Crowd protests CHA at Lathrop Homes, demands plan for replacing lost housing

STORY AND PHOTOS BY COLIN BOYLE

Protesters and an array of musical instruments broke the quiet air Sunday afternoon in one of the grass courtyards between the Julia C. Lathrop homes on Clybourn Ave. in their hands were palms from palm Sunday mass, along with signs that read “Keep The Promise,” among other messages for Mayor Rahm Emanuel.

“Lathrop Homes has been targeted as one of the last housing developments in the CHA [Chicago Housing Authority] housing stock to be redeveloped,” said Li-ala Beukema, pastor of Lakeview Lutheran Church. This redevelopment includes the elimination of 525 low-income [or working class] units that would be available to people, said Beukema.

Several people occupied one of the empty buildings for a short while but vacated the site peacefully once police arrived. The protest started around 2 p.m. and the demonstrators pledged to camp outside the unit for 24 hours or until they got a meeting with Mayor Rahm Emanuel. Police called to the site said that cold and discomfort dampened some of the enthusiasm over this act of civil disobedience.

The goal of this protest and brief occupation was to “demand that a plan be put forth to replace those 525 units somewhere in an ‘opportunity area,’ like the North Side,” according to Beukema.

Amongst the occupiers of the unit was Erik Christensen, Pastor of St. Luke’s Lutheran Church of Logan Square. He works with Chicago Housing Initiative and other groups trying to “get answers from the city about when they will replace the hundreds of units of public housing in Lathrop Homes that have sat vacant for 15 years.”

Christensen fears the city’s plan to replace the units of public housing with market-rate housing, “will increase and accelerate the rate of gentrification in this neighborhood.”

Laura Donaldson accompanied Christensen, and told the Chicago Sun Times that he has been on the CHA waiting list for 20 years, despite the vacant units in Lathrop.

The CHA has yet to answer the when and where regarding replacing the units on a one for one basis, despite Christensen’s and other’s attempts to get answers. The 1.265 million square foot site is bordered by the Chicago River, Diversey Pkwy., Clybourn, Damen and straddles the Roscoe Village/North Center and Bucktown neighborhoods. Currently, the public housing development’s buildings north of Diversey are no longer considered suitable for habitation. Chain-link fences now surround the development’s buildings and playing-fields.

Miguel Suarez, a 26-year resident of Lathrop Homes, was concerned regarding Mayor Emanuel’s broken promises about Lathrop being rehabilitated or kept for public housing. Like Christensen, Suarez does not want the site being replaced with market-rate housing.

“This whole community is not only surrounded, but overwhelmed with market-rate housing,” said Suarez, noting that “a lot of these places have gone empty due to the failure to sell or rent them. It’s total gentrification is what’s going on here.”

The team redeveloping the site is a partnership consisting of the for-profit Chicago-based developer Related Midwest and two non-profit’s, Heartland Housing, Inc. and Bickerdike Redevelopment Corp.

The project is slated to take place in three phases. City Hall has approved only the development team’s first phase.

Officially opened in 1938 with a ribbon cutting by First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt, the property consists of 925 public housing units located in two-story brick row-houses and three-story and four-story apartment buildings. The buildings were designed by architects Robert S. De Golyer, Hugh M.G. Garden, Thomas Tallmadge, Vernon Watson, E.E. Roberts, Charles White and Hubert Burnham.

M&R, Bucksbaum acquire 2.3-acre site in Lakeview for Addison & Clark development

Proposed mixed-use project across from Wrigley Field back in the game

A joint venture of M&R Development and Bucksbaum Retail Properties LLC announced Tuesday it has acquired a 2.3-acre site at the southeast corner of Addison and Clark streets in Lakeview. This acquisition marks a step forward in transforming the troubled site into a mixed-use development directly across the street from Wrigley Field.

Scheduled for completion in 2018, the project will include 148 luxury apartments and 150,000 square feet of retail commercial space.

Demolition of the existing structures on the site will begin in the next 30-60 days, with construction of the new transit-oriented development slated to begin immediately after.

The site had been stalled after two foreclosure suits hit its previous developer.

The foreclosure was attached to a group led by Steven Schultz, the seller, who owns several of the buildings that were part of the development. He had been trying to lead a redevelopment of the properties for nearly a decade but was beset by financial difficulties during the real estate and credit crash.

“A lot of great things are happening both inside and outside Wrigley Field,” said Anthony Rossi, Sr., president of M&R Development. “We feel [our project] at Addison & Clark will hit it out of the park, raising the bar for residential and retail options in the area.”

A developer and owner in high-profile developments like NEW-CITY in the Clybourn corridor and The Maxwell in the city’s South Loop, Bucksbaum Retail Properties will co-develop and head up leasing of commercial retail space located on the first three levels of the project. In addition to a multi-screen theater and full-service health and fitness club, the development will reportedly include retail and dining options.

“Lakeview is a neighborhood steeped in tradition, so we have designed Addison & Clark to

Prisoners remember internment camps days, Japanese victims warn ‘it could happen again’ in U.S.

Chicago’s North Side had a reputation as one of the “friendliest, most tolerant” areas for Japanese-Americans during and immediately after World War II, three former internees in the “relocation” centers created in the wake of the Pearl Harbor attack told the Edgewater Historical Society’s recent annual meeting.

One of the first places where they worked was the Edgewater Beach Hotel, which eventually hired about 130 Japanese-Americans, who moved into Uptown and Edgewater, according to Jean Mishima, president of the Japanese-American Historical Society.

Institutions like the Chicago Buddhist Temple, 1151 W. Leland, and the Japanese-American business district at Clark and Belmont soon followed, she added.

What a lot of people don’t realize is that it was only Japanese living in California, Oregon or Washington who were arrested and sent to the 10 major concentration camps like Manzanar, 225 miles from Los Angeles, or Granada, Colorado, where 14-year-old Richard Hidaka was shipped.

“If you lived further east, they didn’t touch you. Or if you could get someone away from the West Coast to sponsor you, you could leave,” Hidaka said.

When Japanese-Americans were rounded up after the attack on Pearl Harbor, anti-Asian discrimination was nothing new, said Jean Mishima, president of the Japanese-American Historical Society. For decades they couldn’t marry whites and for a time were barred from entering this country. And it was only until 1952 that they could become naturalized citizens, Mushima said.

And after the first year, restrictions on the inmates in Granada loosened enough that the armed guards were removed from the watchtowers and youngsters like Hidaka even managed to sneak out on Saturday nights and go for unauthorized joyrides in the camp’s police cars. Hidaka said that’s how he got named Granada’s biggest

"There was no instruction book at Ellis Island"

By Thomas J. O'Gorman

I am nostalgic about Chicago today. Maybe its the change in the weather. Maybe its all the commotion in my neighborhood where production has begun outside my front door and around by the garden gate for a new TV series based on "The Exorcist." It is kind of like living in Georgetown, in 1970, by those high outside steps so frighteningly used in the original movie. There is a strange energy unleashed by all the crew and cast milling around.

In a very manic kind of way my feelings also are charged by the experience of voting (not without user conflicts) at "Happy Village" Polish Tavern and Beer Garden. This has to be seen to be believed. Black and white flocked wallpaper as far as the eye can see. It is one of those old Pabst Blue Ribbon neighborhood taverns in the middle of all the residential housing.

Filled with hipsters today, it used to be the domain of hard working "Polskies" who could escape the wife and children and grab a cold bucket of beer down the street.

And coming on the heels of the civic celebrations of St. Patrick's Day, my ethnic antenna have been well over-used. No American city has had the ethnic, immigrant workout that Chicago has. And I mean that in the most positive way possible. Chicago is the product of ethnic energy and love.

Chicago is also America's most American city. We are the heartland capitol of the nation. No urban center in the U.S. developed and grew the way Chicago did. In its 170 years, it has always reinvented itself in response to the times in which it lived.

Chicago's most dynamic fea-

Railroads gave Chicago its urban muscular physique.

ture is, of course, its geography. Situated at the confluence of where the Prairie meets the Great Lakes, our geography has been the making of us. Water gave us motion and movement; success and achievement. The city stretches for 27 miles along America's most beautiful panoramic waterscape.

No chimneys mar the horizon. No blast furnace or utility tower blocks the sun. Sun light dances on the water at our front door as far as the eye can see. Sails billow on the horizon and define the urban network of green.

Decades ago when the lakefront was being preserved for the future, architect Daniel Burnham referred to the parklands that abut the waterways as Chicago's "Emerald green necklace." That encroachment-free public land has stood the test of time, and two World's Fairs. The result is, of course, that today this urban landscape remains "forever open, free and clear." No small accomplishment. If it had not been for a second chance to 'do-over' after the fire in 1871 and mail-order catalogue king, A. Montgomery Ward, and the millions he spent in legal fees to protect all that public land, there is no telling what people might have seen rise up on this stretch of pristine property (even a Star Wars Museum).

Unlike other cities that sit on the shores of the Great Lakes, Chicago is the only one that prohibited any non-public use. No industrial shoreline construction here like Buffalo, New York, Cleveland, Gary and Michigan City where barons like John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie got ahold of the waterfronts first. Beauty unfolds, shaped by reason and intelligence. One look at our lakefront and any stranger would immediately understand all they would need to know about us. Our urban consciousness values the soft bounty of nature on our doorstep. And the fragile fabric of nature can only be sustained with wisdom, never by greed. Good lessons to learn.

The waterways of our city helped to shape our character and our economy. Because we had the wherewithal to harness the motion of the lake and the flow of the river, Chicago was connected to a water system of travel and commerce that was the best in the nation. Commerce in the port of Chicago linked us to the Mississippi River and the Gulf of Mexico. Good news for manufacturers, commodity brokers, timber barons and livestock merchants. Their efforts would shape Chicago into a wondrous urban economic center. And plop the commodity exchanges here.

As industry expanded, particularly the stockyards and railroads, and the need for workers increased, large numbers of immigrants pushed their way to Chicago, a place where there was space and work to build new lives.

So Chicago soon boasted more Germans than any city outside of Germany; more Poles than any place outside of Poland; and more English speaking Irish than anywhere in Ireland, ready to broker a new melting-pot era of fresh prosperity and promise. And when the Great Fire of 1871 took 3/5 of the city, there were ample numbers to get Chicago back on its feet. The Second City that arose was more polished and dynamic than the first.

What is so significant is this urban posture which poised the city's rebirth, post inferno, and saw it unfold as the fastest growing city in the world. Check the population growth. Every 10 years the population of Chicago doubled. For instance, there were roughly 250,000 people here on the eve of the fire. By 1880 there were 500,000. As the city readied itself for the World's Columbian Exhibition in 1890, the numbers reached 1 million. And as the 20th Century dawned that number would continue to expand numbing those who watched.

Chicago's growth was not just due to an upswing in births; or huge arrivals of new peoples like uprooted Yankee Americans and newly arrived immigrants. It was also due to the annexation of the small towns that ringed Chicago. Towns like Jefferson Park, Town of Lake, Englewood, Lakeview to name but a few. These small villages and towns were voted into Chicago and in return they received city services. The works. Police and fire. Garbage. Snow removal. And on and on. I was still thinking about this when I went to vote.

Imagine the deeply emotional joy in the heart of a new citizen when they are able to vote for the first time. No one had to tell them their vote had value. One person one vote. Equal in their vote to Marshall Field, Potter Palmer, Big Bill Thompson, Ed Kelly, Cardinal Mundelein, the Wrigleys, the Armours, the Swifts, the Ryersons and the Dunnes.

As I made my way down the electoral score card and aimed my pen at the political futures of many I knew, I could not help but think of a moment on Ellis Island when a small child, tired and crabby, maybe held in his mothers arms, walked into America. Little could they have foreseen the future a century later when their children's children would be running for judge, or a spot on Water Reclamation, or the post of Ward Committeeman.

There was no instruction booklet at Ellis Island. No handbook for being a good American. That had to be learned on the street, David Janossy, iFLY general manager, at 800 W. Scott St. in Lincoln Park.

Flying high in Lincoln Park

Heart of the 'Hood
By Felicia Dechter

*"Faster than a speeding bullet!
More powerful than a locomotive!
Able to leap tall buildings at a single bound!"*

"Look! Up in the sky!"

It's Superman!"

Have you ever dreamed of flying like Superman? If so, now's your chance because iFLY, the world's largest indoor skydiving operation, opened last week at 800 W. Scott St. in Lincoln Park.

"Everybody from three to 103, anybody who has ever dreamt of flying or being a superhero, we're open, please come in," said David Janossy, general manager.

This particular location is the 18th nationwide for iFLY, yet it's the first to be built in an urban environment. "We wanted to build in the city, accessible to residents and tourists and within the city limits of a major metro area," said Janossy. "This is the first time you can see the skyline from an iFLY."

People of all ages can experience human flight in a safe, comfortable and fun environment at iFLY. Each indoor facility replicates the experience of skydiving, creating conditions that allow people to fly on a smooth cushion of air.

With the help of certified flight instructors, customers can experience true human flight. To prepare for the experience, customers complete a training class guided by one of iFLY's flight and safety instructors. The high fliers are equipped with flight gear, including goggles, helmet and flight suit, and then, with their instructor at their side, they enter the flight chamber and are supported by a cushion of air.

"Your first flight is just trying to stay stable," said Janossy, a former Air Force survival and parachuting instructor. "It's very exciting. Very adrenalizing. It's just wow, this is happening."

In a 12-foot wide, 38-foot tall wind tunnel powered by four electric motors, you fly as in what is essentially a hurricane inside a building, said Janossy. All flight packages include training, flight gear, and flight time with an International Bodyflight Assoc. (IBA) certified instructor who has been rigorously trained not only for the tunnel but also to gauge nervous reactions in case they occur in a client. The technology for the tunnel has a lot of safeguards to keep people safe, said Janossy.

This place sounds like so much fun that I've been singing R Kelly's, "I Believe I Can Fly," the whole time I've been writing.

"I'm the luckiest guy in Chicago to have the opportunity to run these things," said Janossy. "You end up looking like Superman up there."

GLAM'D offers a variety of services and training that beautify eyebrows and eyelashes, but the thing that impresses me most is that they can help people having chemo treatments, those with alopecia, and also those suffering from the obsessive compulsive sive hair pulling disorder, Trichotillomania. One of their services, their 3D brow building, reconstructs eyebrows, and the look is tailor-made for each person and suitable for those who have naturally good eyebrows as well as those who suffer from partial or complete eyebrow loss. "Treatment as intricate as ours is not available from any other company," said Sylvester, a Columbia College grad who, "Made a very simple decision to turn my interest in the beauty and fashion industry into a passion."

Sylvester has made her mark in the area as a highly sought after eyelash extensionist and makeup artist. She is also co-owner of the downtown-based Pin Me Up Chicago, "a one stop, on-location beauty agency," started in 2011. She said her love of learning has kept her at the forefront of what her clients want and need, "to make them feel just as beautiful on the outside as they do on the inside."

She decided to open shop after working 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., five days a week doing eyelash extensions while watching her business grow. "I needed help and people wanted more lashes," said Sylvester. "I wanted an opportunity to train new techs and have a storefront where walk-ins were welcome."

Raguso started doing makeup in high school for plays and musicals and after graduation, she attended esthetics school, "where I learned that makeup was truly what I loved so I took further makeup classes and then started working in the cosmetic department at Nordstrom where I learned a lot and stayed in that field for seven years," she said.

"I made the move to GLAM'D when it opened because my roommate, Brittani, was opening it and I couldn't wait to focus on a more client-to-client relationship and learn new cutting edge skills," Raguso said.

Warm glow of fireplace adds to homes' ambiance and value

The Home Front

By Don DeBat

It may be the first week of spring in Chicago, but there's still a bone-chilling wind blowing off Lake Michigan. As a result, at this writer's house we can't ignore our addiction to the warm glow of the family-room fireplace.

At the end of every day, there's the quiet conversation over a glass of wine while sitting in front of the hearth. Our fireplace was set up as a traditional wood-burning unit, but being carefree urban dwellers we opted for gas logs, and the luxury of a remote-starter system.

As extravagant as it may sound, we also have a ventless gas-log fireplace in the living room of this newer North Side home, but we only light it via remote during the holidays or when the temperature falls below 20 degrees.

Hearth purists likely would say a wood-burning fireplace—with its ambiance, crackle and scent—is a more romantic option. And, most Realtors would agree a fireplace is a coveted and valued feature in today's homes.

According to a 2012 survey, buyers rank fireplaces as one of the three amenities they'd most like in their house. And, 60% of new homes come with a fireplace, compared with only 36% in the 1970s.

Although fireplaces generally are not accounted for specifically in home appraisals, a National Assoc. of Realtors survey reported that 46% of home buyers would pay more for a home with at least one fireplace.

"If you own a high-end residence, buyers expect a fireplace and often are willing to pay more for a home with one," said Chicago Realtor Sara E. Benson, president of Benson Stanley Realty.

"In Chicago each working fireplace adds $5,000 to $6,000 to the value of an average home," Benson estimated. That's $10,000 to $12,000 in additional resale value in a dual-fireplace house.

However, wood-burning fireplaces also can be a costly headache for the novice homeowner. Readers of The Home Front may recall the 2014 column reviewing this writer's adventures with hearth and home. In the 1970s, there was the stucco bungalow, built in 1911 in the landmarked Irving Park Villa neighborhood. It had a smoky fireplace with a shallow hearth and a broken damper.

That was followed by English Tudor home built in the 1920s in the Sauganash neighborhood. The home sported a massive stone fireplace in the living room that belched smoke. It needed a new flue liner, damper and removal of a squirrel's nest from the chimney.

Later, a mid-1980s rehab create a skylight-filled loft-living space in the attic and install an energy-efficient, wood-burning fireplace with glass doors and a blower to provide supplemental heating for the house. However, lugging heavy logs up two flights of stairs and hauling ashes down was not fun.

Next, was the hearth love affair with the 12-room Italianate Victorian in the Old Town Historic District. Built in 1872, the home featured four amazing fireplaces faced with glazed ceramic tile. But, the old fireplaces couldn't pull a puff of smoke up the chimneys. They needed flue liners, dampers and chimney rebuilding and logs with modern starters.

"A wood-burning fireplace is expensive, an energy waster and just plain too much work for the average homeowner," observed Steve Alleyne of Firefixer, a Chicago-based firm that specializes in vent-free service and repair.

"First, you've got to buy the logs, which can cost $225 to $300 per cord (a cord measures four feet high by four feet wide by eight feet long) for mixed hardwood or pure hardwood," Alleyne said. Plus, there likely will be delivery and stacking charges.

Once you get the fireplace logs burning, 90% of the heat goes up the chimney, said Alleyne, a Chicago firefighter who has worked as a fireplace fixer and installer for two decades.

"If the fireplace doesn't have an ash dump, you are left with a mess to clean up, and, you'll need a professional chimney cleaning every other year to keep combustible creosote at bay," he warned. Many of these chores can be removed by converting a wood-burning fireplace to a natural gas burner and installing gas logs. A deluxe set of gas logs costs from $750 to $1,500. For push-button lighting, you also can add a variable-thermostatic remote for about $200.

Another choice is installing a direct-vent fireplace insert, or re-lining an existing old flue and installing a new damper for chimney venting.

What's the most energy-efficient option? "The ventless gas fireplace is the best choice if you want to keep the most heat in the room," Alleyne advised. "A ventless fireplace is 98% efficient, and can save up to 40% on your gas bill."

Ventless fireplaces are afford-

Bethlehem vs the bulldozer

132-year-old Lincoln Park church to be knocked down

BY PATRICK BUTLER

One of the North Side's oldest church buildings has a date with the wrecking ball.

A permit has just been issued to raze the 132-year-old former Bethlehem United Church of Christ, 2746 N. Magnolia, over the objections of Ward Miller, executive director of Preservation Chicago.

The onetime German evangelical congregation that in recent years became home to the Bodhi Spiritual Center is a prime example of a fast-disappearing type of church building "you would have seen in early Chicago from the 1850s to just after the Chicago Fire," Miller said.

"It's a really nice representation of early Chicago churches," he said.

Miller said he's not sure how many of these vintage churches remain, but warned "they're disappearing fast."

While Ald. Michele Smith (43rd) wants to save the adjoining rectory – which she described as "lovely," she sees "nothing significant" about the church itself.

In fact, nobody besides Miller has come forward asking that the church be saved, said Ald. Smith. "It is an old, unremarkable building. It's just old," she told DNAinfo last week.

Miller believes there would have been more support for saving Bethlehem had there more time to marshal community input before the demolition permit was granted.

He pointed to the church-to-mansion conversion at 1339 W. Webster in Lincoln Park. The 10,000-square-foot now-residential property dates back to 1896 as a Greek Orthodox church. In 2002, Burns & Beyerl Architects converted it to a home. The home and an adjoining lot sold in Dec., 2012, for $2.325 million.

To avoid this kind of problem in the future, Miller said he'd like "one more step in the process for all buildings over 50 years old facing possible demolition" before the city makes any final decisions.

Located in highly popular Lincoln Park, NOAH Properties, the church's owner, reportedly wants to put some kind of residential development on that site. But a NOAH spokesman could not be reached for comment in time for this story.

Like many Lakeview/Lincoln Park congregations over the past half-century, Bethlehem's membership dwindled in recent years as parishioners aged or moved away. The property was finally taken over by the Bodhi center, which has since moved to another Lincoln Park location.

The former Bethlehem United Church of Christ, 2746 N. Magnolia, could soon fall victim to the wrecking ball unless preservationists like Ward Miller can persuade the developers to "repurpose" the 132-year-old building.

But while Miller knows of no way to revoke a demolition permit, he still hopes to persuade NOAH Properties to consider converting the church building into residences as has already happened with several other North Side churches in recent years.

Among them are the former Pillar of Fire church, 1021 W. Barry, in Lakeview and a onetime St. Mary's Romanian Orthodox church and cemetery, 1345 W. Webster Ave., in Lincoln Park.

Presbyterian Homes

Presbyterian Homes would like to thank Congresswoman Jan Schakowsky for her leadership in ensuring access to affordable housing for our seniors. After owning the three Neighborhood Homes properties – Crowder Place and Mulvey Place in Lakeview and Devon Place in west Rogers Park – for decades, we made the difficult decision to close the program because operating costs significantly exceeded the charitable funding we receive as a not-for-profit and, as such, the properties became financially unsustainable.

Thanks to the leadership of Congresswoman Schakowsky, Presbyterian Homes was able to arrive at a solution that ensures our residents' ability to stay in their homes. She convened stakeholders in the affordable housing sector as well as elected officials to inform and advance the decision-making process, with all of us working together to find a solution. As a result, the Chicago Housing Authority (CHA) has purchased all three buildings, allowing senior residents to stay in their homes.

Maintaining access to affordable housing for seniors is more important than ever. Congresswoman Schakowsky is a true champion for seniors.

On behalf of all residents at Neighborhood Homes, I extend my deepest gratitude to all of the elected officials and others who helped throughout the process. It is your commitment and hard work that made the solution possible.

Chicago preview of 1916 Irish rebellion documentary

Three-part show debuts Thursday

STORY AND PHOTOS
BY PETER VON BUOL

A three-part documentary series, narrated by the Irish-born actor Liam Neeson, about Ireland's short-lived Easter Rebellion of 1916 will begin airing 8 p.m. tomorrow on Chicago's WTTW-11. The next two episodes will also air in the same time slot on March 31 and April 7.

A preview of the series was shown at the Chicago Union League Club, 65 W. Jackson Blvd.

Produced by the Univ. of Notre Dame and scheduled to be broadcast on television stations around the world, the documentary series tells the story of the Irish rebellion against British rule that took place during Easter Week (April 24-April 29) of 1916.

On Easter Monday, 1916 (April 24), seven members of the Irish Republican Brotherhood's military council announced an uprising against British rule.

The council members were quickly supported by others, including the Irish Volunteers led by Irish language activist Patrick Pearse and the Irish Citizen Army, led by labor activist/socialist James Connolly.

Key locations in Dublin had been seized by the Irish after which they had proclaimed an Irish Republic. Their success, however, was short-lived.

Despite having many of its soldiers fighting overseas in the Great War, the British were able to muster about 20,000 troops and police officers and were quickly able to neutralize some 2,000 Irish fighters.

During the uprising, it was civilians who bore the greatest burden as 254 had been killed and 2,217 were wounded. About 64 Irish were killed during the fighting (it is not known how many were wounded). British casualties were 132 dead and 397 wounded. Many of the surviving Irish leaders were executed shortly after their capture.

In addition to rarely seen archival footage from a century ago, the program also includes segments shot on location around the world. The program also discusses the role Irish-Americans played in the events that led to the rebellion.

While the British crushed the 1916 rebellion, the Irish (many of whom were executed for their role in the uprising) directly inspired the nation that in 1922 became known as the Irish Free State and in 1949 become known as the Republic of Ireland.

According to series creator Briona Nic Dhiarmada, who serves as chair of Irish Language and Literature at Notre Dame, her series was meant to give a full account of the events that occurred a century ago in order to "give history back to the people."

Speaking on March 4 to a nearly sold-out audience at the Union League Club, Nic Dhiarmada explained why she believed it was important to produce a thorough documentary series about events that occurred nearly a century ago.

"The purpose of the film is to reexamine again fresh the events of 100 years ago. Fifty years ago, events that marked the Easter rebellion of 1916 were very much a celebration. There's nothing wrong with celebrating 1916. But, that was a partial telling of that story. Many of the Irish men who had fought in the British Army [the rebellion had occurred during World War One when some 200,000 Irish men had volunteered for Great Britain] as a way to gain sympathy for Irish Home Rule. Their story was left out 50 years ago. Women were also left out. The sad destruction of Dublin and the killing of civilians in the cross-fire, that was sort of left out, too. That was a sanitized version of history. There was almost a canonization of the [rebellion's] leaders," she said.

complement both the existing offerings in the area and planned additions to the neighborhood coming from the Cubs' continued investment in the redevelopment of Wrigley Field," said John Bucksbaum, CEO of Bucksbaum Retail Properties. "These projects will continue to establish Wrigleyville as a 24/7 365-day-a-year destination."

In addition the project will include 148 luxury apartments with a mix of studio, one- and two-bedroom units, as well as a full suite of amenities. The project will also include a parking garage with 405 indoor spaces.

The project will also enhance the streetscape through the addition of widened pedestrian walkways. The residential portion of the development will be set back from the perimeter of the building where Clark meets Addison, leaving a fourth-floor rooftop, featuring foliage visible from street level.

Chicago-based Solomon Cordwell Buenz is the architect for the project and the general contractor will be Power Construction.

Penny Lane Juhlin was tickled, literally, meeting Frank Sinatra Jr.

FLYING from p. 3

Another one bites the dust?...I would sure hate to see the beautiful, vintage, terracotta building at 1218 - 20 W. Morse Avenue be destroyed and not have its façade saved, but I noticed that the wrecking ball has already started demolishing the property. I surely hope there is a plan to save the façade, we certainly don't need an eyesore on Morse Avenue as the street has enough challenges!

I'm hoping that 49th Ward Ald. Joe Moore will get involved and work to try and save this place. Stay tuned for more.

Some enchanted evening ... it was, surely, when Rogers Parker Penny Lane Juhlin met and briefly hung out with the late Frank Sinatra Jr. (who died last week) while he was in town many moons ago. Juhlin found the singer "really nice, gentle, unassuming."

"He was singing for a convention at the old London House North in Highland Park and I was dancing and spinning records in their discotheque," said Juhlin. "A PR guy asked him if he would take a picture with me and he said 'sure.'"

By interviewing a broad spectrum of people, including historians with different perspectives on the events that occurred in 1916 and afterwards, she thinks the viewers of the series will have a much fuller understanding of what actually happened a century ago.

"As makers of historical documentaries, we have three jobs. We have to tell our viewers when the events happened, how they happened and why did they happen. Then, let people make up their own minds," Nic Dhiarmada said.

The purpose of the series, she says, is to also tell the story of Easter rebellion in a worldwide context. Occurring at the beginning of the 20th century, when "The sun never set on the British Empire," the Easter rebellion in Ireland has had a profound influence on independence movements during the latter part of the century. As homage to its Irish inspiration, the flag of India today uses green, white and orange.

According to a statement from the Univ. of Notre Dame, in addition to being scheduled to air on 255 public television stations across the U.S., the film has been made a centerpiece of the Irish government's global centenary commemoration of the Easter Rising and will air in Australia, Canada, Finland, Spain, Slovenia and several countries in South America.

A companion book to the series written by Nic Dhiarmada has been published by the Univ. Notre Dame Press.

"I am smiling so broadly because he tickled me," laughed Juhlin. "Notice his fingers by my hand with the bracelets. Doesn't he look mischievous? Very nice guy. He has his dad's pipes."

Shout out ... to Ashland Addison Floral & Event Décor's wedding and event designer Ramsey Jay Prince, who stole the show by looking simply marvelous at the Flower & Garden show's preview benefit wearing pink wing tips, floral pants, a pink shirt and a black velvet blazer. Lucky is the person who hires Prince for their wedding if his designs are as fabulous as his outfit that night.

A warm welcome ... to publicist Emily Potts, who recently joined the Heron Agency. Potts sings, plays piano, acts, has an impressive resume and comes from a very large Irish family and her favorite feature is her freckles.

And a big thank you to my generous Rogers Park neighbors, who raised nearly $20,000 to aid the victims of a January fire that left seven families displaced from their homes.

Recycling an opportunity to keep our city cleaner

The article by Don Debat in the [March 16] edition of the Inside demonstrated such petulance that at first I thought your April Fools Day edition may have been a bit early this year.

Mr. Debat exhibits dismay for being obliged to separate his garbage from his recycling?! Really? Afterward, the act of placing his recyclables in the blue cart without being contained in a plastic bag seems to elicit even more angst. Another ‘really?’ or am I being redundant? It really is rather simple.

Going through the basic steps: as the time approaches to discard an item, it is placed in either the recycling container or the garbage container in your home, both lined with plastic bags as you choose; as the containers become full, the garbage is taken to the black cart in the alley and the recyclables, which have been tossed into a plastic bag in the container in your home, are now emptied into the blue cart, retaining the plastic liner and discarding the recyclable items, loosely or otherwise.

We’ve been doing this for years, long before blue carts were available, and it never seemed like much of an inconvenience.

When depositing recyclables in plastic bags, the end site has to first remove the items, and if that doesn’t happen, the plastic gets stuck in the teeth of the shredding device, contaminates the end products for recycling, or ends up as garbage.

Although no one wants more taxes, we have been fortunate all these years in not having to pay a separate garbage hauling fee. Many suburbs have property taxes much higher than our own and have been paying garbage fees for years.

I do agree with Mr. Debat on the inanity of the pay as you go system for garbage recycling. The collectors already have their hands full with their current job, especially when couches, chairs, TVs and all matter of detritus ends up in the alley.

So, instead of considering recycling as the onus of a beleaguered citizenry, why not think of it as an opportunity to keep our city cleaner and reduce waste? I don’t know, just maybe.

The best friend I never met

After reading the definitive coverage of Ann Gerber [March 2] I had to chime in with my own story.

After my parents death, I was in my childhood home, all alone, after being caregiver for them both. After they were gone I was now looking for work.

My background was in journalism. I had majored in it in college and had written for some publications. I also worked in publicity for a couple of “B” movie companies years ago.

Anyway, I wrote to a few Chicago columnists and personalities and Ann was kind enough to call me up one day. When I picked up the phone I realized it was her and I was as nervous as a harlot in the front pew at church.

The first question I nervously asked Ann was if she was kin to David Gerber of “Police Story,” the best cop show ever.

Well, Ann has been an understanding and generous friend, to this day, although we’ve never met in person.

On occasion I would get mentioned in Ann’s column and I would defend Ann if any reader went after her, like a while ago when Ann made mention about Queen Elizabeth’s style of dress. An irate reader who apparently thought that the queen was beyond criticism complained, and I wrote defending Ann. In my note I said that Ann told me once I was not a good dresser, but that I made a terrific end table.

I learned that you don’t come on righteous with Ann, as she can be a bear with a nose for beehives but doesn’t let the bees intimidate her.

Saludos and thanks, Ann.

Cy Gaffney

Pay attention to boundaries

The lamentable, but fascinating Adam LaRoche–White Sox saga, concerning the appropriateness and details of whether and how much a father should be permitted to have his 14-year-old son come to work with him, has spawned myriad proponents and opponents, representing every conceivable position.

Nevertheless, while process typically trumps content, one detail that should not be ignored is the way that grown men, especially athletes, often behave and talk, on and off the field. Furthermore, what represents optimal father–son involvement is best left to experts in child development. Incidentally, why should an adolescent, hopefully developing his own identity, wear the same number as his father?

Regardless, everyone involved in this intriguing scenario would have done well to remember, and attend to, the following age-old profound wisdom: If one does not pay meticulous, scrupulous attention to one’s boundaries (whether personal, political, professional, occupational, or otherwise), all relationships will be ruined.

in the neighborhoods and in the countless opportunities for kindness and hard work. Immigrants came pre-packaged for good-citizenship. They still do. Don't let anyone tell you otherwise.

PURIM: THE FEAST OF DELIVERENCE: Joy is not a bad place to begin for Jews and non-Jews alike. The feast of Purim is upon us, once more, and the joy of this celebration reminds us of mighty Queen Esther and the manner in which God's love has lifted those who love from those who are wicked. There is plenty to celebrate on what some say is Jewish Mardi Gras. The power shifts and passages of the ancient past still point to the great mystery of God's love. Purim begins in the evening of March 23 and ends in the evening of March 24.

Voting: I am not sure Jefferson, Madison and Monroe quite had this in mind. The scene of the gentry casting their ballots seemed a long way off from the judge unable to read my architectural printing. I had to ask which letter he did not understand - the "O" or the "G"? To their credit, other judges were quick to come to my assistance. He was looking for problems where there weren't any.

Hundreds are involved in the production. The Exorcist? Really?

Police Beat.....

Lakeview Salon burglarized

A Lakeview salon became one of the latest victims of burglars on the North Side and the break-in was caught on three surveillance cameras.

"Thankfully they did not get away with much," Chicago Lashes general manager James Nemecek said, "but that's because we had been very cautious with not leaving valuable products or money in the register."

That's a smart move. Burglars who target businesses have been making beelines for cash drawers and high-demand products that will be easy to sell, according to police reports reviewed by this newspaper.

In the video, the offender is seen pedaling past Chicago Lashes, 3530 N. Ashland, and then circling back to make his crashing entrance early on Saturday, March 19.

Once inside, the burglar rips through the cash drawer and registration desk before checking out the rest of the salon then fleeing with the cash drawer and an iPad.

"I thought with all the crime in the area this would be useful information to share with you guys and spread around to encourage security systems and being safe and cautious in the area," Nemecek said.

Burglaries up sharply as cops issue another warning

Chicago police detectives have issued their latest warning about burglaries in the 19th Town Hall District after three victims reported their homes entered and their cars stolen.

The warning is the latest in a series from police as the number of reported break-ins has soared.

Comparing January 1 to March 10 this year with the same period in 2015, burglaries are up 78% in the 19th District (144 this year vs 81 last year). Break-ins are up 133% in Lakeview (98 vs 42 last year) and up 265% in the 44th ward, represented by Ald. Tom Tunney (73 cases vs. 20 cases last year).

Among the latest break-ins:

- Burglars kicked their way into the Sydney Marovitz Golf Course clubhouse last Thursday and took a cash drawer, which was empty.

- Burglars forced their way into a home in the 1000 block of W. Wellington Tuesday and helped themselves to the homeowner's property.

Police are also warning about a group of garage burglaries. In these incidents, offender(s) used unlawful entry and removed personal property, specifically bicycles. Incidents include one 5:15 a.m. March 15 on the 1400 block of W. Grace St.; another March 16 on the 1200 block of W. Roscoe St. between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., and a third on the 3700 block of N. Sheffield Av on March 17, between 9 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

Prison time for North Side burglars, robber

- Deveon Curry, 19, has been sentenced to 3-1/2 years in prison after pleading guilty to burglarizing the Salvation Army Training Center in Boystown last June.

At the time of the burglary, a Salvation Army worker told police that their safe had been drilled and several computers were missing from throughout the building.

- Patrick Day, 45, has been sentenced to 3-1/2 years in prison for pulling a knife on a loss prevention officer during an attempted shoplifting last August at Sports Authority, 3134 N. Clark.

According to court records, Day placed three pairs of shoes in a bag after attempting to defeat the attached anti-shoplifting tags by wrapping them in aluminum foil. He then pulled out a knife when the security guard took the bag of shoes away, according to court records.

Day has been sentenced to prison twice before for robbery, three other times for shoplifting, and once for narcotics.

- It's good news, bad news for Jose Ortiz,

Uptown men charged in Loop shooting

David Calvin, 20, and Kevin Billingslea, 27, both of the 4500 block of N. Clarendon Ave., were arrested 2 p.m. March 19 and charged after they were curbed driving a Jeep Grand Cherokee. Police believe they were fleeing from the vicinity of a call of "shots fired" which occurred in the area of the 200 blk of E. Balboa.

A weapon and spent shell casings were recovered from the offender's vehicle.

Calvin was charged with one felony count Aggravated Discharge Firearm-Occupied Vehicle, while Billingslea was charged with one felony count Aggravated Discharge Firearm-Occupied Vehicle.

Police seeking assailant

Detectives are seeking to identify and interview the pictured subject pictured above for an Aggravated Battery which occurred on the CTA Orange Line Train 2:30 p.m. Feb. 29. The offender broke the nose and orbital bone of a passenger on the Orange Line after the passenger (victim) asked him not to smoke on the 56-year-old man who's been convicted of burglary 10 separate times.

The good news is that he only received a 25 day sentence for his most recent adventure, in which a property manager chased him onto the ice at Belmont Harbor and detained him for police after seeing Ortiz try to break into a Lakeview East apartment in January.

The bad news is that his parole for a 2010 burglary was revoked and Ortiz was sent back to prison to serve out that six-year term.

Man threatens the president in 911 call

Police are investigating a man who allegedly placed several phone calls threatening to kill President Barack Obama, according to a report filed March 14.

Officers went to a house in the 1300 block of W. Columbia Ave. about 4:25 p.m. looking for the alleged caller. OEMC dispatch stated that a man at that address had called 911 twice and made threats to kill the president and his family, police said.

While the number was registered to the man on Columbia Ave., a building manager told officers the man they were seeking had not lived there for more than two years. According to the report, the cell-phone call "pinged"—or identified its location—near the 200 block of S. LaSalle St. downtown.

The alleged caller, who police believe they have identified, was not found that day and no one was detained for questioning. The investigation continues, police said.

Woman victimized during alleged assault or kidnapping attempt

A 58-year-old West Ridge woman was the target of an attempted kidnapping or assault March 16 as she walked to catch her morning bus to work.

The victim told police she had just stepped into the 6400 block of N. Claremont Ave. around 6 a.m. when a man with a handgun stopped her. He had put the gun to her chest and said "Come with me," while wrapping his other hand around her waist, the woman told police.

She had turned away from his grip on the waist and began backing towards her apartment, pleading with him not to hurt her, police said. She had backed all the way into the front yard of her building with the man telling her to shut up and come with him with the gun still at her chest.

The woman began pounding on her first floor window where her husband was inside, the train.

The victim was transported to Northwestern Hospital for his injuries. The offender is described as a male black between 30-40 years of age, wearing a dark knit cap, glasses, a dark puffy coat, blue jeans with rips and tan boots.

spooking the gunman, who ran away headed west and could not be found later by police. The woman was not hurt during the altercation.

Young teen robbed at gunpoint

Police said a 13-year-old boy was robbed March 14 in Rogers Park after an unidentified alleged gang member pulled a handgun on him.

The victim was in the 1500 block of W. Thome about 4:45 p.m. when two men blocked his path on the sidewalk. One man had pulled a handgun from his waistband and put it into the boy's chest while saying, "Empty your pockets," according to police.

Both robbers were repeating the phrase "King love," police said, identifying themselves as Latin Kings.

The victim said he was forced to unlock his iPhone 5s for the robbers before they left with his property. The report was made after the fact with the victim's mother at the 24th District station in Rogers Park.

Second teen robbed at gunpoint

A teenager was robbed at gunpoint by two Latin Kings the evening of March 14 on the border between West Ridge and Rogers Park.

Police said the 17-year-old was walking north on Ridge Blvd. near Loyola Ave. around 7:44 p.m. when two men confronted him. One of those men produced a semi-automatic handgun and ordered the victim to empty his pockets.

The robbers went through the victims pockets and took an iPhone along with $5 cash, police said. The victim was not hurt and the men escaped on foot. No arrests were made.

Army vet scammed by job posting

An armed forces veteran was scammed out of money by a business who posted job listings on a popular veterans work website, police said.

The 30-year-old Army veteran applied through Chicagovets.org March 13 to a company calling itself Horizon Pharma, police said. The company reached out by email and said he was qualified for the job.

A day later, a check for $2,998 arrived by FedEx with instructions to deposit into his bank account and use the funds for equipment he would need to buy for the job. Later that day, a supposed representative from the company called and told the man to send back $1,479 that he had been mistakenly sent, police said.

The victim transferred the money through a JP Morgan Chase bank branch, but was informed a day later that the check he had deposited had a bogus routing number and the funds would be removed from his account. The victim lost the $1,479 out of his personal money, according to police. The FedEx envelope came from an address in Alexandria, VA.

Panhandler threatened with gun

A panhandler was threatened with violence March 12 in Rogers Park when two alleged gang members menaced him with a handgun.

The 51-year-old was in the 1400 block of W. Morse Ave. about 5 p.m. when two men rushed in on him, according to police. The victim thought he was going to be robbed when the second man shoved him before lifting up his own shirt, revealing a handgun tucked into the waistband.

The victim said he began backing away from the men when they suddenly abandoned the attack and ran. He described the men as black males between 18-25 years-old. Both men wore hooded sweatshirts and jeans, he said.

Man robbed in car-to-car altercation

A man told police he was robbed March 14 in Rogers Park after a gunman forced him to pull his vehicle to the side of W. Devon Ave.

The victim, 24, said the man drove alongside his vehicle on Devon Ave. near the intersection with N. Lakewood, flashed a handgun and yelled at him to pull over. When they had pulled over the gunman stopped next to the vehicle, pointed the handgun and ordered the man to hand over his wallet and phone, police said.

The victim said he had kids and the gunman said he did not care, according to police. The victim said he removed his IDs from the wallet and threw it to the gunman, who drove away. No arrests were made.

Man on bike robbing people at gunpoint

A man carrying a gun and riding a bicycle robbed a 44-year-old woman the morning of March 14 in Rogers Park.

Police found the woman after responding to a robbery call about 12:50 a.m. in the 6900 block of N. Bell Ave. She told police that a man on a bicycle had robbed her with a black revolver while she walked home from work.

The robber had cut her off on the sidewalk, pointed the revolver at her and demanded money, police said. She gave the man her wallet with $40 cash inside. He then took her cell-phone, shut it off and threw it before pedaling away. No one was arrested that night.

Man sentenced to 15 years for possessing thousands of child porn photos

A Chicago man who traded more than 5,000 photos and 600 videos of children being sexually exploited has been sentenced to 15 years in federal prison.

Using email, Devin Jones, 27, traded the images and videos with others via the Internet. Many of the photos and videos depicted real children, including toddlers, being sexually abused. The images included portrayals of sadistic and masochistic conduct and other depictions of violence.

Jones pleaded guilty last year to one count of possession of child pornography.

Jones admitted in a plea agreement that on Feb. 20, 2013, he received files on his laptop containing images of child pornography, including what appeared to be prepubescent females exposing their private areas. Later that day, Jones replied to the sender with several other photographs and a video depicting children engaged in sexually explicit conduct.

Additionally, Jones admitted in the plea agreement that from 2007 to 2013, he engaged in inappropriate and often sexual contact with approximately six minor children between the ages of five and nine years old.

Police decline to release video, reports in death of popular Lakeview resident/River North server

BY STEVEN DAHLMAN
Loop North News

Marques Gaines

Surveillance video of an altercation in River North more than a month ago that resulted in the death of a Lakeview man outside Mother Hubbard's Sports Bar does exist but Chicago police will not release it to the public.

After his shift ended at Chicago Marriott Downtown Magnificent Mile, cocktail server Marques Gaines was hit in the head at about 4:20 a.m. by another man in front of the bar near the intersection of State & Hubbard. He fell into the street and was struck accidentally by a taxi. Taken to Northwestern Memorial Hospital in critical condition, Gaines, age 32, was pronounced dead about four hours later.

In the five weeks that followed, Marques's sister, Drexina Nelson, and other family members flew from Georgia to speak with Chicago Police Dept. [CPD] detectives investigating the case.

They "were disappointed to learn that they have no leads and won't even release the video footage they have to the family," said a friend of the family, Kim Lippke, on Wednesday.

Phyllis Nelson, who was Marques's guardian after his parents died in 1992, says based on pher in Atlanta, the video "does not capture the final moments of Marques's life" and should be released to the public as it could result in someone identifying his assailants. She believes police will not release the video because it portrays River North as dangerous.

"They want to make the area seem pretty and that it is a safe place so that it will not deter tourists," says Drexina. This is all about money. Well, to me Marques's life was [about] more than money. He did not deserve this and I will not let up until they make this right."

More than 100 people from Chicago alone attended a "homegoing celebration" for Marques on Feb. 20 in Atlanta, near where he was born in Fayetteville. The service, says Kim Lippke, "was beautiful and has helped with the healing process, but it is still hard to move on with so many questions unanswered."

According to Lippke, the family is trying to organize a rally at State & Hubbard, proposed for April 2, "in hopes that it will inspire the police to take further action on the case and make that area safer in the future."

Friends, meanwhile, are trying to raise money to hire a private investigator. As of Wednesday, 114 people had donated $6,707.

CPD denies records request

After considering it for a month, CPD have denied, in its entirety, a Freedom of Information Act request submitted by this reporter on February 10 for documents such as the Original Case Incident Report.

In a March 11 letter, CPD said the investigation is ongoing but also hinted at the existence of suspects in the case:

"Due to the nature of the incident, the appropriate charges are still being assessed with the Cook County State's Attorney's office. If the reports are released/disclosed, the offender(s) could learn that the investigation is progressing and that they are considered persons of interest. This could lead to harm to the witnesses. This could also prevent the witnesses from cooperating with the detectives and thus causing the case never to be charged. Release/disclosure could also lead to flight of the offender(s)."

CPD also denied our request for a copy of any surveillance video.

what she has been told, she believes Marques was confronted by two men after he left the 7-Eleven convenience store next door to the bar. After he tried to walk away from the men, she speculates, Marques was punched in the back of the head by one of the men, knocking him unconscious into the street. As he lay in the street, the second man went through Marques's pockets and took his debit card and mobile phone. Both assailants then ran away.

Family says release of video will help find killer

Lincoln Family carriage and deathbed on display at History Museum

"We are not enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection."

-- President Lincoln's appeal to the South in his first inaugural address, March 4, 1861

What does your candidate stand for? This election year, revisit Abraham Lincoln's legacy and discover how his evolving views on slavery transformed America in "Lincoln's Undying Words," opening Saturday, April 9, at the Chicago History Museum [CHM], 1601 N. Clark St.

The exhibition, developed in collaboration with the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library and Museum in Springfield, explores this story through five of Lincoln's key speeches: A House Divided, 1858; his first inaugural address, 1861; the Gettysburg Address, 1863; his second inaugural address, March 1865; and the speech on Reconstruction, April 1865, given three days before his assassination.

Visitors will see rare treasures and artifacts related to Lincoln, including his family's carriage, on display at the CHM for the first time in 30 years, and deathbed, a treasured icon of CHM's collection since 1920.

Among the highlights are a first edition of Solomon Northup's book, "Twelve Years a Slave"; "The Railsplitter," an imaginative portrait that helped Lincoln become president, and Lincoln's last order to General Ulysses S. Grant.

"We are delighted to explore Lincoln's ideas through five key speeches made during the most critical chapter in our nation's history. Today, those speeches continue to challenge and inspire people everywhere," said Gary T. Johnson, CHM president.

As visitors walk through the exhibition they will hear Lincoln actor Michael Krebs read selected excerpts from the speeches bringing Lincoln's words to life.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS COUNTY DEPARTMENT - CHANCERY DIVISION U.S. BANK NATIONAL ASSOCIATION, AS TRUSTEE FOR RESIDENTIAL ASSET MORTGAGE PRODUCTS, INC., MORTGAGE ASSET-BACKED PASS-THROUGH CERTIFICATES, SERIES 2006-RZ5 Plaintiff,

-v- MICHAEL SNIPE, JR, BELMONT HARBOR VILLAGE CONDOMINIUM ASSOCIATION, UNKNOWN OWNERS AND NON-RECORD CLAIMANTS Defendants 14 CH 20821 540 W BELMONT AVENUE Chicago, IL 60657 NOTICE OF SALE

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that pursuant to a Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale entered in the above cause on February 3, 2016, an agent for The Judicial Sales Corporation, will at 10:30 AM on May 4, 2016, at The Judicial Sales Corporation, One South Wacker Drive - 24th Floor, CHICAGO, IL, 60606, sell at public auction to the highest bidder, as set forth below, the following described real estate: UNIT 540-3N IN THE BELMONT HARBOR VILLAGE CONDOMINIUM, AS DELINEATED ON A SURVEY OF THE FOLLOWING DESCRIBED REAL ESTATE: LOT 9 AND THE 12.00 FEET WEST AND ADJOINING LOT 9 IN COUNTY CLERK'S DIVISION OF LOTS 3 TO 9, INCLUSIVE AND PART OF BLOCK 2 IN ASSESSOR'S DIVISION OF LOTS 27 AND 28 IN PINE GROVE, A SUBDIVISION OF FRACTIONAL SECTION 21, TOWNSHIP 40 NORTH, RANGE 14, EAST OF THE THIRD PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN; WHICH SURVEY IS ATTACHED AS EXHIBIT "A" TO THE DECLARATION OF CONDOMINIUM RECORDED JULY 5, 2005 AS DOCUMENT NUMBER 0518619036; TOGETHER WITH ITS UNDIVIDED PERCENTAGE INTEREST IN THE COMMON ELEMENTS, ALL IN COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS.

Commonly known as 540 W. BELMONT AVENUE, Chicago, IL 60657

Property Index No. 14-21-314-061-1019. The real estate is improved with a condominium. The judgment amount was $332,348.46.

Sale terms: 25% down of the highest bid by certified funds at the close of the sale payable to The Judicial Sales Corporation. No third party checks will be accepted. The balance, including the Judicial sale fee for Abandoned Residential Property Municipality Relief Fund, which is calculated on residential real estate at the rate of $1 for each $1,000 or fraction thereof of the amount paid by the purchaser not to exceed $300, in certified funds/or wire transfer, is due within twenty-four (24) hours. No fee shall be paid by the mortgagee acquiring the residential real estate pursuant to its credit bid at the sale or by any mortgagee, judgment creditor, or other lienor acquiring the residential real estate whose rights in and to the residential real estate arose prior to the sale. The subject property is subject to general real estate taxes, special assessments, or special taxes levied against said real estate and is offered for sale without any representation as to quality or quantity of title and without recourse to Plaintiff and in AS IS condition. The sale is further subject to confirmation by the court.

Upon payment in full of the amount bid, the purchaser will receive a Certificate of Sale that will entitle the purchaser to a deed to the real estate after confirmation of the sale.

The property will NOT be open for inspection and plaintiff makes no representation as to the condition of the property. Prospective bidders are admonished to check the court file to verify all information. If this property is a condominium unit, the purchaser of the unit at the foreclosure sale, other than a mortgagee, shall pay the assessments and the legal fees required by The Condominium Property Act, 765 ILCS 605/9(g)(1) and (g)(4). If this property is a condominium unit which is part of a common interest community, the purchaser of the unit at the foreclosure sale other than a mortgagee shall pay the assessments required by The Condominium Property Act, 765 ILCS 605/18.5(g-1).

IF YOU ARE THE MORTGAGOR (HOMEOWNER), YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO REMAIN IN POSSESSION FOR 30 DAYS AFTER ENTRY OF AN ORDER OF POSSESSION, IN ACCORDANCE WITH SECTION 15-1701(C) OF THE ILLINOIS MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE LAW. You will need a photo identification issued by a government agency (driver's license, passport, etc.) in order to gain entry into our building and the foreclosure sale room in Cook County and the same identification for sales held at other county venues where The Judicial Sales Corporation conducts foreclosure sales.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that pursuant to a Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale entered in the above cause on January 26, 2016, an agent for The Judicial Sales Corporation, will at 10:30 AM on April 27, 2016, at The Judicial Sales Corporation, One South Wacker Drive - 24th Floor, CHICAGO, IL, 60606, sell at public auction to the highest bidder, as set forth below, the following described real estate: Commonly known as 2228 W. CHARLESTON ST., Chicago, IL 60647

Property Index No. 14-31-125-030-0000. The real estate is improved with a single family residence. The judgment amount was $550,545.10.
Sale terms: 25% down of the highest bid by certified funds at the close of the sale payable to The Judicial Sales Corporation. No third party checks will be accepted. The balance, including the Judicial sale fee for Abandoned Residential Property Municipality Relief Fund, which is calculated on residential real estate at the rate of $1 for each $1,000 or fraction thereof of the amount paid by the purchaser not to exceed $300, in certified funds/or wire transfer, is due within twenty-four (24) hours. No fee shall be paid by the mortgagee acquiring the residential real estate pursuant to its credit bid at the sale or by any mortgagee, judgment creditor, or other lienor acquiring the residential real estate whose rights in and to the residential real estate arose prior to the sale. The subject property is subject to general real estate taxes, special assessments, or special taxes levied against said real estate and is offered for sale without any representation as to quality or quantity of title and without recourse to Plaintiff and in AS IS condition. The sale is further subject to confirmation by the court.

Where a sale of real estate is made to satisfy a lien prior to that of the United States, the United States shall have one year from the date of sale within which to redeem, except that with respect to a lien arising under the internal revenue laws the period shall be 120 days or the period allowable for redemption under State law, whichever is longer, and in any case in which, under the provisions of section 505 of the Housing Act of 1950, as amended (12 U.S.C. 1701k), and subsection (d) of section 3720 of title 38 of the United States Code, the right to redeem does not arise, there shall be no right of redemption.

The property will NOT be open for inspection and plaintiff makes no representation as to the condition of the property. Prospective bidders are admonished to check the court file to verify all information. If this property is a condominium unit, the purchaser of the unit at the foreclosure sale, other than a mortgagee, shall pay the assessments and the legal fees required by The Condominium Property Act, 765 ILCS 605/9(g)(1) and (g)(4). In accordance with 735 ILCS 5/15-1507(c)(1)(h-1) and (h-2), 765 ILCS 605/9(g)(5), and 765 ILCS 605/18.5(g-1), you are hereby notified that the purchaser of the property, other than a mortgagee, shall pay the assessments and legal fees required by subsections (g)(1) and (g)(4) of section 9 and the assessments required by subsection (g-1) of section 18.5 of the Illinois Condominium Property Act.

Surprisingly, one of the internees wasn’t even Japanese, but Latino, said Hidaka’s wife, Jane. “He asked to leave with his friends. Even though his parents didn’t know where he was going, when they heard it was a ‘camp’, they gave permission, figuring he’d at least get three meals a day and have a roof over his head,” she said.

Not that the accommodations were anything to write home about, said Richard Hidaka. They had eight people sharing 20-by-28 feet of living space, he noted.

Not surprisingly, there were camp riots over living conditions, but virtually no protest over being incarcerated in the first place, Mishima and the Hidakas agreed.

“They had a different mindset” about obedience to authority, Mishima explained. “They were told by Japanese-American groups to cooperate with the government. You listened to your parents.”

Richard Hidaka was once considered “the leading juvenile delinquent” of Camp Granada for taking joyrides in the compound’s police cars.

And ironically, for all the U.S. government’s concern about Japanese-Americans on the West Coast being potential security risks, not one person of Japanese descent was ever charged or convicted of espionage or sabotage, Mishima said.

While attitudes have undergone drastic changes since then, Japanese-Americans have been among the most vocal opponents of knee-jerk punitive reactions against Middle Easterners living in this country following the attacks of 9-11.

“After 9-11, we warned that this would be a case of history repeating itself,” Richard Hidaka warned.

able heat source because the burner is small and it is less expensive than running the furnace full blast during chilly months, he noted. “Vent-free fireplaces are very popular in high-rise condominiums and rental apartments because no flue or chimney is necessary and these units are much more affordable.”

However, even vent-free fireplaces need an annual cleaning and maintenance check to reduce carbon monoxide emissions, and a professional safety inspection each autumn.

“Annual cleaning and service is needed to remove dust from the logs and prevent the burner pilot from getting clogged, which could lead to carbon monoxide buildup that sets off your carbon monoxide detector,” said Alleyne. He does the job for a $145 service call, which includes replacing batteries for remote starters, fresh embers, lava rock and a seasonal warranty.

Many homeowners have a ventless fireplace but do not regularly use it because of lack of knowledge. If there is an issue with vent-free gas-log combustion odor, Firefixer recommends burning the gas logs for one hour with a window open at the beginning of the season.
