Friends of North Branch Park slams city for rush to seal up Lincoln Yards deal

'Shocking density an insult'

A new group formed to help oversee the fate and future of the redevelopment of the North Branch of the Chicago River and protect the public's interest slammed city officials Monday over their rush to seal the deal up before Christmas.

For months, communities around the proposed Lincoln Yards on the North Branch of the Chicago River have demanded to see Sterling Bay's plans for the massive development. "Renderings posted on the website of RJ Models, a design vendor, reveal several Willis Tower-type structures and no public open space to balance the unprecedented density," stated a press release issued Monday.

The renderings, commissioned by Skidmore, Owings and Merrill were apparently posted months ago for 3D models of the site.

Tuesday Crain's reported that Sterling Bay's latest plans for the North Branch are showing a lower profile and a little less crowded

"It is just shocking to see developers trying to max out density on the backs of taxpayers. Clearly they want an $800 million Tax Increment Financing district [TIF] to support their enormous private profit," said Christina Granfield.

in hopes of winning over North Side residents. They report that the Chicago developer will reveal a revised proposal at a community meeting this week that cuts 100 stories of buildings out of the plan and increases open space by 56%.

Sterling Bay is set to present at the second public meeting called by Ald. Brian Hopkins [2nd] 6 p.m. Thursday, at Park Community Church, 1001 Crosby St.

Christina Granfield, Executive Director of Friends of North Branch Park, said "It is just shocking to see developers trying to max out density on the backs of taxpayers. Clearly they want an $800 million Tax Increment Financing district [TIF] to support their enormous private profit."

"Sterling Bay got away with vague outlines and glossy marketing at a public meeting held in July 2018. But they clearly had a plan enough to order a 3D model before that meeting," said Granfield.

"Mob Mile" strikes again: Swarm of teens beat, rob soldier near Michigan Ave.

BY CWBCHICAGO.COM

The Magnificent Mile's infamous teen mobs were out in force on Black Friday and police say one man who fell victim to the hordes is a U.S. Army soldier. A large group of teenagers that police shooed away from Water Tower Place on Friday afternoon wound up beating and robbing the military man inside the State-Chicago Red Line CTA station minutes later, according to police reports and CPD sources.

Police moved the group of teens away from Water Tower shortly after 2 p.m. on Black Friday. Less than 20 minutes later, police tactical teams assigned to the nearby "L" station reported that "a mob went into the subway and wound up robbing somebody."

That somebody was a 31-year-old soldier in the U.S. Army who was helping a woman exit the train, prosecutors said today. The mob argued with the soldier about being inconvenienced by his courtesy and then attacked, beat, and robbed him as he tried to walk up to street level. The soldier suffered swelling and bruising across his face and body, according to a police report.

Police arrested two adults and two juveniles at the scene.

Jimmy Williams and Vernon Reeves, both 18, are each charged with felony robbery and felony aggravated battery. Williams was ordered held in lieu of $50,000 bail. A judge set bail for Reeves was set at $100,000.

Prosecutors said Williams is on probation for crimes committed as a juvenile. Reeves is on probation for robbery and aggravated battery as a juvenile, according to prosecutors.

No information was immediately available about the two juveniles who were taken into custody.

Teen boys, possibly only 13, carjack Streeterville woman

Police arrested two teens late Wednesday after robbers crashed a stolen car into a garage in the 12200 block of S. Princeton in the West Pullman neighborhood, according to monitored police radio activity.

The two boys, possibly as young as 13-years-old, carjacked a woman in Streeterville Nov. 21, police said.

The victim, who lives on the Magnificent Mile, was with her car at the 680 N. Lake Shore Dr.

building's Erie St. entrance when the teens approached her around 12:40 p.m., police said.

One of the boys ordered her to, "give me your sh*t." The boy said he had a gun and was prepared to shoot her, the woman told police.

Taken was the woman's silver 2011 Mercedes-Benz C300.

The robbers were male, black, and between 13- and 15-years-old. One wore a black hoodie with red pants. The other wore a hoodie with jeans.

Would you pay $100K for a Bottled Blonde?

City says notorious restaurant can keep license while fight is on — with $100,000 bond

A notorious River North nightclub - disguised as a restaurant - has been given the right to hold onto their liquor license while they fight City Hall. But that is under the condition that they first put up a $100,000 bond.

Bottled Blonde, 504 N. Wells St., is fighting two orders of revocation from the city, which argued that patrons have peed and vomited near the establishment, leaving neighbors to wonder if the restaurant's food is all that good? Residents who live near the Bottled Blonde have complained to police and city officials for three years saying that the establishment doesn't take security seriously and they over-serve alcohol to patrons.

The conflict with the city is whether Bottled Blonde lied to city officials and residents over how they were going to operate the place. They described the place as an Italian restaurant. But when staff moves seating to make room for DJs and dancing, it feels more like a club with a focus on alcohol sales.

The River North restaurant and bar is currently fighting two city orders to revoke its liquor license. The city had hoped the Bottled Blonde wouldn't be able to operate with a liquor license as it appeals those decisions, but lawyers for the bar argued that would be a death sentence at a heated hearing Nov. 21. City officials started the disciplinary process in June 2017 after deeming the restaurant failed to adhere to a revised plan of operation.

The city brought dozens more charges against the business Nov. 20, after another round of hearings, and ordered the revocation of the restaurant's liquor license. But on Nov. 21 the restaurant was told it was allowed to keep operating as it appealed that decision.

Judge Neil Cohen sided with the nightclub, saying it could have a short stay and keep its liquor license — during the appeal. But he ordered the restaurant to put up a

Prepping for the aromas of the holidays

By Thomas J. O'Gorman

No other holiday fills the air with the robust fragrances of the season more than Christmas. Maybe it's the assemblage of food that is such a regular part of the celebrations. The gathering of family and friends is itself reason enough for all the cookies, cakes, puddings and special foods that make Christmas such a family centered occasion. It's these aromas that so antagonize me every year. Christmas is a feast for the nose, first and foremost.

There is no finer fragrance than the aroma of a fresh turkey, generously stuffed, roasting in the oven with lots of rosemary in the pan. Oven heat fogs up all the windows nearby. Wafting aromas of sage, onion and celery fragrant the atmosphere. Freshly baked scones add a buttery goodness to the sweet raisin rich air. Ev-everyone's favorite food is more than just a sign of family excess. It's a demonstration that the Nativity meal shared by the family belongs to all. Everyone owns a piece of it, from bold turkey hen to rum soaked cranberries with allspice, cardamon and grated nutmeg. This year fresh brandied cherries will be added, picked from a small wooden barrel in Ireland earlier this year.

In my head, layer by layer, the pungent menu for 10, for yet another Christmas, grows. When there is a lull, but-tery flake dinner rolls that I'm testing out have reached their ultimate "rising" and the dough is ready for the oven. They are timed, along with turkey necks and giblets percolating away, rendering a rich stock that serves as the center of French gravy enriched with sherry and some sweet dried apricots.

We hang on to a tradition in our house with blanched leather-green cabbage added to creamed potatoes laced with Irish butter, re-creating an 18th century recipe, a treasure called "colcannon." A chieftain's food that connects us today to centuries of celebrations on both sides of the Atlantic.

Haricot Vert, thin green beans, get cleaned, trimmed and blanched, and will be sautéed with unsalted Irish butter and chopped walnuts. In the huge French copper skillet these will become a magic dish, ripe for this holy season with a dusting of fresh thyme. Much as the small white onions will when caramelized, mixed with heavy cream, rosemary and a special golden Irish whiskey and fresh nutmeg.

But as the ovens do their job, by far it is the intoxicating fragrance of the "Swedish" stuffing that captivates the senses. Decades ago after an uncle married a young beauty of Swedish origin, the fortunes of our Irish tribe took a turn for the better and she consented to re-create her family recipe for an ancient Scandinavian bread stuffing for family feasts. Simple ingredients, but laborious production techniques. All ingredients are ground by hand and this method releases a powerful bouquet of herbs when ground and sautéed in butter. The onion goes in ground, as well, but last. Not sautéed or twice cooked like all the other aromatics. So its onion flavor is heavier, more profound. And it becomes the glue of our feast.

The turkey should be the largest "hen" you can find, usually under 20 pounds. After stuffing, it should have a thick rub down with Irish butter. And sea salt. Then covered in a generous supply of cheese cloth layers to keep the bird very moist. Just pour melted butter on the cheese cloth. Remove for the last hour, during which time the bird's skin will darken to a golden hue. And that's when the final layer of fragrance will burst onto the warm air of roasting throughout kitchen and dining area. Fill the roasting pan with small pears, roasting them in the pan drippings. Over-cook them. Dust with some cinnamon and sugar and all-spice. It will all turn to caramel. Let them over-cook and cool. Sugar and butter are magic in the oven.

I like the fragrance of Queen Anne Apples (golf ball size) too. Try oven roasting the apples with butter, granulated sugar, bay leaves, lots of brandy and some orange rind. Is there more room in the roaster? The more fruit, the better the dinner. Wash the first half of the dinner (up to the turkey) down with a great French Champagne. And then wash down the second half of dinner with the best Spanish red wine you can find.

When plating my own share of the feast I do a minimalist serving on a large china plate. Turkey (dark meat for me), stuffing, colcannon, gravy, a small pear, some apples, creamed onions, cranberries and crispy skin. Give yourself a quick grate of fresh nutmeg. You deserve it.

Christmas desserts should be focused, but fun. Have two tall cylinder-like chimney cakes. One chocolate with pink peppermint butter cream frosting. The other a red velvet with cream cheese. More of that great Champagne from earlier. Butter cookies are perfect. A traditional "Bûche Noël," and good pastry, lots of colorful "macarons," and you're in Paris.

We do (very stinky) Stilton cheese, with good biscuits (crackers) and grapes. Use apples and pears from dinner if there are some remaining. And some good port, a digestive aid.

By this time the whole house should be filled with fragrant layers of such delight that you will need to write poetry. So write.

Don't forget to read aloud Dylan Thomas' "A Child's Christmas in Wales," at some point when the dishes clear. If you have English guests get them to read in character. (I love impromptu theater.)

I have several musician guests who turn the "apres" dining into a French Cabaret. And celestial carols of the season from dear old Oxford. Christina Rossetti is our favorite. And Herr Bach holds pride of place as more freezing cold Champagne emerges. Favorite poems are recited and stories told. Some years we have eaten in my studio. This year I think we will turn the living room into the dining room filled with bushels of fragrant eucalyptus.

When your belly is filled and just the right amount of Champagne and wine has been consumed, and when the rich finale is sated, it's a sweet time for hugs and stories. One year we lit the wine corks and gave everyone a mustache. Some years we put on silly paper crowns from England. Other years we have all donned black velvet riding helmets, and straw boater hats, Scottish bonnets and Anglican caps. (I prefer good costume hats more than paper.)

The warmth and fragrance of the table is the lasting glue of the holy day. Christmas was my mother, Eileen's birthday, so we had that business too. So we kept going on forever. Sweet Irish tunes emerging and lullabying us all into the beauty of these days of a cherished season as sweet as Fanny Mae candies.

So long Nate, and thank you

Metro High founder helped city's 'Misfit' kids

On Nov. 17, this city lost a great and beloved man.

His name was Nathaniel "Nate" Blackman, and he not only saved my life, but also the lives of thousands of struggling young high school students in Chicago.

Nate, who died, was a founder of the Chicago Public High School for Metropolitan Studies, aka Metro. Metro was open from 1970 to 1991 and it was, "an incredible experiment in urban education," said Anne Sullivan, an Edgewater resident who was one of the school's first students.

Metro used Chicago as its classroom, and its ancillary classes were held outside of the school's downtown location. For example, Sullivan's improvisational theater class rehearsed with the cast of Second City, and she recalled how Aviation was taught at Midway Airport, and Constitutional Law at John Marshall. A fiction writing class was taught by the staff at "Playboy," and Animal Behavior at the Lion House at the Lincoln Park Zoo.

"We learned about class struggles at the Black Panther Headquarters and we were the only high school to have nude models in our figure drawing class at a North Side studio," said Sullivan. "When a huge number of students cut class to attend the Chicago Seven Trial a few blocks away, they made it a class. We learned that not only can you fight City Hall, you must!"

"Thank God for Nate and his assistant principal Lee Alo," continued Sullivan. "They saved my life. They handed me the keys to this fabulous city. I can never, never thank them enough."

There was so much that was unusual in a wonderful way at Metro, thanks to Nate's vision of what a school should be. We called our teachers by their first names. Students changed classes and got new ones every 10 weeks, and, we didn't have to sit at desks. I remember lying on the carpeted floor of my Technology class, learning more than I ever did sitting stuffed into a small desk. We had freedom at Metro, to make our own decisions, to pick our own classes, to learn things our way. Heck, I know no one else in this city besides those from my graduating class that can boast that their high school graduation was held at the old Comiskey Park!

There was nothing halfway that Nate (who always reminded me of a mod, cool black movie star) and Metro students did. We learned to give life -- and school -- our all. For me and countless other "Misfits," who didn't fit into mainstream high schools, Metro was a Godsend.

It was unlike any school that exists, said Paula Baron, an Edgewater resident who taught History at Metro from 1971 to when it was shut down by CPS in 1991. (A bad move if you ask me. So many kids would benefit from a school like Metro today).

"He made Metro... His personality and his attitude and his whole conception of working with both the teachers and the kids," said Baron, author of the 2012-published book, "Metro: Chicago Public High School for Metropolitan Studies, 1970-1991."

"He worked with the kids, listened to the kids, and was part of them," said Baron.

Nate was "the epitome of what a principal of a school should be," and literally saved many lives, said Blythe Olshan-Findley, who taught at Metro from 1971 to 1989, starting as a student teacher. He led with a calm, supportive manner that influenced all he encountered, said Olshan-Findley. He was passionate about his job and the people he worked with, including all the students and their parents, she said.

"Nate taught me what it meant to be a leader," said Olshan-Findley. "He was like a second father to me as I started teaching at Metro when I was 21."

"His compassion and patience were unmatched with any leader I came in touch with," added Olshan-Findley. "When I went to Harvard to study education I constantly wrote about Metro and its distinguished principal, Nate. He was one of a kind and I will never forget him."

Nate was a giant force in all of our lives, said Vince Waldron, a student who "never missed a single day" from the school's opening on Feb. 20, 1970, until his graduation in 1973.

"Each of our lives is much richer for having known him, so I suppose, in a way, Nate's warmth, humor, and integrity continue to live in all of us," said Waldron, a playwright, director and Emmy-Award winning writer living out in Los Angeles.

"To say that Metro was my home away from home is an understatement," continued Waldron. "It WAS my home and Nate was the paterfamilias of that lovely extended family."

Like Waldron and Sullivan, as well as the teachers, Nate forever changed my life too. He truly also saved it. He instilled confidence in us and made us feel as if we could accomplish anything we set our minds to. Thanks to Nate, so many of us who may not have graduated -- or lived through -- high school, are happy, well-adjusted adults today.

The following quote by a fellow Metro grad really sums Nate up well. "He knew how to include everyone and saw greatness in us all," said Shell Neal, who graduated in 1976.

On Nov. 30, Nate's family (who we send our deepest condolences to) has arranged for a public viewing between Noon and 5 p.m. at Cage Memorial Chapel, 7651 S. Jeffrey Blvd. On Dec. 1, there will be a 10 a.m. visitation followed by an 11 a.m. church service at St. Dorothy Catholic Church, 450 E. 78th St. The church service will be followed by a burial service at St. Mary Catholic Cemetery, W. 87th St. and Hamlin Ave., Evergreen Park.

Our city has lost an incredible educator and good friend. RIP Nate. You will always live on in the hearts of your students.

Happy retirement... to the very wise Judge Marvin P. Luckman, (yes, cousins with the famous Chicago Bear Sid Luckman) a Lakeview resident who will be retiring at the end of this month after 27-plus years on the bench. We hope Judge Luckman enjoys his retirement and goes out and has loads of fun.

Falalalala... it's the 25th anniversary of the North Dearborn Association's annual Joy of Toys Holiday Toy Drive!

If you're looking for some holiday cheer, look no further than this annual tradition, happening from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Saturday at Mario's Table, 21 W. Goethe St. The event

When is the best day of the year to buy a home?

The Home Front

By Don DeBat

With Chicago and America still recovering from a turkey and stuffing hangover, now is the time to analyze the state of the local and national housing market.

For home and condominium buying novices, here are a few well-known historical home-shopping facts:

- Realtors and builders say the home-buying market typically shuts down between Thanksgiving and Super Bowl Sunday.

- Nearly every seller wants to list their home for sale during the magical "spring market," when the weather is good, thousands of fresh home listings hit the market, and flocks of starry-eyed potential buyers are lining up.

- Families with school-age children are eager to buy and close no later than June or July because they want to have the kids enrolled for the fall term.

So, when is the best time to buy a home and get the best deal on price?

According to "10 Best Days to Buy a Home," a new study by ATTOM Data Solutions, buyers willing to close on a home purchase on the day after Christmas realize the biggest discounts below full market of any day in the year.

The study, which involved analysis of 18 million single-family home and condominium sales over the past five years, found 10 days of the year that allow buyers to pocket price discounts below estimated market value.

In addition to Dec. 26, when a buyer nationwide can expect a price 1.3% discount of $2,500 on the average home, six other best-buyer days also are in December. Those discounts range from 0.5% on Dec. 1 for a discount of $1,000 to 1% on Dec. 4 and 7 for discounts ranging from $1,823 to $2,000.

The other three best-price discount days are 0.5% on Oct. 12 ($1,000), 0.3% on Nov. 9 ($666), and 0.3% on Feb. 9 ($500).

December also is the best month to buy a home or condo in Chicago, ATTOM Data Solutions reported. Buyers here can expect a 6.2% price discount in the Windy City, which can amount to a price cut of $3,000 down to $195,000 on the average home listed for $198,000. Other good months for a hefty price discount in Chicago are January (5.6% price reduction), February (4.8% discount), and October (4.8% price mark down).

The worst month to buy is June, when sellers markup average prices 2.6%, the study found.

"Despite the survey findings, I still believe August is the best time for a Realtor to negotiate the sale of a home to a buyer," said veteran buyer broker Sara Benson, president of Chicago-based Benson Stanley Realty.

"August is the worst time of the year for a home seller," Benson said. "It's the hottest month of the year. There are fewer buyers shopping, everyone—Realtors, loan officers, and would-be purchasers—are on vacation. Families with children have already made their purchase decisions based on the school year. The pool of buyers shrinks in August."

A new study by ATTOM Data Solutions, show that buyers willing to close on a home purchase on the day after Christmas realize the biggest discounts below full market of any day in the year.

October rebound

Existing home sales in the Chicago-area housing market rebounded in October after a noticeable slump in September, reported RE/MAX Northern Illinois.

Total home sales in the seven-county metro area declined 0.4% in October to 8,896 units, down from 8,931 units in the same month last year. The market rebounded from a 10.9% sales drop in September. However, the number of homes selling for less than $200,000 declined 7.2% to 3,553 units in October, compared with the same month in 2017.

"Interest rates have been rising, and the buyers most impacted by that and by rising home prices are first-timers purchasing at the low end of the price spectrum," noted Jeff LaGrange, vice president of the RE/MAX Northern Illinois Region.

"We're seeing that play out in the current sales results," LaGrange said. "Meanwhile, the number of homes selling for $200,000 or more was up 3.8% in October, and sales of homes selling at $1 million or more climbed 14.5%."

The median October home, townhome, condominium and co-op sales price in the metro area was $230,850, up +3.1% from a year earlier. The average market time for units sold last month was 72 days, two days less than Oct. 2017.

Detached home sales in the metro area rose 0.5% to 5,649 units in October. The median sales price climbed 3.5% to $249,900, and average market time fell to 78 days this year from 82 days in Oct. 2017.

Home sales in the city of Chicago dipped 0.5% to 2,072 units in October compared with the same month a year ago. The sales total includes 901 single-family homes and 1,171 condos, co-ops and townhomes. The median sales price climbed 3.2% to $271,000.

Change is now a constant on 'densifying' Clybourn

Two new towers proposed for Webster Place

Perhaps no street on Chicago's North Side has seen more change in the last 20-30 years than Clybourn Ave. And it looks like the next 20 years will see change occur at a similar pace, this time on both sides of the Chicago River.

In the early 1980s Clybourn was a wasteland, a gritty industrial district where few outsiders ventured, save for motorists seeking a faster route to downtown Chicago. In those days there was so little traffic on Clybourn that muscle car aficionados used to close down the street to race cars free from fears over intersecting traffic.

As most locals now know, Clybourn is no longer a 'shortcut' to anywhere.

One site along Clybourn that saw dramatic change is about to see some more of it as the owners of Webster Place Mall - a site that prior to the 1980s used to house a commercial bakery - want to expand with two new large residential high-rise towers.

Hoping to capitalize on the coming $6 billion expansion of the Lincoln Yards development nearby, New York-based RPT Realty, which purchased the property in 2017 for $53 million, has announced plans for a new podium with two 20-story towers on sites just south of the shopping center, according to a report in Crain's Chicago last week. The expansion would include residential, office and retail space, as well as parking. Webster Place Mall, 1435-1471 W. Webster Ave., is next door to the first property. Clybourn-area neighbors should get used to the new term "densify" as they may be hearing it used a lot more in the coming years. Densifying is the concept of adding large amounts of new density onto an already developed retail parcel, as property owners move away from bricks and mortar retail and into more diverse income streams like apartments and hotels.

RPT reportedly has shown investors preliminary redevelopment plans that would reconfigure the 30-year-old shopping center at Webster and Clybourn avenues. The Barnes & Noble store now located there would close, making boom when there were 9,044 sales, a median price of $244,900 and an average market time of 94 days," LaGrange said.

Sales data used by RE/MAX is collected by Midwest Real Estate Data, the regional multiple listing service. It covers Cook, DuPage, Kane, Kendall, Lake, McHenry and Will counties.

ing room for an expansion of the movie theater complex that is already there.

The real estate investment trust has yet to file plans in City Hall for the project, and Crain's says it's unclear whether Ald. Brian Hopkins [2nd], whose ward includes the property, will endorse the redevelopment. RPT owns some of the land where it plans to put up the two new high-rise towers, currently using it for parking. But the project would also include neighboring parcels that it does not own, meaning RPT would have to acquire the properties or negotiate a joint venture deal with their owners.

Big residential project coming to Elston Ave.

The odd triangle-shaped lot at Webster and Elston avenues is about to see a dramatic change as a new three-building development proposed for a vacant lot gets underway.

It is the first large residential development going up along the traditionally industrial Elston Ave.

Developer Belgravia Group acquired the four-acre lot from Lincoln Park businessman Fred Eychaner of Topweb LLC. and is now preparing to launch sales efforts for the condo portion of the multiphase project. The new project will sit next to the Metra train lines and a short walk from the Mariano's grocery store on Ashland and Webster.

The new development will represent one of the first major residential projects along Elston Ave.

and the North Branch Corridor—an area straddling Bucktown and Lincoln Park. It will offer 66 for-sale units that will be joined by an adjacent nine-story, 300-unit rental building and a two-story commercial structure containing ground floor retail with offices above. The $200 million development was approved by the Chicago Plan Commission in September. Both residential buildings are expected to break ground in mid 2019 and open in 2021.

City to celebrate completion of Lakefront Trail project with free fun run Dec. 15

The City is hosting a Lakefront Chill 5K fun run 8 a.m. Dec. 15 to celebrate the completion of the Lakefront Trail Separation project. The fun run kicks off at Museum Campus and Waldron drives.

The project was funded mostly by private donations made by billionaire financier and Near North resident Ken Griffin.

Chicago's Lakefront Trail is one of the busiest bike paths in the U.S., and used by cyclists and joggers. It is estimated that more than 100,000 people per day use the trail during summer weekends.

"I'm thrilled that Chicago's residents and visitors can now more safely enjoy the Lakefront Trail," said Griffin. "I look forward to joining [my] fellow Chicagoans in celebrating the project's completion."

The Lakefront Chill 5K will bring together hundreds of runners, walkers and wheelchair pushers of every skill level. The 3.1 mile course runs from Museum Campus Dr., up the Lakefront Bike Path and back town the Lakefront Running Path and ending at the North Burnham Harbor Lot by Soldier Field.

Registration is free, and participants can sign up at <http://bit.ly/LakefrontChill5K>. Bib pickup is available onsite, and will include a timing tab. Participants will receive beanies and mittens, as well as water, snacks and hot chocolate. Discounted parking is available in the Waldron Garage for $10. The course is wheelchair, stroller and dog friendly. Cyclists are encouraged to strap on their sneakers for the run.

The event is a celebration of the completed separation of Chicago's entire 18-mile Lakefront Trail, which runs from Ardmore Ave. on the north to 71st St. on the south. The trail is now separated into two distinct paths for cyclists and pedestrians to alleviate areas of congestion.

Improvements to the lakefront extend the trail, with improvements to Leone Beach Park in Rogers Park, triathlon training amenities at Ohio St. Beach and the revitalization of North Ave. Beach.

"Finishing the Lakefront Trail Separation is a major celebration for thousands of people who use the trail every day, and we'll be marking this accomplishment with the 5K run," said Mayor Rahm Emanuel. "I invite you to join me and hundreds of our fellow Chicagoans as we cut the ribbon on our world-class trail by running through the tape together."

brings together friends, neighbors and community businesses for a celebration to collect gifts benefiting kids attending George Manierre School and Catherine Ferguson Child Parent Center.

Admission is free but requires a new, unwrapped gift valued at $20 for a child three to 10-years-old. What you get in return is good company and the joy of giving, along with food, spirits, music, and gift wrapping. And it's all thanks to the generosity of Mario Stefanini - owner of Mario's Table.

Suggested gifts include: dolls, sports equipment, action figures, games and remote controlled toys (with batteries included). Avoid items requiring a computer or other hardware, toy guns, oversized toys, and strictly educational or religious-themed items.

In the last two-and-a-half decades, the NDA's toy drive has provided more than 7,400 local children with a gift during the holiday season. Thanks NDA!

Zip-A-Dee-Do-Dah... the Bear Necessities Pediatric Cancer Foundation, whose founder/CEO is Gold Coaster Kathleen Casey, recently held its 5th annual A Walk for the Bear in Lincoln Park. The walk brings together family, friends and supporters of Bear Necessities to honor kids who are currently fighting and those who have lost their battle to cancer. With nearly 500 participants, the event successfully raised more than $58,000 for much-needed pediatric cancer research.

$100,000 cash bond and warned it could face more conditions in the future, like being forced to close at midnight instead of 2 a.m. and to stop having patrons pay table fees, if it wants to stay open.

The judge said the restaurant is acting more like a bar than a restaurant. The restaurant was first awarded a incidental liquor license as they claimed to be food-oriented. An incidental liquor license allows the restaurant to serve alcohol as part of its primary restaurant business. But the city now claims the business makes more than half of its money from liquor sales. Now the Bottled Blonde will have to turn over financial records to the city by Dec. 15 to prove otherwise. Those records will show how much of its money is made by serving food and how much is made by selling drinks, which would be a violation of their license.

The city originally tried to take back Bottled Blonde's liquor license last year after months of hearings.

Popular school principal sues CPS over ouster, says attendance falsification charges unsubstantiated

BY D.M. HERRA
Cook County Record

A principal of a Chicago international school – seemingly popular with many students' parents and others in the community – has filed suit against the city's board of education, claiming the board is trying to remove him on unsubstantiated charges.

According to the lawsuit, filed Nov. 14 in Cook County Circuit Court, Dr. Michael Beyer, principal of Ogden International School since 2015, has an exemplary record – leading Ogden's merger with the underutilized Jenner Academy of the Arts, 1119 N. Cleveland Ave., to relieve overcrowding, working with parents to ensure they feel heard, and tripling the number of teachers of color on staff. In August, "in recognition of Beyer's good work," the local school council voted to extend his contract through the 2022 school year, the suit says.

Last June, the suit says, the Inspector General of the Chicago Board of Education issued a summary report finding that staff at Ogden's elementary school, 24 W. Walton St. and also at 1250 W. Erie St., had falsified attendance records of some students by recording them as having transferred. On Nov. 1, Chicago Public Schools sent Beyer a letter notifying him he was being removed from his post and that CPS was considering terminating his employment.

The letter said the actions were in response to Beyer's violations of attendance record-keeping policies, but no specific instances are mentioned, the lawsuit says, nor is the Inspector General's report specifically referenced. Beyer was also told CPS had scheduled a pre-suspension hearing that could result in his being suspended without pay until his pre-termination hearing.

Upon learning of Beyer's removal, the local school council sent a letter to CPS formally requesting his reinstatement. The council threw its support squarely behind Beyer, unanimously approving a resolution praising Beyer and calling into question the Inspector General's findings.

Seven members of the council have joined Beyer in his lawsuit against CPS, and more than 900 community members have signed a Change.org petition asking for his reinstatement.

Among the lawsuit's chief complaints is the lack of specifics CPS has provided. Though Beyer has requested a copy of the rules governing the pre-suspension hearing and the evidence that will be presented against him, he has received neither. While he did receive a copy of the Inspector General's report, it is so heavily redacted that it is difficult to analyze; nearly half of the report's findings are completely redacted, as are the names and enrollment dates of all the students the report claims were improperly recorded as transferring.

"The Inspector General's report gives no indication that he actually interviewed any of the students or parents alleged to have been involved in the purportedly falsified transfers," the complaint claims.

"Had he interviewed any members of the Ogden community, the Inspector General would have learned that, due to its highly international student body ... Ogden has an unusually high number of students that transfer to foreign school districts or are homeschooled for a portion of the school year before returning to Ogden."

The lawsuit claims that this is what actually happened in the cases of the allegedly falsified records. Even if that was not the case, the complaint argues, a minor record-keeping infraction is not grounds to remove an otherwise successful principal.

The plaintiffs allege Beyer's removal is actually tied to a Facebook post he made in 2015 asking if any parents or members of the community would be available to come in on a weekend and clean up Ogden's classrooms and bathrooms. He was reprimanded for the post and issued a warning resolution that instructed him to avoid insubordination or taking a public stance that defies CPS. In the third count of the three-count lawsuit, the plaintiffs claim removing Beyer from his post is retaliation for the Facebook post and violates the Illinois Whistleblower Act.

The plaintiffs seek declaratory judgment finding that the pre-suspension hearing does not provide due process and violates state law requiring the defendants to post the rules it will follow. They also seek a temporary restraining order that will allow Beyer to remain in his post until the matter is decided, and they want the warning resolution expunged from Beyer's record.

In addition to the board of education, the lawsuit names CPS CEO Janice Jackson and Director of Employment Engagement Mary Ernesti as defendants.

Police Beat....

Man robbed in Millenium Park restroom

Police said a 65-year-old man was robbed at gunpoint while using a restroom in Millenium Park Nov. 17 as the city's annual BMO Harris Bank Magnificent Mile Lights Festival tree-lighting parade took place nearby. No one is in custody.

The victim told police that he was using a men's room on the north end of the park around 5:50 p.m. when two men approached him and demanded his valuables while pointing a gun to his head.

According to a police report, the offenders got away with cash and a cellular phone.

The victim sought help from a park security guard, but the robbers managed to slip away into the large crowds that were enjoying holiday celebrations downtown.

Police said the robbers were two black males in their late teens or early 20's. One was about 5'-5" tall, the other about 5'-8" tall.

Former DePaul staffer found with stolen computers

Yingqian Lucas was placed in custody after a search warrant at her residence revealed that she was in possession of computer equipment taken from DePaul Univ.

Yingqian entered the campus using her campus ID card after being laid-off. She took several laptops without permission and continued using them at her residence on the 1200 block of W. Dickens Ave. Detectives were able to determine the location of the laptops via the IP address being used. The IP address was attached to the subscriber's home address. A search warrant was conducted at that location and all computer equipment taken was recovered. The offender was subsequently identified and placed into custody at her residence 7:55 p.m. Nov. 20.

Shots fired during robbery in Lakeview East

Armed robbers fired at least one gunshot during a robbery in Lakeview East Nov. 19, according to Chicago police and a witness. No one was injured, and no one is in custody.

The incident unfolded around 11:30 p.m. in the 500 block of W. Roscoe.

"I was outside walking the dog and heard the gunshot and the silver car speeding down the street," the witness, a woman who lives nearby, said.

Police said three offenders approached the victim on the street and fired at least one gunshot from a revolver.

"I'm not sure if they were trying to carjack him since he was attempting to move his mom's car up the street when they approached him and took his coat and iPhone," she added.

Police said the get-away vehicle is a light-colored Hyundai Elantra. Coincidentally, a light blue Hyundai Elantra was taken in a carjacking committed by three men in Uptown on the morning of Nov. 18. Less than two hours later, a casino shuttle bus passenger was robbed by armed men who attempted to carjack the vehicle near Irving Park Rd. and Pine Grove.

The robbers in Monday's incident on Roscoe were described as three black men in their early 20's who stand about 5'-8" tall. One wore a black mask and a red coat. Another wore a black coat. And the third, who fired the gun, wore a blue or black jacket. They were last seen heading west on Roscoe toward Broadway in the Elantra.

Man busted with $317K of meth

A man from the northwest suburbs is in a big, big pile of trouble after he allegedly signed for a U.S. mail package that contained $317,000 worth of methamphetamine in the 2100 block of W. Belmont last week.

Kane Kellet, also known as William Curry and Harjodh Singh, signed for the package at a shipping store around 2 p.m. last Thursday and police pulled him over a few minutes later in the 2800 block of N. Clybourn, according to court records.

Prosecutors say the package contained 950 grams—slightly more than two pounds—of meth and Kellet was carrying 20 Ecstasy pills and a fake ID.

Kellet is charged with Class X felony manufacture-delivery of methamphetamine; felony possession of methamphetamine; felony possession of Ecstasy, and felony possession of a fraudulent ID. Judge John Lyke ordered him held without bail.

Methamphetamine, also known as speed, Tina, and crystal is a powerful stimulant that allows some users to stay awake for days at a time.

In 2010, Kellet was sentenced to six-months in jail for flipping off a judge who was handling a case in which he was charged with home invasion in Crystal Lake. Kellet eventually pleaded guilty to the home invasion and received a six-year sentence. His lawyer at the time said the plea deal "[gave] him the best chance to be released quickly and start a new life."

Salon staff pepper-sprayed during robbery

Three people posed as customers in a Boystown-area nail salon, received treatments, then pepper-sprayed the staff and robbed them of property around 8:30 p.m. Nov. 21, police said. Two offenders are in custody.

Police said the trio entered TJM Nail & Wax at 3161 N. Halsted and asked to have their nails done. When it came time to pay, the offenders sprayed a large amount of pepper gas inside the salon and stole the company's laptop as well as one of the worker's handbags, according to police.

The staff, overcome by the noxious gas, fled into Halsted St., asking passers-by to call for help, according to a witness.

Two offenders were arrested nearby after brief foot chases, police said. Still at-large is a transgender woman with long black hair who was wearing a pink, puffy waist-length jacket.

Police officers recovered the store's computer and the employee's purse.

Serial burglar sentenced

Mark Walker, who was charged with 14 counts of burglary in Lakeview and then escaped from electronic monitoring to begin burglarizing again, has reached a plea deal.

Walker, 49, pleaded guilty to five counts of burglary, one count of forgery, and one count of possessing a controlled substance. He was sentenced to seven 6-year terms to be served concurrently by Judge Jackie Portman-

Second bust for Streeterville drug kingpin

A man who was freed on bail to await trial for allegedly having $170,000 worth of pot and crack in his Streeterville high-rise apartment is now charged with having $296,000 worth of cannabis, THC, cocaine, and

Brandon West

Xanax in his new high-rise apartment downtown.

We first reported on Brandon West, 24, in Sept. 2017 after police raided his 36th floor apartment in the 400 block of N. McClurg.

Cops in 2017 said they recovered 35 lbs. of weed and liquid THC worth $158,550 inside two bedroom safes. Also recovered were 1.5 pounds of suspected crack cocaine; 72 suspected ecstasy pills; and two liters of suspect Codeine along with three loaded handguns, $12,162 cash, three scales, and a currency counter, police said.

Brown. Nearly a dozen other felonies were dropped in the plea agreement.

His parole date has not yet been set, but given Illinois' standard 50% sentencing reduction for anticipated good behavior and 308 days credit for time spent in jail awaiting trial, Walker will likely be released in about 2-1/2 years.

Walker was accused of breaking into over a dozen cars that were parked in condominium complex garages around Lakeview in Dec. 2017. Judge Stephanie Miller, a torchbearer for Cook County's "affordable bail" initiative, released Walker on a recognizance bond and "home electronic monitoring." Walker listed a homeless shelter on the Near West Side as his residence.

Walker went AWOL and a warrant was issued for his arrest. He found himself back in custody in April when an off-duty Chicago cop found him hiding in the women's room of a West Loop martial arts studio.

In Walker's backpack, cops say they found a Marathon brand watch; a mini-projector; two tablets; car keys; firearms training magazines; a non-functional training pistol; blank business checks; a laptop; and two screwdrivers.

North Side "Porch Pirate" gets probation

A Wrigleyville "porch pirate" who got busted stealing packages that contained a headboard bracket and a box of coffee packets has received a sentence of 30-months probation. The plea agreement called for Ryan Dale, 33, to plead guilty to a reduced charge of theft with a prior conviction while prosecutors agreed to drop three additional burglary and two theft charges.

Judge William O'Brien approved the deal and ordered Dale to pay a $544 fine.

Police said Dale was carrying stolen packages belonging to five different residents of the Wrigleyville neighborhood when they arrested him last January.

Cops warn of home burglaries in Lincoln Park, witnesses provide descriptions

Just hours after North Side detectives issued a community alert about a series of home burglaries in the Lincoln Park neighborhood, alert wit-

At the time, West claimed to be "just an accountant," according to police.

West was charged with a laundry list of felony narcotics charges. He then posted bond to go free and sit at home on electronic monitoring. That case continues to make its way through the court system.

On Nov. 20, police armed with a search warrant raided electronically-monitored West's new apartment on the 16th floor of a high-rise in the first block of W. Superior.

Police recovered $257,000 worth of liquid THC; about four pounds of cannabis; 51 grams of cocaine; 400 Xanax pills; five counterfeit $100 bills; a digital scale; a currency counter, and grinding equipment, according to prosecutors.

Now, in addition to the pending case from 2017, West is facing new charges of Class X manufacture-delivery of cannabis; felony possession of cocaine; and two counts of felony possession of a controlled substance.

He is currently being held without bail.

nesses may have seen the criminals in action.

Just before 1 p.m. on Friday, officers responded to a burglary in progress in the 2100 block of N. Fremont, right in the middle of the area where investigators said earlier that a break-in crew was operating.

The burglary on Fremont failed on Friday, but police may now have descriptions of the offenders: A man and a woman who are using a black Jeep with a license plate that begins with "Z742." The woman is white, 5'-5" tall, with a light blue or gray thigh-length winter jacket, black leggings or gym pants, and black snow boots. The man is black and 5'-7" tall with shoulder-length dreadlocks, a black quilted winter coat, and dark pants.

While police have not publicly linked Friday's burglary attempt with the previously-announced crime pattern, the incident has many of the same traits as the pattern, including geographic area and time of day.

Police have said that the burglars are entering residences through open doors and windows to steal computers, jewelry, cameras, credit cards and cash. Burglaries have been reported in the following locations:

- 2200 block of N. Seminary during the afternoon of Nov. 7
- 1700 block of N. North Park during the daytime hours on Nov. 8
- 1800 block of N. Fremont during the evening on Nov. 13t
- 1900 block of N. Dayton during the daytime hours on Nov. 15
- 1800 block of N. Halsted during the daytime hours on Nov. 16
- 1100 block of W. Dickens during the afternoon on Nov. 17
- 2100 block of N. Sheffield during the evening of Nov. 19

Detectives suggested that residents in the area keep their doors and windows secure, track serial numbers of valuable pieces of property, and ensure that video surveillance systems are functioning correctly.

Anyone with information about the burglaries may contact Area North detectives at 312-747-8380.

Charges filed in bogus carjacking story, auto crash

Charges are pending after a hit-and-run driver fled the scene of a crash on Lake Shore Dr., ditched his car in Streeterville, and then told police that his vehicle had been carjacked, according to police and witnesses. The auto accident late on Thanksgiving night was captured on dashcam video by a passing Lyft driver.

Angel Ramos, 20, is charged with felony disorderly conduct — false report; misdemeanor leaving the scene of an accident; misdemeanor driving on a suspended license; and a traffic violation. Alvin Vazquez-Cruz, 24, is charged with felony disorderly conduct - false report. Both men live in the Belmont Cragin neighborhood, police said.

Retired Chicago Police Officer Keith Lutz's dashcam was rolling with his Lyft passengers in the back seat around 11:45 p.m. Slow-motion playback shows a driver heading south on LSD ignores a red light, then swerves and slides sideways, apparently to avoid a white SUV that is making a turn. The sideways-sliding car then crashes into another southbound vehicle as the autos speed out of camera range. The car that slid out of control then fled the scene, according to police.

A few minutes later, two men and woman flagged down police near Superior and Fairbanks in Streeterville. The man told police that he had just been carjacked of his 1996 Honda Accord by two men who forced him and the woman from the car at gunpoint.

Lutz gave a statement about the crash to police officers and continued on his way — only to discover the heavily-damaged Honda Accord at Huron and McClurg, about a block from where the "carjacking" was being reported.

Investigators soon determined that the carjacking report was bogus — an attempt to cover-up responsibility for the crash that had taken place on Lake Shore Dr., according to a police source.

"They're lucky nobody was killed," said Lutz, who spent years in CPD's traffic unit. "The cars had enough damage to have a fatal [injury]."

AWOL robbery defendant, bailed out by "charity bond fund," back in jail

A transgender woman who has repeatedly skipped bail while awaiting trial for allegedly robbing a man in Boystown is back in custody after she attacked a CTA canine officer, according to police and court records.

Keneth Manning, 21, has been repeatedly freed from jail by the Chicago Community Bond Fund (CCBF), a charity that works to eliminate cash bail and to post bond for individuals who say they cannot afford to post themselves.

In the case of Manning, we reported last month, the CCBF has repeatedly posted bail for Manning despite her repeated failures to show up in court and comply with the terms of her release.

Most recently, Manning had been in the wind since she skipped court on Sept. 20. A warrant was issued for her arrest.

Then, shortly after 7 a.m. Oct. 25, a CTA canine security contractor approached Manning on a train at the Howard Red Line CTA station. Manning would have to exit the train because he had reached the end of the line, the guard said.

Manning attacked the guard, splitting the man's lip, biting his right hand, and causing a laceration to the victim's face, according to police. The 30-year-old guard detained

City wants new 911 software added to your cell phone

Approximately 75% of 911 calls made in Chicago are made using cellular phones, which often lack detailed location information. To remedy that the City has launched Smart911 software. The new software allows people to register cell phone numbers, so first responders can know how best to help you in an emergency.

To participate, people must first register in the program.

The program allows you to provide customized information to emergency personnel before they arrive at the scene. You can add as much or as little to your profile as you want, and your information will only be seen if you ever have to call 911.

Smart911 allows you to add key information about members of your household such as medical info, physical descriptions, address and location info, and much more. You can also add information about your vehicles, pets and other details that will allow first responders to help you as fast as possible in the event of an emergency. The information is accessible whether you call 911 from your home phone or cell phone.

Paroled ambulance thief now charged with stealing Maserati in the Loop

BY CWBCHICAGO.COM

A man who's on parole for stealing an ambulance and leading police on a two-state car chase in 2014 is now charged with stealing a $100,000 Maserati in the Loop over the weekend.

Edwin Herrera, 38, stole the silver sports car after it was left running in front of an apartment building in the first block of East 9th St. around 11:30 p.m. Nov. 10, prosecutors said. Unbeknownst to Herrera, the owner's phone was still inside the sports car and the victim's friends began tracking the vehicle as he drove it around town, according to police.

They saw Herrera stop for gas in Little Italy and watched as he sped away before police arrived, according to a police report. They caught up with the car again a few minutes later, only to lose it again.

Police say Herrera eventually abandoned the vehicle in the 100 block of W. Taylor, not far from where he stole it an hour earlier. Herrera gathered items from the car, including the victim's phone, and started walking. Cops—still following the phone's pings—arrested Herrera around 12:30 a.m. on Sunday on the first block of W. 9th St. The Maserati owner's phone and ID were found about 25' away, police said. Witnesses identified Herrera as the man who was seen driving the car after it was stolen, according to court records.

He has been charged with receiving—possessing a stolen motor vehicle and theft of lost or mislaid property. Judge David Navarro ordered him held without bail.

Herrera was paroled in March after serving half of an eight-year sentence that he received for stealing a Dodge ambulance in northwest Indiana in 2014. On March 8 of that year, Chicago police became involved in a police chase as Indiana cops chased the stolen ambulance into the city limits.

The ambulance driver had left the rig running while he picked up a patient from a medical center in Gary, IN. Herrera stole it. Indiana authorities followed the ambulance's GPS tracker to locate the vehicle and then chase it through much of Lake County before entering Chicago's South Side. Herrera eventually stopped the ambulance and surrendered to police.

Chicago police said Herrera told them, "I was walking and took the ambulance to get a ride home." At the time of the ambulance theft, Herrera was on parole in Indiana for vehicle theft.

According to Illinois state records, Herrera has been sent to prison repeatedly since 1999.

Artist JC Rivera's 'art' was mistakenly removed after someone called 311 claiming it was just gang graffiti.

City creates mural registry, hopes to prevent loss of public art to Graffiti Blasters

After the comical - yet expensive - mistake by the city's Graffiti Blasters team cleaning urban art off the walls in Lake View, City Hall has passed an ordinance to create a registry of murals, including graffiti art in Chicago. The registry will be maintained by the Dept. of Cultural Affairs and Special Events (DCASE) and its Public Art Program.

This registry comes after an expensive mural near the Paulina Brown Line stop in Lakeview was removed by the city just two weeks after it was completed. Painted by artist JC Rivera, the 'art' was mistakenly removed after someone called 311 claiming it was just gang graffiti. The mural, commissioned by the Lakeview Chamber of Commerce and paid for with property tax dollars, left the chamber of commerce answering some uncomfortable questions about how it was spending tax dollars and forced the local alderman, Amaya Pauer [47th], to go into hiding, lest he be asked to explain the city's actions and wasted tax money.

According to chamber documentation, they earmarked about $60,000 for seven murals over the course of the year.

The proposed ordinance will identify the thousands of existing murals across the City, and will create a formal process for DCASE, city partners and property owners to add new murals to the registry. Murals in the registry will be affixed with an official emblem.

Creating a mural registry will help easily identify between public art and graffiti, which is removed by the Dept. of Streets and Sanitation when reported. Residents who would like to report graffiti - or report over-priced bad art that looks like graffiti - can call 311, or visit www.cityofchicago.org/dss.

COOK COUNTY
REAL PROPERTY
ASSESSMENTS FOR 2018

This publication constitutes official notice of the changes in assessment to all owners of real property in North Chicago Township. The 2018 assessment changes as published herein are those determined by the Assessor of Cook County.

It is the duty of the Assessor to appraise all taxable real property in Cook County at its fair cash value as of January 1, 2018. Fair cash value is described as what the property would bring at a voluntary sale in the normal course of business or trade. The Assessor is required by law to assess said property in a fair and just manner.

The Assessor does not determine property taxes. Property taxes are determined by the spending needs and requests of municipalities, school boards, park districts and other local government agencies which provide public services to property owners. The Assessor's sole responsibility is to estimate the value of real estate property.

In Cook County, real property is classified according to its use. The classification system is used to determine the percentage of the fair cash value at which the real property is assessed for purposes of taxation. Accordingly, real property is assessed at only a fraction of its fair cash value, depending on its use and classification.

Changes in assessment for land and improvements are listed separately. The dimensions of the land are also listed:

A - Acres

B - Back Lot

N - Irregular Lot

S - Square Feet

Cook County uses a Permanent Index Number (P.I.N) system as a means to identify individual real estate parcels. The PIN consists of a 14-digit number. The first two digits identify the area or survey township; the second two digits identify the sub-area or section; the next three digits identify blocks.

Note:

Blocks are defined as follows:

Blocks 100 to 199 are located in the N.W. Quarter

Blocks 200 to 299 are located in the N.E. Quarter

Blocks 300 to 399 are located in the S.W. Quarter

Blocks 400 to 499 are located in the S.E. Quarter

The next three digits in the series identify the specific parcel or lot. The last four, (where applicable), identify individual condominium units, non-operating railroad parcels or leasehold's of exempt parcels.

Whenever possible, the assessment list will be listed by the street name and the street or house number of the parcel. However, the Cook County Assessor's Office official records rely on permanent Property Index Numbers (P.I.N.) only. No assessment of real property shall be considered invalid due to an incorrect listing.

If you have any questions regarding the assessment of real property you should visit the Office of the Assessor of Cook County, 118 N. Clark Street, Room 301, Chicago, Illinois 60602, or call (312) 443-7550.

With Democratic lock on local government, new wave of regulation, enforcement, litigation likely

BY JONATHAN BILYK
Cook County Record

On Election Day, Illinoisans, particularly in Cook County, where the vast majority of the state’s population lives, endorsed a very “blue” message, sweeping Democrats to historic power in Springfield and the Chicago area. And that could mean businesses and employers of all sizes should begin to prepare for a new anticipated environment of heightened government scrutiny, regulatory action and lawsuits, say attorneys who regularly work with businesses and employers facing such actions.

Democrats tightened their grip on all statewide offices with resounding victories in the races for Attorney General, Secretary of State, Comptroller and Treasurer. In the General Assembly, Democrats boosted their already substantial majorities in the state House and Senate to so-called “veto-proof” supermajorities, meaning more than two-thirds of all state lawmakers will be Democrats when the next General Assembly takes the oath of office in Jan. 2019.

Gov.-elect JB Pritzker has begun assembling and empaneling his leadership and transition team. Most recently, he announced the transition team would be led by Lt. Governor-elect Juliana Stratton, a Chicago state representative with close political ties to House Speaker Michael Madigan. The team would also include a host of Chicago Democrats, as well as some past Republican elected officials, including former Gov. Jim Ed Edgar and former Republican state Senate leader Christine Radogno.

“There is significant political capital in Illinois right now in opposing the Trump administration, and I expect that will continue beyond election day,” Steven Jados said.

While the policy priorities have yet to be rolled out, and Pritzker has talked of bipartisanship, the huge Democratic moment will likely mean Democratic leadership will move quickly to achieve a range of progressive political and policy priorities in 2019, said Steven Jados, an attorney and partner at the firm of SmithA-mundsen.

“There will be momentum and support for Democrats in January at a level that quite likely will only fade as the weeks and months go by,” Jados said.

While some have said they expect Democrats in Springfield to boost taxes in an attempt to deal with the state’s sagging financial condition, Jados and Gerald Maatman, an attorney with the Chicago firm of Seyfarth Shaw LLP, said they also expect the state’s Democratic leadership to move forcefully on issues important to their supporters in the labor unions.

Jados said he anticipates this would include “more prevailing wage work and more aggressive enforcement by the Illinois Dept. of Labor and other state agencies charged with regulating employment relationships.” He also expects Democrats to aggressively promote other progressive labor actions, particularly as a response to the Trump administration.

These could include such actions as boosting the minimum wage, expanding employee paid time off mandates, increasing the number of workers who qualify for overtime protection and adding “to the categories of employees protected by the Illinois Human Rights Act.”

“There is significant political capital in Illinois right now in opposing the Trump administration, and I expect that will continue beyond election day,” Jados said. “Whether it leads to actual legislation remains to be seen. But I would not be surprised if Illinois tries to catch up to other states that have more progressive, pro-employee laws than what are currently on the books here.”

Maatman agreed, saying business owners should expect “more attention to worker rights than vice versa.”

He said he would expect the left-leaning majority to move on a range of initiatives, particularly centered on such concepts as “privacy rights, leave of absence entitlements and enhancements to damages remedies.”

“Whatever business-friendly environment may have existed over the last four years, that sort of environment is going to shift,” Maatman said. “Businesses should expect more regulations and more entitlement spending.”

He said this will also be reflected in the civil courtrooms, where plaintiffs’ attorneys will move to take advantage of the more plaintiff-friendly regulatory environment to bring actions of their own.

“Immediately, businesses can expect the plaintiffs’ bar to double-down on Illinois as a worker-friendly environment for high stakes litigation,” Maatman said.

He said the combined effect could lead to a “long-term ... movement out of the state as businesses search for more friendly climates to operate.”

Jados and Maatman advised employers to begin preparing immediately, to tighten their operations, policies and procedures, in anticipation of the forthcoming scrutiny, enforcement and potential litigation.

“Employers should be prepared to face more scrutiny than they ever have before,” Jados said. My advice to employers is that if anything is broken in terms of legal compliance, it needs to be fixed now.

POLICE BEAT from p. 10

Manning for police.

Police say Manning identified herself to officers as Daniel Moore, a man, who had never been arrested before, according to court records. Fingerprint records revealed her true identity.

Manning later pleaded guilty to battering the CTA guard and was sentenced to 18 days in jail and one year of court supervision by Judge Anthony Calabrese. Separately, Judge Peggy Chiampas ordered Manning held without bail on the pending Boystown robbery charge. Manning is due back in court on Dec. 20.

Charges filed in North Side convenience store robberies

Prosecutors have charged Tyler Oates, 23, and Vontez Turner, 20, in connection with two convenience store robberies on the North Side.

Tyler Oates

Oates and Turner were arrested after they encountered police who were waiting for them to return to their getaway car after robbing a 7-Eleven store in the 1300 block of W. Fullerton around 7:30 a.m. Nov. 18, according to police. The two are also charged with robbing a 7-Eleven at 2004 N. Halsted with a handgun less than 20 minutes earlier.

Each man faces one count of felony armed robbery with a firearm and one count of robbery.

Police said the getaway car that had been left idling behind the store was taken in an armed carjacking in the 2900 block of N. Spaulding Nov. 1. The vehicle was said by a police officer on-scene to be “filled” with 7-Eleven merchandise. Neither Oates nor Turner is charged with possessing the stolen car. A third man who participated in the robberies remains at large.

Vontez Turner

State records show that Turner was released from prison on Oct. 9 after serving half of an 18-month sentence for unlawful use of a firearm and a separate 18-month sentence for unlawful possession of a debit or credit card. Here’s a look at his very busy year:

Dec. 16, 2017: Arrested and charged with carrying a loaded handgun on the West Side. He was released on “affordable bail.”

Jan. 10: Arrested and charged with robbing a man four days earlier in the victim’s garage in suburban Melrose Park. Taken was cash, credit cards, a phone, and jewelry. Turner is charged with felony robbery and felony burglary. He’s ordered held without bail.

Jan. 20: Grand jury returns eight felony weapons counts against Turner in connection with the handgun incident.

Feb. 1: Grand jury returns eighteen felony counts including vehicular invasion, burglary, robbery, and identity theft in connection with the Melrose Park case.

Aug. 29: In the gun case, prosecutors drop seven of the felonies and Judge Erica Reddick sentences him to 18 months with 230 days credit for time spent sitting in jail awaiting trial

Sept. 4: Reports to Stateville Correctional Center

Sept. 27: While in prison for unlawful use of a weapon, he strikes a deal with prosecutors in the Melrose Park case. The state drops every charge except one count of unlawful possession of a credit card. Judge Geary Kull approves the deal and sentences Turner to 18-months with 260 days of credit for time served awaiting trial. (In typical Illinois fashion, the month that Turner sat in Stateville on the gun charge was credited toward his prison time for the credit card sentence.)

Oct. 9: Released from Stateville on parole after “completing” his gun and credit card sentences.

More to come?

Additional charges may be filed in connection with a string of other 7-Eleven robberies that police believe are connected to the same group of robbers: 6400 block of W. Diversey Ave. on Nov. 5, at approximately 3:45 a.m.; 2600 block of N. Clark St. on Nov. 11, at approximately 5:20 a.m.; 1300 block of W. Fullerton Ave. on Nov. 11, at approximately 5:30 a.m.; 2000 block of N. Damen Ave. on Nov. 11, at approximately 5:45 a.m.; 3600 block of W. Belmont Ave. on Nov. 12, at approximately 5:15 a.m.; 3000 block of N. Pulaski Rd. on Nov. 16, at approximately 4:20 a.m., and the 4300 block of N. Kimball Ave. on Nov. 16, at approximately 5:10 a.m.

Two more robberies near DePaul campus

Two people were robbed near DePaul University’s Lincoln Park campus on Nov. 17. They are at least the sixth and seventh persons to be mugged on or near the school’s grounds since Oct. 16, according to Chicago police and university records.

DePaul’s Public Safety Office said that a male student was mugged around 3:30 p.m. in the 800 block of W. Fullerton. The student was walking westbound when he was approached by three men who demanded his property, according to Chicago police. The offenders took the man’s phone and other property before running away in an unknown direction.

The offenders were described as three black men: one wearing a black hoodie with black pants, another wearing a blue hoodie with black pants, and a third for whom no further description was available.

At about the same time, another man was robbed by the same group at about the same location. The man told police that four offenders came out of an alley, threatened to use a gun, and robbed him of his phone around 3:45 p.m.

Other robberies reported on the DePaul campus in the past month include: Nov. 1, 11:45 p.m., a 19-year-old DePaul student was robbed as he walked in the 900 block of W. Belden. The victim reported that three black male teens confronted him and demanded his money at gunpoint. The three took about $100 cash and then ran away northbound, the victim said. DePaul Public Safety reported that the robbery took place near the entrance of the school’s Cortelyou Commons building in the 2300 block of N. Fremont St.

On Oct. 24, a man reportedly tried to rob and sexually abuse a series of men and women in the 800- and 900 blocks of W. Fullerton, according to DePaul Public Safety and Chicago Police.

On Oct. 20, around 1:15 a.m., a man was robbed of his cell phone near the school’s art gallery at 935 W. Fullerton. The victim said a group of offenders took his cellphone and escaped via the Fullerton Red Line, DePaul officials said. On Oct. 16 a DePaul student was robbed as she walked eastbound in the 900 block of W. Belden around 1:20 p.m. The victim was confronted by two offenders who were walking in the opposite direction, the school said. One of the offenders grabbed the woman’s cell phone and the two robbers fled in different directions. The school did not provide descriptions of the offenders. The robbery took place across the street from the DePaul Univ. Student Center.

Bow Truss Coffee founder OK to continue defamation suit vs Crain’s over ‘hit piece’ article

BY SCOTT HOLLAND
Cook County Record

A Cook County judge will allow a North Side businessman to continue his defamation lawsuit against Crain Communications.

Bow Truss Coffee founder Philip Tadros is seeking $38 million from Crain’s Chicago Business in a defamation lawsuit over a July 2016 Crain’s article he called a “hit piece.” The complaint, originally filed in July 2017, now focuses on six allegedly false statements in the article giving rise to claims of defamation, false light, tortious interference with business relations and prospective economic advantage.

Crain asked Judge James O’Hara to dismiss all nine counts with prejudice, saying Tadros failed to make sufficient factual allegations. In an opinion issued Nov. 19, O’Hara denied that motion.

In addition to the company, Tadros named as defendants Keith Crain, Rance Crain, KC Crain and Christopher Crain, the family members who run the business and weekly publication, as well as editor Michael Arndt, reporter Peter Frost and former Crain’s publisher David Snyder.

One paragraph in question reads: “A review of Tadros’ operations, coupled with interviews with more than two dozen former business partners, associates, investors, vendors and clients, reveals a pattern of mismanagement, questionable accounting practices and, some say, a penchant for falling behind on bills and a knack for burning through other people’s money.”

O’Hara said the defendants aren’t “entitled to rely” on assertions the statements in the article are generally true, or that Tadros generally admitted to the “conduct and subsequent characterization” those sentences allege.

Other article excerpts, O’Hara continued, impute either an inability to hold a job or imply criminal conduct. As such, the defendants’ “contention that the statement is reasonably capable of innocent construction carries little weight.”

“Tadros has lived large,” the article asserted, “driving a Mercedes Benz G-Class, dining at expensive restaurants, holding his wedding receptions at the Four Seasons Hotel — even as some of his businesses underperformed.”

Crain’s argued that sentence was non-actionable opinion, but O’Hara cited a 1993 Illinois First District Appellate Court decision in Kumaran v. Brotman, establishing “a false assertion of fact can be libelous even if couched in the form of rhetorical hyperbole.” If the Crain’s article is taken as true, O’Hara explained, Tadros would “undoubtedly be prejudiced in his endeavor as a businessman.”

O’Hara also determined Tadros effectively showed evidence of vendors and investors canceling contracts with him and said an objectively reasonable person could conclude the magazine acted with malice to paint Tadros as a bad and perhaps criminal businessman. He said Crain’s contentions that the article didn’t harm Tadros as an individual, only his business establishments, “are erroneous.” He further noted that Tadros alleged the defendants not only knew about the accounts and investors who sought to change a business relationship, but “in fact contacted those third parties with whom Tadros later lost accounts and prospective business.”

In other court actions, Tadros has sued business partners for comments they made in the article. In the original complaint against Crain’s, Tadros said Frost interviewed him for the piece and also noted he communicated with Arndt and Snyder before publication “to address the several inaccuracies and misrepresentations.”

Tadros alleged some of the people quoted in the Crain’s piece contacted him after publication to report their remarks were taken out of context or otherwise misrepresented. He said the magazine had limited financial documents on which to base its assertions about his overall portfolio and “intentionally, or at least recklessly, jumped to unfounded conclusions based on incomplete records.”

Art on theMart underway, seeking submissions for 2019

TheMart has a new look. Wednesday – Sunday, now through Dec. 31 from 7 p.m. – 9 p.m., theMart transforms into Art on theMart, the newest addition to Chicago’s public art scene and the largest digital art projection in the world. Seasonal imagery started on Nov. 17, and will culminate in a special New Year’s Eve viewing. The digital artworks use 34 projectors located across the river from the building to illuminate the river façade of theMart. Art on theMart comes with a historically large canvas for the show. The Merchandise Mart was the largest building in the world when it was completed in 1930. At 340’ tall, it offers 91,000 square feet (more than two acres) of facade as a projection screen. The show will run five nights a week, 10 months of the year, for 30 years. Vornado Realty paid $8 million for the entire endeavor, delivered with no advertisement or branding. The project is currently seeking individual artists for their March 2019 programming, and also seeking artists or teams of artists for their Year of Chicago Theatre alignment for June 2019 programming. For more information, visit artonthemart.com.

Caroling at the Bean

Caroling will be underway at Cloud Gate at Millennium Park [the Bean], 201 E. Randolph St., 6 p.m. each Friday through Dec. 14. Bundle up and get ready to belt out some holiday classics at these festive events that are part concert, part sing-along as local choral groups lead hundreds of celebrants in song. Carolers can also don some skates and hit the ice next door as ice skating at the McCormick Tribune Ice Rink offers lessons and special programming on theme nights and during the Chicago Public Schools’ winter break. For a different experience visit the nearby skating ribbon, a multisensory activity that is integrated into the landscape. Skaters can experience “alpine in the city” as they lace up their ice skates and follow a path twice the length of a lap around a traditional skating rink. Admission is free and skate rentals are available for $13 - $15.

Sneak peak at new performance center

North Siders can get a sneak peek of DePaul Univ. School of Music’s brand new Holtschneider Performance Center, 2330 N. Halsted St., while enjoying a delicious cup of coffee 8:30 a.m. Thursday, during the Lincoln Park Chamber of Commerce

Coffee Connection. The cost is $30 for members and $30 for guests. Call 773-880-5200 for reservations. The Center is a new 185,000-square-foot facility that features four performance spaces and boasts state-of-the-art acoustics.

Crain’s claims that after stunning North Side stakeholders over the summer with proposed skyscrapers as high as 70 stories, the tallest tower under the new plan would be 650 feet, or about 50 stories. Those still would be high-rises typically found in the Loop or River North and would dwarf the surrounding neighborhoods. And though the heights have shrunk, the new plan calls for even more density with 12.8 million square feet of buildings—up from the previous 12 million. On Nov. 14, the city hosted a public meeting on a proposed North Branch TIF to pay for infrastructure to support Lincoln Yards over the next 20 years. More than 500 people questioned why the city insists on introducing the TIF for passage on Dec. 11 at the Community Development Commission if the true scope of the Lincoln Yards is still unknown. The angry audience repeated calls for a large, contiguous public-owned park to offset the anticipated 50,000 daytime population. Requirements for both the TIF and Planned Development include a stipulation that a public benefit must be derived in exchange for diverting decades of taxes from schools and the city budget. “This is insulting to every taxpayer - parents, homeowners, sports enthusiasts, teachers, businesses and future Chicagoans,” said Granfield. “We are watching the city, Ald. Hopkins and this developer run out the clock in an attempt to evade public discourse. Sterling Bay’s misdirection and deflection of the truth is now exposed. We are outraged that a once-in-a-generation opportunity to shape our city has been holed up in a dark back room. It’s time to bring this sham into the light.”
