

City has federal money for new CTA station at State / Lake but still short $18 million

BY STEVEN DAHLMAN
Loop North News

The CTA station at State & Lake in the Loop will join the 21st century with the help of $56.9 million in federal funding, Mayor Rahm Emanuel announced last week.

The station will be reconstructed and modernized. It will be ADA-compliant and have wider platforms.

“The CTA hub at State and Lake is an iconic location in the heart of Chicago and it deserves a state-of-the-art station,” said Emanuel. “This project has been talked about for more than a decade and now we are moving forward on plans to rebuild this station and ensure a modern and reliable transit system for Chicago’s residents.”

The $56.9 million comes from the Congestion Mitigation and Air Quality Improvement program, which provides money for transportation projects that reduce traffic congestion and air pollution. It is the same federal program that paid for the new CTA station at Washington / Wabash that opened in September.

It will not cover the full cost of construction, which the city expects to be more than $75 million. The mayor said that the city “plans to seek additional federal funding for construction.”

The city does have $5.5 million

Alderman says City having trouble recruiting new police

BY PATRICK BUTLER

This year’s city budget is going to be even more interesting than usual, Ald. Tom Tunney [44th] predicted last week.

And it isn’t just a matter of dollars and cents this time around, he said.

Speaking at an Oct. 18 Lake View Kiwanis Club meeting at Ann Sather’s restaurant, 909 W. Belmont Ave., Tunney said the Police Dept. is having a hard time finding recruits.

“I know we’re aggressively seeking new officers, but when we had an open house here in Lakeview not long ago, there were only a handful of interested people,” Ald. Tunney said. “We’ve even gone outside the city to recruit.”

cruit police officers” for Chicago. “They’re doing three tests a year, compared to past years when there was a waiting list to get on,” he said.

So why is a job where you can legitimately earn $72,000 a year with full benefits and a pension going begging?

Some veteran officers say ‘it’s just not the same anymore,’ offering a variety of reasons why.

The dynamics underpinning the shortages vary, but there are national trends making it harder for police forces to attract applicants. The first is a strong economy. When plenty of jobs are available, people are usually less motivated to enter dangerous professions.

Ald. Tunney noted the recent Justice Dept. investigation and

Rejected license application means local security firm loses another NFL contract

Also provides security for Cubs, Bears, UC, Gay Pride and Marathon

BY CWBCHICAGO.COM

Trouble continues to grow for Monterrey Security, the Chicago-based company that provides guard services for the Cubs, Bears, Blackhawks, and major events like the Chicago Pride Parade and Chicago Marathon.

Last Thursday, Monterrey lost a contract to protect the Buffalo Bills’ NFL stadium after New York regulators refused to issue the company a license to provide security services in the state.

“The Buffalo Bills have terminated our agreement after recently learning that [Monterrey’s] application for a security guard company license was denied by the New York State Division of Licensing Services,” the Bills said in a statement.

Regulators sent Monterrey a so-called “letter of proposed denial” Oct. 16, giving the company 35 days to challenge the decision.

This action comes less than a month after Monterrey lost its license to operate in Minnesota and lost its contract to provide security for the Minnesota Viking’s stadium in the Twin Cities.

An internal investigation in Minnesota found “hundreds and hundreds and hundreds” of Monterrey’s personnel were not adequately trained and licensed according to Richard Hodsdon, chairman of the Minnesota Private Detective and Protective Services Agency Board. The firm also double-billed the stadium and failed to conduct background checks, officials said.

“Our company has always been about second chances,” Monterrey said in released a statement, “about hiring people from disadvantaged communities, and about protecting the people we have been hired to serve. We never hire

More Red Light cameras coming downtown

Three new locations downtown have been recommended for the Red Light Camera (RLC) enforcement program.

The Chicago Dept. of Transportation (CDOT) has proposed installation of red light cameras at Michigan Ave. and Ontario St.; Michigan Ave. and Jackson, and Lake St. and Wacker Dr.

CDOT claims that these installations are based on criteria derived from a Northwestern Univ. study using crash data provided by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation. The veracity of that data has been broadly questioned with independent studies pointing to installation of the RLC program having more to do with revenue generation than safety.

Halloween donations needed

The 18th District Police Dept. is collecting both new and gently used Halloween costumes and candy for children of all ages for the 6th annual Children’s Halloween Party Thursday. This party is for children who are staying in domestic violence shelters and don’t have the opportunity to celebrate Halloween like other children.

All donations can be brought into the 18th District Police Station, 1160 N. Larrabee. For more information call 312-742-5778.

The City plans to convert one lane of lower LSD. Both pedestrians and cyclists will use the on-street path during Phase III of the flyover construction.

City to convert one lane of lower LSD to bike/ped path during Flyover work

After the Chicago Dept. of Transportation [CDOT] announced last week that the Navy Pier Flyover bridge would not be completed until sometime in mid-2019, CDOT spokesman Mike Claffey announced that the City is planning to close the easternmost northbound lane of Lower LSD in order to accommodate foot and bike traffic.

That segment of lower Lake Shore Dr. will be separated from traffic by a physical barrier, and reserved for use by Lakefront Trail users during phase three of flyover construction. No start date for the lane closure has yet been offered.

Phase three, which involves building a new wider, cantilevered trail across the Chicago River, is currently slated to begin in spring 2018.

The City claims that annual daily use of this stretch of Lower Lake Shore Dr. draws about 11,800 motor vehicle trips. South of Grand Ave., the path currently exists as a relatively narrow sidewalk with several tight bottlenecks, so the lane closure could represent an improvement for bikers.

The 12 steps of family wisdom

By Thomas J. O’Gorman

Do suggestions from the past made about your behavior or conduct, manners or vocabulary still twirl around in your brain? Can you even remember any?

Do you ever replay those parental sayings in your head? Do they bring you any insight? Or joy?

Thankfully I am at an age when I can look back on the past and recognize that when growing up I was fortunate in having a steady supply of wisdom bubbling around me. I may not have recognized it at the time but with the telescope of history I have a clearer vision today of what it was all about. Our own family 12-step program for survival.

No one offered more wisdom in the early years than my mother, Eileen. She was a straight-shooter, never much for beating around the bush. Of course, she was in charge, totally, all the time. My father was less inclined to sage advice, although he was perpetually diplomatic in his cautions. Disappointments. Disagreements. And Regrets. He was an easy friend.

Our mother, on the other hand, was filled with high expectations. I was a more complex child to rear, far more unpredictable than my sister, Mary Regina, one year younger. She was lady-in-waiting to our maternal grandmother which meant she was allied with a family power broker. And usually had the inside edge with things.

I suspect that my childhood activities were perhaps overly-creative and not always well-reasoned. There is no instruction book on how to raise a poet, writer or painter.

I had some high expectations, as well.

So as I grew I endured my mother’s dramatic reactions to my predicaments and shenanigans with a certain theatricality. While the lines of behavior were often blurred, we did live in a rather permissive domestic culture. There actually were lines I knew I would never cross. But most were ripe for the testing.

I have been thinking about the sayings that were a part of my mother’s attempt to corral me and direct me to proper living. Amazingly, I think she might be encouraged, now, with the outcome. She went to heaven long ago. But I am deeply grateful and amused by her rather resolute policies on my rearing. Perhaps these sayings may ring true with others. Deeper reflection has made me appreciate them more.

- 1. “You’ll be sorry.” This was an oft used retort that probably refers to my inability to see the larger picture. Regret, I learned, was often a part of most experience. Remorse could be a channeling experience that warned against quick judgments or easy solutions.
- 2. “You’ve got another guess coming.” Often used to let me know that no matter how smart I thought I was, I actually did not have all the answers. It was good for pulling me down from my high-horse on which I frequently sat. I suspect it is here that I learned that I was not always right.
- 3. “Not so fast, Mister.” This was the warning notice that I could not make a quick getaway from some responsibility or predicament. It was a good reminder that I actually couldn’t choose when I could leave some issue behind. Sometimes life demanded more attention.

Eileen O’Connor O’Gorman when America went to war.

- 4. “I’m calling your father at the office.” This appeal to a higher authority was the least efficient moral trump card. While I knew my father disliked getting the emergency call at the office, I also knew that he would not come to like it any more later in the day when he came home. But it was dramatic. And sometimes you just do what you have to to make a point.
- 5. “You’ve got to be kidding.” When something I did, or didn’t do, reached the level of absurdity. It may have come close to crossing the line. I may have gone too far. Maybe I pushed to hard. Or truly spoke out of turn. The exasperation demonstrated was often enough to get me back on the proper path. Maybe.
- 6. “That goes no further!” I always marveled at the openness with which my parents spoke in front of us. They really just talked freely about family business or the foibles of goofy relatives. But this warning was enough to note that we had been let in on sensitive material that for everyone’s good was to stay top-secret. It actually worked. And we often held our normally gossipy tongues.
- 7. “What’s wrong with you?” A speedy and ultimate response of absolute shocked disapproval. The suggestion that I should know better. A last resort suggestion that some line has been crossed. Like swearing in front of my grandmother. Or whistling in church. Reaching for the guilt. A robust interrogative spoken to denote absolute exasperation at the fact I had not acted responsibly.
- 8. “You’ll put me in an early grave.” A dyer prediction of mortal consequences related to the effects of my behavior and deportment. A dousing with emotional cold water to bring me to my senses. A maternal slap in the kisser. Registering high on the family Richter scale. Something to tuck away and ponder. Strong parental leverage like a Eugene O’Neill play.

9. “You won’t be happy until I’m in a mental institution.” Somehow this surpasses the early grave. Imagining my mother in an asylum with all fingers pointing my way. The eternal accusation instilling the instant clarity the seriousness of a mom in a straight-jacket. Unable to emotionally cope any longer. Frazzled nerves and embracing the inevitable consequence of my shabby behavior. Even without the benefit of a working vocabulary in abnormal psychology, I realized this was a bombshell of epic proportions. Usually reserved for missing alcohol or cigarettes.

10. “Walk along business-like.” Many years of working downtown gave my mother the expertise of a business vocabulary. Our walks to school, the shops, the library and Church were expected to demonstrate purpose and direction. No shiftless sauntering along the sidewalk. We were expected to demonstrate some meaning in our gait. Heads up, eyes ahead. Some sophisticated attitude was in order. Expectations of dignified civility. We were no rag-a-muffins.

11. “The garbage won’t empty itself.” Responsibility was an expression of noble commitment. You were expected to tend your portion of the farm. Routine, even the rubbish, was to be managed as an ethic of living. No putting things off or dumping responsibility on someone else. Justice was a two-way street, at least out to the alley.

12. “Let’s go to the Palmer House for Filet of Sole.” We all relished my mother’s ability to put together great lunches at cool downtown establishments that had been part of her working life routine. She could even make a Friday (no meat) exciting. The Palmer House was a favorite. It was a reward of sorts that combined dining out with the abstinence of meatless Fridays. Sole, mashed potatoes and peas never tasted so good. And such occasions were great in resetting the clocks of family life and affection.

All these memories come flooding back to me now in the shadow cycle of life for me. I enjoy looking back and interpreting wisdom from the past in the present. We were lucky. My mother was more photo-realism than impressionism. She was intriguing and beautiful. But she would be the first to admit that life wasn’t all Chanel No. 5. She enjoyed the T-bone sized portion of family life. In spite of its disappointments and complications, she was sturdy amid the hazardous consequences and unvarnished threats of everyday life. She encouraged the upbeat prognosis of living with reason and intelligence.

I still hear the wisdom she shared. It makes its home in our hearts. And it is still relevant and ripe for me. She shaped a great life-formula around me that right about now empowers me to posit similar questions to our culture. Our government. And the world. It still affirms me and gives me hope.

Emily Dickinson, the Maid of Amherst, put it this way: “Hope is the thing with feathers that perches in the soul - and sings tunes without the words - and never stops at all.”

THE BIRTH OF THE MOSCOW MULE:
In a story that is now legend, in 1941, Jack Morgan of Cock and Bull Ginger Beer was sitting with John G. Martin of Hublein and Rudolph Kunett, the President of Smirnoff. Hot meals and sizzling music

Heart of the 'Hood By Felicia Dechter

When Rogers Parker Autumn Williams lost her 25-year job at the “world’s largest association management company,” as the primary breadwinner in her family, which consisted of seven kids, she wasn’t sure exactly what to do next.

“My husband is a professional musician and urban minister,” said Williams, who has a master’s degree in Urban Planning. “My job had been our primary source of income for our family for over 20 years. I thought, ‘What the heck am I gonna do now?’ The only other thing I do is feed people.”

So out of a space in East Rogers Park, Williams started Urban Tables, which provides delicious, home-cooked meals to local families. Alongside her weekly meal offerings, Williams also serves up a diverse and customizable menu of catered meals, filled with healthy, home-cooked options for family dinners, corporate events, weddings etc. You name it, Williams does it, and she does it well. (I tasted her yummy smoked brisket, mac and cheese and greens at the Glenwood Sunday Market, where she will be this Sunday also, on the market’s last outdoor day.)

“Our goal is to listen to our customer and give them a meal they need for a rate that suits our customers,” said Williams. “I want to talk to you and hear your wildest dreams, hear your budget, and get you as close to your wildest dreams for the amount of money you want to spend.

“I have a passion for caring for people so

our goal is to take the stress off of families by putting meals on their tables,” said Williams. “For some, it’s putting food on the table whether they cooked it or not. For some, it’s jobs. I employ people so I can help them put food on their own tables.”

On a regular basis, Williams employs three people, but depending on the size of the event, that number can go up to 12, or even 15. Whether it’s a single serving meal for one or a banquet for 400, she takes on the job. She has catered and party planned banquets, weddings and quinceaneras (Hispanic Sweet 15 parties). “We do everything,” she said. “We’ve done food stations, bands, decorating... We do the whole thing, depending on what somebody wants.” African, English, Texan and much more, no matter what kind of food somebody wants,

Williams cooks it up.

“Who knew that with college and expensive degrees and at 50-years-old I’d be starting my own company and get to do urban planning?” she laughed.

Through an extension of Urban Tables called Urban Workforce, Williams also dishes out a mighty heaping of goodwill. “We match people with jobs and create jobs, particularly for men in the community and refugees,” said Williams. It might be landscaping, window washing or cleaning. “To create jobs for people in our community who don’t have traditional American educations.”

“They’re educated in their country but English is not their first language and they’re commuting hours a day, two hours each way on a good day to work really hard, labor intensive jobs that don’t have dignity,” said Williams. “Our goal is to create leadership jobs that can be good for them and good for their families.”

Williams spends no money on advertising or promotions, her business spreads all by word of mouth. She says the more business she gets, “the more people we can get to work.”

“We need business and then we can grow,” she said.

Her most popular item is her Jamaican patties, which she makes of beef and lentil. But her menu is vast and diverse. One woman asked for Congolese, another for Thai. That brisket and her mac and cheese is awesome.

“We do tons of different cuisines, we don’t limit ourselves to any one cuisine,” she said. “We do just about any cuisine that you can fathom.”

Need gluten free foods or desserts? No problem. Williams also said she can whip up any dessert you can imagine. Her brownies are immensely popular and can be bought in bulk and used for fundraisers as they can be individually wrapped. She makes Mason jar soups and salads as well as mini Mason jar pies and pineapple upside down cakes. (I’m getting really hungry.)

People can definitely reach out to her through the holidays, Williams said. You can buy meals by the serving to a banquet-sized amount. You can even say you spent all day cooking because, “We even provide our own dishware...not that I would ever promote deception,” she chuckled.

Her business is a family affair, said Williams. She puts her own kids to work as well as her church family. And she’s savoring every minute of it. “I get to work alongside my kids and have them grow and learn,” said Williams. “They’re amazing kids and hard workers.

“I’m getting to do what I love to do,” she said. “I feed and care for people from all walks of life and all budgets.”

Paul Marinaro is sure to bring down the house at the Uptown Underground on Nov. 1.

This night is sure to sizzle!... In 1967, Frank Sinatra teamed up with Brazilian composer-pianist-guitarist-vocalist Antonio Carlos Jobim to record an album unlike anything he’d done before; an album of pure bossa-nova that would become a

Homes and condos snapped up quickly in Sept.

The Home Front
By Don DeBat

Prospective home buyers are circling Chicago's neighborhoods like eagles seeking prey, but lower than normal housing inventory in September meant nice houses and condominiums were snapped up quickly and at higher median prices, experts say.

The city of Chicago posted a 3.7% year-over-year home sales decline in September with 2,309 single-family home and condominium sales, down from 2,398 units sold in Sept., 2016, reported Illinois Realtors. The median price of homes and condos in Chicago in September was $275,000, up 5.8% compared with $260,000 in the same month a year ago.

"Although the market has slowed somewhat from peak summer activity, it continues to push forward, with decreases in overall inventory and market time reflecting continued interest in investing in a home," noted Rebecca Thomson, president of the Chicago Assoc. of Realtors (CAR)

"Moving into the colder months, pricing properties correctly will continue to be the key to capturing serious buyer attention. Quick decision-making and flexibility will gain greater importance as inventory declines," Thomson advised.

"What's holding the market back now is a lack of entry-level and mid-level inventory," explained Chris Calomino, marketing communications manager for RE/MAX Northern Illinois. "Interest rates remain attractive, and the job market continues to improve."

Benchmark 30-year fixed home loan rates eased to an average of 3.88% on Oct. 19, down from price was $230,000 in the Chicago area, an increase of 5.7% from $217,500 in Sept. 2016.

Sales and price information are generated by Multiple Listing Service closed sales reported by 28 participating Illinois Realtor local boards and associations including Midwest Real Estate Data LLC data.

Statewide single-family home and condo sales totaled 13,657 units in September, down 4% from 14,223 units in Sept. 2016. The statewide median price in September was $192,500, up 6.9% from $180,000 in Sept. 2016. The median is a typical market price where half the homes sold for more and half sold for less.

"Sellers are definitely reaping the benefits of a market which in many areas continues to be dogged by tight inventories," said Illinois Realtor president Matt Difanis. "Although the summer selling season is drawing to a close, interest on the part of many buyers does not seem to be waning as evidenced by the short time on average it is taking to complete a purchase."

The time it took to sell a home in September statewide averaged 51 days, down from 58 days a year ago. Available housing inventory totaled 60,669 units for sale, a 10.5% decline from Sept. 2016 when there were 67,796 homes on the market.

"Housing inventory continues to dampen sales," said Univ. of Illinois economist Geoffrey J.D. Hewings. "This problem is reflected in the significant increases in the sales prices of foreclosed properties, which have increased by more than 15% compared with 5% for regular sales."

"Sellers are definitely reaping the benefits of a market which in many areas continues to be dogged by tight inventories," said Illinois Realtor president Matt Difanis.

3.91% a week earlier, reported Freddie Mac's national Primary Mortgage Market Survey. A year ago at this time, 30-year fixed loans averaged 3.52%.

Fifteen-year fixed mortgages averaged 3.19%, down from 3.21% a week earlier. A year ago at this time, 15-year fixed loans averaged 2.79%.

In the nine-county Chicago area single-family home and condo sales totaled 9,634 units in September, down 4.6% from 10,095 units in Sept. 2016. The median

To commemorate the 50th Anniversary of that famous pairing, acclaimed Edgewater vocalist Paul Marinaro teams with guitarist Mike Allemana and some of Chicago's top jazz musicians to perform the album live, with newly created arrangements that are respectful to and inspired by the originals.
Among the classic songs performed will be "The Girl From Ipanema", "Change Partners," and "Quiet Nights of Quiet Stars." At once rhythmic and romantic, playful and sensual, world-wise and deeply poetic, you can blame it all on the bossa nova!

“[This] new park plan draws on the inspiration of Daniel Burnham’s to use our river and lake to better connect communities and enhance residents’ quality of life,” said Mayor Rahm Emanuel at the groundbreaking.

Ground broken on new ‘312 RiverRun’

New riverfront park connects three parks with one path for two miles

The City of Chicago last week broke ground on a new riverfront project on the North Side they hope will one day become a recreational hub that provides residents with an unobstructed network of parks and recreational amenities.

The 312 RiverRun will connect the surrounding Irving Park, Roscoe Village, North Center, Avondale and Albany Park neighborhoods to three parks with one path for nearly two consecutive miles. Once completed, 312 RiverRun will connect Horner Park to the north to California and Clark Parks to the south. It will extend across 95 acres with facilities and programming for every athletic activity supported by the Chicago Park District including: softball fields, wheelchair accessible baseball fields, fitness centers, playgrounds, an indoor ice skating rink, tennis courts, the mountain bike/Bmx trail, an outdoor pool, boat houses and more.

The city has not yet put a price tag on the project, just saying that it is but one component of the $800 million Building on Burnham program which is focused on lakefront and Chicago River improvements.

“[This] new park plan draws on the inspiration of Daniel Burnham’s to use our river and lake to better connect communities and enhance residents’ quality of life,” said Mayor Rahm Emanuel at the groundbreaking. “312 RiverRun will create an unparalleled network of outdoor recreational opportunities for residents while boosting neighborhood vibrancy and economic growth.”

The project kicked off with the groundbreaking of the Riverview Bridge, which will cross over the North Branch of the Chicago River and under the Addison road bridge. The new bridge will provide a new connection for runners, bicyclists and pedestrians between the paths in Clark Park to the south and California Park to the north. At more than 1,000’ long and 16’ wide, the new Riverview Bridge will be the longest pedestrian river bridge in the city. It will have an elevation of more than 18’ to accommodate recreational use by boaters. Its unobstructed access will also eliminate the need for residents to cross major streets, enhancing pedestrian safety. The bridge is anticipated to be complete by the end of 2018.

“As an avid biker myself, I’m excited for the recreation and accessibility opportunities that such an innovative project provides; and as the only Illinois member of the House Appropriations Committee, I was proud to help secure federal funding to support this project,” said U.S. Rep. Mike Quigley [5th].

A second CDOT project, the Irving Park Road Bridge and Multi-Use Path, due to begin construction next year and to be completed in late 2019, will extend a pedestrian and bike path under Irving Park Rd. and link California Park to Horner Park north. Work on the Irving Park Road Bridge will also replace the existing 95-year-old structure to widen the roadway. Completion of the Riverview Bridge and the Irving Park Road Bridge project will establish the full 312 RiverRun, providing a continuous path from Belmont to Montrose.

The project is supported by numerous federal, state and local agencies, with funding provided by the Federal Highway Ad-

WISDOM from p. 2

“Making Magic Happen...since 1890,” at the Ritz Carlton at 6 p.m. Honoring Myra Reilly for her service and generosity will be Co-Chairs: Pamella Capitanini, Cheryl Coleman and Kristine Farra. To purchase tickets call (312) 220-9600.

THE TAXMAN COMETH: What Illinois Congressman is presently undergoing microscopic investigation by the Feds concerning their knucklehead use of funds (for starters)? Long known for financial blundering, this time the feds have larger lenses with which to peer into the rats nest of Chicago improprieties. Some suspect there is a trail of “looking the other way” from many who should know better.

THE DAILY SHOW: Who’s great idea was it to bring the Daily Show with Trevor Noah here to Chicago at the Atheneum Theater? What a week it was. The talented and hilarious Noah fit local humor with comfort and dexterity. The venue was tailor made and showcased the Lakeview neighborhood with aplomb.

PAUL WILBUR: a former American Poet Laureate (the 2nd), has died at the age of 96 in his beloved Massachusetts. His death robs us of a bright American mind and wit whose words shaped an important period of our life here in the United States. His career spanned 60 years. His work was urbane and meticulous. Twice awarded the Pulitzer Prize and the Ruth Lilly Prize in 2006. In an era of rough, gritty poets, his work remained elegant and beautiful.

LITERARY AWARD: For only the second time in 54 years, Britain’s prestigious literary award, the Man Booker Prize, has been awarded to an American, George Saunders. His edgy, experimental novel, “Lincoln in the Bardo,” is set in 1862, in the graveyard where President Abraham Lincoln has buried his son. It is filled with history, pain and love. It shook the judges, establishing the author as an international writer of dynamic ability. Saunders was raised in Chicago. And Chicago is proud of him.

AHOY: What local attorney, said to be an Ivy League dreamboat, was making his way to Merry Ole England on the Queen Mary 2, solo, to meet up with his wife? Word is that he wound up in a rather torrid ship-board romance with the son and heir to a Motown automotive fortune. Must be the sea air.

George Saunders 2017 Man Booker Prize winner grew up in Chicago.

V A R O O M : Who’s the East Lake Shore Drive “haus frau” who was just given a new car from her adoring hubby? The price tag is said to be staggering. It is said that the lady had to take the parking attendant from her building for a shakedown cruise in the auto.

C I N E M A NEWS: Congrats to Chicago attorney Colleen Grace Herlihy, who’s short film “Life is Short,” will be shown on Saturday and Sunday, October 28 and 29 at 2 p.m. at the Irish Heritage Center during their Arts week-end. Admission is free and the film is superb.

A CHICAGO LITERARY STAR: Do you know Laurie Levy? A well-known Chicago writer of every kind of literary description, she’s written in every periodical of merit and has a long list of literary successes under her belt.

After college in 1953, she became the Assistant to the Movie Editor at Parents’ Magazine in New York City, where she lived until 1956, when she married a Chicagoan. She has lived in Highland Park and in Chicago’s Lincoln Park ever since. She is 85 and the grandmother of three. She is also my hero. A great encouragement to other writers. Look up what she has written and start reading her.

DECEMBER LOVE: An evening of music and comedy by Chicago’s Barb Bailey at Davenport’s Piano Bar on Milwaukee Avenue in the back showroom from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. It’s the long-awaited venue for the breakout performance of the season for the talented music agent and manager. Long a favorite of her local fans, it will light the wick on the holidays at the Wicker Park location. So make plans now. P.S. It also marks the star’s birthday which is the reason behind the hoopla. Dakota Horvath will join in the singing that will also commemorate the birthday of Old Blue Eyes, Frank Sinatra.

LYRIC NEWS: Do you know The Pearlfishers? The opera by the French master George Bizet. The tenor/baritone duet (O fond du temple saint) is the showstopper. Literally. Once I saw it in Paris, in the grand Opera House and at the conclusion the audience went so insane that the singers did it all over again.

The Pearlfisher is a tale of conflicted friendship, love and broken vows featuring the iconic tenor/baritone duet and stars Matthew Polenzani, Mariusz Kwieciein and Marina Rebeka. It will be at the Lyric Opera Chicago from November 19 to December 10.

FRANKIE’S: It’s official, Rich Melman will lock up operations at Frankie’s on 5 at 900 N. Michigan Avenue on November 2.

Chris Favaro was a superb chef and an excellent host. His low-key demeanor was a sustaining force in the neighborhood. He went out of his way always to assist who was in need. His Christmas Coat Drive is a great example of his concern for those on the streets. Question is where do we go from here? Adios, Chris and staff, you made life pleasant and good.

WHO’S WHERE: Vonita Rescser, Krista Fara, and Charlene Dame McMann-Seaman at Hipocratic Cancer Research Foundation: Wings To Cure Gala... Leo Bell and Ellen Kucharis Bell cheered for the Cubs... Col. Paul Malarick, Lyn Graham, Meg Nagel, Ed Schimmelpfennig, Peggy Snorf front and center at the American Opera Society of Chicago Scholarship Luncheon at The Fortnightly where three scholarships were awarded to Nathan Mo, cello, Allison Wang, piano, and Patrick Guetti, singer (the Eileen Deneen Scholarship winner) Meta Leven, daughter of the coloratura, Deneen, was on hand... Myra Reilly at Chicago Shakespeare Theater... Larissa Korngold traveling through Israel... former LA Dodgers manager Tommy Lasorda munching at Gibson’s and bragging about the Dodger’s going all the way.... Chicago Cuts’ impresario Matt Moore celebrating his golden birthday at 50, successful and beloved.

THE ELEGANT IRISH: The Ireland Funds America will host their 33rd Annual Chicago Dinner on November 2 at the Four Seasons, 120 East Delaware Place, Chicago at 6:00 p.m., honoring John F. McDonough President & CEO of the Chicago Blackhawks (2017 Leadership Award) and Ryan Specialty Group (2017 Corporate Social Responsibility Award).

ALWAYS LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE: The Chicago Cubs baseball season may be over, but remember a World Series repeat is a rare thing indeed. They gave it a good run and they did win the National League Division Series for the third year in a row, and that ain’t nothin.’ Thank you, Cubs, for a real good time.

Nine-tenths of wisdom is being wise in time.

Man mugged while tying shoes outside Lakeview Halloween party

A man on his way to a Halloween party was mugged near the Southport Brown Line CTA station Saturday evening, just minutes after the same robbers stole a purse from a woman near Boystown. No one is in custody.

Police response to the muggings was slowed because the local 19th Police District was in so-called "Radio Assignments Pending" or RAP status at the time of the attacks. City officials declare RAPs when a police district does not have any officers available to handle incoming 911 calls for help.

Around 9:15 p.m., a man dressed in costume stopped outside of a Halloween party to tie his shoes in the 1300 block of W. Newport. Three unknown individuals approached him and announced a robbery, taking the victim's wallet and phone, police said.

The offenders were described as a black man in his early 20's with long dreadlocks who wore a black hoodie and a vest; a Hispanic man in a black jacket and blue jeans; and a black female in her early-20's who may be pregnant.

Chicago police, citing incomplete reports, were unable to confirm details of a second incident that may have occurred near the Southport station at around the same time.

The robbers are also believed to be responsible for snatching a woman's purse in the 900 block of W. Fletcher shortly before 9 p.m. Saturday, police said.

Saturday's RAP in the 19th District began at 1:38 p.m. and continued until 9:48 p.m. It was the 130th RAP for the Town Hall District this year. Since 2011, the district has lost more than 25% of its police manpower.

ATM skimmers found on North Side

More than a dozen ATM skimming devices have been found in the city since late September, including locations in the Loop, Lincoln Park and Lakeview, say police.

Skimmers are placed over ATM card slots and appear to be part of the actual machine. Criminals use the devices to secretly gather debit card numbers and passwords. Some of the devices found in Chicago included small cameras that captured images of the cardholder punching in their PIN, police said.

One skimmer was found on an ATM at Fifth Third Bank in the 600 block of W. Diversey Oct. 4. Others were recovered from Walgreens in the 1500 block of W. Fullerton on Sept. 26 and the Walgreens at in the 1600 block of W. Belmont on Oct. 2.

Police encourage ATM users to inspect the machines, looking for any irregularities or loose parts, before using them. The card reader slot and PIN pad should not wiggle or have extra pieces visible.

"If there is any type of irregularity or issue in placing the card into the card slot, do not use the ATM," a police alert warned.

Finally, investigators suggest covering your hand when you enter your PIN so hidden cameras cannot pick up your passcode.

In addition to the ATMs listed above, police said skimmers were found on machines at the following locations: Associated Bank, 5200 block of N. Central Ave on Sept. 23; Chase Bank, 5600 block of W. Montrose Ave on Oct. 6; Walgreens, 400 block of N. Michigan Ave on Oct. 8; Walgreens, 2300 block of W. Irving Park Rd on Oct. 8; Fifth Third Bank, 0-100 block of W. Division St. on Oct. 9; Walgreens, 3100 block of W. Irving Park Rd. on Oct. 11; Walgreens, 200 block of W. Madison St. on Oct. 12; Walgreens, 100 block of N. State St on Oct. 12; and the Walgreens, 0-100 block of W. Monroe on Oct. 18.

Anyone with information about these incidents is asked to call the Chicago Police Financial Crimes Unit at 312-746-9661.

Lakeview: women robbed Friday by crew in stolen minivan

A three-man robbery crew in an old brown or gold minivan robbed at least two women in Lakeview on Friday afternoon. No one is in custody.

Just before 3 p.m., a Lakeview mom who was walking to pick up her kids from Hamilton School was jumped from behind by a man who grabbed her phone. The man then returned to the van in an alley behind the 1500 block of W. Cornelia.

Police determined that the van is a 2009 Honda with Illinois license plate H855843. The vehicle was reported stolen earlier on Friday from the Safe Haven Ministries, a source said.

The offender who took the woman's phone is described as a thin black man who stands about 5'-8" tall and wore a gray hoodie with baggy jeans. The van was last seen heading east on Addison toward Lake Shore Dr.

Police said the van had been idling in the alley between Ashland and Bosworth before the incident.

About an hour earlier, another woman was robbed of her purse in the 800 block of W. Aldine by a man who jumped out of a brown or gold van, two witnesses said. Once again, the offender was described as a black male in a gray hoodie. The van was last seen heading southbound toward Belmont.

Late night Lincoln Park taco stand

An armed robber took more than $2,000 from a Lincoln Park late-night burrito shop Saturday morning. No one was injured and no suspects are in custody.

Around 5 a.m., the offender entered through the back door of Taco Burrito Express, 2540 N. Halsted.

Inside the restaurant, the robber produced a handgun and demanded the store's Friday night proceeds, which exceeded $2,000, according to police. He then ran out the back door and fled in an unknown direction.

Police said the offender is a 30-year-old black man who stands 5'-4" to 5'-8" tall and weighs 190-210 lbs. He was wearing a gray hoodie and dark pants.

Woman charged with attacking, robbing 81-year-old man at Loop CTA station

The morning after an 81-year-old man plunged down a Loop CTA station staircase during a robbery on Monday night, his now-accused attacker took to Facebook:

"It don't even matter from this point. I'm definitely going back to jail. I can't deal with life. Tired of struggling. Tired of trying with a marriage that wasn't gone last. Tired of my F LIFE PERIOD. Maybe I'm better off locked up. 15 years here I come. Mommy sorry baby, if I loved you like I claimed I did, I wouldn't be in the situation I'm in..."

Soon, acquaintances and strangers from across the internet were responding to Victoria Dollarson's status update, urging her to turn herself in, posting links to media reports of the CTA attack, and worse.

Cops following up on a flood of tips arrested her Thursday night, police said. She's charged with felony robbery of a victim over the age of 60.

On the evening of Oct. 16, prosecutors say, Dollarson grabbed the elderly victim's hand and cellphone as he stepped off of a Brown Line train at the Wabash station around 9:25 p.m.

A struggle ensued and the man fell down a staircase, causing him to sustain serious injuries. He is in critical condition at Northwestern Memorial Hosp.

Court records show Dollarson pleaded guilty to a manufacture-delivery of crack cocaine and received two-years probation in April. A domestic violence arrest in September was recorded as a violation of her probation, but Judge Thomas Gainer reinstated the original sentence on Sept. 20. Her bail was set at $150,000.

He knocked a 70-year-old out and robbed him near Sheridan Red Line

A Near West Side man is charged with punching a 70-year-old man in the face, knocking him to the ground, and "striking the victim with a dangerous weapon" during a robbery near the Sheridan Red Line CTA station on Aug. 7.

Karon Cannon, 24, of the 1300 block of W. Roosevelt is charged with one felony count of armed robbery with a dangerous weapon and one felony count of aggravated battery-great bodily harm, police said.

The attack took place around 6 p.m. on that summer night. The victim was treated and released from Advocate Illinois Masonic Medical Center.

Cannon was arrested on Wednesday night near his home.

Records show that at the time of the attack Cannon was free on electronic monitoring while fighting a domestic battery charge.

Armed home invader awakens Lincoln Park man; another armed man burglarizes Lakeview home

A Lincoln Park man was awakened by an armed intruder and robbed during a home invasion Oct. 16, police said. And a Lakeview family that was awakened Oct. 19 by their condo's rear door alarm found an armed man pointing a handgun at their security camera—he eventually drove off with their car.

Police have not said if the incidents are related. Here is what we know:

Around 3:50 a.m. on Oct. 16, an armed burglar entered a coach house residence in the 2600 block of N. Burling. He woke a sleeping man while displaying a handgun. The offender demanded and secured personal property from the victim and then fled, according to police.

The intruder was a black man between 18- and 25-years-old; 5'-8" to 5'-10" tall, 150-160 lbs. He was wearing a white baseball cap, white sweatshirt, and a dark green puffy vest.

Around 4 a.m. Oct. 19, an armed intruder entered through the back door of an occupied residence in the 3000 block of N. Kenmore, activating an alarm. The offender took car keys from a counter and drove off with the victim's 2016 Jeep Grand Cherokee.

Surveillance footage shows the offender climbing the building's rear stairs with a handgun displayed. Outside of the unit, he points the pistol at the victim's security camera before making entry to the residence.

15-year-old charged with robbery near Clark and Belmont

A 15-year-old boy is in custody, accused of taking part in a group robbery in Lakeview early Saturday morning.

Police responded to the 3200 block of N. Clark around 2:45 a.m. after a woman reported seeing three males holding two other men at gunpoint near a painting supply store. Officers on patrol near Halsted and Aldine located the 15-year-old and found him to be in possession of a fake firearm and credit cards belonging to a 20-year-old man, according to police.

The victim had left the scene to seek treatment at St. Francis Hospital in Evanston, police said, but investigators later contacted him by phone.

Police said the teen is charged with one misdemeanor count of theft of lost or mislaid property and a city ordinance violation for possession of a replica firearm. Officials said no further information about the boy will be made public because he is a juvenile.

Sunday afternoon, McCall posted a Facebook Live feed in which he appears to be getting ready to spend a night on the town. His shirt in the video seems to match the shirt worn in his mugshot.

In 2010, McCall was ranked the #18 overall football recruit in Illinois. He committed to Michigan State but eventually wound up playing for the Iowa Hawkeyes.

He left Iowa after an undisclosed violation and popped up at Southern Illinois, where he had runs with the coaching staff.

"I had a little attitude problem at first, and they wanted to check it and get me back humble," he told the school paper in 2014.

Court records show McCall has no previous adult arrests in Cook County.

Delivery driver robbed

A delivery driver was pushed and robbed in the 1600 block of W. Irving Park Rd. shortly after 11 p.m. Friday. The woman said a white man in his late-20's to early-30's assaulted her and demanded all of her money. She handed over about $90 and the offender fled on foot. He was wearing a white tee shirt, had a medium build, and may have had a mustache, the woman said.

Holy Name reaches for the heavens

Northsiders got their first glimpse at what developers would like to build across the street from Holy Name Cathedral. Intended to replace the full city block-sized parking lot, the plan calls for a pair of glass and metal-clad skyscrapers rising to the respective heights of 583 and 1,011 feet.

After submitting a zoning application with the City, a development team consisting of the Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago and partner JDL Development have released a teaser image of the One Chicago Square development designed by Chicago’s Hartshorne Plunkard Architecture and Goettsch Partners. The proposal includes a total of 914 residential condominium and rental units, 659 parking spaces, 200,000 total square feet of retail, and 45,000 square feet of office space. The project is located in Ald. Brian Hopkins’s 2nd Ward.

Chicago public art symposium, Public Art Plan

Chicago residents are invited to discuss current issues in public art and the unveiling of Chicago’s new Public Art Plan, the first major revision to the Public Art Program since the creation of the city’s historic Percent for Art Ordinance in 1978 this Thursday and Friday at the Chicago Cultural Center, Claudia Cassidy Theater, 78 E. Washington St.

The symposium and the Plan are the culmination of Chicago’s Year of Public Art marking the 50th anniversary of two of its most important monuments of public art, the Chicago Picasso and the Wall of Respect, and the commissioning of new artworks in each of Chicago’s 50 wards.

overall police moral issues as reasons why so few may want to join the CPD these days. Part of the problem may also be that more senior patrol officers understandably often get the lion’s share of overtime, Ald. Tunney said.

And he predicted that overtime would add up to $200 million this year.

“We even have a problem recruiting enough detectives,” traditionally considered a plum career opportunity, he said, adding that it may be that with so many officers reaching retirement age, it’s hard to put enough replacements through training to fill those vacancies.

Asked if Chicago ever considered creating a police reserve program similar to those used in many cities around the U.S. and parts of Europe, Ald. Tunney said that to his knowledge, the idea has never been discussed.

He added, however, that any such program would undoubtedly have to be in sync with the police contract, which is up for renewal this year.

But while applications to join the CPD fell by 15% since February, the last time the department accepted applications, there were still more than 14,000 applications received this time around, police said.

And the pool of applicants who will take the exam in December is the most diverse ever, with 35% women and 71% nonwhite, officials said.

Applicants must be at least 20 years old. At the time of hire, recruits must reside in Chicago, have a valid state of Illinois driver’s license, have 60 semester hours of college credit or 36 months of continuous active duty service; or one year continuous active service with 30 semester hours college credit. The exam will be administered the weekend of Dec. 16.

Mayor Rahm Emanuel has pledged to expand the CPD by 970 officers who represent the city’s current ethnic makeup. But that may only be enough to match the attrition of those officers now retiring or leaving the department.

Among the guards provided by Monterrey in Minneapolis was Ricky Eugene Pouncil, who served 16 months in prison after he was convicted of trying to extort money from a 57-year-old man in a 2010 sexting conspiracy. The victim committed suicide as the blackmail attempts unfolded.

This summer, a man was stabbed during a concert at Northerly Island’s Huntington Bank Pavillion where Monterrey was providing security services, the Chicago Sun-Times reported.

Chicago Park District General Counsel Tim King was said to be “demanding answers from Monterrey Security” after the incident. But whether he ever received those answers remains unclear.

“King questioned how anyone could manage to sneak a knife into a concert at Northerly Island when Monterrey Security guards are supposed to use metal-detector wands to screen concert-goers before they enter the popular venue,” the newspaper reported.

Back in Minnesota, federal authorities this week requested an opportunity to review Monterrey’s financials after a local investigation found “highly questionable billing practices.”

The report allegedly found that 200 terminated employees continued to show up on Monterrey’s invoices. The company reportedly billed more than 24 hours in a day for some workers.

“We are cleaning up a mess that could’ve been avoided if people had done their basic research and due diligence,” Minnesota State Rep. Sarah Anderson said.
