Development company owned by City Hall insider to be gifted Lincoln Square parking lot; Will also be paid as architect

BY PETER VON BUOL

The real estate gift that keeps on giving just got even better for one city bureaucrat.

Gabriel Ignacio Dziekiewicz, vice chair of the City of Chicago's Commission on City Landmarks, is being gifted six city-owned parcels officially known as the city of Chicago's Parking Lot #70 at 4715 N. Western Ave.

The city's Community Development Commission on Sept. 13 voted to give away the six parcels conservatively valued at $4.925 million.

The city of Chicago had used eminent domain and federal funds in the 1970s to acquire these parcels to build a parking lot to help Lincoln Square businesses compete with suburban competitors. Free, or metered car and truck parking is a critical component of any commercial retail district.

The parking lot in question is also used for several large neighborhood festivals and serves as ample parking for Lincoln Square's Farmers' Markets.

The city commission approved the sale to Dziekiewicz and his development partner, Boston-

Ald. Reilly bashes mayor, Bally's for rigged traffic study for Medinah Temple casino

The City of Chicago released a Traffic Study late last week evaluating Bally's temporary casino at Medinah Temple, 600 N. Wabash.

The study was commissioned by Bally's — the company selected by Mayor Lori Lightfoot to develop the permanent casino in River West, and it anticipated that the first months of the temporary casino opening will generate more peak patron and vehicular activity than during the typical casino operations over the long run.

The reaction to City Hall rolling over for the casino by the local alderman and neighborhood groups in River North was immediate and severe. And questions over the veracity of the study's conclusions were raised.

cials that a new Casino bound by Ontario, Wabash, Ohio and State won't create any additional traffic burden on the neighborhood. The consultant, Fish Transportation Group and V3 Companies, claims to have made its trip projections based on other casinos in similarly dense, heavily-built urban environments like Chicago. But local skeptics find that hard to believe, given there aren't other casinos in American cities as large as Chicago.

The study estimates the temporary casino would generate 462 trips during the weekday evening commuter peak hour, between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m., and 516 during the Friday evening casino peak hours of 8 p.m. to 11 p.m., both inbound and outbound.

Three acts of vandalism... incident, coincidence or attack?

BY FELICIA DECHTER
Heart of the 'Hood

Once is an unfortunate incident. Twice could be just an odd coincidence. Three times is an attack.

Throughout my nearly 30 years of being a journalist, I've written about some extremely controversial issues. As a columnist, I'm not writing a news story necessarily with two sides. I'm giving my opinion about something and with contentious situations, there's a good chance that what I write could make someone, somewhere, unhappy.

That appears to have just happened.

I first started writing about the Touhy Park homeless encampment in East Rogers Park in August. The approximately 40-tent encampment's residents were deemed problematic enough to force the children's summer day camp to be relocated. Prior to that, I had never said one word about it. I had even brought food over there occasionally.

But once the kiddie camp had to be moved, something snapped. How could this be happening in a city park, and in the neighborhood I love? Many of my neighbors were also stunned. And the Chicago Park District apparently didn't say a peep about the camp relocation to Ald. Maria Hadden (49th) nor the police, which kind of flabbergasted me.

So of course, we wrote about it. That's my job. That's what community newspapers do. We don't care much about Washington D.C., we report about your front yard.

After that first Aug. 10 column, which sort of slammed all involved who had allowed the tent city to continue for so long (there's also a school across the street), I received a message from a very credible community member. The person warned me to watch my back, because "haters," might come after me for what I'd written. This person is opposed to and frustrated by what is happening in the park and East Rogers Park in general.

This newspaper also received two harassing emails from an employee of a North Side alderman who shall remain nameless.

We shrugged those warnings off and continued reporting. Then last month came the biggest bombshell: Touhy Park's field house, an indoor public space, was closed until further notice.

So, in our Sept. 21 issue, I wrote a comprehensive column on what was occurring. It laid out some facts and also exposed a few non-truths.

A few days later I got into my car, ready to do some errands. I could hardly get my key in, and I soon discovered my entire steering column had been pried apart, smashed open. My passenger rear window was in smithereens all over the rear of my car.

Happens all the time around here, right?

Philosophy that keeps one off ‘the list’ in our culture

By Thomas J. O’Gorman

How social are you? What are the parameters of your social skills? Your social networking? Your social entitlements and privileges? In 2017 I did a story here that focused on Chicago’s “social register” being reborn. The revival of old pedigreed custom. The need to strengthen the value of tradition, especially between the haves and have nots. It got my brain spinning. The focus was the elite collection of the city’s premier folk from fancy society. The local royalty. The chief cooks and bottles washers. The pinkies in the air congregation. The boarding school crowd. The Miss Porter’s girls. The Canterbury boys. The Philips Exeter Academy kids. And what they turn into in the landscape of privileged opportunity. We asked then, and again now, five years later, does such a nest of privilege exist anymore in our woke culture? There was a time when Americans thrived on the rigid prescriptions of high society. Starched collar-dressed for dinner intimacies whether in leafy Connecticut mansions, the cobbled lane-ways of old Boston, the castles of old New York’s Fifth Ave., or the Gold Coast brownstones of Chicago. Life centered on the Social Register, a publication etched on inerasable paper, that kept track of who was who. Fortune by fortune. Trust fund by trust fund. There was a time when it was a social necessity, especially true here in Chicago. Seems we got off to a late start as far as American cities go. Unchartered as a city until 1837. That’s pretty late. Boston had two centuries of social climbing by the time Chicago was born. The Mayflower was old news. Plymouth Rock a distant pebble in the telescope of history. So Chicagoans had to redefine our social pedigrees. Our urban geography lent itself perfectly to the invention and manufacture of great ideas and pragmatic industrial necessities. A city of wide modern inventiveness. No wonder railroads, livestock, steel production, real estate, grain sale futures, industrial agriculture, architecture and national politics became the leading businesses in Chi-town. Leaders in the various industrial fields and inventive financial enterprises made the easy move to become social arbiters and elite governors of the social scene. Chicago didn’t need the Mayflower. It had business success. Trains to move. Cattle to rustle. Silk sheets to wrinkle. Servants to wrestle. No one represented that more than Edith Rockefeller McCormick. A woman who counted two vast American fortunes as her heritage and name suggests. High society was her birthright. Her intense well-educated profile made her a tough social arbiter and Chicago woman of unimpeachable standards of high social dignity and odd ways. An intellectual, she presided from her Lake Shore Dr. palace. And utilized all the conveniences for an envied lifestyle. Not least of which were her array of automobiles that made her travel across the city terrain both practical and elegant. She, of course, was chauffeured everywhere. But her social bearing, even in Chicago, required that she never speak to her chauffeur directly. Instead her maid, a major authority in her world, would inform the driver where Edith Rockefeller McCormick wished to be driven.

Some social barriers could never be crossed. Even if her grandfather-in law invented equipment for better farming. Dinners at Edith Rockefeller McCormick’s mansion were Chicago social gold. Leaders of the city’s most elite families and erudite social bearing would gather to dine on her famous golden plates. However her faithful practice of remaining alcohol free meant that guests were never served wine. Chicago’s elite members of high society would, instead, carry their own alcohol in which to imbibe.

Edith Rockefeller McCormick

Gentlemen in white tie and tails were free, when she wasn’t looking, to swig from their personal flasks carried on their persons. Of course it wasn’t high-end vintage wine. But it did perk up appetites and removed any chills. But it was eccentric by standards of the day. Chicago’s social culture wasn’t always so severe or commanding, but it was the servant of great fortunes and well-bred consciousness. Maintaining high standards for “the 400,” as the socially separatist, well-to-do, were known, coast to coast. That said it all. Social customs and behavior driven by birth and social positions did evolve. Bowing, over time, to the refashioning of the social ideal and the reasoned pedigree. Chicago society had a huge pecking order. A long grocery list of social attributes from inherited wealth to prestigious roles of power. Chicago’s elite social barons saw to it, at one time in our history, that their well-educated offspring served the public order by election to the Chicago City Council. It was hoped that the lower orders would see the intelligent manner in which local politics could unfold as a mark of breeding and social heritage. Especially important in Chicago’s immigrant-thick neighborhoods. Jam-packed with non-English speakers and uneducated foreigners. The lists of pre- and post- Civil War era aldermen and mayors is encrusted with the familiar names of Chicago’s Prairie fortunes. The Ivy League Chicagoans and polished children of inventive business success. The heirs of stunning amassed powerful fortunes. But ironically many of Chicago’s most noteworthy industrial men of wealth and fortune were actually the second and third sons of East Coast fortunes. Meaning that they were never to be the recipients of their family’s wealth. Instead they traveled to the nation’s heartland to try their best to create fortunes for themselves. Many were successful, like Potter Palmer, Marshall Field, Phillip Danforth Armour, George Pullman and many others. However unfolding at the same moment were elements which transformed Chicago politics into a dynamic enterprise of its own. In addition to the necessity of needing a facility with the English language, Chicago politicians needed an awareness of the nuances of customs and opportunities. They needed to create political careers of power and authority that gave Chicago its own unique brand of American political muscle. The bold advances in Chicago’s industrial achievements made the necessity of political influence and control indispensable. By 1860 Chicago had the influence and wherewithal to put Abraham Lincoln in the White House. And John Fitzgerald Kennedy a century later. Chicago’s social influence and power, however, like its political muscle, has waned today. The looters in the streets proved that. The rioters in Louis Vuitton and Gucci also confirm the social quality of our misfortune. Large scale thefts. Dangerous streets. Powerless police. Inept failed mayor. The current exodus of old-fashioned Democratic politicians (15 so far) from the Chicago City Council confirms that a similar revolution is at work, currently, in the Council. An unworkable mayor, growing numbers of socialist aldermen, little cohesion in leadership, plus the disorder wrought by woke cultures caused an aldermanic stampede out of government. Unspoken, the universal distaste for the suffocatingly sanctimonious among us, the constant competition to our virtue signal of thy neighbor. Suffering in silence, the vast majority of us truly dislike being around them. Major corporations now mistrust the City of Chicago’s government to effectively provide safe geography in which to operate their enterprises. While at home, spouses of CEO’s won’t take Fido out on a walk after dark in the Gold Coast. This is the child born of the city’s social and political psychosis. The inverted Racialist philosophy that crushes reason and intellect. That problem in our social and political gene pool that will not let the chauffeur speak to their employer because of an unlevelled social position. And because despite the critical need for leadership that has history and urban understanding under its belt, we still cannot keep many elected officials’ fingers from trying to steal our pie. So don’t flush once. Flush twice. Look at what they turn into in the landscape of privilege and opportunity. No matter how social you are. ON THE LIST: Our two insiders at DePaul College Prep, Sophie and Emma Buol, tell us

Nurses strike averted at Howard Brown Health, building engineers strike at St. Joseph shut down, worker angst at Heartland Alliance

Healthcare contract strife predicted long ago

BY BOB ZULEY

Patient care for area residents at two prominent area health care providers was threatened this week as labor contract issues came to the forefront.

On Saturday, the Illinois Nurses Association [INA] announced the nurses strike at Howard Brown Health [HBH] expected on Monday morning was averted as a tentative contract was agreed to.

Meanwhile, labor contract negotiations at Ascension St. Joseph Hospital reached an impasse with hospital operating engineers employed by Medxcel Facilities Management [MFM]. St. Joe's workers were set to walk out on Monday afternoon, but over the weekend a delay was imposed and strike cancelled.

St. Joseph Hospital, MFM, and Local 399 Operating Engineers were emailed questions about possible compromised hospital operations and patient care in the event of a labor strike and all declined to comment.

Workers told this reporter that MFM sought relief from Illinois Dept. of Public Health claiming the planned strike was illegal.

In response, Local 399 Operating Engineers canceled the planned strike possibility lending credibility to MFM's claim of an illegal labor action.

The cancelled strike further angered the union members, who planned to meet Monday with their union reps.

Calvin Cottrell, Director of Community Outreach and Public Safety for Ald. Tom Tunney [44th] related to Inside Publications that the alderman has "spoken to both the CEO of St. Joseph Hospital and leaders from Local 399 Operating Engineers and he is hopeful they will have a contract deal soon."

The American Hospital Directory lists Ascension St. Joseph Hospital, 2900 N. Lake Shore Dr., as a 251-bed short term acute care hospital with a total revenue of $882,903,281 and a net loss of -$8,533,079

(last updated Sept. 16).

Working without a contract since May and unsuccessful in reaching an agreement over wages and conditions with MFM, Local 399 Operating Engineers at Ascension St. Joseph Hospital had authorized a labor

According to the report, hundreds of union contracts will expire in 2022 at health-care facilities across the nation setting up fights over staff-to-patient ratios, pay and other safety concerns as workers continue to battle the COVID-19 pandemic.

action 10 days prior and notified hospital officials that they would deactivate hospital boilers and take to the picket line on Oct. 3. But that was called off over the weekend.

An informational flier furnished by Local 399 claims St. Joseph Hospital hired MFM to operate their engineering department but pays inadequate wages and shows no interest in providing parity with industry standards, benefits and working conditions and has created a substandard working environment that has resulted in an inability to fill skilled maintenance positions.

The operating or stationary engineers at the hospital are responsible for the safe and proper operations of the power plant and associated control structures. They operate, maintain and adjust boilers, furnaces, engines, pumps, heat exchangers, generators, HVAC equipment and lighting throughout the facility.

According to a National Labor Relations Board collective bargaining rights bulletin, if negotiations reach an impasse after the existing contract expires before the next contract is in place, almost all of the terms of the expired contract continue while the parties bargain.

Howard Brown Health [HBH] operates 12 health-care clinics throughout the city with at least two more planned on the North Side. With an annual budget of over $145 million, the agency serves more than 40,000 adults and youth in its diverse health and social service delivery system, according to its website.

The INA union represents 30 HBH nurses who had bargained since June for a new contract over better pay and other issues. "HBH brings in $182 million a year, and the nurses are being nickel and dimed," said INA Lead organizer Margo Gislain.

According to ProPublica, HBH CEO David Ernesto Munar gave himself a $100,000 raise during the COVID-19 pandemic. Nurses at HBH have not been given any compensation for their frontline work on COVID-10 or the Monkeypox outbreak. According to 2020 filings with the IRS, Munar's annual salary was $328,360 in addition to $15,129 in estimat

Assessor Kaegi unveils new property data for owners

The Home Front

by Don DeBat

Chicago homeowners can now instantly view their property's construction details, assessment history and recent real estate sales in their neighborhood by tapping into a new Cook County database.

On Sept. 29 Cook County Assessor Fritz Kaegi unveiled a searchable database that shows a greater level of information for each property located in Chicago and suburbs in the county.

"A property owner now can visit the Assessor's website, enter their property index number, or address, and obtain information such as the estimated market value, assessed value, and property characteristics," said Scott Smith, chief communications officer for the Assessor office.

Noteworthy features include information pertaining to permits, parcel divisions and consolidations, and the Homeowner Improvement Exemption.

Another feature is the "Neighborhood Sales" function, which provides current real estate information that can be reviewed and printed, noted Smith.

of real estate transactions within the neighborhood code of a property within the last 36 months," Smith said. "The information is useful for property owners that are considering filing an appeal or would like to understand the market value of properties in their neighborhood."

Much of the Assessor's staff work is accomplished by utilizing digital tools, including the "Automated Valuation Model" [AVM]. The AVM is joined with the "parcel universe" to allow convenient spatial analysis and mapping of sales, which can be joined to historic assessed values for ratio studies, notes the Open Data Portal.

Here are some basic facts about how the Assessor does his job:

- It is important for homeowners to understand the current real estate market in their neighborhood. Assessments, under Illinois law, should be uniform and fairly

After 54 years in Lincoln Park, local charity moves to Edgewater

Care For Friends has vacated their former Lincoln Park home at 530 W. Fullerton Pkwy., where they had been operating for the last 54 years.

Their former building is a Civil War-era, wood-framed building, which is owned by the Church of our Saviour. It is in need of extensive improvements that are typical for a building that old.

A plan has now been developed to demolish the existing building and construct a new community center on-site. During the construction phase, Care for Friends will be renting space from the Church of the Atonement in Edgewater, 5749 N. Kenmore Ave. The move will be temporary, but Care for Friends expects to share space with the congregation until Dec. 2023.

Care For Friends will continue to emphasize providing "more than a meal," said Executive Director Hope Pavich, using their lunchtime gatherings as an opportunity to connect guests with medical care, job skills training, grocery support, and housing assistance.

"The impact of COVID-19 and skyrocketing inflation has created an economic crisis and our guests are straining all their available resources. We are here to help bridge the gap for our community in Lincoln Park, and now also in Edgewater. We are thrilled to be a part of this vibrant neighborhood and invite our new neighbors to join us for a meal- and more!" said Pavich.

Hot meals are served weekly at 10:30 a.m. Mondays, Thursdays, and Saturdays; free screening clinic operates from 10:30 a.m. the 3rd Saturday of each month, while the free foot care clinic opens at 10:30 a.m. the fourth Saturday of every month. Lightfoot drops inflation-linked $42M tax hike from budget

Mayor realizes election time is a bad time to raise taxes

Mayor Lori Lightfoot has come to the same realization that thousands of politicians before her have, that the time right before an election is a bad time to raise taxes.

So one of the few major accomplishments of her first term, tying property tax increases to the rate of inflation, now appears to be an anchor for her reelection campaign.

Now, just when inflation is soaring, the mayor is waiving that proposed tax increase ahead of submitting her 2023 budget plan Monday.

Yes, Lightfoot announced she wouldn't include the controversial $42.7 million tax hike tied to inflation. The decision comes two years after Lightfoot introduced the policy, which guaranteed annual property tax increases forever and ever.

The move should remove an easy target that her opponents could have used against her in her reelection campaign this spring.

"Because our economy continues to show better than projected recovery, our city revenues continue to exceed our estimates," she said. Therefore "I am happy to announce that we are able to forgo, for one year, the [planned] increase on the property tax levy."

The quick spiking in inflation this last year meant the policy risked foisting a massive tax increase on homeowners. As the North Side has some of the highest assessment rates citywide, the North Side would have been hardest hit by those increases.

Until the last 15 months, the open rate of inflation had hovered around three percent for the better part of the past 20 years. Not anymore. The Federal Reserve Bank says they plan to keep raising interest rates for the foreseeable future, until they can stomp out the high inflation that is crushing consumers.

The annual inflation rate for the United States is 8.3% for the 12 months ended August, after rising 8.5% previously, according to U.S. Labor Dept. data published Sept. 13. The next inflation update is scheduled for release on Oct. 13. The increase in inflation is due to monetary policy and the massive amounts of deficit spending by Washington D.C., the last few years. In 2020 the inflation rate was a mere 1.23%.

As the North Side has some of the highest assessment rates citywide, the North Side would have been hardest hit by those increases.

As Lightfoot weighed the decision to drop the tax hike, she likely was comforted by the more than $130 million in unexpected tax revenue now projected to flow into city coffers this year.

The potential tax increase was not received well by many of the city's aldermen. As they pursue their own reelections and with others retiring after their terms, some offered the mayor pushback.

"As opponents like me pointed out when this was debated, even the Mayor's five percent cap 'guardrail' would still result in a massive property tax increase at a time residents and small businesses are struggling to pay their bills," said Ald. Brendan Reilly [42nd]. Contrary to Lightfoot's earlier assertions, "it turns out Consumer Price Index is, in fact, anything but predictable these days."

A Ghost Story: Chicago commuter group takes action on public transit issues

BY
KRISTEN LEWIS RENNER

If you use public transit, you no doubt know the drill: trains and buses are delayed. The CTA app says the ETA is 10 minutes, but the "real time" arrival is 30 minutes later.

A bus driver's relief fails to show, so everyone has to get off and wait for the next ride.

In tech parlance, you've been "ghosted." BOO!? You're annoyed, have to call your boss (again), and want to make your voice heard to the CTA board, but where to start?

Are they even listening?

The CTA is not doing much right these days. Not right by their customers, and not right by their own overworked staff. It may be one thing most people outside of the CTA's executive suite can agree on... the CTA is generally failing to meet expectations.

A new citizens' group called CommutersTakeAction, formed in May, and they have some advice for you. The first step is to check out their website:

<https://linktr.ee/COMMUTER-STAKEACTION>.

There you can report a late bus or train; to date, the group has received more than 2,000 complaints.

The organizers are presenting monthly form responses during the CTA board meetings. Concerned citizens can also sign a petition, review commuter data, and access email templates and an official public comment form to send to the transit agency.

You can also make a donation so they can print more stickers like the one shown here, spreading the word about the organization.

Jose Manuel Almanza, one of the group's organizers from Chicago Jobs for Justice, sums up their mission.

"Our purpose is to create a space for transit riders to organize and improve the experience on the CTA as well as to establish a relationship with the workers in the system, especially in light of the challenges presented by the pandemic," he said.

Are you being ghosted by the CTA? The CTA app says the ETA of your bus is in 10 minutes, but the "real time" arrival is 30 minutes later. In tech parlance, you've been "ghosted." BOO!? So yes, you're annoyed, have to call your boss (again), and want to make your voice heard to the CTA board, but where to start?

"We want to help improve their quality of life. It's going to take all of us to advocate for a transit system that we need and want and is truly serving all of Chicago."

In mid-September, the group held a protest/rally ("I'm Late to This Rally!") at CTA headquarters. More than 60 people showed up, "taking our sweet time to express our frustrations," quipped Micah Fiedler, one of the original CommutersTakeAction members. He said while improving service is the group's primary focus, they acknowledge that out of all the complaints received by citizens, a significant number said the fact that their safety was compromised was worse than being late to their destination. Waiting at a stop -- sometimes all alone -- is anxiety producing and dangerous.

"Basically they are being 'double ghosted,'" Fiedler said.

Susan Hurley, executive director of Chicago Jobs for Justice, said overall, riders are empathetic when it comes to the CTA workers.

"People recognize that there aren't enough staff (on the trains and buses)," she said. "They want the CTA to hire more people and give them what they need to support a world-class transit system."

As I sat in my car assessing the damage and what was missing, a weird feeling came over me. This didn't seem to be a smash-and-grab, as nothing was missing. It seemed more personal. The neighbor's words of caution ran through my mind.

I have no idea why I did what I did next because I'm not one to share my personal business. But for some reason I emailed our publisher, Ron Roenigk, and let him know what had happened and about my strange vibe.

Ron's reply gave me the chills. In the middle of the night, at 3 a.m. on Sept. 22 (the day after the column came out) someone had thrown a rock through the newspaper office's window.

If there is a stronger cup of coffee than a rock thrown through your window at 3 a.m. I'm not sure what it is.

A few days later, somebody used the newspaper's door as a toilet... so that makes three incidents.

Were the two, concurrent acts of violent vandalism and the pee pee caper a coincidence? Maybe, maybe not. But seems we might have gotten under somebody's skin.

Meanwhile, we fixed the window and car, and cleaned up the human waste.

Now it's time for us to get back to work. Rest assured, this won't stop us.

We'll continue to cover this issue, and other issues that may be uncomfortable to some, because that's what we do.

Things are sure to calm down with the campers in our parks with the cold weather coming. And the Oct. 3 Zoom meeting regarding Touhy Park occurred during this week's deadline, but watch for our coverage next week.

One of the benefits of being a printed weekly newspaper is that we don't have to publish every day, hour, minute and second... We have one deadline a week, and we generally have the time to get it right. You will not find our newspapers on social media, ever. (Some of our reporters, including me, are on social media, but you need to pick up our printed copies or subscribe online to get our newspapers.) We're the 'old school' journalists, we write up the news while trying not to be the news... and our readers are the news consumers, you get to judge our work's value. If we get something wrong, call or write us and we'll correct the record. In print.

Unlike our windows, doors and cars, newspapers are not supposed to be fragile, we welcome judgmental readers, they keep us on our feet. And they let us know when we screwed up or missed something, by writing a Letter to the Editor. That is called civil "public discourse." For those who are unclear of the concept, please next time use the phone or email, not rocks, hammers and urine.

Damaged steering wheel column and broken car window. Were two acts of vandalism and one incident of human waste on a door a coincidence, or not?

Yes, we're old school. We grew up in a time when public parks weren't getting closed down.

Me? I guess I'm not as progressive as some people in this neighborhood. And I'm definitely not alone in that my mind is boggled as to how in the snap of the fingers housing for some 50 to 60 migrants was provided at the Leone Beach field house when we had people sleeping all summer on the ground in tents in intense heat.

I realize that's different funding, but why didn't folks at Touhy Park have the Leone option for temporary housing? I think that's a reasonable question on a lot of people's minds.

Yet this newspaper staff is called racist for asking that question.

The complaint line forms out the door to the left, and down five blocks... just watch out for the urine.

You can call us a jackass, or worse, if you don't like what we write. It's not nice to break windows and cars. And human waste left on somebody's door? Really? So much for COVID protocols and public safety...

But look, don't call me racist. I was raised by a mother who taught me that, "There's good and bad in every kind." I grew up on the city's South Side, and my family was one of the very last to leave during the "White Flight" of the 1960s. Most of my fondest and earliest childhood memories happened to be with Black friends.

Before moving to East Rogers Park, my basically single-parent mother moved us to live among all sorts of people in low income, CHA high-rises in a very different Lakeview and Uptown than what they are today. At Lemoyne Elementary School, I took Spanish classes and learned the language so I could find out exactly what my Puerto Rican friends were talking about (that learning continued throughout high school and college and ended as an Associate's Degree in Spanish).

Besides all of that, I'm a Jew. How could I even begin to hate any other group of people when I know what it's like to be the hated one?

We're all in this life together. Let's learn to disagree in a civil manner. Violence of any sort is unacceptable.

Hazard duty has always been part of being a journalist. One of this newspaper's motto's is "We're your friendly neighborhood newspaper" - and we are. Call the office and we pick up the phone. But that doesn't mean we like being attacked. And that's how we're perceiving it, as violent attacks.

Meanwhile, here at the newspaper, we'll just keep on truckin' and continue bringing you the truth, no matter what.

So pick up next week's paper if you'd like to read an honest and independent reporting on what's going on in Touhy Park.

Wonder of wonders... is Lyric Opera's "Fiddler on the Roof," running through Friday at the Lyric Opera House, 20 N. Wacker Dr., It's a stunning musical extravaganza filled with the beautiful, unforgettable music we all know and love, along with fabulous dancing and an incredible cast. It's the perfect thing to do during the Jewish holiday season but non-Jews will certainly enjoy it too.

And a special shout out to 10-year-old Drake Wunderlich, who excellently plays a modern-day Fiddler, even sporting headphones and blue jeans. Loved that unexpected twist. Way to go Drake!

Who you gonna call?... for a good time at Halloween? Ghostbusters, of course!

On Saturday night, head to the Auditorium Theater, 50 E. Ida B. Wells Dr., for a one-night-only event. See the full "Ghostbusters" film while the orchestra performs Elmer Bernstein's movie score under the direction of his son, conductor Peter Bernstein.

Sounds very cool right? There'll also be pre-concert trick - or - treating for all ages, a costume contest, a red carpet with photographers, visitors from Ghostbuster cosplay groups Windy City Ghostbusters and Circle City Ghostbusters, and more.

We caught up with Logan Square resident and Chicago Philharmonic music librarian Diana Ortiz, whose main job, among many other imperative tasks, is to acquire and facilitate all orchestra sheet music required for concerts.

Ortiz gave us the scoop on "Ghostbusters" as well as news about another one night only show Oct. 13 at the Harris Theater, 205 E. Randolph St. Opening Chicago Phil's 22/23 Symphonic Series is William Grant Still's Afro-American Symphony. The diverse program will also include the Chicago premiere of Jonathan Bingham's "Monograph," and works by Price, Márquez, and Villa-Lobos. The concert centers on the early 20th century resurgence of folk influence in classical music.

Below is a little info on both events. If you go, enjoy!

Q: What can people expect at the "Ghostbusters" evening?

A: This will be our first time presenting the "Ghostbusters" film concert and the experience will be a celebration of Halloween and "Ghostbusters" from start to finish. Before the concert, we'll have an Ectomobile, Slimers, and real-life "Ghostbusters" to take pictures with, plus themed drinks like our Slimer Soda and Ecto Cocktail.

Then in the concert hall, the full movie will be screened on a giant screen while our orchestra plays the score. Our guest conductor [Bernstein] is actually the son of Elmer Bernstein who wrote the music to the movie!

(Top) Diana Ortiz. (Bottom) The movie "Ghostbusters" will be shown Saturday night at the Auditorium Theatre with the score done live by the Chicago Philharmonic Orchestra.

And of course the entire concert is held at Auditorium Theatre, which is such a beautiful, historic space. The orchestra is going to sound incredible there.

Q: Is this night going to be fun?

A: Super fun! Our whole staff is even wearing homemade Ghostbusters costumes. These movie concerts are the perfect way to share music with people of all ages, from around the city. Everyone has a great time. The enhanced sound with live full orchestra, the super big screen, and the lighting, will make this a one in a lifetime Ghostbusters experience.

Q: Can you tell me a little about the upcoming Latinx and Black composers' concert?

A: We want to show that our orchestra embraces and celebrates the diversity of our home city. People tend to think that classical music is always European, but the music we're playing is from African American, Mexican, and Brazilian composers. This is our vision of what an orchestra concert can be - diverse, exciting, and actually relevant to Chicagoans. The program was made with so much love from our musicians and staff. I can't wait to hear it in the hall soon.

What's happening at Touhy Park?

Ald. Maria Hadden says "We need the City and CPD to come up with a plan. for how to best care for and provide services to people experiencing homelessness and ensure that the parks are available and safe for recreation for everyone."

The only "plan" needed to 'bring the park back into use for everyone' is for the Chicago Park District [CPD] to insist that the Chicago Police enforce the 11 p.m. closing time and all the other laws pertaining to park use, including littering, alcohol and drug use, and the like.

Whatever plans and services the City and its agencies can provide to homeless people, needn't be done while law-breaking in a Park is tolerated. We see many homeless people camped out in various other places, not interfering with Park use, and also needing help. The help all these homeless people need is not in the bailiwick of either the police or CPD. Does Ald. Hadden only care about the homeless people who are preventing the intended use of Touhy Park?

Election Board to close 40% of all precinct polling places

The Chicago Board of Election Commissioners [the Board] is planning to eliminate 40% of all polling precincts, and more importantly, reduce the amount of election judges by 40% in the coming Nov. 8 election.

The election judges will be reduced from 10,345 to 6,450 judges.

This is a horrible example of voter suppression in our city.

These cutbacks will also affect the Feb. 2023 municipal election. The Board is not concerned about this.

I also believe that the Board wants to force more people to use mail-in ballots, which the United Nations says is a leading indicator of potential election fraud. The Board also wants to expand the use of early voting locations.

Due to these factors, I believe there might be long lines at polling places on Nov. 8.

Why is this happening? I believe that the Board primarily wants to save money. Also there is a problem of some voting locations not being in compliance with the American Disability Act, and lingering pandemic problems.

If the Board wants to save money then they should implement the procedures for ranked choice voting, which would eliminate the need for an expensive runoff election.

Senior citizens and the disabled should use the mail in ballots, but if you can vote, you should vote, in person on election day. Young adults should be able to walk the few blocks to go vote in person, either at early voting locations or on election day. But yet in another misstep by the Board, many early voting locations do not have public parking.

On the take or just plain dumb?

A couple of North Side aldermen are still trying to pull the wool over voter's eyes.

It's bad enough they want to defund the police.

It's bad enough they want to release all violent criminals.

It's bad enough they hate children. They went along with every school shutdown, strike and teacher's union work stoppage.

But as far as the Lincoln Square parking lot, are they on the take, or just plain dumb?

They won't answer my phone calls. Maybe they'll answer yours.

The running tab so far for the gifting of the Lincoln Square parking lot is $32 million of taxpayers dollars to the private out-of-town developers.

For only 65 units!

That comes out to $492,000 per 'affordable' unit. Mostly studio and one bedroom units, with just a few two bedroom units sprinkled in.

If you're looking, I can find you a better deal.

The 24-unit apartment building at 5100 N. Western Ave. is for sale for $11 million. That is for mostly two bedroom/two bath units, half with balconies and all with indoor heated parking.

If you want more bang for your buck, the City could buy condos in Albany Park for a lot less per unit and give them to poor, needy, disadvantaged families of color. "Equity" starts at home, no?

Don't aldermen Vasquez and Martin want to help poor, needy, disadvantaged families of color?

No? Why not?

Or do they just want to help rich, mostly white developers from Boston with South Side white Irish clout? Ask them. They don't pick up the phones when reporters call.

Here is a quick rundown of condos for sale in Albany Park. Same Brown Line CTA. Most near River Park, Eugene Field Park and Gompers Park. And River and Gompers Parks had their pools open this summer, protected by real lifeguards.

Two bed/one bath condos on Carmen, Albany, Argyle, Argyle or Monticello for $230,000; $165,000; $199,000; $175,000 and $180,000.

Two bed/two bath condos on Keystone, Lawndale, Monticello for $210,000; $205,000 or $189,000.

Three bed/two bath condos (Hey, now we're talking!) on Argyle or Ainslie for $232,000 or $255,000.

The City can make these neighbors in need actual homeowners instead of government dependents who have to go and beg and kiss butt at City Hall, and don't forget to vote!

Then, instead of lining the pockets of rich, white, out-of-town developers, the City could use all the leftover taxpayer cash for other important needs like Special Ed teachers, prescription drugs for poor people, lifeguards at Welles Park Pool, mammograms for poor women and even the six-figure salary for the Environmental Sciences and Recycling teacher at Waters School.

So someone, anyone, even the stumblebums at the Heart of Lincoln Square, ask Aldermen Vasquez and Martin, "Are you on the take, or just plain dumb?"

Police Beat...

Mugger who hit CTA passenger with wine bottle robbed another CTA rider the next day, too

Solomon Washington (inset).

Chicago police say the man who hit a CTA passenger in the head with a wine bottle on the Red Line CTA train over the weekend robbed another CTA passenger on a train the next day. The wine bottle attack was captured on video that went viral.

CPD Chief of Detectives Brendan Deenihan announced the charges on Sept. 19 against Solomon Washington.

Washington is the person who's seen striking the CTA passenger in the head with the wine bottle on a Red Line train at 95th St. around 2:42 a.m. Saturday, Deenihan said. The victim, a 44-year-old homeless man, was taken to a hospital to treat a head injury.

A second man who was involved in the robbery remains at large.

Washington robbed another CTA passenger on a Red Line train at 95th St. around 1:30 a.m. Sept. 25, Deenihan said. Surveillance video allegedly showed Washington punching the 46-year-old victim in the face and going into his pockets as he slept.

Initial indications were that a woman was responsible for hitting the first victim with the bottle, but cops in suburban Glenwood recognized the individual as Washington and contacted Chicago police. Deenihan said "many" other people also contacted CPD to identify Washington.

Deenihan said it "was not simple" to secure charges against Washington due to "many factors," and he praised the Cook County State's Attorney's Office for its help in the case.

Washington, 30, is charged with two counts of robbery, theft from person, and aggravated battery in a public place.

Chicago police arrest man for the 15th time this year—about a week after arresting him for the 14th time

It seems like just last week we told you about Cary Mamola, who was arrested by Chicago police for the 14th time this year after allegedly going on a "miniature crime spree" in Lakeview.

That's because it was just last week. And Mamola has been quite busy since then. He pleaded guilty to the Lakeview charge, got out of jail, then got arrested by Chicago police again at the Merchandise Mart. Happy 15th, we guess.

To get you up to speed, Mamola was arrested on Sept. 18 for assault at Jewel-Osco, 3531 N. Broadway in Boystown. He walked out of the police station on his own recognizance less than three hours later.

Then, just before 3 p.m. on Sept.

21, Mamola threatened to punch a female manager who confronted him for shoplifting at Walgreens, 3201 N. Broadway, officials said. He ran out of the store with the beer and dipped into the Gap store across the street. There, he allegedly stole $135 worth of clothing.

Mamola was on a conditional discharge for trespassing at the time of those incidents. Last week, he pleaded guilty to retail theft for the Walgreens and Gap incident. A judge sentenced him to yet another conditional discharge, and he went free Sept. 26.

Then, a little after midnight on Sept. 29, police arrested Mamola after Merchandise Mart representatives said they had told him "on multiple occasions" that he was not allowed on the property, prosecutor Jeff Allen said. Before he was arrested, though, Mamola also damaged several filing cabinets belonging to the Mart, according to Allen.

Mamola, 44, is now charged with criminal damage to property and criminal trespassing.

"I would note," Allen told Judge Barbara Dawkins during Mamola's latest bail hearing, "that the defendant has no less—and I say no less 'cuz I stopped counting at 27—misdemeanor convictions, including seven from this year alone."

He also has five felony convictions, Allen said, for burglary, attempted escape, escape, theft, and criminal damage. Mamola has also forfeited bond by failing to appear in court "no less than 14" times, Allen told the judge. "I stopped counting at 14."

Assistant Public Defender Michael Grady said Mamola is unemployed and lives with roommates.

Judge Dawkins set bail on the new charges at $5,000 with electronic monitoring, meaning Mamola must pay a $500 bail deposit to get out of jail. He will earn a $30 daily credit for every day spent in custody. She also ordered him to pay $300 bail deposits on each conditional discharge matter he violated.

He was due back in court on Monday. And Tuesday.

In May, Chicago police arrested Mamola five times: trespassing at a Mag Mile hotel, retail theft in Wicker Park, trespassing on the Clybourn corridor, trespassing at another Loop hotel, and for a warrant.

He was arrested three times in August—for trespassing at a hotel in the Loop, trespassing at O'Hare, and on a warrant, according to CPD records.

Chicago police have arrested him 41 times since Aug. 2014.

It's not clear how—in a city and county where officials consistently talk about providing diversion programs, treatment options, mental health care, and social services as alternatives to jail—a person can get arrested so many times without being successfully connected with those programs.

15-year-old girl drugged, sexually assaulted in Lakeview

A 15-year-old girl was drugged and then sexually assaulted along the Chicago River bank in Lakeview on Sept. 30, according to Chicago police.

Police responded to the 3200 block of N. Rockwell, across from DePaul College Prep and just south of Lane Tech High School, around 10:45 after a 911 caller reported that a girl had been attacked.

The victim was "under the influence of an unknown substance after drinking a cup of water," said Sgt. Rocco Alioto, a CPD spokesperson.

She had been "led into the area by an unknown male offender, who sexually assaulted the victim."

Alioto said the attacker remains at large.

EMS took the girl to Advocate Illinois Masonic Medical Center in fair condition.

Investigators found a crime scene, including clothing, near a bike path that runs along the river. Area Three detectives are investigating.

On Saturday afternoon, DePaul College Prep President Mary Dempsey sent an email about the incident to the school's community.

"At this time, we have no indication that there is any ongoing danger to our community. We will of course provide the police with any video footage or access to our safety personnel and volunteers who were assisting at the football game last evening in the event they saw or heard anything that may assist the police in their investigation," Dempsey wrote.

"I ask you to use this as an opportunity to talk with your family about being aware of your surroundings at all times and to avoid entering the woods along the bike path at night," she said.

Woman found dead in Lakeview nightclub, investigation launched

Chicago police are conducting a death investigation after a woman was found unresponsive in a Lakeview nightclub Oct. 1.

Officers and EMS responded to Berlin, 954 W. Belmont, just after the bar's 4 a.m. closing time after a 911 caller reported that their friend was passed out in the restroom.

The 27-year-old woman was taken to Advocate Illinois Masonic Medical Center, where she was pronounced dead, according to Chicago police. The medical examiner's office listed her time of death as 4:42 a.m.

The medical examiner performed an autopsy to determine how and why the woman died.

Berlin management closed the club on Saturday night and posted this statement:

"Berlin Nightclub is deeply saddened by the loss of one of our own last night. Our thoughts go out to this beautiful person's family and friends as they grapple with the untimely loss of this young life.

Out of respect for this life lost, we will be holding a night of closure this evening. We want to thank the first responders, friends, and staff for their unwavering dedication and support.

Please keep an eye on our page for mutual aid support in the coming days. We love you so much.

With All Of Our Love, Ren, Lucy, Jim, & Jo"

While the cause of the woman's death has yet to be determined, officials have been stepping up efforts to warn the public about the spread of fentanyl, an extremely potent and deadly opioid, in counterfeit pills and street drugs.

On Aug. 18, a passerby found two men and a woman, all in their early 20s, unresponsive in an alley on the 800 block of W. Belmont. The men died at the scene, but EMS workers saved the woman by administering NARCAN, a drug that can reverse the effects of opioids.

According to medical examiner records, autopsy results for the two men are still pending.

Driver nearly struck pedestrian, then shot him

A driver nearly hit a pedestrian in an Edgewater crosswalk, then shot the man without provocation on Sept. 30, prosecutors said. But Chicago police officers caught a break when they received a description of the gunman over the radio and realized that they had just pulled over a likely suspect

'You deserve it'

Kidnap suspect told woman 'You deserve it' after dumping urine on her at Loop CTA station

Quavon Ewing (inset) and CTA surveillance images of the kidnapping suspect that were released by Chicago police.

After trying to kidnap a woman in the West Loop and grabbing a woman in the South Loop on Sept. 25, registered sex offender Quavon Ewing dumped a cup of his own urine onto a woman at a downtown CTA station and told her she "deserved it," prosecutors alleged Sept. 28.

CTA security cameras caught that incident and other images of Ewing, 32, that led Chicago police to arrest him on Sept. 27 at the Jackson Red Line CTA station.

Less than 24 hours after Judge Maryam Ahamad released Ewing on his own recognizance for failing to register as a sex offender, Ewing stood next to a minivan in the 100 block of W. Roosevelt, peeing into a cup.

Prosecutors said he grabbed a 35-year-old woman by the shoulders as she passed the van on her way to the gym. He allegedly put her in a bear hug, moaned, and called her "baby" until she bit him on the neck and hit him with her phone. At that point, he jumped into the van and drove away.

About 15 minutes later, at 8:45 a.m., a 45-year-old woman saw Ewing standing next to the van in the 200 block of S. Sangamon as she returned from Starbucks. Prosecutors said he jumped in front of her, grabbed her by the shoulders, and tried to force her into the van.

The woman screamed and fought so hard to avoid being put into the van that she pulled part of the vehicle off. Prosecutors say that when a Good Samaritan tried to help, Ewing threatened them with something he took from the van and then drove away.

Then, just after 9 a.m., CTA cameras allegedly recorded Ewing as he urinated into a cup at a CTA station in the Loop. Minutes later, he passed a 25-year-old woman who was entering the station, and he poured the cup of urine on her head, face, mouth, and purse, prosecutors said.

"You deserve it," he allegedly told the woman.

His defense attorney said he has mental health conditions.

Prosecutors charged him with attempted kidnapping by force and two counts of aggravated battery in a public place.

Judge Ahmad, the same judge who released him on his own recognizance for failing to register as a sex offender Saturday, was back on the bench Sept. 28. She wasn't nearly as generous in her ruling.

She ordered Ewing to pay a $50,000 bail deposit to get out of jail on the kidnapping and battery charges, plus another $10,000 deposit for failing to register.

In addition to giving Ewing a recognizance bond on the felony registration charge, Ahmad also quashed another judge's arrest warrant that should have held Ewing in lieu of $1,500 on an outstanding battery case.

Ewing's sex offender status stems from an incident in the summer of 2017. He was charged with criminal sexual abuse and other crimes for allegedly grabbing women as they walked in the South Loop. Court records show that he got a three-year sentence for sexual abuse and another two years for aggravated battery.

The outstanding warrant that Ahmad quashed stems from an incident outside the Cook County jail in March 2020. In that case, he was charged with three counts of misdemeanor battery and two counts of criminal damage to property, according to court records.

He was released on his own recognizance less than six hours later.

And records show that, less than 11 hours after getting out, he was arrested again on felony charges of aggravated battery of a nurse and aggravated battery of a peace officer. He received a set of concurrent three-year terms after pleading guilty, according to court records, and was released earlier this month.

According to court records, Ewing was released from prison on Sept. 2 after serving a set of concurrent three-year prison sentences in that case.

for a traffic violation—and there was a spent shell casing on his passenger seat.

The shooting occurred just after midnight in the 1000 block of W. Calta.

Officials said that a 39-year-old security guard who works in the neighborhood was crossing the street when Matthew Cobbins, 36, pulled up to the crosswalk and almost struck him.

The guard made eye contact with Cobbins, then continued through the crosswalk. But Cobbins pulled out a gun and fired three rounds toward the victim, striking him once in the lower left leg, prosecutor Lisa Sterba said Sunday.

As Cobbins sped away in his BMW, the guard returned to work and called for help. Chicago police radioed a description of the car after meeting with the victim.

Coincidentally, other officers had just stopped Cobbins for a traffic violation nearby. Sterba said that they detained him and recovered a gun from under his driver's seat and a shell casing from the passenger seat.

Testlinked the gun to the shell casings police found at the shooting scene, she said. Cobbins had a concealed carry license and a license to own firearms in Illinois, but they are suspended because he has an order of protection against him.

Cobbins' public defender questioned the ability of police to conduct a firearms test within 48 hours of a shooting, particularly on the weekend. She said he has a master's degree in human resources development and works at the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services Asylum Office.

Prosecutors charged him with aggravated battery by discharging a

$862,500 watch heist from Gold Coast car dealership ends with 3-year prison sentence

BY CWBCHICAGO

It's prison time for one of the men who stole $862,500 worth of luxury watches from a downtown Chicago car dealership last December.

The heist made headlines as Joe Perillo, one of the dealership's owners, slammed the crime-fighting policies of Chicago Mayor Lori Lightfoot and Cook County State's Attorney Kim Foxx in media interviews.

Lightfoot would visit Perillo personally within days, only to call him an "idiot" as she stormed out when the meeting soured, we reported at the time. A day or two later, a city inspector visited the dealership and unleashed a torrent of violations that the mayor's office said was in response to an anonymous complaint.

Carlos Valliant, 29, pleaded guilty to one count of burglary in exchange for a three-year sentence from Judge Angela Munari-Petronne, according to court records. Prosecutors dropped a charge of theft of between $500,000 and $1 million.

Valliant, whose sentence will be reduced by 50% for good behavior, is scheduled to be paroled on July 20, 2023.

Prosecutors said Valliant stood lookout at the door while an accomplice who has never been charged broke the glass on a jewelry display in the showroom at Gold Coast Exotic Motor Cars, 834 N. Rush, in the Gold Coast.

The guy who broke into the cases ran outside with the watches and sped away in a Maserati that he left idling curbside. Valliant found himself abandoned and being chased by armed employees of the dealership, prosecutors said.

Detectives painstakingly pieced together a string of public and private surveillance videos that allegedly tracked Valliant from the dealership to the Loop, where he borrowed a stranger's phone to make a couple of calls on the corner of State and Monroe.

Cops identified the stranger, searched his phone, and identified the phone numbers Valliant called, prosecutors said. One of those numbers was in Hammond, Indiana, where local cops knew Valliant from previous contact.

Paperwork accompanying the phone search warrant said the watches were stolen from B. Young & Company Exquisite Jewels and Timepieces, a firm operating within the car dealership. According to the criminal complaint, the thieves took a Richard Mille RM 11-03, a Richard Mille RM 11-01, a Patek Philippe 5712R, a Rolex Skydweller, and a Hublot rose gold all-diamond baguette. Mahoney said one of the Richard Mille watches was worth $450,000 and the other retailed for $240,000. The Rolex was the least valuable of the lot at $55,000.

A catalytic converter theft crew was caught on video as they worked in Avondale Wednesday.

Video shows brazen catalytic converter crew working in broad daylight

BY CWBCHICAGO

A theft crew seemed to not have a care in the world as they sawed the catalytic converter off of a car in Chicago on Sept. 28. The sun was shining brightly, and they didn't seem to mind when a passerby stopped to record them in action.

"Guys, are you f*cking kidding me?" the witness asks after the deafening sound of an electric saw finally allows him to be heard.

The man was with a woman who later shared the video online, but she asked us not to identify her.

"We approached them and told them it is our neighbor's car (it's not)... quite frankly, they didn't care," the woman said. "They slowly packed up and threatened us. I called 911, and they just asked about the type of car, and no other info. Really no help."

Chicago police later met with the couple, she said.

The crew's getaway car was stolen Sunday in Edgewater, according to Chicago police records.

Cops in Chicago have warned the public not to confront catalytic converter theft teams because many of them are armed. One such group was captured on video last month.

Over the last year, several victims and witnesses have been shot when they intervened.

The theft teams have proven difficult to apprehend because they act quickly and sometimes listen in on local police radio traffic.

The theft teams have proven difficult to apprehend because they act quickly and sometimes listen in on local police radio traffic.

On a positive note, however, the Cook County State's Attorney's Office, which has consistently charged alleged catalytic converter thieves with misdemeanors, recently began filing felony possessing a stolen motor vehicle charges instead. Under Illinois law, stealing an essential part of a car is just as bad as stealing the whole car.

These individuals include current and former students, faculty, staff, donors, and friends who have impacted the university and its greater community by embodying DePaul's mission. Bravo to you all.

Dempsey has been deeply involved with DePaul Univ. ever since she graduated from their College of Law in 1982. She was the first woman to serve as the chair of the DePaul Univ. Board of Trustees, which she continues to be a member of. Dempsey and Philip H. Corboy, her late husband, donated to scholarship funds for students at the College of Law and jazz hall, the latter of which was named after the two of them. Most recently, she has been serving as the President of DePaul College Prep, the Vincentian Catholic high school at Rockwell and the Chicago River that has partnered academically with DePaul Univ.

In a released statement, the school says they are grateful for her leadership "and her work with DePaul Prep and their academic partner, DePaul University."

"I never do anything with the idea that there will be any kind of acknowledgment of it, I just do it because it's the right thing to do," says Dempsey... "I am flattered to be in that group [of 125]."

Lincoln Park Zoo scientists ratting out rats in the city

BY
KRISTEN LEWIS RENNER

"Come out and take it, you dirty yellow-bellied rat or I'll give it to ya through the door!"
— James Cagney, "Taxi", 1931

A group of Lincoln Park Zoo researchers is studying the ecology and health of Chicago's rat population to help prevent human-wildlife conflict as well as public health risks from rat infestations.

Brown rats (Rattus norvegicus), also known as Norway Rats, are thought to be the most prolific urban wildlife species in the world. The name is rather misleading as this species originated in Asia centuries ago.

Norway rats prefer to live in burrows in the ground. They are excellent climbers and swimmers and most active at night. They have very hard teeth and can chew through wood and plaster or any other material that is softer than their teeth. They can crawl through holes the size of a quarter, tread water for three days and land unharmed after a five-story fall.

Rats reside on every continent except Antarctica (too cold) and thrive in cities like Chicago (not cold enough), living underground, in buildings and sewers. Rats can destroy property by chewing pipes and wires, and also carry many diseases shared with people. Pest management experts spend billions of dollars annually to manage rats in the U.S. alone in an effort to mitigate their damage.

And like Ohio State, Alabama, and Georgia football, Chicago is annually rated in the Top Five list each year for the worst rat infestations nationwide. We're good at rats, something to be proud of.

Researchers at the zoo's Urban Wildlife Institute and Davee

Center for Epidemiology believe that a better understanding of urban rat ecology will help address these issues, which is especially important in Chicago, as rat complaints are soaring and increasing over time.

Chicagoans make many rat complaints, however they are not distributed evenly across the city. According to zoo research, neighborhoods with the highest number of complaints and more rats tend to have more renters, and less vacant land.

By partnering with Landmark Pest Management, researchers can measure the abundance of rats by recording the number of rats the business catches per night. Therefore, by using these relationships, they can predict where rats should be most abundant across the city.

The rodents thrive in areas with supplemental food from garbage and where clutter, also known as harborage, provides both shelter and cover. The researchers record these habitat features in alleys that are likely to attract rats. The results (no surprise here): alleys with more loose garbage tend to have more rats.

Rat attractants are associated with human food, including the number of restaurants and the

Breaking the 'Japantown' stereotype in Chicago, circa 1865–1940

Japanese American urban history seminar
Oct. 13 at History Museum

Many may think of the Japanese as similar to other immigrant communities, as being so group-oriented that they would naturally form Japantowns, enclaves for Japanese immigrants in US cities.

Yet, unlike their counterparts on the West Coast who were subject to strong racism, the Japanese in Chicago felt free to live where they chose, based on their own sense of individuality and self-identity.

Takako and Michael Day, volunteers to the Japanese American Service Committee in Uptown, will speak at the Chicago History Museum 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 13, hoping to dispel some stereotypes.

Guests will learn about the many and varied lives of Japanese immigrants, as well as their families and their professions, who throughout Chicago history, brought a new aspect of Japanese American history in the United States.

According to reporting in the San Francisco Chronicle, to tell the story of Japantown in America is to tell a tale of almost constant crisis. The term "Japantown" was born from the crisis left by the great San Francisco earthquake and fire of 1906. As one of the few districts to survive the devastation, the Western Addition area of San Francisco suddenly found its once quiet, middle-class community crammed with most of the city's displaced residents.

Japanese Americans were among those who sought refuge there.

As the years passed, White San Franciscans moved out of the neighborhood or rebuilt homes elsewhere. But Japanese migrants and their children were hemmed in by virulent racist violence, racially restrictive housing covenants, and zoning laws specifically written to "keep the Japanese population where it is."

Like all Asian migrants at the time, Japanese were prohibited from naturalization by the Supreme Court decision Ozawa vs. United States (1922). Without citizenship, they lacked a political voice to protect their interests. Thus was the origins of, as it was called at the time, "Nihonjinmachi (Japanese People Town)," "Japanesetown," or "Japtown."

World War II, however, upended life in Japantown. The immediate aftermath of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor was that gawkers flocked to the neighborhood and FBI agents rounded up hundreds of "suspect" Japanese men. By May 20, 1942, all Japanese Americans except those too number of garbage complaints, were important correlates of counting rat complaints; garbage complaints were also negatively correlated with the probability of rat sightings. Previous work at a larger community area in Chicago also found that uncontained garbage was strongly associated with rat abundance and complaints.

The rat has an average life span of six to 12 months. Beginning at the age of two to three months, a female rat can produce four to seven litters per year with each litter containing eight to 12 pups. Females can become impregnated within 48 hours after giving birth. The number, size and survivability of litters produced depends upon the amount of food and shelter available.

According to city records, on the North Side, the areas with the most rat complaints in 2021 were West Ridge, Wrigleyville, Lake View, Old Town and Logan Square. Of course rats must be observed by people in order for a complaint to be made, so it is predicted that complaints would be higher where there are more people to see rats or where rats are disturbed by construction.

The National Science Foundation has funded a second phase of the project which will investigate how rat infestations affect residents’ health, attitudes, and behaviors, and how rodent control impacts rat population ecology and disease ecology.

Researchers are using anonymous surveys and confidential interviews in communities across Chicago to collect rodent control behaviors. Together with Landmark Pest Management, they are engaging with community scientists to capture rats on their properties. The data will assist them in connecting rat infestations with survey responses and identify any public health concerns.

Man is shot and killed during argument outside Seward Park

A man was shot and killed outside Seward Park on the Near North Side Oct. 2, according to Chicago police. He is the second person to be shot in or near the park since mid-September.

Police said the victim, 38, was on the sidewalk in the 300 block of W. Division when someone pulled out a gun and shot him repeatedly around 5:22 a.m. Witnesses said a small group of people had been arguing before the shooting.

EMS took the victim to Northwestern Memorial Hospital, where he died.

Police did not release any description information about the gunman.

The victim is the 50th person shot in the Near North Community area this year, according to city records.

Man fatally shot by police following a street stop in Old Town

A Chicago police officer shot a man who ran away during a street stop in Old Town on Oct. 2, according to CPD radio transmissions.

The man, whose identity is not yet known, died. He is believed to be in his mid-20s. CPD spokesperson Tom Ahern released a photo of a gun that he said belonged to the deceased man. He did not say if the man displayed or fired the gun. Ahern also confirmed that the man died.

Chicago Police Supt. David Brown said a citizen contacted officers on the street and said someone had pointed a gun at him. The officers located a suspect, but the suspect ran away. Officer searched the area, found the man again, and that is when the shooting occurred, Brown said.

According to Brown, police found shell casings at the scene that did not match the officer’s ammunition, but he did not say if the casings came from the deceased man’s weapon or if the deceased man fired any shots.

In a written statement, CPD said officers “were conducting an investigation of a man with a gun in the 400 block of W. Blackhawk St. While touring the location, Officers encountered the armed offender at which time shots were fired and the offender was struck. The offender was pronounced on scene and a weapon was recovered. One Officer was transported to an area hospital for observation.”

Ahern said no police officers were injured during the incident.

According to police radio transmissions archived by CrimelsDown.com, an officer radioed that he was conducting a street stop near Evergreen and Hudson around 5:02 a.m. Then, just over two minutes later, the officer radioed that they were chasing a person with a gun at Hudson and Blackhawk.

Moments later, the police radio dispatcher declared a police emergency with “shots fired by the police... offender down.”

“Roll EMS, squad. Roll EMS,” the officer radioed, giving an address in an alley behind the 400 block of W. Blackhawk.

Three men are shot, one fatally, during possible narcotics-related robbery

Three people were shot, one fatally, during a possible narcotics-related robbery inside a South Loop apartment on Oct. 1, Chicago police said.

A woman called 911 around 11:40 a.m. to report that a robbery was in progress at an address in the 2000 block of S. Michigan. Within minutes, other callers reported shots fired at the same address.

Police forced their way into an apartment and found a 30-year-old man with a gunshot wound to his head. He was pronounced dead at Northwestern Memorial Hospital. Officers discovered a weapon and shell casings at the scene.

Another man, age 23, walked into Insignt Hospital around 12:20 p.m. with a gunshot wound to his leg, according to police.

‘JAPANTOWN’ from p. 11

ill to safely move were expelled from the city. By October, most were moved behind barbed wire and armed guards at incarceration camps in Utah.

After the war, some Japanese resettled in other parts of the country, but many survivors eventually returned to find a neighborhood fundamentally changed. The vacancies left by Japanese Americans had filled quickly, especially by segregated Black defense workers seeking well-paid jobs and respite from Jim Crow in the Bay Area's defense industry.

The "Japanese area became San Francisco's Harlem in a matter of months," said poet and former San Franciscan Maya Angelou.

Japanese Americans returning from incarceration thus joined a thriving Black community. And it stayed that way for years. In 1950, Japanese Americans made up less than 16% of Japantown's population.

Despite vigorous challenges to a city-imposed redevelopment program, 27 blocks of Japantown formerly housing over 6,000 people were largely demolished by the late 1950s. A second redevelopment program destroyed much of another 62 blocks with 13,000 residents over the following decades.

Even as the Japanese American population grew to almost 12,000 in San Francisco, "renewal" decimated their numbers in Japantown to less than 2,000 by 1970.

For low-income residents, reported the Chronicle, vulnerable shop owners and the Japanese American activists in the late 1960s and 1970s, the transformation from ethnic community to tourist economy carried a dreadful foreboding: a community dependent on the performance of a particularly palatable version of Japanese culture - one that could accommodate little heterogeneity and would be forever dependent on visitors' dollars and expectations.

This compromise, negotiated in a constricted set of options, has maintained San Francisco's Japantown as one of only three remaining Japantowns in the United States — out of what had been dozens. Its inherent vulnerability remains all-too apparent to those who know its history.

The Urban History Seminar series feature a scholarly presentation followed by lively discussion. Takako Day is an independent researcher, and Michael Day is Professor of English and Director of the First-Year Composition Program at Northern Illinois Univ. Their presentation is titled "Breaking the Japantown Stereotype: Who Were the Japanese and Japanese Americans in Chicago 1865–1940?"

The Zoom session will open at 6:45 p.m. with the program concluding by 8:15 p.m. An RSVP is required.

This session is free of charge, for a reservation visit www.chicagohistory.org/event/uhs-10-13/.

Armed robbers shoot man, go on cross-city robbery spree

An armed robbery crew shot a man during a carjacking attempt on the West Side, then went on a cross-city crime spree that left at least 15 victims in their wake Oct. 3, according to Chicago police. The same group committed five robberies on the north and near west sides last week, according to CPD.

The group is made up of four men who carry multiple handguns and confront people on the street and in cars. In addition to shooting one victim last night, they pistol-whipped several others, according to a community alert issued by Chicago police.

Around 1 a.m., the crime spree began at a gas station in the 200 block of N. Western. According to police, a 46-year-old man was sitting in his vehicle when a car pulled in front of him and three men jumped out, demanding his car. Police said they shot the man in the groin and right thigh after he refused to cooperate. The victim is doing well at Stroger Hospital.

Then, the group committed a string of robberies over the next two hours, according to CPD. Police reports say the crew stole a 2020 Lexus from the 1500 block of W. 33rd St. They then used the vehicle as their getaway car as they committed hold-ups; they robbed a woman at gunpoint of her keys, purse, and headphones on Goose Island in the 1100 block of Hooker around 1:40 a.m.; robbed two taxi drivers in the 1400 and 1500 blocks of N. Larrabee around 1:50 a.m. The group beat one of the victims with a handgun; robbed two men at gunpoint outside a condo building in the 300 block of W. Hubbard at 2 a.m. They got away with a luxury watch

This legal notice includes a list of properties of real estate on which 2020 property taxes (due in 2021) are delinquent and subject to sale as of September 13, 2022.

NOTE: This list may include some properties on which the taxes were paid after the list's preparation on September 13, 2022. It is the property owner's responsibility to verify the current status of payment. This list does not include all the properties in Cook County that are delinquent and subject to sale. For a complete listing of the properties in your neighborhood that are subject to sale, please visit www.cookcountytreasurer.com.

Under Illinois law, the Cook County Treasurer's Office must offer properties having delinquent real estate taxes and special assessments for sale. IF YOUR PROPERTY IS LISTED IN THIS NOTICE FOR SALE OF DELINQUENT REAL ESTATE TAXES, IT IS IMPORTANT FOR YOU TO TAKE ACTION SO THAT YOUR TAXES ARE NOT SOLD. The tax sale is scheduled to begin TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 2022. The sale of taxes will result in a lien against the property that will add, at a minimum, hundreds of dollars in fees to the amount currently due. Sale of the tax and continued failure by the owner to redeem (pay) may result in the owner's loss of legal title to the property.

Prior to sale, delinquent taxes may be paid online from your bank account or credit card by visiting cookcountytreasurer.com. Personal, company, and business checks will be accepted only through October 27, 2022. After October 27, 2022, all payments must be made by certified check, cashier's check, money order, cash, or credit card. Please note that under Illinois law, the Treasurer's Office cannot accept payments of delinquent taxes tendered after the close of the business day immediately preceding the date on which such taxes are to be offered for sale. For questions about submitting a payment or to verify the precise delinquent amount, you may contact the Cook County Treasurer's Office by phone at (312) 443-5100 or by e-mail through our website at www.cookcountytreasurer.com (click on "CONTACT US BY EMAIL").

COUNTY OF COOK,

NOTICE is hereby given that the said Collector of Cook County, Illinois, will apply to the County Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois on Friday, October 21, 2022, for judgment against all lands and lots, hereinafter described as being delinquent, upon which taxes (together with any accrued interest and costs) remain due and unpaid, for an order for sale of said lands and lots for satisfaction thereof, fixing the correct amount due. Final entry of said order will be sought on Wednesday, November 9, 2022.

NOTICE is further given that beginning on the 15th day of November, 2022, A.D., at the hour of 8:30 A.M., all said lands and lots, hereinafter described for sale for which an order shall be made, or has been made and not executed as noted, will be subject to pub-

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Cook County Annual Tax Sale Notice to Property Owners, Annual Tax Sale Schedule, and Delinquent Real Estate Tax List

This legal notice includes a list of properties of real estate on which 2020 property taxes (due in 2021) are delinquent and subject to sale as of September 13, 2022.

NOTE: This list may include some properties on which the taxes were paid after the list's preparation on September 13, 2022. It is the property owner's responsibility to verify the current status of payment. This list does not include all the properties in Cook County that are delinquent and subject to sale. For a complete listing of the properties in your neighborhood that are subject to sale, please visit www.cookcountytreasurer.com.

Under Illinois law, the Cook County Treasurer's Office must offer properties having delinquent real estate taxes and special assessments for sale. IF YOUR PROPERTY IS LISTED IN THIS NOTICE FOR SALE OF DELINQUENT REAL ESTATE TAXES, IT IS IMPORTANT FOR YOU TO TAKE ACTION SO THAT YOUR TAXES ARE NOT SOLD. The tax sale is scheduled to begin TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 2022. The sale of taxes will result in a lien against the property that will add, at a minimum, hundreds of dollars in fees to the amount currently due. Sale of the tax and continued failure by the owner to redeem (pay) may result in the owner's loss of legal title to the property.

Prior to sale, delinquent taxes may be paid online from your bank account or credit card by visiting cookcountytreasurer.com. Personal, company, and business checks will be accepted only through October 27, 2022. After October 27, 2022, all payments must be made by certified check, cashier's check, money order, cash, or credit card. Please note that under Illinois law, the Treasurer's Office cannot accept payments of delinquent taxes tendered after the close of the business day immediately preceding the date on which such taxes are to be offered for sale. For questions about submitting a payment or to verify the precise delinquent amount, you may contact the Cook County Treasurer's Office by phone at (312) 443-5100 or by e-mail through our website at www.cookcountytreasurer.com (click on "CONTACT US BY EMAIL").

COOK COUNTY DELINQUENT REAL ESTATE TAX LIST

OFFICE OF THE TREASURER
AND EX-OFFICIO COLLECTOR
OF COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS.

Advertisement and Notice by Collector of Cook County of Application for Judgment and Order of Sale of Delinquent Lands and Lots for General Taxes for the years indicated, for order of sales thereof, as provided by law.

COUNTY OF COOK,
STATE OF ILLINOIS
October 5-6, 2022

NOTICE is hereby given that the said Collector of Cook County, Illinois, will apply to the County Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois on Friday, October 21, 2022, for judgment against all lands and lots, hereinafter described as being delinquent, upon which taxes (together with any accrued interest and costs) remain due and unpaid, for an order for sale of said lands and lots for satisfaction thereof, fixing the correct amount due. Final entry of said order will be sought on Wednesday, November 9, 2022.

NOTICE is further given that beginning on the 15th day of November, 2022, A.D., at the hour of 8:30 A.M., all said lands and lots, hereinafter described for sale for which an order shall be made, or has been made and not executed as noted, will be subject to public sale at 118 N. Clark St, Room 112 (Randolph Street entrance), in Chicago, Illinois, for the amount of taxes, interest and costs due thereon, respectively.

The following is a list of the delinquent properties in Cook County upon which the taxes or any part thereof for the 2020 tax year remain due and unpaid; the name(s) of the owners, if known; the property location; the total amount due on 2020 tax warrants (excluding delinquent special assessments separately advertised); and the year or years for which the taxes are due.

In lieu of legal description, each parcel of land or lot is designated by a property index number (PIN). Comparison of the 14-digit PIN with the legal description of any parcel may be made by referring to the cross-indexes in the various Cook County offices.

The Cook County Collector does not guarantee the accuracy of common street addresses or property classification codes at the time of sale. Tax buyers should verify all common street addresses, PINs, classifications, and ownership by personal inspection and investigation of said properties and legal descriptions prior to purchasing general taxes offered at the sale.

NO TAX BUYER WILL BE PERMITTED TO OBTAIN A TAX DEED WITH RESPECT TO ANY PROPERTY OWNED BY A TAXING DISTRICT OR OTHER UNIT OF GOVERNMENT. WHEN AN ORDER TO VACATE THE TAX SALE OF ANY SUCH PROPERTY IS ENTERED, THE FINAL RESULT MAY BE A REFUND WITHOUT INTEREST.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Cook County Annual Tax Sale Notice to Property Owners, Annual Tax Sale Schedule, and Delinquent Real Estate Tax List

This legal notice includes a list of properties of real estate on which 2020 property taxes (due in 2021) are delinquent and subject to sale as of September 13, 2022.

NOTE: This list may include some properties on which the taxes were paid after the list's preparation on September 13, 2022. It is the property owner's responsibility to verify the current status of payment. This list does not include all the properties in Cook County that are delinquent and subject to sale. For a complete listing of the properties in your neighborhood that are subject to sale, please visit www.cookcountytreasurer.com.

Under Illinois law, the Cook County Treasurer's Office must offer properties having delinquent real estate taxes and special assessments for sale. IF YOUR PROPERTY IS LISTED IN THIS NOTICE FOR SALE OF DELINQUENT REAL ESTATE TAXES, IT IS IMPORTANT FOR YOU TO TAKE ACTION SO THAT YOUR TAXES ARE NOT SOLD. The tax sale is scheduled to begin TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 2022. The sale of taxes will result in a lien against the property that will add, at a minimum, hundreds of dollars in fees to the amount currently due. Sale of the tax and continued failure by the owner to redeem (pay) may result in the owner's loss of legal title to the property.

Prior to sale, delinquent taxes may be paid online from your bank account or credit card by visiting cookcountytreasurer.com. Personal, company, and business checks will be accepted only through October 27, 2022. After October 27, 2022, all payments must be made by certified check, cashier's check, money order, cash, or credit card. Please note that under Illinois law, the Treasurer's Office cannot accept payments of delinquent taxes tendered after the close of the business day immediately preceding the date on which such taxes are to be offered for sale. For questions about submitting a payment or to verify the precise delinquent amount, you may contact the Cook County Treasurer's Office by phone at (312) 443-5100 or by e-mail through our website at www.cookcountytreasurer.com (click on "CONTACT US BY EMAIL").

COOK COUNTY DELINQUENT REAL ESTATE TAX LIST

OFFICE OF THE TREASURER
AND EX-OFFICIO COLLECTOR
OF COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS.

Advertisement and Notice by Collector of Cook County of Application for Judgment and Order of Sale of Delinquent Lands and Lots for General Taxes for the years indicated, for order of sales thereof, as provided by law.

COUNTY OF COOK,
STATE OF ILLINOIS
October 5-6, 2022

NOTICE is hereby given that the said Collector of Cook County, Illinois, will apply to the County Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois on Friday, October 21, 2022, for judgment against all lands and lots, hereinafter described as being delinquent, upon which taxes (together with any accrued interest and costs) remain due and unpaid, for an order for sale of said lands and lots for satisfaction thereof, fixing the correct amount due. Final entry of said order will be sought on Wednesday, November 9, 2022.

NOTICE is further given that beginning on the 15th day of November, 2022, A.D., at the hour of 8:30 A.M., all said lands and lots, hereinafter described for sale for which an order shall be made, or has been made and not executed as noted, will be subject to public sale at 118 N. Clark St, Room 112 (Randolph Street entrance), in Chicago, Illinois, for the amount of taxes, interest and costs due thereon, respectively.

The following is a list of the delinquent properties in Cook County upon which the taxes or any part thereof for the 2020 tax year remain due and unpaid; the name(s) of the owners, if known; the property location; the total amount due on 2020 tax warrants (excluding delinquent special assessments separately advertised); and the year or years for which the taxes are due.

In lieu of legal description, each parcel of land or lot is designated by a property index number (PIN). Comparison of the 14-digit PIN with the legal description of any parcel may be made by referring to the cross-indexes in the various Cook County offices.

The Cook County Collector does not guarantee the accuracy of common street addresses or property classification codes at the time of sale. Tax buyers should verify all common street addresses, PINs, classifications, and ownership by personal inspection and investigation of said properties and legal descriptions prior to purchasing general taxes offered at the sale.

NO TAX BUYER WILL BE PERMITTED TO OBTAIN A TAX DEED WITH RESPECT TO ANY PROPERTY OWNED BY A TAXING DISTRICT OR OTHER UNIT OF GOVERNMENT. WHEN AN ORDER TO VACATE THE TAX SALE OF ANY SUCH PROPERTY IS ENTERED, THE FINAL RESULT MAY BE A REFUND WITHOUT INTEREST.

based The Community Builders [TCB] for $6. No that is not a typo. A nearly $5 million piece of property given away for only $6.

That commission also awarded $8 million in Tax-Increment Financing [TIF] to Dziekiewicz and TCB to build a six-story apartment building. This property will now include 65 apartments, 4,995 square feet of ground floor commercial space and 18 public parking spaces. Additionally, they also got federal Low Income Housing Tax Credits that were leveraged for almost $14 million. Estimates are that the two firms will only have to put about $8 million of their own funds at risk for what may turn out to be a $35 to $40 million building.

Should they choose to do so, the two development partners could put the property up for sale the day they cut the ribbon, and cash out with well over $20 million in pure profit.

While Dziekiewicz has long been named as the project architect and has participated in virtual meetings about the future apartment building, his status as co-developer only became known at the Community Development Meeting during which his Boar

Company was described as TCBs' co-developer. Dziekiewicz also serves on Mayor Lori Lightfoot's Building Decarbonization Working Group, which is tasked with getting the city of Chicago to comply with the 2015 United Nations climate accords.

As a for-profit entity, Dziekiewicz's Boar Company can take advantage of the many tax-incentives available. Dziekiewicz's architectural firm, Design Bridge, and The Boar Company, list their address as 1415 W. Grand Ave.

The city's Commission on Landmarks is a blue-ribbon panel of the city's Dept. of Planning and Development headed by Cmsr. Maurice Cox. Marisa Novara, the Commissioner of Housing, and Cox had earlier this year met privately with Ald. Matt Martin [47th] to let him know they could not support TCB's proposal, which had included first floor commercial space, a parking lot entrance on Western Ave., and 50 parking spaces. All those items were not negotiable, they had told Martin.

In fact, housing officials say they told Martin for months that public parking spaces were a no-go, and accused him of continuing to mislead the area residents about the loss of parking. While he long knew the city was against the parking, he never bothered to warn his constituents.

At the time, Novara told Martin she could not use low-income housing tax credits to build parking spaces and commercial spaces. Also, Western Ave. had only recently been designated as a Pedestrian Oriented Street by the city of Chicago and those do not allow sidewalk cut-outs which decrease walkability.

Now, six months later, the two commissioners seemed to have flipped 180-degrees, and rolled over on those points of contention. They even gave them more than they were asking for. Five stories became six, 51 units became 65, non commercial became more commercial, and no parking spots became 18 public parking spots.

The fate of the site has been a hot topic in Lincoln Square ever since Ald. Martin first discussed the plan with members of The Heart Of Lincoln Square, a neighborhood political organization he helped to found. Shortly after that meeting, a city employee leaked the details to this newspaper.

In time, about 3,600 Lincoln Square area residents signed a petition opposing the plan.

And the surprising details over this insider's sweetheart deal kept coming for several years. Most recently that Dziekiewicz was just identified as part of this development team in late September.

Taxpayers will also be forced to pay the city's parking meter management company - LAZ Parking Chicago, LLC - to replace lost revenue from the parking lot as Dziekiewicz and TCB will assume operation of public parking. The value of those parking spots over the life of the 66-years left on the lease is likely tens of millions of dollars.

The parking lot provides parking for the shops, restaurants, and cultural institutions of Lincoln Square. It also serves as a key component for the city's annual German Day, Maifest and fall Applefest celebrations.

fic, noting it's hard to predict and difficult to regulate, because rideshares and charters don't coordinate their trips with the City.

The study also does not provide accurate projections for rideshare trips or charters, which is likely how many visitors will get to the casino.

"So, I'd love to see the list of cities and corresponding traffic data to those," said Ald. Brendan Reilly [42nd]. "In my 16 years as alderman, surprisingly, every single traffic study commissioned in support of a development project concludes traffic will not be negatively impacted."

"I fundamentally disagree with the assumptions made by the traffic consultant - from vastly low-balling the number of vehicular trips to the casino and vastly overestimating the number of people who will be dumb enough to take the CTA or walk to this casino with cash in their pockets."

Indeed, with the CTA perceived by its users as a poor bet these days due to the high risk of high crime and violence, it is doubtful many will make use of the CTA while coming and going from the casino.

Deborah Gershbein, president the Streeterville Organization of Active Residents [SOAR], told the Chicago Tribune that members were "very, very surprised" to learn of the temporary casino plans "because it is such a congested area already, and I just can't imagine how it would accommodate the additional traffic."

Even Bally's chairman Soo Kim said Medinah's lack of dedicated parking was one of its biggest challenges.

But the new study says that Kim shouldn't be concerned: "Based on the completed parking observations, there is adequate parking in the area to accommodate this demand," the report said.

Still the report is vague regarding recommended valet operations - suggesting valet operations will improve traffic conditions. But any urban dweller knows that valet services often make a bad situation much worse, with vehicles double and triple parked on city streets during busy periods.

Toss in the expected traffic backups when conventioners, tourists and other out-of-town visitors circling the area trying to find street and garage parking, while multiple rideshare drivers cruise at 10 MPH, or double park on streets awaiting pickups... or if a few giant tour buses arrive at the same time. It's not hard to imagine the area frequently stuck in severe critical mass, where every available stretch of roadway for blocks around is filled with running vehicles filled with frustrated drivers stuck in traffic, and the usual suspects of hungry hustlers, drug dealers, pimps, petty thieves and tourist predators circling the feast like vultures.

"If you can show me one valet in the City of Chicago that has ever improved traffic conditions at a particular location, I've got a bridge to sell you in Brooklyn," said Reilly.

The report also makes no attempt to evaluate vendor deliveries. Vendor trucks are a frequent fixture double parked in the middle of commercial streets, delivering food, liquor, beer and dry goods.

Evaluation of delivery and service loading docks are important to any new development or use - a standard section in every traffic study. Even ancillary restaurant and bar areas need to be delivered product. The ingress and egress calculations are missing from this report.

"As far as I'm concerned this study is seriously flawed, overly vague and clearly written for the sole purpose of concluding a casino will work at Medinah Temple" said Reilly. "Having read literally hundreds of traffic studies over the years, I can tell you this one is thin gruel and lacks the credibility that an independent analysis would've provided."

"Finally, true to form, [the Lightfoot Administration] has had this traffic study in their hands for the past two weeks and, for some reason, instructed Bally's not to share it with my office until last night - just hours before they released the study to the media. So much for transparency and working collaboratively with the City Council. Way to bring in that light, Mayor."

lets, or they may give a specific amount to one or more outlets. When they give to an individual outlet, those funds will be matched 2-1 during the first two days of the campaign, and 1-1 for the rest of the fundraiser, until matching funds are depleted.

"Another positive consequence of our campaign is the visibility and amplification of the work these outlets are producing," said Yazmin Dominguez, CIMA co-director. "A diversity of reporting is what should be demanded in a vibrant, diverse city like Chicago, and our coalition embodies that."

CIMA members serve Black and African American, Latinx, Asian American, immigrant, LGBTQ+, and other Chicago communities. And if you're reading this newspaper, we serve you too.

Independent media are particularly vulnerable to the changing media landscape that includes decreased advertising, yet their value as credible information sources continues to rise. Potential donors can learn more about all the CIMA outlets through the promotional campaign video, print, digital and social media assets they've produced.

The campaign was organized, and is coordinated by CIMA, a project launched in 2019 by the Chicago Reader. The 61 partners in the alliance include traditional print newspapers, independently produced podcasts, dynamic video production studios, and nonprofit newsrooms focusing on key issues that impact the fabric of the city. CIMA coordinates revenue projects to assist in strengthening the local media landscape. Questions about the campaign may be directed to cima@chicagoreader.com.
