salon and home-visits are also reasonable.

“After all, we’re not removing someone’s appendix, 99% of clients are done after one treatment. It’s very affordable for any family,” said Edward, pointing to an initial head check for $25 and follow-up checks for $15.

Treatments for those found with head lice or nits are $75 an hour, with an average treatment about 90 to 120 minutes for girls, and 30 to 45 minutes for boys or girls with short hair.

The Tares’ willingness to travel—usually two lice technicians at a time visit a home—on nights and weekends, and the salon’s zeal for lice removal, has made the salon a valued area resource.

Technician Anna Rodriguez has been chasing lice for five years at Butterflies. “I think every time you do it you learn a bit more technique,” she said. “I wear magnifying glasses when I work and we use the Nit-Free Lice Terminator comb. My husband said this is a great job for me because I have OCD and I won’t stop until I take every last one of them out.”

Rodriguez, formerly a nursing assistant, said different types of hair, different personalities and different stress and discomfort levels present unique challenges to the operators.

“Some people are very itchy; some don’t feel it at all,” she said. “Some are patient, some are very fidgety. But once they’re in our hands, we’ll guide them in the right direction with the least amount of stress possible. We’re the ones who get to make this right.”

Kathy Jefson, a parent and program chair at St. Paul of the Cross in Park Ridge, said Hair Butterflies played a major role in helping the Park Ridge school become proactive with a head lice program. Staff began screenings a year ago, starting with K-4 students, but later incorporated the entire school, some 620 students. Visits after holiday breaks proved especially productive.

“We were having a difficult time prior to Ed coming here,” said Jefson. “There’s been an increase of head lice on the North Shore and there was concern among parents. Now the incidence of head lice has gone down at the school. Lice are more common in younger kids. They have sleepovers, they share hats and they share combs. Kids are germ-y and they don’t have a concept of personal space.”

“Some kids just take it better than others, and are pretty good. Others cry or scream but you pretty much gotta tell them you have to calm down until you’re done.”

A dedicated facility for lice treatment is invaluable. Veteran stylist Angie Stark, of Waukegan, recalled scenes with near-panic stricken operators at a hair-cutting chain salon on Chicago’s North Side where she worked, years ago, when a child came in with lice.

“The parents were often desperate and wouldn’t tell us their child had lice,” said Stark, “but we got pretty good at recognizing the ‘tells signs.’ Like if a mother requested us to cut the long beautiful hair of a young girl short, or we’d see a boy scratching his head as he was getting out of the car. We would know almost right away.”

“As soon as we saw (signs of infestation),” said Stark, “we would ask the parents to take the child home and throw away combs and wash sheets, all that stuff. We weren’t set up to treat lice and we couldn’t afford to have our shop infected.”

Citizens may receive up to $1,000 rewards if they report violations of the Cook County tobacco Ordinance.

curs at higher rates when government increases prices—usually through a tax—and when the increased prices are significantly higher than in neighboring states. Chicago-land today offers some of the highest tobacco prices in the nation.

Over the last four years, DOR, working with the Cook County Sheriff's Office, has tripled its number of inspections, and nearly doubled the number of citations issued. Inspections have increased in Cook County from 4,690 in 2013 to 7,858 in 2014. This 60% jump led to 1,548 citations being issued and $6.3 million in fines being assessed in 2014, a $2.3 million increase from 2013.

"We are leveling the playing field, increasing public safety and collecting revenue owed to the County," said Toni Preckwinkle, Cook County Board president. "We are becoming a national model for best practices in this area."

A tobacco sniffing dog program piloted in 2014 resulted in 57 inspections and 72 citations issued over nine days. Over 3,500 packs were confiscated with fines totaling more than $250,000. These highly-trained dogs can detect the odor of tobacco and alert their handler where tobacco is concealed. DOR expects to deploy a full time canine and handler this summer to combat the sale of illegal tobacco products.

The County is also greatly increasing its partnerships with local law enforcement agencies, including the Chicago police. A recent tip from the Norridge Police Dept. yielded 1,638 packs of unstamped cigarettes hidden in a wall resulting in fines totaling $53,000.

Preckwinkle is asking residents to report retailers who are in possession of illegal cigarettes. Citizens may receive up to $1,000 rewards if they report violations of the Cook County Tobacco Ordinance to the DOR leading to unlawful tobacco confiscation and a fine being paid. To report a tip visit www.cookcountyl.gov/dor/.

DOR is developing a mobile application to increase tips from the public, while increasing field surveillance, internet intelligence gathering and tracking activities to further clamp down on the illegal tobacco industry in the coming year.

Pets available for adoption at PAWS

Founded in 1997, PAWS Chicago (Pets Are Worth Saving) is the Midwest's largest non-profit, No Kill humane organization. PAWS Chicago envisions a No Kill Chicago - a city in which no pets are destroyed just because they are homeless. Working toward that goal, PAWS Chicago is on track to find homes for more than 5,600 pets out of the cageless, No Kill Adoption & Humane Center and to perform free and low cost spay/neuter surgeries for more than 18,000 pets in 2013. The two pets below are currently up for adoption.

Maury

Maury is a five-year-old Labrador retriever mix who doesn't realize how large he really is! Despite weighing in at 70 pounds, snuggling and giving kisses are some of his favorite activities. Maury loves people and going on road trips. Maury is not a big fan of loud noises and sudden movements, so he prefers a quiet, adults-only home. He spent the last two years in a loving home, but came back to PAWS Chicago because of some changes in the family. Maury is currently staying in a foster home where he is reported to be an absolute gentleman. Maury likes some other dogs, but gets very excited when meeting new canine friends. He is guaranteed to provide endless snuggles to his new family.

Angela

Angela is a beautiful and friendly two-year-old cat who loves to play. This gal's favorite past time is chasing the laser pointers and playing with other toys. She likes to stay warm during these cold winter nights by snuggling up for a long nap on a soft blanket. Although Angela is a sweet girl, she doesn't like to leap 'paws first' into new relationships. Instead she prefers to take her time and make new friends at her own pace. Her foster parents reported that she took her time exploring the home at first, but quickly warmed up and became a lovable member of the household. Angela would love to find a home where she can take her time acclimating to her new surroundings and spend her days napping away on a comfortable couch. Could that home be yours?

Angela

If you are interested in adopting Maury or Angela, call 773-935-PAWS, visit www.pawschicago.org, email adoptions@pawschicago.org or stop by the PAWS Chicago Lincoln Park Adoption Center located at 1997 N. Clybourn Ave.
