Uptown drug sweep puts dozens behind bars

BY CWBCHICAGO.COM

There could be a lot of vacancies in Uptown public housing before too long.

A Chicago police undercover narcotics sweep by officers from both the 19th and 20th Districts, resulted in 35 arrests across Uptown over the past week, according to the CPD.

And many of the arrestees -- who are largely accused of selling crack cocaine on the street -- told police that they live in publicly-subsidized housing and treatment centers.

Among the 35 charged are:

- Sidney Branham, 53, of West Ridge, is charged with manufacture-delivery of crack cocaine near a school or park in Uptown.
- Williams Claxton, 49, says he lives at the federally-registered non-profit Preston Bradley Center, 941 W. Lawrence Ave. He's charged with manufacture-delivery of cocaine near school or park.
- Daniel Collins, 57, who lives in a federally-underwritten apartment at Mercy Housing in Uptown, 4626 N. Magnolia, is accused of selling crack cocaine to an undercover officer on Sept. 23. Prosecutors charged him with possession of a Schedule I or II narcotic near a school or park.
- Brianna Crump, 23, lists her address as the office of ONE

Is east Edgewater becoming a senior corridor?

New age 55+ apartment proposed for Sheridan Rd.

STORY AND PHOTOS
BY PATRICK BUTLER

Nearly 10 years worth of plans for a high-rise residential building on the site of the old Lakeside Motel at 5440 N. Sheridan Rd. have been given a third new lease on life.

The latest proposal was unveiled last week by Greystar Developers during a community informational meeting at nearby St. Andrew's Orthodox Church.

The newest plans call for an 18-story, 186-unit rental apartment tower for "active adults" 55-years-old. Rents would run between $2,500 and $4,500, with 19 affordable housing units going for $797 a month for a one-bedroom unit and $956 for two bedrooms.

To qualify for the affordable housing units, applicants can have no more than a $32,340 annual income for a single person or $36,960 for a two-person household, the Greystar team said.

Architect's rendering of the latest version of the 17-story high rise planned for the old Lakeside Motel site on the 5400 block of N. Sheridan Rd. The first attempt was stymied by the 2008 market crash.

"This is not a nursing home or assisted living facility," Greystar's Gary Wallace told about 50 neighborhood residents who appeared to have more questions than answers received.

Concerns raised ranged from whether developers like Greystar were turning the area into a "senior corridor" to questions about the legality of Greystar calling the project the "Overture Edgewater Beach Apartments" with the Edgewater Beach Apartments just a short distance away.

It's not a case of creating a "senior corridor," but filling a demand that's already there, Wallace told two women who each voiced concern for the neighborhood's future "diversity."

CDC report indicates another sharp rise of Sexually Transmitted Diseases

Are cases of STD's getting worse on North Side?

BY PETER VON BUOL

Here on the Eve of World AIDS Day, it should be noted that statistics show that Chicago's North Side houses more people diagnosed with HIV per 100,000 than any other part of Chicagoland.

In fact, five North Side Zip Codes host the highest concentration of Human Immunodeficiency Virus [HIV] cases in town, ranging from 2,118 cases per 100,000 people in the 60626 Zip Code to a city-wide high of 2996 in 60640. The other chart toppers include 60613, 60657 and 60660.

Lincoln Park [60614] and the Gold Coast/Streeterville [60610] both show under 600 cases per 100,000.

And according to a recently-published report compiled by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in 2015, there has been an alarming increase in reported cases of Chlamydia, Gonorrhea, and Syphilis nationwide. Combined, these diseases have reached the highest number ever recorded in the federal agency's annual Sexually Transmitted Disease Surveillance Report.

According to data compiled by CDC researchers, there were significant jumps in reported instances for all three diseases. There were 23,872 reported cases of Primary and Secondary Syphilis, a 19% increase. There were also 1,526,658 reported cases of Chlamydia, a nearly 6% increase from the previous year, and 395,216 reported cases of Gonorrhea, a nearly 13% increase from the previous year.

According to CDC health officials, these three diseases are the most commonly reported sexually-transmitted diseases and are especially prevalent in the urban areas of the nation's largest cities, including Chicago. Certain groups, including young people and also gay and bisexual men, are at greatest risk for exposure to the three diseases.

"Gonorrhea and Chlamydia primarily affect young people. Surveillance data show both the numbers and rates of reported cases of Chlamydia and Gonorrhea continue to be highest among young people aged 15-24. Both young men and young women are heavily affected by STDs -- but young women face the most serious long-term health consequences. It is estimated that undiagnosed STDs cause infertility in more than 20,000 women each year. Most reported Chlamydia and Gonorrhea infections occur among 15-24-year-olds," according to the report.

Particularly hard hit have been gay and bi-sexual men as they account for 82% of all reported cases of Primary and Secondary Syphilis, which CDC officials add are the most infectious stages of the disease. Health officials stress the importance of proper treatment. If left untreated, or not adequately treated, the disease can lead to visual impairment and, eventually, a stroke.

While still uncommon in the U.S., CDC officials report antibiotic-resistant strains of Gonorrhea have been found to be more common among gay and bi-sexual men than in other populations.

Health officials also add gay and bi-sexual men diagnosed with Syphilis (51%) are at risk to being exposed to the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) and Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS). For these sexually-active men, the CDC recommends individuals be screened at least once a year for Syphilis, Chlamydia, and Gonorrhea.

"Syphilis infection can also place a person at increased risk for acquiring or transmitting HIV infection. Available surveillance data indicate that [about] half of the gay and bisexual men diagnosed with Syphilis are also infected with HIV," according to data from the report.

Open sores provide an especially easy pathway for the transmission of the HIV.

Men who have sex with men [MSM] accounted for the majority of new Gonorrhea and P&S Syphilis cases (82% of male cases with known gender of sex partner). Antibiotic-resistant Gonorrhea may be higher among MSM.

So far, through the use of antibiotics, most cases of Chlamydia, Gonorrhea and Syphilis are curable. The spread of these diseases could be drastically reduced through proper screening and treatment. Unfortunately, public health officials believe most instances of STDs are undiagnosed and untreated, which puts individuals, their partners and family at risk. There are often serious and irreversible health consequences for not properly

Chicago and the poetic mystery of living

By Thomas J. O’Gorman

Is there some poetic mystery to life? Does the everyday hold some element of expressive wonder? Are we surrounded by more than it would seem? I’m not talking about a poem, per say. I don’t mean is there some iambic pentameter rhythm to our grocery shopping, wine sipping, love making or tennis game. Nor do I mean is there some secret rhyme to the details of our lives; some awful “moon, June, spoon, croon” series of harmonious sound-alike words.

I guess what I mean is some hidden beauty, some lost elegance, some far down happy or some far away joy. I think we know it when we see it. Perhaps we catch a glimpse of that poetry on special occasions. Like a great family wedding or funeral. But it doesn’t have to be a huge cast of thousands. I tend to think we encounter the poetic in unguarded moments when we least expect it, like tears that run on their own during the last out in a ballgame. Maybe it comes when you find yourself on someone’s wavelength. The fact that you are connected. Someone gets you, or you get them. Maybe it comes in a moment of unplanned boldness, you tell off the boss. Or just the opposite, when you hold your tongue in silence.

Where’s the poetry in Chicago, you say? Where in this sometimes churlish metropolis of tough and cranky individuals does the beauty of reflective human living rear its head? How far above the scandals of larceny and kickbacks do you have to go to see the shimmering elegance that inspires great modern architecture and artistic design? Is there really any substance of the higher, more refined, elements of living left here in Chicago? Or is everybody just chewing their dinner with their mouths wide open?

Maybe engaging the poetic is about quiet listening, soft searching the fibers for something to engage us, revive us, or just recalibrate our interests.

Perhaps the poetic is to be found in the charming and the soft embrace of the fleeting. Maybe it strides the earth with footsteps too soft to be heard above the snarls and booms of shattered hearts, battered souls, broken promises and altered expectations.

I think it is possible to find the poetic in Chicago. We are surrounded by it. Nowhere more majestically and dramatically than in the stirring waters of Lake Michigan itself. What a geographic perspective, as far as the eye can see. Hauntingly, today we can gaze upon the same image that Chicagoans saw in 1900 or 1860 or in the days of old Fort Dearborn in 1812. The lake’s drama never gets old. But I do not find much poetry in the carbuncle of Navy Pier. It’s there. It’s not going away. But don’t let anyone tell you it’s poetic.

I find the “skyscraper wall” of South Michigan Avenue highly poetic. It’s America in the late 1920s. Pure. Confident. The shape, the architecture, the proportioned elegance of the streetscape and the parklands. The motion of scaled design. All this is Chicago’s great gift to the world. Here is our metropolis’ deep poetic footprint. Like nowhere else in town.

I find that “The Bowman” and “The Spearman,” Indians on horseback by Croatian Sculptor Ivan Mestrovic, 1926-27, at Congress Parkway, powerfully poetic. Naked as Moses they are. But grander than any public statue you could find anywhere in America. The sculptor taught at the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Indiana for the rest of his life after completing the commission. The statue committee said they wanted two Mestrovic’s Bowman and Spearman, gateway to Grant Park.

Indians. They were thinking huge feathered war bonnets, the full Hollywood gear. Not Mestrovic’s perceptions. He did them bare butt naked with anatomically perfect muscles, almost collapsing the commission. But their poetry has never been in question. Chicago grew a lot the day they were unveiled.

I think the 1927 landmark, Buckingham Fountain, in Grant Park, is dramatically filled with poetry. One of the world’s largest fountains, it was the gift of a Brahmin family of wealth and power for a lost brother, Clarence Buckingham. After almost a century, it still captivates the metropolis with its size and style. It is chiseled from poetry. What a gift. Its lines are reflective of the Latona Fountain at the Palace of Versailles.

Ashland Avenue is pure poetry for me. Stretching the length of the city, up north it is a grand boulevard of trees and botanicals running down the center of the thoroughfare. It connects more neighborhoods of variety and ethnic traditions than any other street, with the exception of Western Avenue. But Ashland does it so much better. From the far South Side all the way up to Rogers Park this street displays it all. In a concise, urban grid, neighborhood after neighborhood unfolds a mighty powerful urban poetic expression.

Where else? I find Chinatown poetic. The sense of Asian connections, pagoda-roofed, is very much alive. A powerful self-understanding is dynamic and is reflected in the passion for traditional cooking. Restaurants are everywhere. But I do not find the Randolph Street corridor very poetic. It is too sterile. Too manicured. Too well ordered to the suburban taste of Millennials.

However, I find Greek Islands at Halsted and Adams to be powerfully poetic. The food is high-end compared to the other Greek restaurants. Quality food makes this a fantastic location. The wines are refined and well suited to the food. This is poetry in action. Opah.

The poetic also reveals a strong sense of local character here, a dynamic sense of place, a refined sense of style and taste, an authentic sense of self, and the ability to engage people in thoughtful and deeply touching ways. Greek Town captures a significant set of components in establishing the true sense of the poetic.

I think Greek wine is a classic example of this hunt for the poetic in life. Melliates Red is a fruity and robust Greek table wine. It is a perfect wine to drink with the robust variety of flavors in Greek food. The wine is experiential for me. Which means that you do not need a lot of knowledge about Greek wine to enjoy Greek wine. As soon as it comes to your lips you know that you have something to cherish and enjoy. You have found a wine that works. You have discovered something full-bodied and engaging. Something Greeks have known for two thousand years.

So I guess the poetic is alive and engaging in Chicago. Sights and sounds and tastes. You just have to be on the look-out. Step off the foot path. You have to know where to look.

DRAKE PLUG-PULL: No...No...the Drake Hotel has announced that it will be closing the famed Cape Cod Room, a rarified Chicago eatery that opened during the Century of Progress in 1933 and claimed generations of Chicagoans and tourists alike among its fans with its East Lake Shore Drive entry way and highly polished, glimmering oyster bars ... and old-fashioned seafood menu. Of course, it was always locked in a time warp and very expensive, but for many visitors before the new age of seafood affordability, this was where you had to pay a stop when visiting Chicago. The Drake kept this checker-table-clothed room open as a loving mark of respect for decades. There is a lot to learn about what this all means for the social history of a city. What great stories unfolded here among the well-healed and martini swilling grandees? Everyone is scrambling to get in one last time before its New Year closing. ADIEU.

HANDS OFF MY MOM: Was there a very quiet thermonuclear explosion recently at the Saddle and Cycle Club after a well-known politico was caught being way too touchy-feely to a fading socialite chanteuse? The kicker is the wounded party was the youngish adult son of the lady getting creeped. Apparently he’s one Irish Catholic who draws the line on mauling mama. Witnesses say his words were deep and deliberate and spoken in audible low tones that chilled the blood of some who overheard. The young man, a very wise lawyer, began reciting a grocery list of career damaging responses he would initiate to the rather inebriated veteran pol. Not the first time such tales have been told. Friends prevented the lad from dragging this low life outside and driving his car over his head. Yikes.

The Walnut Room: A family tradition continues

It wouldn't be Christmastime for my family without a trip to the Walnut Room.

So I gathered my two oldest granddaughters, Jordan, three, and Shannon, who will be two on Dec. 30, and my husband and I headed downtown. The tree is absolutely gorgeous, no surprise there. And the food was delicious, as usual. And Santa was very jolly, of course!

Heart of the 'Hood

By Felicia Dechter

And the most beautiful fairy princesses were granting wishes and singing songs and sprinkling us with pixie dust. We spent time with Princesses Jade Nicole and Amy Luna, and Lydia, princess of the flowers, who lives in the trees of Chicago when she's not at the North Pole.

And although it was the same routine as I've done for so many years of my life, this time I felt different. I think it was a feeling of profound thankfulness, that my cancer-fighting husband was able to go and feel good and have a wonderful afternoon with his granddaughters. Thankfulness that we made it through the last six months of chemotherapy. Grateful that he's alive.

It's funny how your world and your perception can change so quickly. And how the things in life that already were special -- like being at the Walnut Room at Christmastime -- become even more so.

I hope you can all get down there and experience all of the beauty of the holiday season that Macy's offers. Grab a loved one or two, it's not only a treat but also you're creating a wonderful memory that will last forever.

Joy to the world... and also to the children attending George Manierre Elementary School and the Catherine Ferguson Child Parent Center, as they will once again receive holiday presents thanks to the North Dearborn Association's Joy of Toys Holiday Toy Drive. This year is the 23rd annual, being held from 1 to 3:30 p.m., Dec. 3, as usual at Mario's Table, 21 W. Goethe St. Everyone is invited to join in the fun at this annual holiday tradition that brings together friends, neighbors and community businesses.

Since 1993 the NDA's annual toy drive has provided more than 6,900 kids with presents, children who might not otherwise get anything. The afternoon will feature food, spirits, music, and gift wrapping, and it's made possible thanks to the generosity of Mario Stefanini, owner of Mario's Table, who provides the holiday cheer year after year.

Admission is free but you have to bring a new, unwrapped gift for a child three to 10-years-old valued at $20. Suggested gifts include dolls, sports equipment, action figures, games and remote controlled toys (with batteries included). Please don't bring anything requiring a computer or other hardware, toy guns, oversized toys, and strictly educational or religious-themed items.

Princess Amy Luna, who lives in Ravenswood during her visit from her North Pole home, sprinkled Jordan, 3, and Shannon, soon to be 2, with fairy dust.

Catholic Charities dished out a heap of good will in Edgewater recently to grateful refugee families having a Thanksgiving dinner.

Nettelhorst Student Ambassadors Co-leaders: Danny Rosado, 13, and Mekkiye Ergun, 14, with a ForGoods' check-in bird.

Thanksgiving gratitude...

Nearly 120 refugees from Burma, Iraq, Syria, Democratic Republic of Congo, Iran, and Afghanistan recently celebrated their first Thanksgiving in the U.S. together, thanks to Catholic Charities' board of advisors, junior board and staff.

The crowd munched on the good old comfort foods of baked chicken, stuffing, and mashed potatoes at the 10th annual Catholic Charities Refugee Resettlement Thanksgiving held at St. Gregory's school cafeteria, 1677 W. Bryn Mawr Ave.

Catholic Charities' Refugee Resettlement Program has been helping refugees from around the world for more than 40 years. The program assists them in adapting to their new environment for up to two years by offering a variety of services, including securing housing, scheduling necessary health screenings, enrolling children in school, and assisting in job placement.

Although many of the folks didn't speak the same language, they were able to communicate. They shook hands, smiled at each other, and spoke two simple yet powerful words: "Thank you." The children played games and decorated hand turkeys, among many other fun activities.

"This event opens the eyes of our families to the generosity of our communities and makes them feel welcome in a country that they are still adjusting to," said Elmida Kulovic, program director of Catholic Charities Refugee Resettlement Program. "For them to have the opportunity to meet our board, volunteers, and other families who are going through the refugee experience makes their new home feel like a real home."

Radio flyers... once again, those oldies but goodies of the Sag-Aftra Senior Radio Players, an all professional group, will recreate a classic from the Golden Age of Radio -- for free -- at 7 p.m., Dec. 7 at the Chicago Cultural Center, 78 E. Washington St. "Meet Me In St. Louis," is the group's 85th show, described as a warm-hearted musical with the St. Louis World's Fair of 1904 as the background. It's being directed by North Sider Guy Barile, a founder of the Jeff Awards who also was the first director of "Grease," before it went to Broadway.

Artsy folks... like Lincoln Parker Michele Williams and Old Town resident Norman Baugher will sell their delightful works of art at the Chicago Assoc. of Visual Artists Small Works Exhibition and Holiday Sale, Dec. 2 to 4 at Gallery 1837, 1837 W. Grand Ave. An opening reception will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Dec. 2.

Williams will be displaying her watercolor pins, greeting cards and small matted art, while Baugher will exhibit his paintings, including his Blended, Fauna and Earth.

No angry birds here... When Nettelhorst Student Ambassadors arrive early each morning to welcome younger students to school, volunteers 'check-in' by scanning a ForGoods bird app, now a familiar sight in East Lakeview. The school is participating in an ambitious new pilot, 44 For Good, a broad-based initiative that leverages technology to inspire neighbors to volunteer, shop local and support their community.

Whimsical ForGoods check-in boards, designed by acclaimed local artist David Lee Csicsko, are now installed at hundreds of socially-responsible businesses, schools, libraries, parks, museums, nonprofits, public agencies, and faith-based organizations throughout the ward, according to ForGoods founder Jacqueline von Edelberg, a Lakeview resident who starred the app with her business partner, Beth Bond. Points are redeemable for all kinds of goods and services or can be donated back to a school PTA or favorite nonprofit.

"We are exactly like Belly in the regard that we are a loyalty/rewards program," said von Edelberg. "But our marketplace is universal -- points can be accrued and spent everywhere. We currently have over 2500 participating locations, 800 are in Lakeview."

Rewards range from coffee to spa services to discounted gift cards on Raise Local -- offered primarily by neighborhood merchants. "ForGoods' not only encourages people to shop local, the campaign helps drive awareness and support to our neighborhood schools and nonprofits," said Maureen Martino, executive director of the [www.lakevieweast.com] Lakeview East Chamber of Commerce. "Everyone wins."

The former AON Building, 5050 N. Broadway.

Two Uptown projects closer to reality

This week two upcoming Uptown developments were passed through the Committee on Zoning in City Hall last week and will now go before City Council for a final vote.

The former AON Building, 5050 N. Broadway, will become a mixed-use development with 710 dwelling units and commercial tenants on the first floor. The development will utilize the existing parking garage, which has 600 spaces, and improvements to the garage will be included in the development.

Developers say that they will file for permits by early Jan. 2017, and will notify neighbors when they know the expected timeline for construction.

This development will set aside 15% of the units for affordable housing.

The former Agudas Achim Synagogue, 5029 N. Kenmore, will become a 40-unit residential building and will also include on-site affordable units.

This historic building has been closed for over 10 years and in recent years, has been a public safety nuisance. The development, which will retain the historic facade, includes 21 parking spaces, with access from the alley, and a mix of one-bedroom and studio units.

The owner has agreed to install exterior security cameras in the front and rear of the building. The next step for developers is to secure further zoning relief at the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Salvador A. Ganir, a tough-as-nails Chicago softball player

The Home Front

By Don DeBat

Salvador A. Ganir, a tough-as-nails, Hall-Of-Fame 16” softball pitcher with a big personality, a winning smile and distinctive style on and off the field, has hung up his spikes.

Ganir, 74, passed away at Lutheran General Hospital in northwest suburban Park Ridge on Thanksgiving Day surrounded by his tight-knit, loving family.

He grew up in Lakeview and then bought a home in Ravenswood. For most of his professional life worked on Chicago’s North Side.

Sal ‘Buddy’ Ganir was one of the most talented and colorful players from the 1964-1979 ‘juiced-ball’ Era of Chicago softball. I considered him a close friend, teammate and he is a fellow softball Hall-of-Fame inductee. Sal was a force of nature—one of the most competitive sports personalities I ever played with, or against.

“Dad was a competitor and a man’s-man kind of guy,” said his son, David Ganir, who played left field for the legendary Dwarfs, his father’s softball team.

“In 2002, we were playing in the Hamlin Park tournament,” Dave recalled. “A tall, muscular, guy stepped up to bat, and my Dad moved me back to second base—on the next diamond! The ball was crushed about 270 feet on a line, and it’s a dancing knuckle ball. It was the hardest-hit ball I had ever seen. So I reached up to catch it and the ball dislocated my pinky finger and went past me for a home run.”

Unfazed, Sal simply popped his son’s finger back into place, tossed him a roll of tape, and told him to go back to the outfield. Then, he turned and said: “Next time, catch the ball and you won’t dislocate your finger. You have to make that catch.”

“And then he hugged me,” David Ganir recalled. “The stud who hit the ball was former Chicago Bear linebacker Brendon Ayanbadejo, a 240-pound professional ringer the opposing team brought out for the tournament.”

Ganir played “A-league” softball for the mighty Dwarfs at Clarendon Park and Kelly Park, and also starred in many local Chicago Park District [CPD] and ASA National Tournaments. Between 1968 and 1973, Ganir pitched the Dwarfs to 25 CPD championship titles. He also played third base and catcher. He was inducted into the 16” Chicago Softball Hall of Fame in 2012.

When asked about his profession, Ganir, a retired Peoples Gas employee, proudly said he was “a ditch digger.” After retiring from People’s Gas, Ganir worked as a part-time police officer in northwest suburban Rosemont.

Nicknamed the “Throw’n Samoan” for his stocky stature and Filipino and Italian heritage, Ganir was reviled for his competitive bull-dog nature by the late Eddie Zolna, pitcher for the perennial World Champion Bobcats, and other top teams, including American Rivet (Sobies) and Lyon’s 45s.

From 1968 until his retirement from the Peoples Gas company in 1999, Ganir pitched for the top-ranked Peoples Gas North team that battled in the Grant Park Industrial League.

At Grant Park, Peoples Gas was bracketed against famed newspaper columnist Mike Royko’s Chicago Sun-Times team, Continental Bank, Northern Trust, and Commonwealth Edison—all historic Tournament of Champions teams that have been inducted into the 16” Chicago Softball Hall of Fame.

In one memorable rain-soaked Grant Park tournament game against the Sun-Times in the 1980s, Peoples Gas players witnessed Ganir’s skill at barking at the umpire and manipulating the ball-and-strike calls.

For a defensive edge, Ganir inched back toward second base from the pitcher’s mound, telling the umpire: “I’m just a little guy from the islands. I don’t know how to pitch from this hole in the grass.”

A softball addict, Ganir also pitched for Risk, a young North Side saloon team, and helped it win six Tuesday-Thursday league championships at Hamlin Park in 1987, 1988 and 1989 with his “heavy, low-ball style” toss. In 1997, at age 55, Ganir pitched the Dwarfs to championships at Hamlin Park in both the Tuesday and Thursday “A” leagues.

Ganir even played softball for “relaxation” while on vacation. In the late 1980s, Ganir and a group of top Chicago players formed the Summer Winds team and traveled to Arizona for major 16” “A” tournaments held in March during Chicago Cubs’ spring training.

Respected for his quick wit, legendary love of food, and drink, chef Ganir enjoyed grilling a whole white fish—stuffed with spices, onions, garlic and vegetables—on his barbecue.

Ganir said his culinary talents were inherited from his parents. His father, Martin, was a maitre’d at the Pearson Hotel in downtown Chicago. His mother, Frances, worked at the old Club Waikiki, a colorful Hawaiian nightclub with a Tiki umbrella on the roof at Clarendon and Wilson avenues in Uptown.

“Dad grew up near Diversey and Sheffield on Chicago’s North Side. He was a football star at Lake View High School and graduated in 1960,” said David Ganir.

A gifted athlete, Ganir was the captain of the Lake View football team, played defensive back, running back and was the punter. “His legendary 70-yard punt in 1959 was the longest in Chicago Public League football history,” David Ganir said. The record lasted until 1991.

Ganir is survived by Sandra (nee Priedel)—his high school sweetheart and wife of 53 years—and sons David and Darren Ganir, and grandchildren, Madison, Dominic, Jacob, Salvador, Brandon and Kristin.

Services have already been held. A 16” Clincher softball was placed in Ganir’s casket.

New Joffrey Nutcracker will be set in 1893 Chicago World's Fair

ZooLights spans entire zoo grounds, extends hours

The 22nd annual ZooLights returns to the Lincoln Park Zoo this week with extended hours, new events and light coverage spanning the entire zoo for the first time in the event's history. The event is free and open to the general public.

Events returning this year include ice skating at the zoo now on select nights through Feb. 26, BrewLights (Dec. 1), Adults Night Out at ZooLights (Dec. 7), Members-Only Night (Dec. 8), and ZooLights Family Nights (Dec. 12, 19 and 26).

For the first time this year, the zoo will host Holiday Market (Nov. 29), a new, one-night-only outdoor shopping site to encourage guests begin their holiday purchases early. The zoo will host the Chris White Trio Tribute to "Vince Guaraldi's Charlie Brown Christmas" (Dec. 15) at Café Brauer.

A Chicago holiday tradition, ZooLights celebrates wintertime fun with more than two million lights to illuminate the zoo from Farm-in-the-Zoo on the southernmost end of grounds, to the new Walter Family Arctic Tundra polar bear exhibit on the northernmost end of the zoo. This holiday event transitions Lincoln Park Zoo into a twinkling winter wonderland and is complete with visits from Santa himself through Dec. 23, ice sculptors, holiday crafts and activities, and sweet treats of all kinds.

Due to its high demand, ZooLights now features extended hours from 4:30-9 p.m. ZooLights runs Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights from Nov. 25-27, and Dec. 2-4. It then runs nightly Dec. 9 through Jan. 1 (excluding Dec. 24 and 25).

For one night only, the Chris

CORRECTION: Edgewater Singers holiday concert is Dec. 10 at St. Gertrude's

The Edgewater Singers will celebrate their community during a concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10, at St. Gertrude's Church, 1420 W. Granville Ave.

In last week's newspaper we said the concert is on Dec. 4, which it is not.

The group will perform a variety of ethnic holiday songs that honor traditions from the many waves of immigrants who have made Edgewater their first home in America, as well as an early American hymn from the sacred harp tradition.

The program will also feature the work of Edgewater composers Philip Seward, Elizabeth Doyle and Patrick Godon, and local poet KC Conway.

For more information about An Edgewater Holiday call 773-802-3910.

White Trio Tribute to "Vince Guaraldi's Charlie Brown Christmas" will enable guests to tap their toes and sing along to this soulful jazz tribute to a holiday classic. The event runs from 6:30-8 p.m. on Dec. 15 at Café Brauer with tickets costing at $20 or more.

Ice Skating at the zoo alongside animals is underway now. There is a $5 entry cost and skate rental is available for $5 as well. Hours vary.

Highly popular last season, the zoo is again producing ZooLights Family Nights Mondays, Dec. 12, 19 and 26. These fun-filled evenings include all regular ZooLights activities along with free rides on the Endangered Species Carousel and Lionel Train Adventure. On these nights, kids also eat free at Park Place Café (one free limited kids' menu item with paid adult entrée or combo meal). Lincoln Park Zoo members of all levels can enjoy free parking on ZooLights Family Nights, too.

Back by popular demand, join Louis Glunz Beer for the third annual BrewLights, Thursday, Dec. 1, 5:30-9:30 p.m. This event features a dozen local craft, seasonal and import beers on tap throughout the zoo during ZooLights. Beer lovers can sip and savor beer samples while enjoying the holiday lights that illuminate the zoo and connecting with wildlife. All of the proceeds support the efforts of the zoo's Auxiliary Board. BrewLights is exclusively for guests 21 years and older.

The second annual Adults Night Out at ZooLights offers guests ages 18 and older the chance to enjoy an exclusive look at the zoo's light presentation. The adult-centered evening will take place on Dec. 7. Food, beer and wine are available for purchase throughout the evening. The event runs from 6:30-10 p.m. Tickets are $15.

Winter Lights Music Night Dec. 4 at Senn Park

The Senn Park Advisory Council is hosting Winter Lights Music Night at Senn Park, offering an evening of lights, music and hot cocoa.

Guests will enjoy musical performances by students from Nicholas Senn High School and the Rickover Naval Academy's jazz ensemble. The students will lead a community sing-along following their performance. The event will take place Sunday, Dec. 4, 5 p.m., at the Senn Park pergola just west of the school playlet. Admission is free but the hot cocoa is $1.

TRADITION from p. 3

When Nettelhorst Student Ambassadors recently set about planning a dance for 180 fellow middle school students, the Laugh Factory and Chipotle Mexican Grill on Broadway stepped up to the plate in a big way, offering a party valued at more than $2,000, said von Edelberg. Students, parents and community members earned enough points by volunteering and simply 'checking-in' with neighborhood merchants that the Ambassadors were able to pool their points to redeem the generous donation.

Letters to the Editor

Three cheers for Cupich!

Cardinal Cupich merits our applause. The two most important societal matters that he can hope to influence are the following:

One, to help to achieve a significant return to the intact family as we have known it, meaning two effective, on-duty parents in the home. Two, to encourage people to make a committed connection to an organized belief system or religion.

If he can use his considerable influence and fine humanitarian skills to affect any of the above, our challenged city will reap benefits for which it will be indebted.

Congratulations, and best wishes to you, Cardinal Cupich.

Thanks... you like me, you really like me!

For the last eight years as a Commissioner for the MWRD, I have traveled throughout Cook County and met with many of you to discuss water quality, flooding, and local infrastructure. I have found this civic engagement to be the most rewarding aspect of public service. Your input and commitment have solidified my resolve to push for a safe and healthy water environment.

Thank you for joining in this effort. And thank you for your support during this long and tiresome election season. Over 900,000 voters elected me to a second term as Commissioner of the MWRD. I am truly humbled, and I am excited to continue to serve as your advocate for a greener, more sustainable, Cook County.

*Mariyana T. Spyropoulos
President, MWRD*

For residents only, thank you

If a person is not legally present in the USA, he can't be legally present in any sub-area of the country, including States and Cities. This is simple deductive logic* which does not have to be spelled out in the law to be true.

[We exclude the property of foreign consulates, which enjoy the legal fiction of being "foreign" territory.]

Therefore, illegal aliens should not be eligible for any City programs which require legal residence here. This includes library cards and discount cards for our cultural institutions. It's a far cry from simply not cooperating with Federal enforcement efforts for our national immigration laws. Including illegal aliens in many programs which are explicitly for residents only is gratuitous and shows us Mayor Emanuel's true colors.

Illegal aliens are eligible for emergency services such as hospital emergency rooms.

Foreign citizens who are in the USA legally all have some documents and identification which makes them eligible for exactly what their statuses entitle them to, and no more. They don't need any extra municipal ID cards.

Trio of former North Side elementary schools approved for Landmark Status

Three former North Side elementary schools were designated as official City of Chicago landmarks by City Council last Wednesday.

The former Stewart School building, 4524 N. Kenmore Ave. in Uptown, is noted for a modern exterior and functional interior. Designed by architect Dwight Perkins and completed in 1907, the red-brick and gray-limestone trim building serves as a fine example of an early transitional Prairie Style building that echoes 19th century Revival styles with a pitched roof and wide, bracketed, and copper-clad eaves. Purchased by Morningside Equities Group Inc. in 2015, the four-story building is being converted into market-rate housing. The school is named for businessman and civic leader Graeme Stewart.

The former Peabody school building at 1444 W. Augusta Blvd. in West Town reflects Romanesque and Queen Anne styles with progressive visual Arts and Craft elements. The school's exterior materials include finely-detailed and crafted ornament in stone, molded brick and terra cotta, trimmed with a pressed metal cornice. Constructed in 1894 and designed by architect W. August Fiedler, the school contains several elements influenced by the work of Louis H. Sullivan, including its stone arch entrances.

It's named educator Elizabeth Palmer Peabody, a noted advocate for early- childhood education.

The four-story brick and limestone Motley school building at 739 N. Ada St. exemplifies late 19th century school design ideals with large windows and high ceilings that provided airy and well-lighted classrooms. Designed by the Board of Education's in-house architect John J. Flanders with an addition by Norman Smith Patton in 1898, the 1884 structure combines historic Chicago school architecture with Renaissance Revival and Italianate style decorative details, including an original pressed metal cornice. The school is named for John Lothrop Motley, an American historian, novelist, and diplomat.

The Peabody and Motley school properties were purchased in 2014 and 2015 respectively by Svigos Asset Management and are being converted into market-rate housing. [Svigos has also purchased the Trumbull School property at Ashland and Foster in Andersonville.]

All three school structures were closed in 2013 in part due to underutilization, and most certainly also due to the underlying real estate values each of the properties offered. The designations were recommended by the Commission on Chicago Landmarks in July 2016.

How to outwit Porch Pirates and hackers during holiday shopping season

Americans' love affair with online shopping continues to grow, and retailers predict a 10% increase in online sales this holiday season, according to the National Retail Federation.

But many North Side residents remember the rash of Porch Pirates last year that made taking delivery of home-delivered packages from online retailers left on the doorstep during the day a real risk.

Security experts are reiterating their annual warnings that the convenience of online shopping comes with hazards. Not only can Porch Pirates swipe gifts like a Grinch, but online shoppers could become the target of hackers out to steal your credit card or bank information.

"Consumers need to take proper precautions if they don't want their holiday merriment turning into holiday gloom," says Gary Miliefsky, CEO of SnoopWall, a company that specializes in cyber security.

Changing all your passwords frequently is one way to protect what's yours. Deleting smartphone or tablet apps you don't use is another smart move, Miliefsky says, because many of those apps may be malware that spies on you.

Even porch pirates – generally seen as low-tech thieves who simply cruise neighborhoods looking for packages – can go high tech by infiltrating your smartphone where they can eavesdrop on your orders and deliveries.

"Both porch pirates and hackers count on people being lax with their defenses," Miliefsky says. "But with a little preparation you can thwart their plans."

He offers a few tips for doing just that:

- Shop online only from websites you trust. If you don't know where the merchant is located, don't shop online there. If they don't have a corporate address or are located in another country, it could be iffy whether you ever see the goods you think you purchased. Also, if their shopping-cart experience is not an HTTPS browser session, then everything you type in – your name, address and credit-card information – is going over the Internet unencrypted, in plain view.

- Pay with credit cards rather than debit cards. If you experience identity theft, credit card laws allow you to keep all of your credit immediately, with no responsibility during an identity theft or fraud investigation. With a debit card, your bank's policy can be to tie up your money in the amount of the fraudulent transactions for up to 30 days. Some have been known to take up to 60 days to resolve the issue.

- Get permission to ship all your packages to work. That way they aren't left unguarded at your doorstep for hours where anyone walking by could snatch them. If this arrangement works out, be sure to tell all your friends and family also to ship packages to your work address.

- Ask a friend or neighbor to receive your packages for you. You might not be home on work days, but plenty of people are. Trusted friends who are retired or who work at home might be happy to let you have packages delivered to them for safe keeping.

"It's wonderful that you can go online and track down those hard-to-find gifts that aren't available in local shops," Miliefsky says. "Just make sure you're taking measures to help keep you and your personal information safe. The holidays will be a whole lot brighter if you do."

Police Beat....

‘This is my rifle, this is my gun’
Stark naked on the porch with gun?
Police were called to an apartment in Edgewater Nov. 9 after a woman reported seeing her neighbor standing naked on the porch with a rifle in his hands.

Officers did not arrest the man, 57, who admitted walking naked around his apartment in the 6200 block of N. Hermitage Ave. after he allowed them to search his unit and no rifle could be found.

The man did turn over an unloaded .45 caliber handgun to police, stating it belonged to a friend who had left it at his place and that he had no use for it. The gun was in a box inside a hall closet, according to police, and did not match the description of the long-barreled rifle the woman claimed she saw.

According to her statement, she had looked out a window around 1:15 p.m. and saw the man sitting naked in a chair on his balcony touching his genitals. A short time later, she said she looked again and said he was standing naked with a rifle in his hands.

No arrests were made and no charges were pending, according to police.

Woman says man pointed gun during argument
Chicago Police were seeking a 19-year-old male who a woman accused of pointing a handgun at her during an argument Nov. 15 on Juneway Terrace in Rogers Park.

Officers were called about 5 p.m. to the 1500 block of Juneway Terrace where an alleged aggravated assault with a handgun had occurred.

They were met by a 22-year-old woman who named a teenage male who she said she had been arguing with in the street a short time earlier. During that argument, the teen allegedly pulled a loaded .45 caliber semi-automatic handgun from his waistband and pointed it at her, threatening to kill her, police said.

Officers toured the area but did not make any arrests. No updates were available at the time of publication.

Man robbed at gunpoint
A man told police he was robbed by three men, one of whom was armed with a gun, outside the Howard Red Line CTA station the morning of Nov. 18.

The 55-year-old victim said he was on Howard St. around 3 a.m. when he passed in front of the station. Three men had emerged from a doorway and confronted him. One of the men had a handgun and pointed it at him, according to police.

The victim gave the men keys and $40 cash, police said. Officers toured the area but no arrests were made.

Teen threatened with gun trying to leave home
A teenager told police he was threatened with a handgun while trying to leave his building on Jonquil Terrace during a big group fight taking place outside his building.

Police were called about 9:30 p.m. on Nov. 11 to the 1500 block of Jonquil Terrace, where two large groups, one outside the building and one inside, were yelling at each other and appeared close to a brawl.

A 19-year-old male stopped the officers and said that a gun had been pointed at him several minutes earlier in the hallway inside his building when he had attempted to leave. The victim said he knew the three males who had first yelled at him before shoving him against a wall and pointing the gun at him. According to police, those boys were 14, 17, and 19-years-old.

After pointing the gun at him, the three ran deeper into the building and up a staircase. Officers searched the building but did not find any of them home, according to the report.

The two groups were dispersed before any fighting started and no arrests were made, police said.

Police catch sex offender walking in traffic
Police arrested a man Nov. 14 for failing to register as a sex offender after they found him obstructing traffic on Western Ave. in the West Ridge area.

Officers found the 27-year-old about 9:50 p.m. on Western near Devon Ave. walking slowly across the four-lane road outside of a crosswalk, forcing vehicles to stop or swerve out of the way to avoid hitting him.

They discovered he was a sex offender who had failed to register his address since May of this year during an identity check, according to the report. The man was arrested and taken to the 24th District lock up.

First armed robbery in West Ridge, second would follow
An Evanston man told police that a handgun was jammed into his stomach during a Nov. 12 armed robbery in West Ridge.

The 28-year-old called police from his sister's cell-phone about 9:45 p.m. after he was robbed at gunpoint in the 7400 block of N. Western Ave.

According to his statement, two men had confronted him on the street as one of the men stuck a gun into his stomach while demanding property. He gave the pair a cell-phone worth approximately $500 and began backing away while shouting that he did not have any money, police said.

The gunman and the accomplice allegedly ran west on Birchwood Ave. while the victim ran to a nearby restaurant where his sister was eating to call 911, police said. No arrests were made.

Second armed robbery a lot like the first
A second armed robbery in West Ridge occurred Nov. 12 about one block from an incident where a man had a gun jammed into his stomach while his cell-phone was stolen.

In the second incident, a 55-year-old said he too had a gun pushed into his stomach while he was robbed by two men about 9:50 p.m. in the 2500 block of W. Fargo Ave. for $7 cash.

The first incident reportedly took place about one block north-west around 9:45 p.m., police said. Both victim's descriptions of the gunman, who was a heavy-set black male wearing a letterman's jacket, matched each other.

The victim said he had left Candlelite Chicago and walked south before turning west onto Fargo, where he encountered the two men. After taking the cash the pair went back east on Fargo toward Western Ave., the victim said. Officers toured the area but did not make any arrests.

Felon with gun chased down
Police chased a convicted felon through east Rogers Park before arresting him and finding a handgun tucked into his pants.

A team of plain clothes officers had spotted Rashee Grant, 30, a convicted felon, loitering about 8:45 p.m. on a corner in the 7700 block of N. Paulina St., according to a report of the incident.

When the officers, who approached in an unmarked vehicle, stopped in front of Grant, he allegedly said, "Not today," and began running.

The officers chased him along Jonquil Terrace and through an alley east of Paulina St. before Grant tripped and fell, which allowed officers to catch him and pin him down, according to the report.

Once pinned, Grant stated that he had a handgun in his pocket, which the officers recovered. The gun was documented as a .380 semi-automatic loaded with seven rounds. Grant was taken to the 24th District lock up.

Cops seek suspect in North/Clybourn Red Line robbery

Chicago police are asking for the public's help in identifying a suspected robbery offender.

The robbery took place on a CTA Red Line train as it approached the North and Clybourn stop around noon on Oct. 26, detectives said.

The woman pictured here tried to take another passenger's phone by force. When that failed, the suspect pulled the victim from her seat by her hair and tried to drag her off of the train at the Clybourn station, police said.

The suspect then fled into the Clybourn station with two other black females and a white female.

Anyone with information about the incident or the suspect is asked to contact Area Central detectives at 312-747-8382 about case HZ498147.

Cops seek Lincoln Park burglars

Area North Detectives are looking for two suspects in connection with a Nov. 21 burglary in Lincoln Park.

Police say the two men pried their way into a garage in the 1800 block of N. Mohawk around 1 p.m. and took items from inside.

The offenders are described as two black men between 25- and 35-years-old who drove a black 2-door Nissan.

Anyone with information about the men can call detectives at 312-747-8382 about case HZ524109.

Three charged with stabbing, robbing homeless man

Three Chicago men stabbed and robbed a homeless man of his book bag in the South Loop, and they all now face felony robbery and aggravated battery charges, police said.

Officers responded to a call of a battery in progress in the 300 block of S. Michigan at 9:10 p.m. on Nov. 21 and arrived in time to disrupt the attack in progress.

Police arrested Francisco Arroyo, 23, Jerry Teran, 22, and Julio Chavez, 22, at the scene.

The 57-year-old victim suffered four stab wounds and was taken to Northwestern Memorial Hospital in serious condition.

A judge set bail for Arroyo at $150,000. Teran and Chavez are being held in lieu of $100,000 bail.

Felon charged with stealing $1100 worth of Oil Of Olay from Lakeview Mariano's

Even a 27-year-old convicted felon needs soft, supple skin.

William E. Mayor Jr., 27, of North Center was arrested at the new Lakeview Mariano's store this month after security saw him try to walk out the front door with a basket containing 41 boxes of Oil of Olay worth $1,097, according to court records.

Mayor was paroled in late September after serving 10 months of a two-year narcotics sentence, according to state records.

Mariano's security told police that Mayor "has done this before," but we could not find any other cases involving Mayor and the grocery store at 3030 N. Broadway.

He did, however, get charged with stealing more than $300 worth of merchandise from Costco in Lincoln Park two years ago.

William E. Mayor Jr.

OIL OF OY VEY! Another man caught stealing Oil Of Olay

Just days after William Mayor Jr. was charged with trying to shoplift $1,100 worth of Oil of Olay from a Lakeview

Sanjay Malhotra

Mariano's, another man was charged with armed robbery for trying to steal $544 worth of the same product from a nearby Jewel-Osco.

Chicago police were called to the Jewel store at 2940 N. Ashland around 10 p.m. on Nov. 18 after store security reported that they had detained a man for shoplifting.

Jewel security told officers that they saw Sanjay Malhotra, 49, of Garfield Park load 20 boxes of Oil of Olay products into two canvas bags and then head for the exit.

When security stopped Malhotra near the front door, Malhotra began to struggle with the guard and then brandished a syringe while threatening to stab the agent, prosecutors said.

The guard was able to detain Malhotra for police.

Prosecutors charged him with armed robbery, aggravated battery of a merchant, and retail theft of more than $300. A judge set Malhotra's bail at $100,000.

Police investigating two armed robberies

Police are investigating the armed robberies of two Lakeview stores early Sunday morning. No one is in custody, but the same team is suspected in both crimes.

Around 1:30 a.m., a man walked into the Walgreens at 3201 N. Broadway, approached the register, and pulled out a handgun in an attempt to rob the clerk.

The robbery failed when all of the store employees fled into a back room with their manager, police said. No money was taken.

Video footage shows the gunman run out of the store and climb into the back passenger seat of a vehicle that sped south on Broadway and east on Belmont, police said.

About 20 minutes later, the same man entered the Jewel-Osco store at 3400 N. Western and robbed a cashier at gunpoint, police said.

The clerk, who is Hispanic, told police that the gunman is Puerto Rican. He fled the store with two women and they all climbed into the same white vehicle that was used in the Walgreens attempt, police said.

Police said the gunman has facial hair, is about 20-years-old, and wore a blue jacket with black sleeves and khaki pants.

Witnesses said the vehicle is a white newer model four-door vehicle with tinted windows, possibly a Maxima or Altima.

The two accomplices at Jewel are described only as black females.

SHORT-CIRCUIT COURT: Is it true that a sitting, balding, presently unmarried Cook County Circuit Court Judge up North keeps a collection of trophy ladies underpants in the glove compartment of his car? Word is they are just for show and bragging to ladies he tries to woo. To many ladies he is known by his judicial nickname, Halitosis.

Iconic Gold Coast restaurant closing after 83 years

Cape Cod Room serving last Executive Martini on New Years Eve

A Gold Coast icon is closing. After over 80 years of business inside the The Drake Hotel, 140 E. Walton Pl., management has announced that they will be closing The Cape Cod Room after its service this New Years Eve.

As first reported by Phil Vettel in the Chicago Tribune, one of Chicago’s oldest restaurants will mark the end of its era Dec. 30 on its final night of service, a casualty of pending extensive renovations that are expected to last three years and transform the Drake’s Arcade level.

The fine-dining restaurant, known for seafood and Executive Martinis, has served many celebrities and locals over it’s 83 year history.

Regulars know that Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio carved their initials into the restaurant’s bar shortly after getting married in 1954. The Cape Cod Room first opened in 1933 during Chicago’s Century of Progress International Exhibition.

The Cape Cod says that it will resurrect some of its retired classic dishes for the final stretch, including classic items such as fresh-shucked oysters, Bookbinder soup and shrimp de Jonghe. After closing, some of its iconic dishes will be featured menu items in the Coq d’Or Restaurant & Lounge.

Chicago Shares’ grants bolster North Side non-profits

Chicago Shares has announced its 2016 grant recipients. Chicago Shares is a Chicago not-for-profit founded in 1993 that provides meals to the hungry through a voucher program.

Each year a certain percentage of the vouchers purchased are never redeemed, thus providing a reserve of funds from which grants are made.

Recently the organization announced that it is providing $15,000 in grants to 10 Chicago area not-for-profits that subscribe to a “help-the-needy” mission.

Grant recipients have underscored that these grants are particularly welcome now as other resources including state and local funding continue to dwindle.

The 2016 grant recipients on the North Side include:

Lincoln Park Community Shelter, 600 W. Fullerton Pkwy.; Breakthrough, 402 N. Saint Louis Ave.; Care for Rea, 5339 N. Sheridan Rd.; Fourth Presbyterian Church, 126 E. Chestnut; Common Pantry, 3744 N. Damen; The Chicago Help Initiative, 440 N Wells St.; Catholic Charities, Archdiocese of Chicago, 721 N. LaSalle St., and Franciscan Outreach, 1645 W. LeMoyné.

For more information on where Chicago Shares are sold and where they can be redeemed, email coordinator@chicagoshares.org.

tremendous demand for an active age 55 and over community at that location,” Wallace said, noting that 55,000 residents over age 65 live within a five-mile radius of Greystar’s proposed development.

Asked by a woman who identified herself as a member of the Edgewater Beach Apartments board whether Greystar had checked into the legality of using the Edgewater Beach name, Greystar lawyer Grahme Grady said the developers hadn’t.

Grady said “all our projects are called “overture,” followed by where they’re located. “But if you have the legal rights to (the Edgewater Beach) name, we’d certainly change our name.”

Grady and Wallace said the building will have 204 parking spaces for Overture

Edgewater residents and some spots for neighborhood residents.

Amenities will include an outdoor swimming pool, grilling area, exercise room, hair salon, sundry store, hair salon, dry cleaners, bike storage, storage lockers for each apartment, washers and dryers in each unit, and daily activities including yoga classes, trips to concerts and museums, and shopping excursions.

Greystar executives said that if all goes according to plan, the $75 million project would take 18 months to complete. Construction is scheduled to start next September and run through March, 2019.

Ald. Harry Osterman (48th) said a more formal community hearing will be held some time before the projects goes up for approval by the City Council.

treating STDs. These include infertility and chronic pain.

If the adverse health outcomes are not bad enough, STDs place a severe financial burden on the American taxpayer. Officials at the CDC estimate STDs cost the American healthcare system nearly $16 million per year.

In his written statement, the director of the CDC’s National Center for HIV/AIDS said he believes more, not less, public health outreach needs to be done to reverse the increase. Such efforts would ultimately reduce costs.

“STD prevention resources across the nation are stretched thin, and we’re beginning to see people slip through the public health safety net. Turning the STD epidemics around requires bolstering prevention efforts and addressing new challenges – but the payoff is substantial in terms of improving health, reducing disparities and saving billions of dollars,” said Dr. Jonathan Mermin, MD, MPH, director of CDC’s National Center for HIV/AIDS, Viral Hepatitis, STD, and TB Prevention, in a written statement on Oct. 19.

The CDC provides support to state and local health departments. This support includes disease monitoring and other critical support services. The agency also issues and maintains testing and treatment guidelines for patients.

“We have reached a decisive moment for the nation. STD rates are rising, and many of the country’s systems for preventing STDs have eroded. We must mobilize, rebuild and expand services – or the human and economic burden will continue to grow,” Mermin added.

Editor’s Note: This newspaper reached out to the Chicago Dept. of Health to include them in this story but they refused to comment and claimed to be embargoing their most recent data to be released Thursday at a social function in Lincoln Park.
